ON TUESDAY

WE EXPECTED

A Jam at the Golden Lion

and it came, in downright earnest. We fully expect, and are fully prepared, for

A Jam All Week!

In the scrimmage for Bargains on Saturday, there was an extraordinary unanimity of opinion as to the GENUINE character of the Bargains which we are giving at our

60 Days' Sale

The news has spread quickly, and shoppers' orders, telephone orders, lookers and buyers, have kept us hustling to keep up.

Those who came early to-day emptied their pocket books and hastened away for more money. Those who came late are coming again to-morrow.

Those who didn't come at all should arrange for early breakfasts and be on hand when the doors open.

It will take an hour to-night to straighten out the tangled and twisted heaps that look as if a cyclone had struck them. (A cyclone did).

Ready again for the fray at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning with piles of handsome goods at bewitching prices. We are going to keep right on selling in this way until January 1st, 1895. "It's Fair's way."

You can tell by your own instinct that this sale is well worth more of your attention than the ordinary sales you see announced in the papers. For instance:—

The B & C Corsets

Sold everywhere else at $1.00, Fair's price only 65c.

Dress Goods sold everywhere else for from 50c. to $1.00 a yard, Fair's price only 35c. to 50c. a yard.

Mantles sold formerly at from $6 to $18, Fair's price now only $3.50, $5 and $8 per garment.

The celebrated Maple Leaf Brand of All-Wool Carpet, hundreds of yards of which have been sold at $1.00 per yard, Fair's price now only 75c. per yard.

The Best 5-frame Brussels Carpet considered cheap at $1.25 and $1.35, Fair's price now only $1.10.

And so on all through the store. "It's Fair's way."

TURNBULL'S

MANTLES.
Our Mantle trade this season has so far exceeded our expectations that it has cleared out several lines and left room for new ones, which we have secured at from $3.00 to $3.50, less than original prices on the better lines. Our customers will reap the benefit of this reduction in the wholesale cost. A full range of all styles and prices now in stock at prices that are never undersold.

BLANKETS.
We have run across a line of All Wool Blankets, in large sizes, woven similar to a Sheeting but combed; they are very desirable and are selling at $3.00 a pair. We have also a splendid assortment of Light and Dark Gray Blankets in all sizes.

UNDERWEAR.
As the season advances we sometimes run across what dry goods men call snaps. We have secured one of these now in Men's All Wool Underclothing, in both natural and flesh colours, at $1.00 a suit. The best line ever offered for the money. Plenty of lower qualities always in stock.

SKIRTINGS.
We are introducing a line of heavy Blanket Skirtings, one of the most desirable materials we have found yet in Ladies' wear. They are 40 inches wide and only 35c a yard.

CAPS AND MUFFS.
Just received a splendid assortment of Astrachan and Gray Lamb Caps, in both wedge and band shapes. Also Sealette Caps and Muffs.

Our prices for Scotch Tweed Suits made to order are a surprise to everybody. We have just passed into stock several nobby lines in Serges and Suitings. A perfect fit guaranteed every time.

UNCLE SAM'S ELECTIONS

Returns Indicate a Victory for the Republican Party.

MORTON WINS IN NEW YORK

Strong, the Republican Candidate in the City for Mayor, is Elected—Congressman Wilson's Election Uncertain—Some of the Returns.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Returns received from all parts of the country indicate that the Republicans will control the House of Representatives in the 54th Congress by a working majority. The congressional representation from this state will stand Republicans 29, Democrats 5. The Republicans have carried this state for governor by about 100,000, and have carried New York, Brooklyn and Buffalo cities for the important municipal offices.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—It is reasonably certain that the Republican State ticket is elected by a big majority; that the Republicans have elected a majority of the Cook county commissioners and that they will have a majority in the State Assembly. The last claim made by the Republican State Central Committee was that the State is Republican by 70,000 plurality.

TRENTON, N.J., Nov. 7.—Returns at hand indicate the election of sufficient Republicans to give the legislature to them by a majority of 23 on a joint ballot, which insures the election of a Republican successor to Senator McPherson.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 7.—The complexion of the official rooster of Tennessee is not changed by the election.

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 7.—The Republicans of Wisconsin have carried the State by over 15,000 plurality for Governor Upham and their State ticket.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 7.—The returns received from all parts of the state indicate that the Democrats have carried every district. Congressman Wilson is thought to be defeated, but the result is in doubt.

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 7.—Maryland's solid Democratic front has been broken, and the Republicans have made unprecedented gains in every direction.

DETROIT, Mich., Nov. 7.—The Republicans have elected Rich for Governor and the entire state ticket by a plurality of from 25,000 to 40,000, ten out of 12 congressmen and more than two-thirds of the legislature, insuring the election of two Republican senators.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 7.—The indications point to the election of Majors, Rep., as Governor by a small majority.

GALVESTON, Tex., Nov. 7. — Partial returns from various parts of this state show a reduced democratic majority.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Nov. 7.—Chairman Gould, of the Democratic State Committee, claims the election of Budd (Dem.) for governor and possibly five of the seven congressmen.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 7.—From returns received the Republicans claim the election of three Republican congressmen in Kentucky.

JACKSON, Miss., Nov. 7.—Despatches from all over the State indicate the election of the Democratic candidates for congress in every district by large majorities.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 7.—It is certain that the Republicans have carried the state on the state ticket by from 5,000 to 10,000.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 7.—Incomplete returns show a net Republican gain over 1892 of 80,921.

CONCORD, N. H., Nov. 7.—The returns all show Republican gains.

SEATTLE, Wash., Nov. 7.—The indications are that the Republican state ticket is elected by 5,000 plurality.

TOPEKA, Kas., Nov. 7.—Returns indicate the election of Morrill for governor and the entire Republican state ticket.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—North Dakota returns indicate the election of F. M. Kinter (Dem.) for governor over Roger Allin (Rep. and Prohibitionist) and E. D. Wallace (Pop.)

PIERRE, S. D., Nov. 7.—The Republican plurality is 15,000 in South Dakota.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 7.—The chairman of the Republican state committee claims Indiana by 60,000.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 7.—Five Democrats are positively elected to congress, two districts are in serious doubt and two Populists probably elected.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 7.—Chairman Howbert claims the entire Republican ticket is elected by 18,000 majority.

ATLANTA, Nov. 7.—Georgia elects a solid Democratic ticket. Speaker Crisp has been re-elected.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Unusual interest in the returns was manifested in Washington great crowds gathering around the United Press office in the Washington Post building where the results were displayed and in all the club rooms and places of public resorts where bulletins were received. The demonstrations of enthusiasm were remarkable considering the fact that all the news was unfavorable to the party in power. On the streets every bulletin indicating democratic defeat provoked prolonged cheering and in front of the post building where a crowd of 5,000 assembled, the applause was almost continuous after 8 o'clock. Morton's victory and Tammany's downfall in New York seemed to be particularly pleasing to the people. At the White House Secretaries Gresham, Carlisle, Smith, Morton and Herbert listened to the bulletins received by Private Secretary Thurbe, and occasionally a telephone message was sent to President Cleveland who had gone out to his country home at 5 o'clock.

NOTES FROM OTTAWA

Inspector O'Leary's Long Trip After the Absconder Neale.

THE MANITOBA SCHOOL CASE

An Appeal to the Privy Council to Be Made by the Catholic Minority—Who is Acting Minister of Justice in the Absence of the Premier.

OTTAWA, Nov. 7.—Inspector Dan O'Leary, of the Dominion police force, has returned from Regina, to where he accompanied Neale, the absconder, who got seven years in the Stoney Mountain penitentiary. Since O'Leary left Ottawa on September 30 he travelled 10,000 miles.

Mr. Macfarlane, chief analyst of the Department of Inland Revenue, is engaged in making an analysis of a number of samples of the Ottawa River water taken at various points between the Duschenes Rapids and Montreal, with a special view to ascertaining what effect the throwing of sawdust into the river at the Chaudier Falls has had on the water below that point.

The mortal remains of the late P. M. Duffy were laid at rest in Notre Dame cemetery yesterday. A large number attended. The members of Court Capitol, Catholic Foresters, turned out in a body, the ranks being increased by large delegations from sister courts in the city. The funeral cortege was very lengthy and a service was held in St. Bridget's church.

It has been decided by Sir Charles H. Tupper to hold an examination at Toronto of applicants for the position of inspector of hulls and equipment of boats, to fill the vacancy made by the death of the late Captain Harbottle.

Some time ago a Montreal paper printed a despatch from Ottawa saying that Hon. Mr. Haggart had been appointed acting Minister of Justice during Sir John Thompson's absence, as Mr. Haggart did not wish the management of the department to be in Mr. Ouimet's hands during the prosecution of St. Louis, in connection with the Curran bridge affair. The despatch added that Hon. Mr. Ouimet usually had charge during the Premier's absence. The correspondent of the Montreal Gazette indignantly repudiates this, and says that Solicitor-General Curran is in charge. The fact of the matter is that no acting minister has been appointed and will not be. The duties of the solicitor-general have never been defined by order-in-council, so that he practically has no duties.

C. F. Wade, counsel for the government of Manitoba, has sent a brief to England in connection with the Manitoba school case. An appeal to the Privy Council, or rather an application for leave to appeal, could be made by either the Ottawa Government here or the Catholic minority. The Department of Justice knows nothing, however, of any appeal, but are expecting such action on the part of the minority.

NORTH ONTARIO PLOWING MATCH.

Good Plowing in Every Class—The Prize List.

PORT PERRY, Ont., Nov. 7.—The annual plowing match of the Reach, Port Perry, Scugog and North Ontario Plowing Association was held yesterday on Ambleside farm, Scugog, and proved in every particular a grand success. The host of Ambleside generously supplied, not alone the plowmen, but the spectators, which numbered hundreds, with an excellent lunch. The plowing in every class was good and the judges, all of whom were from a distance, discharged their duties in a highly satisfactory manner. At the close of the match all repaired to the Railroad Hotel, Port Perry, where a grand dinner was served.

Prize list: Sod class—First, E. Pardon, Whitby; second, Frank Weir, Scarboro; third, John Robb, Whitby.

Stubble class No. 1—First, Frank Hooper, Saintfield; second, George Bryant, Darlington; third, John O'Leary, Saintfield.

Stubble class No. 2—First, George S. Staples, Cartwright; second, A. Page, Epsom; third, W. Moffatt, Columbus.

Stubble class, boys under 17 years—First, Campbell Blakely, Saintfield; second, James Coates, Shirley; third, John Moffatt, Raglan.

Judges on sod—Messrs. A. Barnett, John Tweedie and Frank Elliott. On stubble—Messrs. J. Curtin, E. Smith and William Birkett.

Burglary at Ridgeway.

RIDGEWAY, Ont., Nov. 7.—Burglars effected an entrance into the store of Eber Cutler by prying open the front door with a crowbar. The combination lock of the safe was broken with a sledge hammer and an attempt was made to drill a hole in the safe. The thieves evidently got discouraged and abandoned their attempt to blow open the safe. The cash drawer behind the counter was pried open and a small amount of change was secured. The burglars then picked up a quantity of cutlery, stripped the store of its best assortment of neckties and pocket handkerchiefs, took the overcoat of Clerk Stone and decamped. One of the party left behind him a coat and vest. In the pocket of the former article of wearing apparel was found a package of cheap smoking tobacco enclosed in a paper bearing an American trade mark on its surface.

Another Electric Railway.

HAMILTON, Nov. 7.—There are so many electric and steam railway schemes and other extensive projects before the public in this vicinity that enough surveyors cannot be procured to rush on them all. The latest is the Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara Falls Electric Railway Company to construct which a company gives notice that it will apply to the next session of the Legislature for an act of incorporation. It proposes to construct an electric railway from some point in Toronto to Hamilton, thence to the Niagara river near the Falls, with a branch from Grimsby through Smithville to Dunnville.

A Toronto Burglar Sentenced.

TORONTO, Nov. 7.—David Connor, who burglarized the house of Joseph Fletcher, 31 Sydenham street, came up in the police court yesterday for sentence. He is about thirty years of age and has spent thirteen years in penitentiary and some time in jails and prisons. He was sentenced to five years in Kingston penitentiary.

BRITAIN'S ULTIMATUM

Demands Indemnity for the Outrage to the Chung-King.

JAPS ATTACK PORT ARTHUR

Japan Demands the Founding of a Buffer State Between China and Corea as One of the Conditions of Peace—France Will Not Initiate Negotiations.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The St. James Gazette prints a despatch from Tien-Tsin saying that Great Britain has sent an ultimatum to the Viceroy of Pe-Chi-Li demanding the payment of indemnity for the seizure and forcible removal from the British steamer Chung-King some months ago of a number of Japanese who were aboard the vessel. The ultimatum also amends that Laotaoi Sheng be dismissed and degraded, and that the Chung-King be saluted with 21 guns from the forts at Taku. Should a settlement of the affair not be effected within a week the ultimatum declares that the British fleet in Chinese waters will make reprisals upon Chinese vessels.

A despatch from Shanghai to the Central News says that all the foreigners residing in Port Arthur have arrived at Chee Foo. An attack is now being made on Port Arthur by the Japanese torpedo boats, and it is expected that Talien-Wan will be attacked during the day.

The Exchange Telegraph Company is authorized to deny the statement of Reuters Telegraph Company, printed in the St. James Gazette, that the British Government had sent an ultimatum to the Viceroy of Pe-Chi-Li, demanding a settlement of the Chun-King affair. No ultimatum, the Exchange Telegraph Company says, is required as the Chinese government has tendered an apology for the outrage and has agreed to pay the indemnity demanded and that the Chun King shall be saluted by the forts.

The Foreign Office, in response to inquiries confirms the report that the Chinese government has requested the powers having immediate commercial interests at stake to intervene for the purpose of securing a settlement of the war with Japan.

M. Hanotaux, Minister of Foreign Affairs, gave the Chinese Minister an audience yesterday. It is understood that he told the Minister France could not initiate the peace negotiations with Japan for China, but would co-operate with the other powers in favor of peace.

It is understood that one of the Japanese conditions of peace will be the founding of a buffer state between China and Corea.

The Standard says: "Such a mark of vigor in the Pekin government as the supercession of Li Hung Chang has been too little noticed. He was the most unscrupulous Viceroy of the whole band respecting squeezes. He seems at last to be getting found out. The helpless state of the army and navy was mainly due to him and his double, Sheng.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—Secretary Gresham has received the following cablegram from Minister Denby at Pekin: "Japanese have taken Foo Chow on the Gulf of Lian Tong; approaching Shanghai Kwan; two campaigns against Moukden and Tien-Tsin.

State department officials are somewhat puzzled by the despatch.

WILL RESIST THE FRENCH.

She Will Not Have Her Own Way in Madagascar—Sir Charles Dilke's View.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—A private despatch from Madagascar received in London states that the Hova government intends to make a most stubborn resistance to any attempt by France to enforce her demands.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The Matin publishes an article by Sir Charles Dilke on the relations between Great Britain and France, in which the writer asserts that the difficulty existing between the two nations with regard to Newfoundland, faces England rather than France, but has not at present reached an acute stage. Sir Charles expresses regret over the warlike attitude assumed by the French government toward Madagascar, which, he says, will work injury to the most valuable experiment ever made in native government by a Christian population under the auspices of French, English and American teachers. France, Sir Charles believes, could have obtained by pacific means all to which she was entitled.

The Figaro says that the first credit asked from the government for the prosecution of the Madagascar expedition will be 78,000,000 francs.

A Port St. Louis despatch gives advices from Tamatave of the 3rd inst., saying that M. Le Myre de Vilers, the French special commissioner to Madagascar, accompanied by all the French representatives, arrived there on November 2. The French warship Hugon, the despatch also says, is cruising along the coast of Madagascar, picking up refugees. The British residents will remain on the island, the Hova government having promised them protection.

Charged With Extortion.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The Press of this city reports that an inquiry is about to be begun in the case of two journalists, who are charged with attempting to extort money from the wife of Captain Albert Dreyfus, who is confined in the semi-military prison on a charge of high treason in having sold to agents of the Italian government information regarding the plans of the French frontier fortifications.

The Grand Trunk Inquiry.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The Pall Mall Gazette says: The Grand Trunk board intends to restrict the inquiry into its accounts on the ground that it is unfair to allow the disclosures of the amounts which other railroads owe the Grand Trunk. The market believes this to be a trick of Sir Henry Tyler to shelve any independent inquiry.

Rioting in Austria.

VIENNA, Nov. 7.—The inhabitants of Huost resisted the enforcement of the order that cholera victims be buried in a separate cemetary. In the subsequent riot the gendarmes fired into the mob, killing four and wounding twenty more. Many rioters were arrested.

Y.P.S.C.E. NOTES.

THE RALLY AT SPRINGVILLE.

The second series of rallies, proposed by the County Executive, took place, Tuesday night, Oct. 30th, at Springville. A large representation of Endeavourers from the surrounding district were present, and a contingent from the different societies of town was also present. Mr. H. P. Kennedy, of Coldsprings, acted as chairman, while Miss Quinn, Revs. J. Rae, Catannach, McDonald, and Mr. A.J. Johnston took part in the programme.

The first speaker of the evening was Mr. A. J. Johnston, subject "Systematic Giving." He said that Christ's command, "Go ye into all the world and preach the Gospel," was being seriously neglected by the Christians of to-day, in Home as well as Foreign Missions. He gave as an instance, the deplorable condition of the Western States. The people of that section did not make any pretence to recognize the commands of God. This was due to the indifference of the Christians in the eastern portion of the Union. Let us, as Canadians, take heed, lest our great Northwest should be afflicted in a like manner. There were many out in this portion of our Dominion ready to preach the Gospel, but were handicapped on account of finances. We are God's stewards, and will have to give an account of our stewardships. All should be systematic givers. The question of how much to give is a matter to be settled by each one as God's agent.

The Rev. Mr. Rae was then introduced, his subject being "Christian Citizenship." He claimed that we as British subjects were proud of our citizenship, and we had reason to be. It was an easy thing to be a British citizen, but it was a very different thing to be a Christian citizen. He then illustrated how very indifferent the Christians of to-day were on the social questions. As long as they were not affected individually, they would brush past and not meddle with a question that they considered degrading. Christian Endeavourers! the day has come when we as Christian workers must be aggressive, supposing we are looked up as fanatics. Let us then put aside some of our niceness, and let us dig beneath the surface. The question naturally arises, what are we going to do? First, we must educate the masses to know and love the truth. To do this we must get the Bible into their hands and off the centre table. What we need is more Bible and less ballot, for if the voter loves his Bible the ballot will be all right. The solution of the social problem of to-day lies in the Scriptures. We as Christian Endeavourers put too much faith in organization and not enough in individual influence. Get the individual aright and the organization must flourish. We will only have a Christian citizenship when we have more of the Divine power. The reverend gentlemen closed his very practical address by urging everyone present to work out their individual portion of the work.

Miss Quinn now took charge of the consecration service, which was very profitable to all present.

A very profitable hour was then spent in a social way, the ladies of the congregation supplying refreshments.

PASTEBOARD CHRISTIANS.

Pasteboard Christians are those that play cards. And their house—being a pasteboard house,—great shall be the fall of it.

Pasteboard Christians give their children a set of burglar's tools to play with, to teach them dexterity. What harm? Their children will never be burglars.

They deplore speculation in business,—these pasteboard Christians—but welcome it in play. In work they would rely on God, and the brains and power God has given; in sport, they worship chance:—"Come, shuffle better, and give us better luck!"

They ask, "What is the harm of it?" instead of, "what's the good of it?"

They try to make home attractive by imitating the attractions of gambling-hells.

They pray, "Lead us not into temptation," and then learn the language of temptation, going to school to Professor Hypocrisy.

Others are drifting headlong over the Niagara of gambling. "Go to!" cry these pasteboard philanthropists; "let us strong fellows row up toward the falls, and show the weak ones just how near they may go without going over."—By A. Wisecare, Auburndale, Mass.

ST. PAUL'S SOCIETY.

This society held their business meeting on Monday night. All the committees presented very gratifying reports of work done by them during the past six months. The new convenors of committees presented the plans of work they propose taking up during the ensuing term.

The following large vari-coloured motto was laid before the society and adopted unanimously as the motto of work to be done by each active member of the society:

FOR CHRIST AND THE CHURCH
TO GLORIFY GOD.
ONE SOUL FOR CHRIST,
ONE INVITATION WEEKLY.
ONE VERSE MEMORIZED.

The faithful following out of this plan will certainly be productive of much good. The missionary committee take charge of the next meeting.

BAPTIST SOCIETIES.

Arrangements are being made for a rally of all the young people's societies in connection with the Baptist churches of the Peterborough Association, on Dec. 11th., in the Murray street church. This embraces the territory from Belleville in the east to Port Hope in the west and as far north as there are any Baptist churches. Fuller announcements later on.

OBSEQUIES OF THE DEAD CZAR.

The Programme Arranged for Conveying the Body to St. Petersburg.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The corresponde. of the Pall Mall Gazette in Livadia telegraphs that the following programme has been arranged for the obsequies of the dead Czar:

On Wednesday the body will be transferred from the palace to the church at Livadia. At 8 o'clock to-morrow morning services will be held in the church, at which all the members of the imperial family and all representatives of foreign royalties will be present in full dress. At 10 o'clock the funeral procession will start for the Yalta pier.

The body will be followed by the Czar and Czarina and the Prince of Wales. The remains will be conveyed to Sebastopol on board the Russian cruiser Pamiat Merkoovia, escorted by a few warships. It is expected that the remains will reach Sebastopol at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when divine services will be held at the landing place.

The train bearing the dead Emperor will start from Sebastopol at six o'clock. The first car will contain the body of the Czar, attended by priests and members of the Imperial household; the second will be occupied by the Czar and Czarina and the Prince and Princess of Wales, and two others which will complete the train by their suites and the chief officers attached to the Imperial household. The funeral train will proceed slowly, stopping at Simferopol, Kharkoff, Kursk and Orel, at which points requiem services will be held and the people will be permitted to view the body. The train is timed to arrive at Moscow on Sunday morning. The entire Imperial party will sleep on Sunday night at the Kremlin, where preparations have been made for the accommodation of 1,000 persons. On Monday the train will leave for St. Petersburg, arriving at the capitol at 10 o'clock on Tuesday morning.

VIENNA, Nov. 7.—Dr. Lewakowski, the Polish leader, who tried in the lower house to criticise the reign of Alexander III., has received numerous congratulations from Galicia. Most of the senders are workingmen, students and women. The most influential Polish newspapers condemn his conduct. Dr. Wekerle, Hungarian premier, refrained from proposing a resolution of condolence in the Reichstag, as he feared the protests of the national independence party.

LONDON, Nov. 7.—The Odessa correspondent of the Times says: "The sudden departure of three infantry regiments for Sebastopol on the 4th, and 2,000 more soldiers on the 5th has given origin to many reports, and is much commented upon in military circles. It is understood that they are to be employed in guarding part of the railway line between Sebastopol and St Petersburg, over which the body of Alexander will pass.

Raiatea Natives Revolt.

SYDNEY, N.S., Nov. 7.—The natives of Raiatea, one of the Society Islands, have persistently opposed the French since the occupation of the group. The situation has become serious and the governor has applied to France for five warships and 3,000 men to subdue the rebels. The Raiateans are well armed and determined.

Ratified the French Treaty.

PARIS, Nov. 7.—The Customs Committee of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday voted to sanction the commercial agreement between France and Canada.

Another Fire in Preston.

PRESTON, Nov. 7.—Another fire visited this town yesterday, and in less than one hour the large building occupied by Moorehouse & Snell, awning manufacturers, near the business centre, was destroyed. The cause of the fire has not yet been ascertained. The contents were insured for $400.

A Duel With Bare Knuckles.

AKRON, O., Nov 7.—John Brownell and Harry Deros, both claiming the hand of Miss Jennie Graves, settled the matter by fighting with bare knuckles last night. The girl and many friends witnessed the fight, which lasted five rounds and was brutal. Brownell won the battle.

Pains in the Joints

Caused by Inflammatory Swelling

A Perfect Cure by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"It affords me much pleasure to recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla. My son was afflicted with great pain in the joints, accompanied with swelling so bad that he could not get up stairs to bed without crawling on hands and knees. I was very anxious about him, and having read

ATTEMPT TO WRECK A TRAIN.

A Grand Trunk Express Narrowly Escapes a Terrible Catastrophe.

WINDSOR, Nov 7.—It has just leaked out that a desperate attempt was made on Sunday night to wreck the Grand Trunk Express train due to arrive in Windsor at 10 o'clock. No less than three detectives are now working on the case, and through the discovery of an important clue the chances are that the guilty parties will soon be under arrest.

A freight train was ahead and the engineer had orders to run into the siding at Belle River and let the Express pass by, when, about two miles from that place, he thought he saw something on the track. He immediately whistled for brakes, but before he came to a stop his engine jumped over a railroad tie.

When the engineer and train hands made an investigation they found several ties and rails had been piled across the track a few yards ahead of the one they struck. The engine did not leave the track, and after the obstructions had been removed the train proceeded to Belle River. Fifteen minutes later the express train came thundering along and struck something which was sent flying to one side. This train was stopped also at Belle River, and it was then ascertained that after the crew on the freight train had removed the pile of ties that another had been placed on the track. This showed that the parties who did the work were in the vicinity, and that their intention was to wreck the express.

The officials are unable to understand why the attempt should have been made. They are inclined to the belief that spite work is at the bottom of it and not robbery. Had the express run into the obstruction there would have been a horrible railroad wreck; as the train would have been thrown down the embankment.

The Brown Alimony Case.

MONTREAL, Nov. 7.—The civil suit between Mrs. Andrew White Brown and her husband and father-in-law, Lyman Brown, of New York, was before Mr. Justice Pagneulo in the Practice Court yesterday. Mrs. Brown seeks to have her father-in-law condemned to pay her alimentary allowance and pending the final decision of the Courts she seeks to have an interim allowance of $150 per month ordered. The defence to the petition for interim allowance was that a petition of this nature was governed by the laws of the state of New York, where Mr. and Mrs. Brown had contracted marriages. Mr. Lyman Brown's counsel also filed a declinatory exception to the action, and made a motion that Mrs. Brown be ordered to furnish security costs. The Court ruled all points in favor of Mrs. Brown yesterday. It was a general principal of law that where a foreigner was served within the province, the courts had full jurisdiction. Mrs. Brown is now domiciled in Montreal, and therefore need not find security for costs. The defendants were given eight days to file their answers to the petition for provisional alimony.

An Absconder's Wife Wants Divorce.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Nov. 7.—Mrs. Olive Myers has brought suit for divorce against her husband, whom she alleges insisted upon running after other women until his expenses exceeded his income, when he stole money from his employers and skipped to Canada. Mrs. Myers asks for a decree of absolute divorce and the custody of the child. Mrs. Myers received a letter from her husband six weeks ago. It was dated Ottawa, Canada. In it he said he would never return to Buffalo, and that he intended to go to the far western part of Canada or to some foreign country to reside.

Counterfeiters in Essex County.

WINDSOR, Nov. 7.—For several months past counterfeit coin has been circulating in Essex county, and word to that effect was sent to Ottawa. The result was that Detective Heron of the secret service came to Windsor last Friday. He had a consultation with Magistrate Bartlett, and the following day he and Detective Campan went to Amherstburg. They got a clue there and have been quietly working in that vicinity ever since. Two officers have arrested Michael Hayes at his home in Anderson, and he will be brought to Windsor. Other arrests, it is said, will follow.

Montreal Police Inquiry.

MONTREAL, Nov. 7.—The investigation into the workings of the Montreal Police and Detective force was continued last night. Chief Detective Cullen was again on the stand and his examination by the prosecution was concluded. No evidence of importance was elicited. The witness was then taken in hand by Mr. McMaster, Q. C., for the defence who by a clever cross-examination completely riddled the prosecution and showed that the Montreal force was not as bad as had been painted and that considering the numbers it was as efficient as most places.

Mrs. Hartley Protests.

TORONTO, Nov. 7.—The legal adviser of Mrs. Maria Hartley, the woman who recently attained to notoriety at Brantford in connection with a case where she was accused of murdering her husband, has notified Mr. J. H. Moore, of the Musee, that his client has objections to the exhibition of a wax figure imitation of herself. Legal proceedings, says the lawyer, will be taken if the Musee places the figure in the chamber of horrors or continues to advertise the attraction.

They Want the Report in Full.

COLLINGWOOD, Nov. 7.—Collingwood went to considerable expense in sending delegates to the Deep Waterways Convention and her citizens are anxious that no emasculation takes place in the coming report. The convention was pregnant with valuable information and suggestions, and we want the report in full, and think we are entitled to it after our trouble and expense at Toronto's suggestion.

Lost in a Hurricane.

HALIFAX, Nov. 7.—Monday night about midnight a hurricane struck this coast and raged with great violence for the remainder of the night. The shooner, Annie M. Pride, is reported a total wreck at Bear Cove, 10 miles from this city, and all her crew of four men drowned. She was bound to Halifax from Mabon with lime and is completely ground up on rocks.

A Baby Saved.

DEAR SIRS,—My baby had a terrible cough. The doctor said it was Whooping Cough, but it got worse all the time until baby was just like a skeleton. When he was four months old I tried Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion, and after using one and a half bottles my baby is entirely cured. No other remedy but the Emulsion was used, and baby is now strong and healthy.

BLOOD TURNED TO WATER.

The Result is Dizziness, Fainting Spells and Loss of Energy—How to Regain Health and Strength.

To those of an observant nature it must be painfully apparent that a large percentage of the young ladies of to-day are far from the enjoyment of good health. Their pallid faces and listless demeanor bespeak an early breakdown if prompt measures are not taken to restore the wasted energies. A case in point is that of Miss Imerson, of Greenwood, Ont. The mother of the young lady says:—"My daughter was in poor health for two years, and we spent a good many dollars in doctoring with but very little good. Our family doctor said she was badly run down and that her blood had turned to water. She suffered from severe headaches, loss of appetite and her lungs pained her so much at times that it caused her to faint. We were advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I am thankful to say that after the use of nine boxes she entirely regained her health and is as strong as any in the family. Others in our household have also used Pink Pills with the same good results, and I strongly recommend them to all who are ailing." A serious responsibility devolves on mothers and they will do well to heed the advice contained in Mrs. Imerson's statements if their daughters are weak, pallid, easily tired or subject to heart palpitation. Dr. Williams Pink Pills have a more potent influence on the blood and nerves than any other known medicine, and speedily restore the bloom of health to pallid cheeks. Pink Pills cure when all other medicines fail. Sold by all dealers or sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y. Refuse all substitutes alleged to be "just as good."

September's Great Storm.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 7.—During the storm of September 24-29, 1894, ten hundred and eighty-nine vessels, valued at $17,100,000, and during the storm of October 8-10, twelve hundred and sixteen vessels, valued at $19,183,000, making a total of twenty-three hundred and five vessels valued at $36,283,000, remained in port on the Atlantic and Gulf coasts secured from danger throughout the periods for which warnings were issued from the signal service bureau. Reports from the region traversed by the storm give the warnings credit for saving a considerable number of lives, one station alone—Charleston—reporting that over 100 lives were probably saved by this means.

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, Que., whose remarkable cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has been set forth in his letter, recently published, is a graduate of McGill College, this city. He is well known, not only to the medical profession in Montreal, but throughout the entire province, as a careful and reputable physician, and his testimony to the worth of Dodd's Kidney Pills is accepted by physicians generally as a guarantee of the efficacy of the remedy. Such a communication, coming from so eminent a graduate of McGill, will have the effect of making Dodd's Kidney Pills universally popular in Quebec.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times.

FOR SALE AT

J. D. TULLY'S DRUG STORE

ROBERT HALL.

Seasonable and Opportune.

Always forearmed for all the shopping demands of our customers—this store is never behind—the right goods at the right time and at the right prices. October suggest the need of such things as Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves.

We have too many kinds to attempt any detail, but in addition to the BEST makes in underwear we carry a full line of the celebrated "Health Brand" in all sizes and combinations.

Blankets and Bed Comforters.

The buying of these lines was done with extreme care, as we have an exacting constituency to choose for, who are wide awake judges of qualities and prices. The stock is right and the values correspond.

Along with these, we would also mention our new fall selected Shawls, in many sizes, qualities and shapes—very exclusive—and from makers who warrant their goods.

Millinery and Mantles.

Style is everything in these lines. You don't want a last year's hat, or bonnet, or jacket, at any cost, and you won't find one here. You don't even want this season's unless the style is distinctive, and that is just where we excel.

We continue to show a full range in all the newest novelties in Dress Goods.

20,000 Miles.

The Aunt Sally Company will this season make one of the longest tours on record, making a complete belt of the United States, and travelling over 20,000 miles. They go direct from Halifax to Vancouver, B.C., then down the Pacific to San Diego—to Texas—to Florida, and up the Atlantic coast to New York city. This company appears here Monday night, November 12th. Prices, 25, 50 and 75c.

Prove All Things.

Popularity is not gained by make-believe, nor does cures of troublesome coughs come by chance. Many a poor sufferer is made to know this by sad experience. If you wish authentic proof of the true merits and efficacy of the Ontario Cough Remedy as prepared by Mr. John McKee, druggist, George street, call at his drug store and see local testimonials and authorised statements of hundreds who have been cured by it.

Tent of the Maccabees.

The local Tent of the Maccabees met last night, and it was the largest meeting, which has been held since the Tent was organised. A great deal of important business was transacted and a communication was read from the head of the Order stating that the initiation fees had been reduced from six to three dollars, up till the first of January. The next meeting will be held on Tuesday evening next, and as it is specially called, a large attendance of the members is looked for.

Great Bargains in Stoves.

This is the season of the year when people are looking for cheap stoves, both coal and wood, and those wishing to secure bargains in that line and to purchase stoves at prices never before heard of in this town, would do well to call and inspect the line of stoves at MR. ROBERT BEGLEY'S Housefurnishing Store, Water street, opposite the Mechanics' Institute, where they are sure to be satisfied in this line. They are all in first class condition. Rare snaps also in other household material.

Friday Night's Attraction.

Gus Thomas' play, "The Burglar," takes a position in the front rank of comedy drama, and will easily hold its place with the very best of plays. It is a play which the most fastidious, the most exacting could view without offence, and merited the successful run which it is having. The sentiment of the play is true to nature, and on that account not only intensely interesting, but instructive as well, and can be properly called, in the hands of the excellent company, a dramatic treat, which it manifestly was to all who attended the production last evening. This company appears here Friday, Nov. 9th. Prices, 25, 50 and 75c. Seats on sale at Street Railway office.

—The Belleville milkmen are seriously considering the advisability of falling in with a suggestion of the Ministerial Association of that city and cease delivering milk on Sunday. The milk delivered on Saturday would be scalded by the purveyors and thus prevented from turning sour.

—The Canadian General Electric Company is shipping two M. P. 300 generators to-day to Montreal for the Street Railway Company. They are loaded on two flat cars and one box car. This completes their contract with this company. Mr. D. Elliott leaves to-morrow night to place them in position.

—Last night, the increased accommodation provided by the Directors of the Mechanic's Institute, for the members of Mr. A. V. White's engineering class, was taxed to its full capacity, nearly fifty being present, from the various manufacturing establishments of the town. It is expected that the Directors may yet furnish their large lecture hall, providing better accommodation for both the Engineering and Drawing Classes.

—A peculiarity of the blind is that there is seldom one of them who smokes. Soldiers and sailors who have been accustomed to smoking, but who have lost their sight in action, smoke only for a short time afterwards. They say it gives them no pleasure, because they cannot see the smoke. Another peculiarity of the blind is that while other storekeepers are asking a dollar for a blind with a lace fringe, stratton is selling them at sixty-nine cents each, with roller and fittings complete.

—Yesterday afternoon the steamer Daisy left Harwood, having in tow a scow laden with lath for the Dickson Company here. When passing through the west channel the scow grounded upon a reef of sawdust, and another scow had to be procured at Jubilee to lighten the load before she could be pulled off. If the Government would spend a few thousand dollars in dredging out one of the finest water reaches in the Province, they would be doing what the boys would call a "good act."

—Messrs. Bert Brown, Jack Mervin, Jay Gould and Alex. Patterson were out, yesterday afternoon, accompanied by five hounds. They succeeded in securing five rabbits and three black squirrels. Strange to say, each of the squirrels had white heads. They evidently must have been of the same family as the one in possession of Mr. Mat. Jamieson, of the "Little Windsor." The only difference is that "Mat.'s" is mottled and the other ones are only whitecapped. The boys had glorious sport, and are going to visit the same swamp at an early date again.

—In a liquor case which was up before the magistrate recently, the Chief of Police had to go to Lindsay for one of the witnesses, and was entitled to claim mileage for both the outward and return trips. It is a very rare occurrence indeed when this is the case, and long as he has been in police circles only once before has it been the experience of the Chief to have such a thing occur. He was entitled to mileage for the outward trip, of course, as is always the case, and as the warrant for the arrest committed the prisoner to gaol, without appearing before the magistrate, the return mileage was therefore earned on account of "bringing a prisoner to gaol." A warrant is rarely issued by which a prisoner is committed without a hearing.

PERSONAL.

Mr. H. Green is spending a few days in Belleville on business.

Mr. T. G. Oliver, travelling representative of the Monetary Times, is in town, in the interests of that excellent journal.

Mr. J. T. Warrington, the cheese exporter, who is reported to have been very ill, is reported to be improving and to have safely passed the critical stage.

Mr. Crowe, of Truro, N.S., who has agreed to come to the local branch of the Y.M.C.A. on trial for a month, arrived in town yesterday afternoon and has assumed his duties. Mr. Crowe has spent a year in the Y.M.C.A. training school and two years in practical Association work in Truro, and comes to Peterborough highly recommended.

Rare Specimens of Wild Geese.

Two fine specimens of wild geese were shot this morning in the Little Lake, opposite Burnham's Point, by Mr. William Kempt, who lives on Wescott street. Mr. Kempt was coming up town early this morning, and on passing the bridge opposite Spauldings Bay, observed what he took to be two wild ducks in the water. Hurriedly procuring a canoe and gun he managed to get near enough to the birds to get a good shot, and captured both of them. They are said to be a very rare species in this country, and resemble the barnacle goose of Scotland and Ireland, where they abound in large numbers. Mr. Kempt has left them on exhibition at Messrs. Winch Bros. meat mart for a few days.

THEY ACKNOWLEDGE HAVING COMMITTED A FELONY.

Two Tramps Under Arrest for Breaking Into the Residence of Joseph Bell in Monaghan.

John Brown and John Ounick were up before County Magistrate Edmison this morning, charged with breaking into and entering the house of Mr. Joseph Bell, milkman, who lives in North Monaghan, about four miles from the town limits, on Monday last, and committing a felony therein. Both prisoners pleaded guilty to the charge preferred against them and elected to be tried summarily by Mr. Edmison. They were remanded until Monday on request of Mr. G. W. Hatton, acting for the Crown.

Brown is a simple looking chap and though he doesn't appear to be good for much, yet judging by his looks he is not one capable of planning and carrying out an evil project of much magnitude. He is a fair specimen of the genus "tramp," though he denies having been on the road for a longer period than three months. He and states that for the last four months he has subsisted on apples. The diet did not agree with him though, for he states that they produced the effect of making him want to walk all the time—a most miserable feeling for a tramp to have. He was drifting aimlessly along the C. P. R. track on his way east when he met Ounick going in the opposite direction, and persuaded him to turn back.

Ounick is a farmers's son. His father is dead, and his mother has remarried and lives in the township of Murray, county of Northumberland. He has worked for Gilmour, of Trenton, for three years, but took to the road, he says, to look for a job about three months ago. He has a most taking way with him, as evidenced by the bag of clothing which he carried, as well an assortment of cheap jewelry. When questioned regarding the contents of his pockets, he stated, that he had found almost everything. The two lads were

WALKING THE TRACK,

Monday, when they left it to go up to a house to ask for some matches. The place was locked up and Ounick produced a key, which he states he found, and it fitted the lock of the door to such a nicety that an entrance was easily obtained. Once inside Brown looked around, he states, to find something to vary his apple diet, and Ounick possessed himself of a cap, a couple of pair of pants and a coat and vest. Brown found nothing to satisfy his appetite and, as the magistrate puts it, ascertained that while he had been searching for the shadow, his companion had possessed himself of the substance. However he picked up an old pair of pants and the two made off down the track.

When the milkman and his wife returned in the evening, they saw at once what had happened and County Constable Cochrane and Davidson were the following morning.

A chase was at once inaugurated, but as no description of the thieves could be obtained, it looked very much as though the hunt would be of "the needle in the haystack" variety. At about two o'clock in the afternoon Constable Cochrane arrested a tramp in Jackson Park and lodged him in the county gaol, but shortly afterwards heard of two youths who had been seen in the neghborhood of Springville carrying a bag. Both constables immediately started for that village, and heard of their men all along the way. The two were finally found in a sectionmen's house about a mile from Springville, where the arrest was made. The prisoners on their way back to Peterborough, confessed the crime, but stated that they had no intention of entering the house when they went up to it.

The preliminary hearing this morning was most amusing, as the prisoners seem to look on the entire circumstances as one of the biggest of jokes.

WHO OWNS THE RINK.

The Curling Club, or the Shareholders?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I read in your last evening's issue, the report of the annual meeting of the Curling Club, and the usual annual election of officers for the ensuing year or season, and I was struck with the coolness with which the assembled gentlemen arranged for their winter evenings' amusement. It never seems to dawn upon the minds of the members of the Curling Club that a number of persons who neither curl nor skate, some few years ago took certain shares or stock in the rink building, the inducement to subscription being the dividends that would be paid upon the investment, and which, like a great many other things in Peterborough, which enterprising people have invested their money in, falls short of what should be the first object of the directors to receive—namely, to secure to stockholders an annual return for the money invested. As a shareholder, and one of the first to "take stock" upon assurances of returns that have never been realized, I desire to enter my public protest against the way this concern is being managed for, it would seem, the almost exclusive benefit of the Curling Club. There does not seem to be any effort put forth to make a dividend or pay off the floating indebtedness. Every other interest sinks into insignificance when the "ice makes" for curling. The directors of the Curling Club are all so fascinated with the "roarin' game" that the greater part of the season is taken up with bonspiels, etc., and the department that was at one time the most profitable—skating—is not encouraged as it should be. The consequence is that skaters become disgusted at the rink being practically monopolized by the curlers, and decline, as a natural consequence, to purchase season tickets — they have no guarantee that they will be able satisfactorily to use the rink during the season. I know there are numbers who feel, as I do, that no dividend will ever be paid so long as the curlers are allowed to use the rink at their pleasure. This being so, the decent thing for the curlers to do is to pay off those whom they wheedled into taking stock and then they may do as they please without protest. In the absence of a definite report from the skating interests, I will add no more, but it seems to me that that a sufficient rental could be obtained for the rink from outside persons to pay a dividend upon the stock. The curling club could then lease the curling section at its proper business value and not sacrifice the whole rink for the sole benefit of the few, who curl, a small number in proportion to the members and revenue that would in addition be derived from skating and carnivals. The rink should easily be leased for a sufficient sum to pay a dividend of at least six per cent on the whole capital invested.

Yours truly,
Nov. 7th, 1894. A STOCKHOLDER.

Protect your Horses.

Don't allow your valuable horses to go without a waterproof cover during the cold wet days of the fall. Be good to them, provide them with one of Kingscotte's strictly waterproof covers, costing only a dollar or two. If you are shipping and receiving goods that are liable to damage from wet, Kingscotte's black oiled canvas waterproof covers "fills the bill,"—nothing better or cheaper. They have no tar in their composition, being an oil preparation, which keeps them soft and pliable. Awnings taken down and stored in a careful and agreeable manner. Halls decorated for assemblies, balls and meetings of all kinds. ALF. KINGSCOTTE, tent, sail and awning maker, 344 Water street.

A Couple of More Hunters Return From the North.

Mr. R. H. Jackson and Mr. Peter Henry have returned after spending a week out near Copper Lake on a hunt. While they were away they were the guests of Mr. William Tucker, of Anstruther, and report having had a splendid time.

Quite a bag of partridges and rabbits was brought home and also a couple of deer. Mr. Jaakson claims to have had everything to do with bringing down these deer, but it is whispered around that Mr. Zach Tucker, one of the best shots in the north country, had a finger in the pie.

SOME INTERESTING FACTS CONCERNING THE TOWN.

A Batch of Beginnings — The First Butcher, Baker and Candlestick-Maker.

Peterborough was incorporated as a town in 1850.

The publication of the PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER was commenced as early as 1850.

His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales honoured Peterooorough with a visit in 1860.

The first sidewalk built in Peterborough was in the year 1847.

In September, 1858, the village of Ashburnham was incorporated as a separate municipality. Before that time it was long known under the sobriquet the "Scotch village."

During the year 1851, the present public sewer was constructed on George street, from a distance of one chain north of Hunter street, southward to King street, along or rather beneath which it escapes into the Otonabee river. This work was of the greatest public utility, and contributed largely in succeeding years to the health of the town. But as time rolls on and the population increases, we must have changes—new sewers. No doubt there have been some changes, but not enough to keep the health of the town as safe as at that time.

The first steamer that plied between Peterborough and Rice Lake was in the year 1832.

The first publication of a newspaper, in Peterborough, was commenced in 1837, under the title of the "Backwoodsman and Peterborough Sentinel."

In the year 1861 Peterborough was visited by three severe fires, the most extensive of which occurred in August of that year, and swept nearly the entire square bounded by George, Simcoe, Water and Hunter streets. Twenty nine places of business were burned, and a scene of desolation marked the very centre of the town. Thanks to the energy and enterprise of our citizens the ground thus denuded was rebuilt, and a better nor more prosperous part of the town could not be found.

The first school house erected in Peterborough was in the years 1826-7. It was a log building with shingled roof, of very plain and unimposing aspect, and stood on the ground now occupied by the shed in the play ground at the rear of the present union school building, which was commenced in 1857 and opened in 1860.

Up to 1852 the only bank Peterborough could boast of was a branch of the Bank of Montreal, which was opened in 1843. Then came "The Colborne District Savings Bank," which appeared to be more advantageous to the public than to its projectors and managers, and it was finally closed in 1848. In 1852 a branch of the Bank of Commerce was opened, and in 1856 the Bank of Toronto opened a branch office here. In the year 1866 a branch of the Royal Canadian Bank and also a branch of the Ontario Bank with a savings bank department was opened.

The census of 1861 shows that in Peterborough and Ashburnham there were 2,471 male and 2,363 female inhabitants. There were 1,523 married and 3,311 single persons. In 1860 there were in these two corporations 50 deaths and 179 births, while 703 children were attending school. The population of 1861 consisted of the following nationalities: Ireland, 1,078; England, 451; Scotland, 334; United States, 173; Upper Canada, 2,466; Lower Canada, 289; other countries, 53.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE BOARD OF MANAGEMENT.

Election of Officers—Reports Received from the Secretary and the Treasurer—The Home Appears to be Marvellously Clean and Neat—Sixteen Inmates.

The ladies composing the Board of Management of the Peterborough Protestant Home held their annual meeting yesterday. As the management is entirely in the hands of ladies, there were no gentlemen present at the meeting, and even the reporters were not permitted to hear the discussion on the reports.

As a rule, ladies consume a great deal of time in transacting very little business, an example which the Peterborough town council are making a great success of imitating. The ladies on the Board of Management, however, are the exception which proves the rule, as the business which came before them at the meeting was disposed of with most speaking well for the business management of the affairs of the Home.

While waiting to receive the reports of the meeting the EXAMINER representative was kindly shown over the Home by the Matron, Miss Londerville. Although the apartments do not revel in luxury, everything is marvellously neat and clean and both the sleeping and living portions of the house appear most comfortable.

At present there are sixteen inmates in the Home—eight men and eight women. The town pays two dollars a week for the keep of one inmate and one dollar a week for another. Mr. Whitehair, who is blind, is sufficiently well off to provide for himself, but the remainder of the inmates are dependent upon the charity of the Home.

The institution, as is generally known, is largely sustained at present through the munificence of the late Mrs. Nicholls, who bequeathed it the sum of $2000. Naturally a good many contributions towards its support are also received from the citizens.

The committee of management of the Home acknowledge, with thanks, the following donations for October:—

Mr. R. Darling, bag of apples.
A friend, books, papers and clothing.
Mrs. Chas. McGill, papers.
Mrs. J. B. McWilliams, men's clothing.
Mrs. Petrie, Otonabee, turkey.

THE ANNUAL MEETING.

The following officers were elected yesterday afternoon:—

President—Mrs. Vernon.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. J. G. Hall.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Hazlitt.
Treasurer—Miss Roger.
Secretary—Miss M. C. Roper.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

The appended report was received from the secretary, Miss Roper, and was adopted:—

In presenting our annual report for 1894, there is very little change from the previous year to place on record. The majority of those enjoying the comfort of the Home, were here last year.

The greatest number of inmates during the year, was twenty-five, eleven women and fourteen men, five of whom were there for a few months. Every care is taken of the old people and the matron, Miss Eliza Londerville, does all in her power to make them as comfortable as possible. Anyone visiting the Home would feel amply repaid for their share in this "labour of love," if they could see the old people sitting about enjoying some rest and peace in their declining years. Were it not for this place of shelter, how many lives would be sad and utterly destitute, as the majority of the inmates are entirely dependent on the liberality of the townspeople and the legacy left by the late Mrs. Nicholls.

The sincere thanks of both the inmates and Committee is extended to all, who have in any way whatever helped in the maintenance of the Home, but more particularly to the clergymen and physicians, who have visited the inmates so regularly and kindly during the year, and have helped to make the long and weary days brighter and happier. The editors of our daily paper are also deserving of the thanks of all, as they have kept the Home daily supplied with copies of their papers and have inserted all notices, etc., gratuitously.

Now that the cold winter weather is coming on, any donations of warm clothing will be most gratefully received,

500 BOYS WANTED

To Sell the Evening Examiner.

A large number of boys after school make sufficient money selling the EVENING EXAMINER to clothe themselves, buy their school books, and have pocket money as well. Boys, employ your time in this way instead of running the streets.

One newsboy makes over $4.00 per week, another makes $3.50, and so on, according to energy displayed.

See our prize competion, and commence now.

Boys, work up a few customers for yourselves, deliver them the EVENING EXAMINER; be independent, and earn your money.

The EXAMINER will supply any boy without capital with sufficient stock to begin business.

This is your chance. Come on Monday evening and start business.

For a cool, mild, smoking tobacco "Clegg's Mixture" is unequalled. At CLEGG'S only, 415 George street.

If in need of an Overcoat, buy from the manufacturer, Grafton & Co, and save the wholesale profit.

Very Artistic.

A. Clegg is showing a line of fine gilt brass tables with polished oak tops, decidedly the finest of the sort ever offered in Peterborough, see his window. Also a great variety of other fancy parlor tables in choice woods, and an artistic line of highly finished antique oak chairs, with cobler seats of embossed leather, and a larger line of floor rockers at greatly reduced prices, in fact we have so many new things that we have no space this week to enumerate them. Our stock is complete in every line. A. CLEGG, 427 George street.

THE FORTNIGHTLY CLUB.

Its Bi-Weekly Session an Interesting One—Tennyson and Browning the Theme of the Evening.

The fourth regular meeting of the Fortnightly Club was held on Tuesday evening in the County Council Chambers. It was a public meeting, and a large number of ladies and gentlemen, not members of the club, were present.

Mr. Symond's paper was, of course, most thoughtful and sympathetic, and had that literary excellence—that clearness, purity of diction and vigour—which characterises all his writing and speaking. It is impossible in a short space to do more than mention in a fragmentary way some of his thoughts.

It was pleasant to hear him, at the outset, confute the shallow view that poetry is merely a play of the fancy and imagination, having little element of truth, and no great part in the deep things of life. The great poet is a great thinker; his thought is thought made musical; he is in a sense a prophet, having kinship with those seers who have guided our religious life. Browning, he considers, profoundly religious, though he cannot be theologically defined. There was no doubt in him—his faith was founded, not on intellectual proofs, but on love. To him, as to St. John, LOVE was the all in all, and explained everything.

To Mr. Sheriff Hall's criticism that Browning gave no expression to a definite faith; that so far as his poetry reveals him, he might be one of the good Pagans, Mr. Symonds replied that it was true he did not give definite expression to any of the particular doctrines of Christianity, but that his faith in a God, revealed in Christ, and in the doctrines necessarily flowing from this, was made clearly manifest in the lines he had quoted.

Tennyson, on the other hand, was a man perplexed with doubt, but he emerged triumphant. He was one—

"Who touch'd a jarring lyre at first,
But ever strove to make it true;
Perplext in faith, but pure in deeds,
At last he beat his music out:
There lives more faith in honest doubt,
Believe me, than in half the creeds."

He was in this respect, and in many other ways,

THE REPRESENTATIVE POET OF HIS AGE.

The problem of evil, the stern enigma of good, the discordant utterances of science, which perplex all modern minds, filled him with sorrowful questionings. The age, at heart, Mr. Symonds believes, is not skeptical, but has a "wistful faith." It would fain believe. So it is with Tennyson: "Lord, I believe, help thou mine unbelief."

Contrasted with the 18th century, how noble the spirit of the age; at the same time on the lower planes of infidelity, we are as much below the 18th century as Ingersoll is below Voltaire, (Many of us would, perhaps, query this latter statement.)

Tennyson, unlike Browning, reveals himself definitely as a Broad Church Anglican. Mr. Parker objected to calling Tennyson an evolutionist, but Mr. Symonds shewed, we think, to the satisfaction of the audience that he was an evolutionist; and that, nevertheless, "he beat his music out," and made the theory the ground of the large hope of final perfection—man is being made, and "it doth not yet appear what he shall be." Tennyson's faith was not the faith of the Deist or the Pantheist, but the belief in God revealed in Christ.

Browning, Mr. Symonds concludes, is one of the greatest thinkers of the age, and a great poet; supremely so in the sense of being a maker, a creator of varied characters, distinct from his own. Tennyson is the supreme poet of the age,—the supreme singer; by him we have our noblest aspirations, and our most beautiful conceptions expressed in the richest form.

Dr. Torrance's remarks were a good deal in this line, and he shewed in a few words his appreciation of the poet's work.

Mr. Burnham dealt, in his easy pleasant way, exclusively with Browning, and Mr. Parker took up Tennyson.

Many members joined in the discussion which followed. Though the speakers spoke in an interesting way, and much to the point, yet it was perhaps to be regretted that the discussion, instead of being general, was not more exclusively confined to the paper read.

The next meeting will be on Tuesday, Nov. 27th, at Judge's Chambers. Paper, "The English Language," by Mr. J. C. Brown. Informal lecture, "The Effect of Ice Expansion on Canadian Lakes," by Mr. D. W. Dumble.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

SHE DON'T WANT TO TELL

—what made her beautiful. Yet it's only what other women know. Wealth of beauty comes only with a healthy body. Health is a set of good habits. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription assists nature in establishing these habits. Women have sallow faces, dull eyes and hollow cheeks, together with low spirits, when they are made miserable with disorders, derangements and weaknesses peculiar to their sex. Health is regained, after periods of dizziness, nervous prostration and excitability, or other manifestations of derangement or displacement of the womanly organs, when the "Prescription" is used. Besides, it's sold on its merits. The proprietors take the risk.

It is guaranteed to benefit or cure all the disorders, diseases, and weaknesses of women, or money is refunded.

QUARRELLED OVER POLITICS.

Three Brothers Engage in a Fight and One is Shot Dead.

CRANSTON STATION, N.Y., Nov. 7.—A murder was committed at about midnight near Garrisons, a village on the east side of the river, a few miles south of Cold Spring. John and Benjamin Gilbert, brothers, who reside with their mothers, became involved in a drunken quarrel over politics. The quarrel developed into a desperate fight and their mother while acting as peacemaker had one of her thumbs bitten off.

John and another brother, James, had been discussing politics. John became aggressive and James called upon Benjamin for assistance. John thereupon turned on Benjamin and drove him into another room. The door was closed and John fired through one of the panels, killing Benjamin instantly.

The murderer then ran from the house, seeking refuge at the house of another brother, where he was found and arrested. Both men are about 40 years of age and unmarried.

An Ohio Mayor in Trouble.

TOLEDO, Ohio, Nov. 7.—The Grand Jury of Lorain county have returned two indictments against Mr. George Wickens, Mayor of the city of Lorain. The complaining witness was Miss Mida Pershing. Mr. Wickens is one of the leading merchants of the city, and superintendent of the M. E. Sabbath school. Miss Pershing is a well-known and active church worker. Early in the spring she was employed by the Mayor as a book-keeper in his store, but left his employment in May. To a friend she confided the story of how Mr. Wickens had insulted her and forcibly kissed her. The Rev. Mr. Smith and Miss Pershing called upon an attorney, and an affidavit was sworn out, charging Mayor Wickens with using obscene language in the presence of a female, and for assault and battery in having kissed her. Before the justice the Mayor pleaded not guilty and waived examination. The case was then laid before the Grand Jury, with the result indicated.

Panic in a Female Seminary.

FOLT WAYNE, Ind., Nov. 7.—There was a panic yesterday at Westminster Female Seminary. During the breakfast hour, while the dining room was filled with students, a terrific explosion occurred directly beneath the building. The building shook and a report like thunder filled the air. The girls rushed pell mell into the streets and flames burst out in all directions. The fire department was summoned and the janitor rushed into the basement. Three girls were found there enveloped in flames. Their shrieks of agony were horrible. The fire in the building smothered out as quickly as it came. The victims of the explosion were hurried to St. Joseph hospital. Two girls are probably fatally burned. One of the girls lighted a match in the closet, which was filled with gas, and an explosion resulted. Natural gas pipes lead in to a heater near the seminary and filled the closet with combustible fluid.

A Young Pug in Court.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—Young Griffo, the young prize-fighter, was in Jefferson Market Police court looking very much as if he had been in a ten-round contest. He was arrested on Twenty-sixth street on the complaint of a woman. She accused Griffo of insulting and assaulting her on the street. Griffo said the woman robbed him of $14 in a saloon where they had gone to get a drink. The woman did not put in an appearance, and Griffo was discharged.

The Result of Jealousy.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 7.—Humphrey Johnston, aged 65 years, shot his wife through the head yesterday, killing her instantly, at Collingwood, a suburb of this city. He then ran into the house and sent a bullet into his own head. His death occurred a few seconds later. Jealousy is said to have prompted the tragedy.

Losses by the Cotton Fires.

SAVANNAH, Ga., Nov. 7.—The latest estimate of losses by the cotton fires is $80,000. About 8,000 bales were destroyed. Two more fires occurred yesterday, but were slight and quickly extinguished.

Common Sense

Should be used in attempting to cure that very disagreeable disease, catarrh. As catarrh originates in impurities in the blood, local applications can do no permanent good. The common sense method of treatment is to purify the blood, and for this purpose there is no preparation superior to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Hood's Pills cure constipation by restoring peristaltic action to the alimentary canal.

How Women Write.

Do you know how a woman writes? Many of the brightest contributions which we receive, says the Buffalo Express, come from women, but nine times out of ten their manuscripts are alike in one respect; the only punctuation they show is the dash. The more in earnest the writer is, the more dashes she slings in. The average woman writer is pretty free with her capital letters and her underscoring for emphasis; but the one characteristic of the sex, in manuscript-making, is the dash. The usual punctuation by the woman writer is something like this—taking any prosaic paragraph as an illustration:

"The runaway last evening—or late in the afternoon—brought a great crowd to the scene—one of the men exclaiming—Go get a Doctor—but no one was hurt—to speak of—and when the Doctor came—with his Bottles—and Bandages—and all the rest of it—he was naturally not in the best of humor—You need a Wagon-maker—not a Doctor—he said—sarcastically—Why—somebody asked—To stop a waggin' tongue that's loose—said he—and with that he said he'd he'd—— d—that is dashed—Mr. Editor, don't put that swearword in—just use a dash—if he ever ran his legs off to a street accident again—It was a most unique scene—as the writer saw it—"

Little boys at school may punctuate the above as it should be, while the women who send us miles of valuable manuscript will please take note that their chronic shyness as to commas, semicolons and the refreshing full stop makes a dashed lot of work for somebody, to say nothing of dashed language by editor, compositor, proofreader, galley-boy and office cat.

Live Stock Notes.

Young pigs will soon learn to eat mill-feed slop.

The sheep that is always thriving produces an even fibred and strong wool.

When eating good grass or its equivalent, young animals will get all the fat-producing elements they need.

It is not difficult to keep sheep and hens from being sick, but it is not easy to cure them when they are sick. It is then easier and often cheaper to kill them than to try to cure them.

A Satisfactory Arrangement.

Committeeman (Dugout City): The prisoner says he thinks he'd like shooting better than hangin'.

Judge Lynch: Well, most of us would rather see a hangin'. We'll string him up first and shoot afterward, and then we'll both be satisfied.

"Nothing succeeds like success," and nothing will more quickly insure success than true merit. For fifty years, Ayer's Sarsaparilla has maintained its popularity as the superior blood-purifier. It stands upon its own merits and never fails to give satisfaction.

The Guest Chamber.

I have just been reading an article in one of my papers on the above subject, as to how the guest chamber should be provided for.

The writer of the article says: "Hair brushes, combs, a pincushion well supplied with pins, a shoe buttoner, a pair of scissors, a clothes brush with a small work box containing needles, thread, tape and buttons, are all conveniences that will make a guest feel at home even in emergencies. On the table should be placed a writing desk furnished with ink, pens, paper and envelopes of different sizes, sealing wax and postage stamps, thus making it convenient and pleasant for guests to write in the seclusion of their own rooms without calling on the family to supply the needed articles for writing."

"I did not write at once," said a lady to her husband, when visiting a friend, "as there was no writing material in my own room, indeed none to be seen in the house, so I waited till I found an opportunity to purchase some." So the husband and children were allowed to spend many anxious moments for the delayed letter.

Now I have to say that the guest who would be so careless as to leave her home on a visit, expecting them to furnish her with every article of need, deserves to have her family kept in suspense. She should have left her home with paper and envelopes directed and stamped and a lead pencil with which to write the letter. She should also have in her trunk some thread, a paper of pins, a needle, a pair of scissors, and a shoe-buttoner. I call it imposing on the hostess to expect to have all these little things provided for her, besides being merry and gay, and keeping the house in order, and serve up dainty and tempting things for the table.

A guest should have some thought for the comfort of her hostess as well as vice versa. I have known a guest to lie in bed and keep the family waiting when she knew at what hour the family breakfasted, and also keep the lower rooms strewed with her innumerable small belongings and fancy work.

Said a husband to his wife who was going away for a visit, "Here are five dollars; in case you should have an accident or get sick you will not be on the charity of strangers or friends." Now that is what I call the right kind of independence.—Anna, in Ohio Farmer.

No Excuse for Ignorance.

N. B. Franklin, the experienced dairyman, hits the nail on the head on a recent communication to the Jersey Bulletin: "With all the aids so easily at command for weighing and testing milk, there is absolute no excuse for any Jersey breeder not knowing precisely the capacity of each cow in his herd. And knowing their several capacities, the man who hesitates about which to keep and which to discard has no business breeding Jerseys. He is out of his place, be he ever so good or great elsewhere. A cow that has been a good cow, but is by some accident injured as a milker, may be kept as a breeder, on account of her good pedigree, but a poor performer, one that never has paid for her feed at the pail, is not a cow to breed from, be her pedigree ever so fine. That is, if you wish to improve your herd."

House Moving by Trolley.

This looks like an entirely new application of electricity, at least it has not previously been called to notice. Over in West Hoboken last week, a house, about thirty by fifty feet had to be moved across the tracks of the street railway. As the wires must be cut and the cars stopped it was desirable to complete the job in the shortest possible time. Nothing of this sort ever phases Superintendent Bonta. He had a trolley car ready at hand and the house was moved close to the track, the wires cut, ropes passed over the track and back to the trolley car which easily pulled the house across out of the way. The wires were reconnected and the car moving again in a very few minutes. The house-mover remarked that the motor beat horses all to smash. In passing it may be said that a family was living in the house at the time.—Electrical Power.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

Rheumatism can be Cured.

Hagyard's Yellow Oil has cured Chronic Rheumatism, Stiff Joints and Swellings of years' duration after all other means had failed. In all forms of inflammatory and muscular pain it is a specific cure.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

THREE RUNNING SORES
PHYSICIANS FAILED
BUT B.B.B. CURED

DEAR SIRS—After having used Burdock Blood Bitters for Scrofula in the blood, I feel it my duty to make known the results. I was treated by a skilled physician but he failed to cure me. I had three Running Sores on my neck which could not be healed until I tried B. B. B., which healed them completely, leaving the skin and flesh sound and whole. As long as I live I shall speak of the virtues of B.B.B., and I feel grateful to Providence that such a medicine is provided for sufferers.

A SCALY ERUPTION
UNENDURABLE ITCHING
Suffered Three Years—Now Perfectly Cured by B. B. B.

GENTLEMEN—I have used Burdock Blood Bitters for Skin Diseases, from which I have been a sufferer for three years. I have been a sufferer as now entirely cured. I have used six bottles and the Cuticura Remedies, but all to no good. I contracted one year with the best physicians in the land; they pronounced my disease a Scaly Eruption, but could not remove it. It came on in red blotches and spread over my body; the skin became dry and formed hard dry scales. The itching was intolerable, but I am now completely cured, and I owe it all to B. B. B.

SPORTIVE STREET ARAB

HOW THE GAY GUTTER FREQUENTERS AMUSE THEMSELVES.

Mysteries of Leap-Frog, Pitch-Penny, Throw the Stick—Fine Points of Cat, Red Rover, and Cherry-Pits, According to Kerb-Stone Rules.

When Theseus in "A Midsummer Night's Dream" bids the Athenian youth "awake the pert and nimble spirit of mirth," one might almost fancy that the pregnant mind of Shakespeare, brooding on things to come, was foreshadowing the gamesome city newsboy. For the street urchins who sell so many thousand copies of the dailies, and to make the byways of all our highways resound with their shrill advertising cries, find time between editions to play a variety of games that are exceedingly interesting to the observer. Many a tired business man stops to mop the dew from his brow and watch these gamins at their games, and looks as if he would like to forget the intricacies of business and the chase after the dear, delusive dollar in the mysteries of craps or the mazes of Red Rover.

Craps has been described too often to need revelation here, and any way is considered sacred, as it were, to our grown-up colored citizens rather than to the embryo polititians of the pave. But a description of some of the other most popular games played will be found of interest.

For instance, cat. This is generally played by two, but may be played by more taking sides. The cat is a piece of wood about the length of one's hand, sharpened at both ends so that these ends project about an inch above the gound. The four sides are marked, respectively, 1, 2, 8 and X. A small circle with a diameter about the length of the cat is drawn with chalk, or anything handy as a substitute, and fifteen or twenty feet away the pitcher takes his stand and endeavors to throw the cat into the circle.

If it lands inside, the striker, who is armed with a short stick, is declared out, or if it comes up with X on top, whether it goes into the circle or not, he is equally out.

Should it land on the edge of the circle or project over the edge, with the three on top, the striker has two chances to hit it; with two, only one chance. If with one on top he has no chance, but it is out also. Suppose him to have two chances. He then strikes the cat on one of the sharpened ends, making it bound into the air, and while it is in the air strikes it again, knocking it as far as he can. He then goes to that spot and repeats the operation, after which he sings out, "I'll give yon six" (eight or ten, or as many as his fancy dictates), which means that the pitcher, starting at the circle, must try to reach the resting-place of the cat in the number of jumps prescribed by the striker.

Should he succeed, he counts one. If he doesn't, the count goes to his opponent. The game may be anything agreed upon—twenty, fifty, or a hundred, and some of the players are exceedingly skillful, both in striking, jumping and calculating the possibilities of their opponent's jumping powers.

"Throw the stick" is another game, for which, however, a rather unfrequented square or alley is necessary, or else one in which the passersby are able to become 'artful dodgers' at a moment's notice. A half a dozen or more urchins select a base of operations, generally a post, and lean a stick against it. Then one takes the stick and throws it as far as possible. The one who is 'It' runs after it, while the others scamper away and hide. He brings it back, leans it against the post again and starts out to find the fugitives. If he sees one he calls his name and runs back to touch the post, seize the stick, throw it and run to cover in an opposite direction, but if, before he gets back there, some other boy has rushed out and thrown the stick again, he has to begin all over.

"Red Rover" is another sport, which, like many of the pastimes of children, has a rhythmic and rhyming accompaniment. Two boundaries are chosen on a street, and in the middle of the street stands the boy who has been selected chaser, while the others stand on one sidewalk. He knows the names of all these boys, of course, and selecting one he sings out "Red Rover, Red Rover, let Charlie come over!" Whereupon Charlie jumps from the sidewalk and makes for one of the boundaries. If he catches Charlie, Charlie then becomes an additional chaser to help him "tag" the others. He now sings out "Red Rover, Red Rover, let Jimmie come over!" and if Jimmie reaches the boundary without being caught, Jimmie returns to the group on the sidewalk. This is kept up till all are caught.

The old games of "leap-frog," "cherry-pits" and "pitch penny" are too old and familiar to need description.

"A chemical success and medical triumph," so speaks an eminent physician in reference to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral; and the eulogy was none to strong. No other medicine is so safe and efficacious in all diseases of the throat and lungs.

Like a New Person.
GENTLEMEN,—I find your B. B. B. an excellent remedy for Headache and Dizziness. I had tried several remedies, but to no effect. I have taken three bottles of H.B.B. and feel entirely cured. In fact I feel like a different person.
MRS E. L. TAYLOR, Holland, Man.

Another Voice From Smith.
SMITH, July 7, 1892.
I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

HAVE WE LOST OUR HEADS?

BRING HALF THE MONEY

You intended to invest this Fall in Goods that we sell and leave the other Half at home, and for the Half you bring to spend with us we will give you as much as you would ordinarily get for the whole amount.

Don't Believe We Have Lost our Heads! Because every month since stock-taking, in February last, we have been ahead. The gratifying activity of our trade has lead to enormous purchases. Our rapidly increasing business compelled us to buy. Thousands and thousands of dollars worth of Clothing, Furnishings, Hats and Caps, Boots and Shoes, were bought early in the season for the Fall trade. Two weeks ago, when the weather was too warm, and manufacturers found it impossible to sell their goods, we bought more goods at our own price, and piled up a gigantic surplus stock, aggregating about $75,000 worth. The result is that now we have a load too much to carry.

Carloads of Overcoats!

Carloads of Suits!

Carloads of Hats!

Carloads of Boots, etc!

Carloads of Furnishings!

GOUGH BROTHERS,

THE WONDERFUL CHEAP MEN. "ALWAYS GOOD AT GOUGHS." PETERBOROUGH AND LINDSAY.

WILL THE TEACHERS' SALARIES BE GRADED?

IT IS CHEAPER IN THE END,

But Increases the Cost of School Maintenance When First Inaugurated Are the Pupils Living Outside the Town Limits Using the Peterborough Schools Free of Cost?

The Board of Education met in regular monthly session last night, those present being Dr. Burnham, chairman, and Messrs. McBain, Denne, Wrighton, Hamilton, Edgecombe, Boucher, Caldwell, McKee, Hill, Ferguson and Stevenson.

Mr. Denne raised the question of who was expected to see that the scholars who attended the schools were all residents within the corporation.

Dr. Boucher also queried as to whose duty it was to look after these scholars. He understood that there were at least a dozen scholars living outside the corporation who were attending the Central School.

The Inspector explained that he always did everything in his power to DETECT THESE INSTANCES.

Mr. Edgecombe stated that large numbers of scholars attended the schools who resided outside the town limits, but lived with relations here during the school term. These scholars should be looked after.

Inspector Garvin held that these scholars could not be reached, as they complied with the law by living in the limits.

Mr. Denne was of the opinion that this was not the case, and that these pupils should pay fees.

The Inspector pointed out how difficult it would be to ascertain the names of such scholars, but at the next meeting of the Board he will submit a report concerning the matter.

A FEW MOTIONS.

Mr. Hill moved, seconded by Mr. McKee, "That the question of devising a scheme of graded salaries for the payment of the Collegiate Institute staff, based on lines somewhat similar to that now in force, touching the payment of the Public Schools' staff, be referred to the Committee on Appointments for consideration, to be reported on at a subsequent meeting."

Mr. Hill explained that the passage of such a scheme would be a preventive to restrain teachers from continually petitioning the Board for raises of salary.

Mr. Stevenson was sure that the introduction of any such scheme would simply result in a raise of salaries all around.

Secretary Morrow, on the request of Mr. Hamilton, stated the results of the scheme as worked in connection with the Public Schools. He said that although at present the introduction of the graded salary idea had increased the expenses of school maintenance, yet this state of affairs would be rectified, as soon as some of the teachers who were drawing high salaries resigned. It would take after the introduction of such a system before it would run smoothly and have the desired affect.

Mr. Stevenson was inclined to let the future take care of itself and was much opposed to the introduction of any new system until the town finances were in a better condition. The taxpayers, he considered, were overburdered already and as the grading of the salaries meant additional expense at the start he was not inclined to see the experiment tried at present.

Dr. Burnham stated the Board were not required to deal with the question at present. The resolution merely asked to have the matter referred to a committee. The Board would not endorse the scheme nor commit itself in any manner by passing the motion.

Mr. Stevenson still demurred but the resolution was carried.

On motion of Mr. McBain and Mr. Hill, the Property committee was authorized to purchase the wood for the coming season.

Regarding the purchase of

THE MENZIES PROPERTY.

Mr. Hamilton reported that he had instructed Mr. Blackwell to take the measurements of the different apartments in the building and he advised that no further steps be taken towards the purchase at present, the times were too hard at present to think of making such an outlay of money now.

Mr. Denne agreed with him.

INSPECTOR GARVIN'S REPORT.

Inspector Garvin submitted his monthly report as follows:

To the Chairman and Members of the Board of Education, Peterborough, Ont.

GENTLEMEN,—The total number of pupils enrolled in the Public Schools of the town, during October—Kindergartens not included—was 1,485; average attendance, 1176 or 88 per cent. The numbers enrolled in the Kindergartens were:—Central 70, average 54; South school 63, average 52. Including the Kindergartens, the total enrollment was 1,668, the second largest in the history of the schools. In May of this year, it reached 1,679. In October, a year ago, it was 1,111, fifty-seven less than last month. In the Central were enrolled last month—Kindergarten not included—589, average 513, or 87 per cent.; in Rubidge street school 314, average 302, or 87.8 per cent.; in the Park street school 223, average 201 or 90 per cent.; and in the Barnardo avenue school 179, average 169, or 89.3 per cent.

The average attendance of the 4th book pupils was 91 per cent. of those enrolled; of the 3rd book pupils 92.6 per cent.; of the 2nd book pupils 87½ per cent.; of the 1st book pupils 85.7 per cent; and of the Kindergarten pupils 80 per cent.

TRUANCY.

We are still troubled, not a little, with truancy. Notwithstanding the improvement in average attendance made within the last two years, the above figures show that the number of pupils out of school on an average every day is no less than 187—a greater number, surely, than necessity demands. Parents and guardians are requested to scan the monthly reports carefully, and note the number of days and half days their children are absent during the month. Every pupil in a grade higher than the Junior Part I. First Book, should carry home a monthly report to be signed by parent or guardian, and then returned. If such a report be not presented it is the duty of the parent or guardian to ascertain the reason why. The citizens generally are requested to notify privately the truant officer or myself if they know of any children between the years of eight and fourteen, inclusive, who have not yet attended school this term.

On Murray street, opposite the drill shed, has lived a family for months that has given us much trouble. The father is an incurable paralytic; the mother works out; the children, five or six in number, are wild little street Arabs, who live as best they can; these children could be kept to school much more regularly if the father was removed to a hospital for incurables. His condition could scarcely be more wretched or pitiable, or that of his offspring less in harmony with what it should be in a Christian community.

LIMIT TABLES.

This term the members of the staff have been supplied with new limit tables which specify almost as definitely as possible what each is required to teach. I have long been of the opinion that no time should be wasted by a teacher on unimportant things which it is feared the examiner may hit upon. In consequence my limit-tables have yearly become more and more explicit and definite.

Writing with pen and ink having proved such a success in our First Book grades, I introduced this term drawing-books and object drawing in the primary classes. The results so far are highly gratifying. Indeed, our experiments have shown that the teaching profession generally has yet to learn how much five-and-six-year-old children are capable of doing when trained and developed by the best teachers. As Literature has also been added to our Part II, First Book limit-table, many beautiful poems and prose selections are now being thoroughly studied, and the former memorized, by all our pupils in the grades above Part I.

VOCAL MUSIC.

National songs are being memorized and sung in all the grades. Singing by note is progressing favourably. Choral societies have been organized in the schools, each of which is trained by myself a half-hour a week.

It is with pleasure I state in conclusion that much enthusiasm and corresponding success prevail this term throughout the schools.

All of which is respectively submitted,

J. W. GARVIN.

The following letter from Mr. W. Blackwell, school architect, was received by Mr. Hamilton and read to the Board. The acommendations were ordered by the Property Committee on motion of Mr. Hamilton.

TO BE CARRIED OUT

DEAR SIR,—In addition to work already done on Central School closets, I would recommend that cheap urinals be constructed, lined with galvanized iron, one to each of the two boys closets, at a cost of, say $5.00. This will be the means of preventing the boys using floors and seats.

At present there are no sash in the windows (4 in all), there should be new sash with glass in, each hinged to open on the inside and with wire screens put on the outside, costing in all about $6.00. These sash can be used again in new closets, when the same are built.

I would also suggest that the urinal in the south end of shed be put into better shape. At present it is a nuisance to the gymnasium.

Mr. Hamilton had looked into the matter referred to himself and agreed with Mr. Blackwell in thinking that the existing state of affairs should be remedied as suggested. The Board also took this view of the case.

After some further discussion concerning minor matters the Board adjourned.

GENERALLY PRESCRIBED.

The Idea that Bright's Disease Cannot be Cured Proven to be a Fallacy.

Quebec, Nov. 5th.—Local physicians are much gratified over the letter to Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, this province, testifying to his cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since the introduction of the remedy in this city many physicians have not hesitated to prescribe the pills, and numerous cures have been the result. The latest testimony, coming from so well known a medical man, proves that the local men were right in changing the old-time remedies for Dodd's Kidney Pills. Hence their jubilation.

To Perfume Money.

A "money disinfectant" is the latest invention meant to woo coins from feminine pocketbooks. It is a perfumed button with a sandalwood fragrance intended to place in the pockets of a purse to sweeten the rumpled, greasy bills which carry unpleasant suggestions of their previous abiding places.

TURNBULL'S

MANTLES.

Our Mantle trade this season has so far exceeded our expectations that it has cleared out several lines and left room for new ones, which we have secured at from $3.00 to $3.50, less than original prices on the better lines. Our customers will reap the benefit of this reduction in the wholesale cost. A full range of all styles and prices now in stock at prices that are never undersold.

BLANKETS.

We have run across a line of All Wool Blankets, in large sizes, woven similar to a Sheeting but combed; they are very desirable and are selling at $3.00 a pair. We have also a splendid assortment of Light and Dark Gray Blankets in all sizes.

UNDERWEAR.

As the season advances we sometimes run across what dry goods men call snaps. We have secured one of these now in Men's All Wool Underclothing, in both natural and flesh colours, at $1.00 a suit. The best line ever offered for the money. Plenty of lower qualities always in stock.

SKIRTINGS.

We are introducing a line of heavy Blanket Skirtings, one of the most desirable materials we have found yet in Ladies' wear. They are 40 inches wide and only 35c a yard.

CAPS AND MUFFS.

Just received a splendid assortment of Astrachan and Gray Lamb Caps, in both wedge and band shapes. Also Sealette Caps and Muffs.

Our prices for Scotch Tweed Suits made to order are a surprise to everybody. We have just passed into stock several nobby lines in Serges and Suitings. A perfect fit guaranteed every time.

Our Motto is to Undersell and Never be Undersold, and to always keep Our Stock Well Assorted.

DISASTROUS COLLISION

Two Trains Come Together on the Baltimore and Ohio.

SIX TRAIN HANDS KILLED

The Freight Had a Time Order Which the Engineer of the Passenger Train Disregarded—A Report Says a Number of Passengers Were Killed.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 8.—A disastrous collision between a passenger and freight train resulting in the loss of six lives occurred at Rosensteel siding, 103 miles west of Pittsburg on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad last evening. The killed are: Engineer Henry Bush, of the passenger train, and his fireman, McCarthy; Engineer Browning, of the freight train; Brakeman Manning, of the freight train, and two mail clerks, names not known.

The trains wrecked were the Chicago Express No. 5 west bound and the first section of east bound train No. 64 a fast stock train. The freight train had a time order to reach Pine grove against the passenger train. Engineer Bush disregarded this order, and this caused the collision. J. L. Pearce and J. D. Degrains, two other mail clerks, were injured. None of the passengers were injured.

A Connellsville, Pa., special says that ten or twelve passengers are reported killed in the wreck at Rosensteel siding, and that the first coach was smashed to splinters and later the wreck took fire. The special also states that the dead bodies of the railroad employes had not been recovered. All traffic was completely blocked and trains were being run through Grafton and Fairmount. A wrecking train has gone with surgeons, and Superintendent Cutter left for the scene of the disaster on a special train. The Connellsville report does not include Brakeman Manning among the dead. General Superintendent Patton of this city stated that as far as he could learn none of the passengers were injured, and this is probably the case.

AWFUL ELEVATOR ACCIDENT.

A Young Woman Dies in a Terrible Manner—A Sickening Sight.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—Katie Gillespie, a young saleswoman in the store of Hulton, Hughes & Co., was killed in a passenger elevator in that building. She had just entered the elevator to ascend to the fourth floor. The car was so crowded that it would not move, and she was requested to step out and take another one. As she was stepping from the car one of the passengers pushed against the elevator boy, who was leaning on the lever, and the weight caused him to lose his balance and push the lever to one side.

The car darted downward, and catching Miss Gillespie's head between the iron floor piece and the top of the elevator door. Her head had by its obstruction stopped the rapidly descending car and was almost torn from the body. The body hung with the blood flowing in streams down her clothing to the floor. The elevator had stuck between the two floors and it was fifteen minutes before the passengers could be removed from their prison where all the time they could see the swaying and bloody body of the girl. The car was filled with shopping girls, who mostly fainted.

The girl killed was the sole support of her family. Her father has not had work for a long time, one of her two brothers is dying of consumption and now it is thought her mother will lose her mind, as she is frantic from grief.

A Treasurer Gagged and Robbed.

HARRISON, Ark., Nov. 8.—C. F. Aycoch, county treasurer, was discovered lying on floor of his office with his hands and feet tied, a pocket handkerchief over his mouth and another bound around his face. As he was returning home from Lead Hill he was stopped by two men who compelled him to return to the court house and open the safe, which they looted. But little money was in the vaults, as the treasurer keeps his funds in the bank. Mr. Aycoch was removed to his home, where he lies prostrated.

Dreyfus Confesses His Treason.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Post's Paris correspondent says that Capt. Albert Dreyfus, who was charged with high treason in having sold French military plans to Italian agents, has confessed his guilt. He betrayed for money the names of French spies abroad and also sold plans describing the positions of the artillery of the 14th and 15th army corps. His treachery was prompted by a desire to recoup gambling losses.

An Express Collides With a Trolley.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Nov. 8.—An express train from Germantown on the Reading Railway crashed into a trolley car at the Nicetown land crossing yesterday. Two persons are reported to have been killed and several others injured.

Cholera Among German Soldiers.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—One hundred and seventy soldiers of the 58th infantry stationed at Glogau, Prussian Silesia, are ill with symptoms of cholera. Several cases of illness of a choleraic nature have been reported at Jastschau.

To destroy worms and expel them from children or adults use Dr. Low's Worm Syrup.

TAILLON'S DIFFICULTIES

English Members of the Cabinet Refuse to Take Sides.

DECLINE TO TAKE A PORTFOLIO

The Quebec Premier Will First Have t Explain the Methods by Which the Paris Loan Was Affected on the Floor of the Legislature.

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—The English members of the Quebec Legislature had a private caucus yesterday to consider what attitude they should assume in the present trouble between Premier Taillon and ex-Treasurer Hall in regard to the provincial loan question. After a long discussion a vote was taken and the unanimous decision was that the English members should refuse to take sides on the loan question and decline all offers of a portfolio in the Taillon Cabinet until the recent loan is discussed in the Legislature, when Mr. Taillon will have an opportunity to furnish full explanations.

The Star, which has championed Mr. Hall throughout the trouble, says: "The alleged methods by which the $5,000,000 loan was affected the other day, and the resignation of the Provincial Treasurer in consequence of those methods, led the Star to take a stand resolutely against the filling of the Treasurership vacated by Mr. Hall until Mr. Taillon, on the floor of the House and practically within hearing of the whole country, should have an opportunity to state his case and make his explanations. There did not appear to be room for honorable compromise. The situation seemed too grave to consider personal interests. If Mr. Taillon did not negotiate a bad loan in a bad way, there was only one man who could prove it and that man was Mr. Taillon, and only one place to prove it and that was in the Chamber of the Legislature.

"The most stupendous struggle was made to induce some one of the dozen English members to accept the Treasurership and by this act practically vote to support Mr. Taillon through the thick and thin. This would have been a public calamity, for it would have been a bad precedent. The Star fought to avert the impending by bringing to the knowledge of the members the actual state of public opinion on the question. The paper was accused of excess of zeal. The public will form its own opinion on this question, and we are satisfied that shall do so."

As to the decision of the caucus, the Star believes this has the ring of true patriotism in it and wherever the report goes from the Gulf to the province line amongst all right-thinking people, French as well as English, the decision will be heard as a triumph for 'fair play,' and a public declaration that the glitter of a provincial portfolio can be dimmed by public condemnation. Now that the ends of justice have been satisfied it would be well if there should be a suspension of public judgment.

THE PERRAULTS SENTENCED.

Four of These Desperadoes Will Spend Terms in Durance Vile.

PARRY SOUND, Nov. 8. — The district court and general session opened here and concluded before his Honor Judge Mahaffy. There was a light docket, being no civil and five criminal cases. Four of these were against the Perrault Brothers who made themselves so prominent at French River a few weeks ago and have since been secured by the provincial detectives.

Edmund and Joseph Perrault charged with assaulting Constable McRae while in the discharge of his duty were each sentenced to one year in the central prison with hard labor.

The youngest brother, John, also charged with the same offence, has not as bad a record as the others, and in view of this his Honor made his sentence lighter, giving him six months in the central with hard labor.

Frank Perrault charged with stealing lumber from a summer resort on one of the islands on the Georgian Bay received two years in Kingston penitentiary also with hard labor.

This leaves only one of the brothers now remaining free.

Fire in Blenheim.

BLENHEIM, Ont., Nov. 8.—The large stave and hub mill owned by Mr. E. A. Byram in this town was the scene of a somewhat serious fire. The storerooms just in rear of the mill, and in which was stored a large quantity of finished stock ready for shipment, were almost totally destroyed. At one end of the storehouse was a room used for melting resin, and in which the dipping of the hubs was done, and it was here that the fire started. The fire reached the resin and spread with great rapidity. The mill proper was only slightly damaged. Loss $600; insured.

Students Fight With Police.

QUEBEC, Nov. 8.—A party composed of about 30 students created a disturbance on one of the principal thoroughfares by singing and shouting at 11.30 last night. Two policemen, after repeated warnings, arrested two of them. The students rescued one of the prisoners after beating the policeman pretty roughly. The other prisoner was bailed out. The disturbance was the result of an oyster supper.

A Well-to-Do Farmer Suicides.

HALIFAX, Nov. 8.—Edward Whiting, a well-to-do farmer, of South Alton, King county, committed suicide by shooting himself through the breast with a revolver. Deceased who, a year or so ago came from the United States and purchased the farm had been for some weeks suffering from a diseased leg and lately became considerably depressed in the spirit.

The Fees Commission in Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Nov. 8.—The Ontario Government's fees commission commenced taking evidence in Hamilton yesterday. Chancellor Boyd, John Beverly Robinson and J. J. Mason were the members present. John O. Nicholson, of East Flamboro, defeated patron candidate for legislature county treasurer. John Stock and William Sexton, M.P.P., were examined.

CHINA'S FLEET TRAPPED

The Pi-Yang Squadron Lying Within the Harbor at Port Arthur.

AN ATTACK BY LAND AND SEA

Deserters From the Chinese Army Join the Japanese at New Chwang—The Seizure of the Two Americans on the Sydney—Tokio Advices.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The correspondent of the Central News, at Shanghai, says rumors are persistently circulated there that the Pi-Yang squadron is in Port Arthur. If these rumors are founded on fact it must be that the fleet went there under orders received direct from Pekin, as Li Hang Chang would never have allowed the squadron to be caught in such a rat trap.

The Chinese report that the Japanese are rapidly advancing in the rear of Port Arthur and that a strong Japanese fleet, including thirty torpedo boats, is outside the harbor. It is expected that Port Arthur and the Chinese fleet will fall into the hands of the enemy.

Japanese reports from New Chwang state that deserters from the Chinese army are arriving there by fifties and that a great panic exists among the Chinese, hundreds of whom are leaving by every steamer.

The Japanese flying squadron is reported to be hundred miles off New Chwang and the Chinese there are re-shipping their goods, considering it unsafe to remain there during the winter.

A despatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Chee-Foo says the Japanese land and sea forces made a simultaneous and vigorous attack upon Port Arthur. The Chinese fleet is inside the harbor.

The two Americans who were arrested by the Japanese authorities on the steamer Sydney, at Kobe, are named Hope and Brown. The name of the Chinaman who was taken into custody at the same time is Cham-Fam Moore. He is believed to be the interpreter of the Chinese legation at Washington. The Japanese authorities informed the captain of the Sydney, before attempting to make the arrests, that if he would surrender these passengers he would be allowed to proceed for his destination.

The offer, however, the captain refused to avail himself of, whereupon an armed force boarded the Sydney, and, despite the protests of the French consul and the steamer's captain, seized the three men and removed them from the vessel.

Much of the Berlin Kreuzheitung's account of an interview with Sir Halliday Macartney, councillor of the Chinese legation in London, in which he was reported as vigorously attacking Lord Rosebery's policy toward China and Japan is repudiated by Sir Halliday himself. He disavows especially his alleged criticisms on Lord Rosebery's pacific advances, in which respect, he says, he was wholly misrepresented.

TOKIO, Nov. 8.—The Corean peninsula has now been cleared of Chinese troops from end to end. Corea was one of the last vestiges of the middle kingdom's mediæval majesty, one of the last of the little border states that acted as buffers between the big empire and the "outer barbarians." Independent toward all the alien world, dependent toward the Celestial empire alone, that was the anomalous status of these buffers. The Amur region, Siam and others have all fallen away, leaving Corea alone. To her relations with Corea China could not choose but impart some element of reality, for beyond the borders of the peninsula Russia stood always ready to advance. Therefore the Pekin statesmen openly called Corea a dependency, and Europe believed that China had both will and ability to protect it. But two battles have sufficed to drive the last of the banner men across the Yalu river, and to place the Japanese army on the borders of Manchuria.

Ujina is a port five miles from Hiroshima, a town on the inland sea, where the Emperor of Japan, as commander-in-chief of the military and naval forces has established his headquarters. On the 18th of October a great flotilla of Japanese transports steamed out of Ujina. They carried 22,000 men, with all their field equipments. They headed for the entrance of the Pechili Gulf, to attack simultaneously Port Arthur and Wei-Hai-Wei. At this moment the flotilla is probably disembarking its freight. Port Arthur and Wei Hai-Wei are China's only fortified harbors in the northern part of the empire. Their works of defence enjoy the reputation of being impregnable. The Japanese troops will attack both these places from the landside, and it may be predicted that they will take them. In that case the Gulf of Pechili and therefore the marine approaches to Pekin will be completely commanded by Japanese troops.

The Chinese fleet will have to fight or run south and abandoning the duty of defending the route to Pekin or entering the Gulf of Pechilli, awaiting in exposed positions the attack of the Japanese squadrons. As the Chinese ships met a disaster in September they are in a very bad plight.

The Chinese prisoners of war have begun to arrive in Japan. They are distinguished by dirt and dejection. The Japanese crowds laugh at them as they pass, but make no more demonstrations. The wounded are tended with the utmost kindness. This is in striking contrast with the Chinese method. They make no prisoners. From the killed and wounded alike they cut off the heads and make bunches of the latter by passing strings through the mouths and gullets as a fisherman does with a catch of trout.

Toronto Baby Farmers Arrested.

BUFFALO, Nov. 8.—W. Lace, alias Smith, who is a much-wanted man in Toronto, is at present locked up in the freezer at headquarters awaiting the arrival of the Canadian authorities to transfer him across the river. The Buffalo police know but little of the case beyond that the charge is as indicated. It is said that the man and his wife had been engaged in baby farming in Canada, and that one of the little ones given in his charge died in some mysterious manner. Lace's wife is said to be implicated in the affair, and was arrested a short time after he was locked up.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. J. B. Pearce was in Peterborough, attending a meeting of the Executive Committee of the County Council.

Miss M. E. Birt returned from a short visit to friends, in Peterborough, this week.

The last of the appeals from the High School here have been heard from and J. A. O. Carmichael has been awarded second class honours in Latin.

One of our business men left his office, one day last week, and closed the door, which locks with a spring lock. As the key was inside, the services of a blacksmith were required to regain entrance.

Mr. S. Hill, the new teacher in the High School, has begun work. Desks have been placed in what was the reading room. New reading racks have been built upstairs. The primary and junior classes have been divided into two classes each. At present there are about 160 scholars in the school, which number will be increased next term.

The Model school football team drove to Campbellford on Saturday and played a friendly match with the Campbellford team. The result was a score of 2 goals to 1 in favour of the Modelites.

Quarterly meeting services were held in the Methodist church on Sunday last.

A number of members of the Y.P.S.C.E. drove to Westwood Tuesday evening to organize a new society in that place.

Funeral services for the late Mrs. J. Finlay were held in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening. Rev. J. F. Somerville preached a very appropriate sermon, after which Rev. S. S. Weaver, who visited deceased during her long illness, gave an address on her life.

Council met Monday evening, all the members present. Minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Commissioners Ebbs and Reynolds reported that they had agreed on behalf of the council to give Squire Bros. $15 towards filling up the flume at the mill. The following accounts were presented and ordered to be paid; Jas. Jotcham, $3.65; John Woods, repairs, 50c.; Daniel Rogers, ringing curfew, $10. Also the account of J. Pace, building sidewalk, when certified to by the commissioners. As there have been numerous complaints made regarding the damage done by catapaults in breaking windows, it was moved by Councillor Ebbs, seconded by Councillor Stuart, that their use be prohibited, and that anyone found using or carrying one in this municipality be prosecuted.—Carried. Moved by Councillor Stuart, seconded by Councillor Ebbs, that the Transient Traders' Bylaw be repealed, and that the Reeve draft a new bylaw to be submitted at the next meeting of the council.—Carried.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From Our Own Correspondent)

An Address and Presentation to Mr. Isaiah Best.

We, the officers and members of Mount Pleasant Lodge, No. 157, I.O.G.T., desire to express our sincere regret at your departure from our midst. We fully appreciate the kind and deep interest you have taken in the welfare of this lodge, and of those associated with you in the temperance cause here since the institution of this lodge, over 35 years ago.

We feel that by your regular attendance at our meetings, and the active part taken in them by you, that you have greatly advanced the cause of temperance in our midst.

We wish to show our appreciation of your work amongst us, and we therefore ask your acceptance of this gold-headed cane, which is accompanied by our best wishes for a long and happy life.

Signed on behalf of the Lodge,

R. C. HEARD, C.T.,
G. A. JAMIESON, Sec.

Mr. Best thanked the lodge for the beautiful present, which would serve to remind him of the pleasant evenings he had spent in the lodge, and that it was his intention to still remain a member. At the close of the lodge the ladies entertained the officers and members at luncheon.

A fowl supper will be held under the auspices of the Presbyterian church on Nov. 16th.

Jno. Boyd and Geo. Seney left, on Saturday, for a week's sport in the back country.

Rev. Mr. Fraser, of Montreal, occupied the pulpit of the Presbyterian church Sunday evening.

Miss Nellie McLean spent Sunday in Peterborough.

Mr. A. P. McLean goes to Lindsay, next week.

Miss Williams, of Omemee, is visiting at Mr. Geo. Seney's.

The I. O. G. T. election of officers, held last Thursday evening, were as follows:

In Self-Defense

you ought to keep your flesh up. Disease will follow, if you let it get below a healthy standard. No matter how this comes, what you need is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That is the greatest flesh-builder known to medical science, far surpassing filthy Cod liver oil and all its nasty compounds. It's suited to the most delicate stomachs. It makes the morbidly thin, plump and rosy, with health and strength.

The "Discovery" is sold on trial. In everything that's claimed for it, as a strength-restorer, blood-cleanser, and flesh-maker, if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

Rupture or breach, permanently cured without the knife. Address for pamphlet and references, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N.Y.

WORK FOR THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

A Typical Case From the Country.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—We have, the secretary writes, received the following complaint from a remote part of the back country and as it is of so characteristic a kind, we venture to send you the permissible parts for the information of the public, upon whom we depend.

To the Children's Aid Society.

DEAR FRIENDS,—I wish to inform you of some neglected children in———by the name of———. Their mother has run away with some fellow and their father is dead and their grandfather is not able, nor yet capable of taking care of them. There are four in number, but I only fear for two of them, as they are girls at the ages of five and the other ten or eleven, and it will be a great charity for your society, and if it is outside your line of charity or boundary, I pray you will inform those that will act if you know of any. I am but a poor shantyman and have a wife and family of my own or else I would look after them. If they are not looked after they will certainly turn out bad for they are getting no education and the house is visited by toughs of all kinds, for it has formerly been the resort of bad men and bad women. * * Am on my way to the shanty, but was struck with shame to think that children, that one day might become a credit to society, through neglect should become a curse. I remain your servant.

LAKEHURST LACONICS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The words are being scoured for the antlered dweller by many hunting parties who no doubt are doing tolerable execution. But permit me to say it is the apparent belief of some who compose said parties that after they pass Buckhorn there is no law. This we judge by the actions of some, who no doubt came into the woods under cover of hunting, but really ending in a monstrous drunk and the insulting of many of the people near where they are camped. This is no vain speculation, but the truth, and men should be gentlemen both at home, in the city or abroad in the woods. And further, let me give a timely warning to such, if they offend again in like manner they will find plenty of law in the court of Police Magistrate Dumble.

Miss Mary Long, of this place, is making a visit to her parents. Her many friends are happy to see her smiling countenance.

We are sorry to say that scarlet fever has entered the home of Mr. Jas. Weir. Their little daughter Jennie is recovering, while Susie, her sister, is down with it. We hope a speedy recovery from the disease.

Robert Tedford, jr., the young man who was overpowered by gas in the well where Isaac Robinson was killed is doing well and will be around in a few days.

Slight snow flurry on Monday morning.

Mr. Lonsbury, road inspector, paid a visit to Harvey. He was the guest of Mr. R. Shaw.

The ladies of Harvey are somewhat sorry to loose the smiling face of the young man who drew the milk for the cheese factory.

Cedarvale cheese factory has ceased operation.

Mr. John Elliott, postmaster, has been poorly for a few days with a lame back. He is mending slowly.

Rev. R. F. Hall preached in the Presbyterian church for Rev. Mr. Jamieson, who is away for two Sundays. Mr. Hall will preach next Sunday.

GENERALLY PRESCRIBED.

The Idea that Bright's Disease Cannot be Cured Proven to be a Fallacy.

Quebec, Nov. 5th.—Local physicians are much gratified over the letter to Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, this province, testifying to his cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since the introduction of the remedy in this city many physicians have not hesitated to prescribe the pills, and numerous cures have been the result. The latest testimony, coming from so well known a medical man, proves that the local men were right in changing the old-time remedies for Dodd's Kidney Pills. Hence their jubilation.

MOLLY, MYSELF AND THE BABY!

Buy all our shoes at McNaughton's.

MOLLY is a sweet, sensible little woman—economical, too—always buys what she can get the best value for her money.

FOR MYSELF, I used to buy my shoes down town, but I dropped into McNAUGHTON'S to see if he was selling as cheap as the big George Street stores. Bought three pair quicker than scat.

THE BABY, well, the kid would'nt wear a shoe that did'nt come from McNAUGHTON'S. Is never troubled with croup.

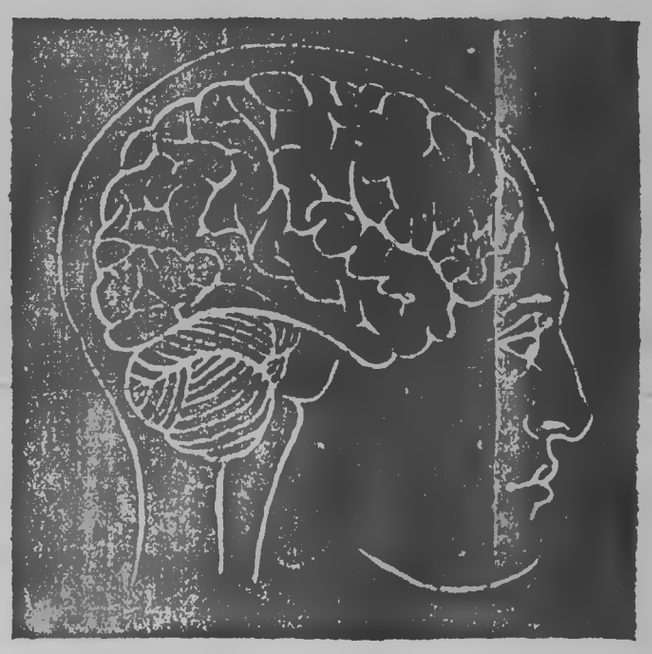
Mysteries of the HUMAN BRAIN!



The latest discovery in the scientific world is that nerve centres located in or near the base of the brain control all the organs of the body, and when these nerve centres are deranged the organs which they supply with nerve fluid, or nerve force, are also deranged. When it is remembered that a serious injury to the spinal cord will cause paralysis of the body below the injured point, because the nerve force is prevented by the injury from reaching the paralyzed portion, it will be understood how the derangement of the nerve centres will cause the derangement of the various organs which they supply with nerve force; that is, when a nerve centre is deranged or in any way diseased it is impossible for it to supply the same quantity of nerve force as when in a healthful condition; hence the organs which depend upon it for nerve force suffer, and are unable to properly perform their work, and as a result disease makes its appearance.

At least two-thirds of our chronic diseases and ailments are due to the imperfect action of the nerve centres at the base of the brain, and not from a derangement primarily originating in the organ itself. The great mistake of physicians in treating these diseases is that they treat the organs and not the nerve centres, which are the cause of the trouble.

The wonderful cures wrought by the Great South American Nervine Tonic are due alone to the fact that this remedy is based upon the foregoing principle. It cures by rebuilding and strengthening the nerve centres, and thereby increasing the supply of nerve force or nervous energy.

This remedy has been found of infinite value for the cure of Nervousness, Nervous Prostration, Nervous Paroxysms, Sleeplessness, Forgetfulness, Mental Despondency, Nervousness of Females, Hot Flashes, Sick Headache, Heart Disease. The first bottle will convince anyone that a cure is certain.

South American Nervine is without doubt the greatest remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and all Chronic Stomach Troubles, because it acts through the nerves. It gives relief in one day, and absolutely effects a permanent cure in every instance. Do not allow your prejudices, or the prejudices of others, to keep you from using this health-giving remedy. It is based on the result of years of scientific research and study. A single bottle will convince the most incredulous.

THE MAIL BAG ROBBERY.

One of the Men Arrested Turns Queen's Evidence- His Confession.

KINGSTON, Nov. 8.—The police court yesterday was crowded with men anxious to see the prisoners arrested for complicity in the mail bag robbery, and the report that one of them had turned Queen's evidence added interest to the affair. The prisoners were W. Cooper, J. McDermott and J. Dinamore. They stood up and were then charged with stealing a post letter on October 30 containing $1,000.

H. W. Richardson, of the firm of Richardson & Sons, gave evidence as to the remittance of $1,000 made by mail, which was robbed. Post-office officials' evidence followed. The mail bag in a tattered condition was produced in court and identified by the officials of the Post-office Department.

After the examination of Mackie, the Grand Trunk agent and other railway employes, the court adjourned until the afternoon, when Walter Cooper, one of the prisoners, testified to the effect that himself and John McDermott, were the only ones who participated in the robbery. He said: "After the mail cart had left the station McDermott went to the baggage rooms and tried to open the window at the back. We could not get the window up at first and John McDermott broke the glass. I ran behind the c..l shed, and in a little while I went back. I do not know if McDermott got into the building first. We got in and lifted the trap door. We got into the ditch underneath the building and crawled through to the mail room and opened the trap door there. We got hold of the mail bags, cut them open, pocketed the money and crawled out again. John McDermott was getting out of the baggage window and I saw him go back. I asked him what was the matter and he replied: 'There is somebody there.' I heard Sweetnam yell 'Billy,' and ran to the front window, broke it and jumped out. I do not know how McDermott got out. We went down the railway track and behind a house near the marsh I hid the money."

Counsel for McDermott claimed that Cooper's confession was improperly extracted from him. Dr. Smythe, counsel for the Crown, said considering the seriousness of the charge the means used were justifiable.

Cooper and McDermott were committed for trial. The others under arrest, J. Dinamore, Patrick and Thomas Clark, were discharged. About $1,100 of the stolen money has been recovered.

Toronto's Boodling Investigation.

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—The evidence yesterday adduced before Judge Macdougall in some degree corroborate that of City Engineer Keating. Mr. Bertram, of the Bertram Manufacturing company, one of the electric plant tenders, stated that in a conversation with Mr. Wheeler, of the Brush Electric company, of Cleveland, O., Wheeler had told him that the alderman who conducted the bribery negotiations had told him he could get him the figures of a certain tender for a thousand dollars, before the Brush company tendered. The tender is supposed to have been that of the Siemens Halse Company, of Chicago, which was put in on September 1, and accordin to the evidence of a clerk of the city engineer's office, was opened in that office by mistake some weeks before the Brush tender was in. Alderman Stewart, whose evidence is wanted and who has been off on a fishing tour, has sent word that he is on the way to Toronto. His evidence will be heard on his arrival.

Grace Irvine on Trial.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Nov. 8.—Grace Irvine, who stabbed Fred G. Turner about a month ago, was tried at the assize court on the charge of attempting to do grievous bodily harm. The testimony showed that the accused was born in the United States, her father being a Spaniard. She lived in San Francisco prior to 1893 and was married in that city. She had been on intimate terms with Turner since 1893 and considered him as her special friend. The prisoner said that she loved Turner, and, thinking he was about to spurn her, she stabbed him. The jury brought in a verdict of common assault and she was remanded.

A Newspaper Story Denied.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Montreal correspondent of the Dalziel News Agency, has cabled an interesting piece of news, which originated in the fertile mind of the Ottawa correspondent of a Toronto paper, to the effect that Sir John Thompson's trip to England was to induce Sir Charles Tupper, Canada's High Commissioner in England, to return to Canada and assume the Premiership, as Sir John wished to retire. The correspondent has lent interest to the story by adding that Sir Charles Tupper had received an invitation from the political leaders of Montreal to become Premier. Sir Charles Tupper says that there is not a word of truth in the statement, the whole story being pure fiction.

A Full Inquiry Demanded.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The latest action of the Grand Trunk Railway board of directors is attracting considerable attention. The board demurs from its decision and promise made at the meeting a few days ago to allow Mr. Barker to inquire into the accounts of the subsidiary lines of the company on behalf of the dissatisfied shareholders. A deputation of shareholders, however, has waited on the board and demanded that a full and searching examination be made into the details of an item in the accounts, designated as £500,000 for sundry outstanding accounts due to the company. The deputation makes the assertion that three parts of this alleged asset is no asset at all.

To Exclude England's Cattle.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—The prohibition against the landing of American cattle has taken another complexion. It has been agreed that Germany leave the decision in this matter to the preponderance of expert opinion. In this connection translations from American veterinarians showing that infection from Texas fever is limited to certain localities are being prepared for submission to the Imperial Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs. It is stated that the import of English cattle into Germany will also be prohibited. The reason for this step is not stated.

A Baby Saved.

DEAR SIRS,—My baby had a terrible cough. The doctor said it was Whooping Cough, but it got worse all the time until baby was just like a skeleton. When he was four months old I tried Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion, and after using one and a half bottles my baby is entirely cured. No other remedy but the Emulsion was used, and baby is now strong and healthy.

A Montreal Lottery Fake.

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—A lottery fake was exposed here by a prominent wholesale wine merchant. There were delivered by the express authorities 150 packages to different parties containing tickets and circulars of the "genuine Louisiana Lottery Company (formerly of New Orleans), now doing business at Kansas City. The circulars offered to make each of these persons special agents. The packages contained fifty tickets of one color and one of another, marked "prize ticket." This was for the agent, the others were for the poor and gullible wage-earners.

Hungary's Sympathy for Russia.

BUDA PESTH, Nov. 8.—The Lower House of the Hungarian Diet adopted by an overwhelming majority a resolution proposed by Herr Bruffy expressing sympathy with Russia on the death of Czar Alexander III. In the debate some of the Left members supported Herr Thaly in opposing the resolution, on the ground that Russia had opposed Hungary's struggle for freedom.

Germany's Cabinet Troubles.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—Prince Hohenlohe presided at the Prussian cabinet meeting yesterday, Freiherr von Wilamowitz, governor of Posen, having declined to succeed Herr von Heyden as minister of agriculture. A hitch has also occurred in regard to Dr. Koch's succession to Dr. von Schelling as minister of justice.

The Derelict Ethiopian.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Norwegian bark Ethiopian, which was abandoned on the voyage from St. Thomas, Canada, to Cork, has been seen fifteen miles from Fayal. A tug has been sent to search for her and to tow her to port if found.

The Kaiser Recognizes Hawaii.

BERLIN, Nov. 8.—Germany through Emperor William, replying to President Dole's official notification, has acknowledged and recognized the republic of Hawaii.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 8, 1894.

Canadian barley in Oswego is quoted at 61c.

On the street here 150 bushels of wheat sold at 53c for white and 50 1-2c for goose. Red was quoted nominally at 52c. Barley—1,000 bushels brought from 40 to 44.

The demand is improving for western barley at Buffalo, and Canada could be sold at 60c, but sellers are asking from 1c to 2c above that figure. Canada is quoted at 61 to 62c.

The wheat market was weak in Chicago, closing lower for December. Corn followed wheat, the close being 1-4 to 1-2c lower. Oats were weak and 1-4c lower.

Of the 38 cars of sheep and lambs on sale at East Buffalo a fair portion were Canada lambs, which were mostly disposed of, closing firm with late sales at $4.40.

American railroad securities, notably Union Pacifics, were higher on the London stock exchange. The improvement is attributed to the Republican victory.

In New York the granger stocks were, for obvious reasons, first to feel the new impulse of confidence. From that group, however, the buying movement quickly spread throughout the market. With scarcely an exception activity was general in the final hour, and prices closed strong and buoyant. Sterling exchange declined in connection with this buying movement, closing at the lowest price of many weeks.

WHO DR. McCORMICK IS.

Montreal has Something to say Respecting the Well Known Richmond Physician.

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond Que., whose remarkable cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has been set forth in his letter, recently published, is a graduate of McGill College, this city. He is well known, not only to the medical profession in Montreal, but throughout the entire province, as a careful and reputable physician, and his testimony to the worth of Dodd's Kidney Pills is accepted by physicians generally as a guarantee of the efficacy of the remedy. Such a communication, coming from so eminent a graduate of McGill, will have the effect of making Dodd's Kidney Pills universally popular in Quebec.

Coughs, colds, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, and all lung troubles are quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetar. Times.

ROBERT HALL.

Seasonable and Opportune.

Always forearmed for all the shopping demands of our customers—this store is never behind—the right goods at the right time and at the right prices. October suggest the need of such things as Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves.

We have too many kinds to attempt any detail, but in addition to the BEST makes in underwear we carry a full line of the celebrated "Health Brand" in all sizes and combinations.

Blankets and Bed Comforters.

The buying of these lines was done with extreme care, as we have an exacting constituency to choose for, who are wide awake judges of qualities and prices. The stock is right and the values correspond.

Along with these, we would also mention our new fall selected Shawls, in many sizes, qualities and shapes—very exclusive—and from makers who warrant their goods.

Millinery and Mantles.

Style is everything in these lines. You don't want a last year's hat, or bonnet, or jacket, at any cost, and you won't find one here. You don't even want this season's unless the style is distinctive, and that is just where we excel.

We continue to show a full range in all the newest novelties in Dress Goods.

They have the unanimous endorsement of the New York press; and this, you may rest assured, will be your only chance to see this superior company as they will appear here one night only, Monday, Nov. 12. 1

Very Artistic.

A. Clegg is showing a line of fine gilt brass tables with polished oak tops, decidedly the finest of the sort ever offered in Peterborough, see his window. Also a great variety of other fancy parlor tables in choice woods, and an artistic line of highly finished antique oak chairs, with cobler seats of embossed leather, and a larger line of floor rockers at greatly reduced prices, in fact we have so many new things that we have no space this week to enumerate them. Our stock is complete in every line. A. CLEGG, 427 George street.

"The Burglar" To-morrow Night.

"The Burglar," the attraction at the Opera House, to-morrow night, was seen here last season and was a great success. The same company is here again to-morrow and should have a bumper house. It is a famous play, by a famous author, "The Burglar," by Mr. Augustus Thomas, also author of "Alabama." This play particularly appeals to the ladies and children, as one of the principal roles is enacted by a child not yet seven years of age, and the costuming of the ladies is very rich and appropriate. A pretty love story is entwined in the plot of "The Burglar," and the sensational developments, though mild, are absorbingly interesting. Prices, 25c, 50c and 75c. It.

—There was no session of the police court this morning, owing to a lack of subjects upon which to sit.

—The Hockey club meets for re-organization and election of officers in the rooms over the Palace Restaurant Monday night.

The new Bank of Commerce building has been reared another story and the remainder of the brickwork will be completed by to-morrow.

—The Council of the Board of Trade will meet meet in the town council chamber to-morrow night. A full attendance of members is desired.

—Mr. G. W. Mulligan, choirmaster of St. Andrew's has been engaged to sing at the Presbyterian tea and concert at Mount Pleasant on Nov. 16th.

—Mr. John W. Johnston shipped a car load of apples from Campbellford, on Saturday, another from Norwood, yesterday, and another from Havelock, to-day.

—The wire fencing which is strung around Court House Park during the winter months, was placed in position this morning. Some rare tumbles will now be the order of the day until the youngsters who take short cuts across the Park, become accustomed to the fencing.

—Mr. C. N. Dingman, who resides near Lasswade post office, county of Peterborough, wrote to a friend in Campbellford, saying that he pulled on his farm three turnips, which altogether weigh 70 pounds. He further states that he can pick 300 from his crop that will make 100 bushels.

—Orillia town council has voted $50 to entertain the Fruit Growers' Association at the annual meeting the first week in December. It is to be hoped that Peterborough, which was the meeting place of an exceedingly successful gathering last year, will be well represented at Orillia.

—The Sons of Canada met in regular session last night and arranged to hold a series of carnivals during the winter at the skating rink. The excellent carnival given last winter under the auspices of this society will be remembered with pleasure. The rink has already been secured on satisfactory terms.

—Some anxiety is felt in Winnipeg as to the safety of Explorer Tyrrell and his amateur companion, Mr. Ferguson, of the Governor-General's staff. The last heard from them was when they had reached the head of Reindeer Lake. The canoes used by these young men were purchased from the Peterborough Canoe Company.

—The regular attendance of the Collegiate Institute pupils is exciting remark. There are 210 pupils on the roll, and to-day the attendance was 208. One of the absent ones, Master Jack Fessenden, is confined to his bed with illness, and the other absentee, Miss Cahill, is trying the Civil Service Examinations in Toronto.

—A drunken woman made things lively in the west end last night. She was shamefully drunk, and her expressions were far from modest. She was finally persuaded to come further down town in a street car, and was met at the corner of George and Simcoe streets by a policeman, and taken to an hotel to sleep off the effect of her drunk.

—More changes have been made on the G.T.R. Conductors Lauder and Snider have been changed to the Toronto-Belleville run; Conductors Broad and Cox, who ran from Southampton to Hamilton and Southampton to Brantford, respectively, will change with each other; Conductors McArthur and Revell will take the Toronto-Sarnia run, and Conductors McAuliffe and Douglas will go to Windsor.

—A peculiarity of the blind is that there is seldom one of them who smokes. Soldiers and sailors who have been accustomed to smoking, but who have lost their sight in action, smoke only for a short time afterwards. They say it gives them no pleasure, because they cannot see the smoke. Another peculiarity of the blind is that while other storekeepers are asking a dollar for a blind with a lace fringe, stratton is selling them at sixty-nine cents each, with roller and fittings complete.

—Quite a number of residenters in the third ward, as well as the various wards of the town, complain that their is no bell sounded on any of the schools. At one time, the Union school bell was sounded at a quarter to nine, giving ample time for the children leaving their homes at that time to reach the school in time for the second bell, which is sounded at nine o'clock, when they fall in line. The winter is fast approaching and the parents of the children do not care much about sending their little ones out in the cold to loiter around waiting for the doors to be opened. The schools throughout the town should have a bell each, which should be sounded to let the little ones know that they are called for.

PERSONAL.

Mr. D. Henderson, M.P., of Acton, was in town yesterday.

Mr. G. E. Minns of Belleville, was in town this morning.

Rev. Sparham Sheldrake, of the Lakefield boys school, was in town yesterday.

Mr. Ed. Dawson of "The Cedars," Otonabee, was registered at the Snowden yesterday.

Miss L. Glover has returned to Peterborough after spending a month with friends in Lindsay.

Miss Evelina Brown, of Midland City, is visiting in town, the guest of the Misses Kindred, Hunter street.

Mr. "Jimmy" Harper's well known face is once more in evidence on the streets. He leaves for Madoc on Saturday.

Miss Ladd, who has been the guest of Mrs. (Dr.) Goldsmith, Brock street, for the last several weeks, returns to her home across the border to-day.

Mrs. Thos. Marshall and family, of Ashburnham, left to-day for Sarnia, where Mr. Marshall is now living, being in the employ of Mr. H. A. Mulhern, formerly of Peterborough.

Mr. Harry Stock of Hamilton, is in town. He is only a week out of hospital, after a three months' encounter with typhoid fever. He will remain in town some time to regain strength. His many friends are glad to see him so far on the way to recovery.

RETURNED WITH GAME.

Campbellford Herald.

Some of the hunters who went from Campbellford and Seymour for venison have returned from the chase with the satisfaction of having seen a large number of the beautiful creatures of the forest fall at the crack of the rifle.

Mr. F. C. Reynolds went with a party from Norwood, twelve in all, north of Coe Hill, and they dropped fifteen fine specimens.

Another party consisting of E. Denmark and L. Cook of Seymour, and C. S. Gillespie and W. Neill, of Campbellford, spent a few days on the runways, and secured three deer.

Mr. A. Dinwoodie, Mr. Shannon, Mr. Benor, and one or two others, went into the woods last week to try their skill also, and have not yet returned.

ALMOST A CRIPPLE FOR LIFE.

The Sad Condition of a Little Girl Whose Parents Feared She was Beyond Hope.

Mr. Horatio N. Robinson, of Mount Pleasant, P. E. I., is one of the most prosperous and progressive farmers on the western part of the Island. To a representative of the Summerside Journal, Mr. Robinson related how his little daughter, Bertha Mabel, had been brought back to health and strength,—"Some time ago," said Mr. Robinson, "Mabel completely lost the use of her left leg. She could not use it in any manner whatever, and had to be lifted in and out of bed. The doctor seemed at loss to understand the cause, and although very attentive, seemed not to be able to do anything for her. We were very much alarmed, and as she was not getting better, we determined to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, of which we had heard so much. Before a half dozen boxes were used she could run about and play without the use of her crutches. She is now lively, eats well and sleeps well, and is in the best of spirits, and we are satisfied is far on the way to complete recovery. I am convinced that if we had not used Pink Pills she would have been a cripple for life, if indeed she had survived the illness. Mr. Robinson also told the reporter that his brother Peter W. Robinson, was last spring greatly debilitated and suffered much from rheumatism. He began taking Pink Pills, and is now as well as ever. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest blood builder and nerve restorer known to medican science, and cure when all other remedies fail. If not kept by your dealer, they wil be sent postpaid on receipt of 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y. Get the genuine; imitations and substitutes are worthless—perhaps dangerous.

CURLING.

The Belleville Intelligencer says:—"The colts of the local curling club met, last evening, in Messrs. Bell & Bigger's office. They decided to join the Club's Association, composed of Peterborough, Campbellford and the local club, and appointed a committee to confer with a committee from each of the other clubs and make final arrangements as to trophy, games, etc." At the annual meeting of the local curling club it was decided in effect to give the use of the ice in these matches.

THE WHEEL.

FOOTBALL.

The Collegiate Institute Rugby fifteen has received a challenge from the Harbord street Collegiate Institute team of Toronto to play a match on Thanksgiving Day, and the challenge will in all probability be accepted.

The Harbord street team is generally supposed to be the strongest Collegiate Institute Rugby team in Ontario, and hearing of the game which the Peterborough Collegiate team can put up, they issued a challenge, desiring to meet foeman worthy of their steel. The local men will render a good account of themselves in the match, as the team is composed of a remarkably fast lot of men. The Toronto boys are desirous of having the match come off in Peterborough.

MR. "JACK" MARSHALL GETS A SEND-OFF.

The Lakeview Club Holds a Special Meeting to Say Farewell to One of its Members.

There was a large gathering of the members of the Lakeview Club at their club rooms in Ashburnham last evening, the occasion being the bidding farewell to one of its members, Mr. "Jack" Marshall, for some time in the employ of Scott & Hogg, egg merchants, previous to his departure for Sarnia, the future home of his parents.

Mr. Marshall was a general favourite with the boys, and after the transaction of the business of the evening, Mr. Bruce Doupe stepped forward and read an address on behalf of the club, in which sincere regret was expressed at the departure of one who was always a shining figure at their regular gatherings.

At the conclusion of the address Mr. T. B. Manlece presented Mr. Marshall with an elegant and costly shaving set.

Mr. Marshall replied to the presentation made in feeling terms, and stated he would always remember the very social and enjoyable evenings spent with the members of the club.

Before the chairman closed the meeting, each member shook hands with their departing friend, wishing him every success in his new home.

GOUGH'S GO ON FOREVER.

The Chinese may "quit," the Czar may come to a full stop, the Tammany tiger dwindle to a kitten, the outfall sewer go on strike, but Gough's go on forever. You would think with every break they make in prices that they couldn't go any further, but this fall they distance anything they have ever done before. We should like to tell you all about it, but that would be impossible in this place. You must read their mammoth "ad" in this issue and visit their mammoth establishment, George street, Peterborough, to form the faintest idea of the gigantic bargains sticking out of their carloads of overcoats, carloads of suits, carloads of hats, carloads of boots and shoes, carloads of furnishings. These are all new and splendid goods, and Gough Bros. are determined to cut the prices square in two to make it warm for the public and hot for competitors. Look at their price list in which prices are cut down so closely that the cost mark disappears. Its on the dead edge of winter, but Gough Bros. are giving a picnic to the public—a picnic in prices. "Always good at Gough's" is the watchword, and their last bargain boom is a genuine cataclysm—that is a big word, but not half big enough to express the towering big bargains that are to be found at Gough Bros., the wonderful cheap men.

THE BOYS IN RED.

Our Volunteers are Not Growing Rusty During the Winter Months.

While most of the volunteer battalions in the towns and smaller cities have disbanded for the winter, the Peterborough Rangers still continue to take great interest in the instruction which is imparted to them by Sergt.-Major Peters.

The non-commissioned officers form one large class and are very regular in their attendance in order to prepare themselves for the different steps of promotion.

Another class is formed for those desirous of perfecting themselves in the special physical exercise and bayonet drills. Last night the 57th band marched up to the armoury and this class was put through its facings to music. The effect was startling and all present were greatly delighted with the precision with which the class went through the different movements.

An entertainment will be given in the opera house during the winter, when the public will have an opportunity of witnessing the various manœuvres which have been taught the men by the Sergt.-Major.

COMING TO PETERBOROUGH.

A Reinforcement for the Ranks of the Local Reformers.

Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., is about to take into partnership with him Mr. Norman Gurd, of Sarnia, and the "Canadian" of that place speaks in the following complimentary terms of the citizen Sarnia is about to lose:

"We are sorry to learn that Sarnia is about to lose one of its bright and promising young men, in the person of Mr. Norman Gurd, eldest son of Mr. R. S. Gurd, who is removing to Peterborough to become a partner in the law business of Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q.C. Mr. Gurd will be much missed in his old home, having taken a leading part in matters relative to athletics, particularly tennis and cricket. He has many sterling qualities to assist his advancement in his new sphere of usefulness. In manner he is genial and friendly, and is possessed of bright intelligence in the work of his profession. He has also a fair share of rhetoric, which in time is certain to bring him to the front, not only as a pleader but as a public speaker, and being in politics a strong Reformer, the members of that party in Peterborough will welcome Mr. Gurd as an important addition to their debating force. Mr. Gurd commenced his educational studies at the public schools in Sarnia, then going to Trinity College, Port Hope, and from there to Upper Canada College. After acquiring the excellent groundword furnished at these institutions he commenced the study of his profession, spending the last two years at the Law School, Toronto, before which institution he passed a very creditable examination. He was also successful in passing his first examination for the degree of B.C.L.

Why leave your measure for Suit or Overcoat, when Grafton & Co., can give you the same thing exactly at half the price.

Referred to the Finance Committee.

The following accounts paid since previous meeting were on motion confirmed,—R. Gordon, outhouse at Lake street School, as per contract, $35; J. Job, w. c., $4.

The Sisters in charge of Lake street school asked for some changes to be made in stoves, also for some supplies.

Referred to Property Committee.

Mr. Burke, of the Central school, made a request for supplies, which was also referred to Property Committee.

THE PROPERTY COMMITTEE

reported that the contract made with Geo. Kane for erection of water closet, at Central school, was completed, and asked that that amount of tender, $136, be paid him. On motion of Mr. Sheehy, seconded by Mr. Kelly, the report was accepted.

The secretary was instructed to notify the janitors that contracts prepared for them were to be signed before 1st of December.

The Board then adjourned.

500 BOYS WANTED

To Sell the Evening Examiner.

A large number of boys after school make sufficient money selling the EVENING EXAMINER to clothe themselves, buy their school books, and have pocket money as well. Boys, employ your time in this way instead of running the streets.

THE CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY.

The Children's Aid Society of Peterborough is itself in need of aid to enable it to carry out its beneficent objects. There is pressing need for the exercise of its good offices. It was stated at the meeting of the Society on Monday afternoon that that there were twenty cases of neglected and ill-used children, who should be at once removed from their present homes, or rather, haunts, to such homes as the Society, according to its statutory intention, should be in a position to provide. The Children's Aid Society in not a voluntary, irresponsible organization, but is incorporated under an Act of the Ontario Legislature, passed in 1893, and is invested with ample powers to carry out the primary object of its existence, the rescuing of children from vicious homes and surroundings in which they are ill-treated, or neglected, or are exposed to influences that will tend to cause them to lead immoral or criminal lives. The act provides that under certain conditions the Society may be placed in custody of such children; and places upon the municipality the duty of providing a temporary home for such children until they may be placed in suitable foster homes by the society; and also the duty of paying the sum of $1 per week for each child while an inmate of the temporary home. Now there are about thirty children in Peterborough who are in such a condition of neglect and exposed to such vicious home surroundings as make them fit wards for the society. The question of expense has an important bearing upon the effective work of the society. The one dollar per week per child which the act assesses against the municipality is plainly insufficient for the maintenance of the children who are placed in the custody of the society. True, the act provides that the society's custody of a child shall not relieve the parent from liability to contribute to the child's maintenance, but it is evident that, in the vast majority of cases, the parents are unable to give any such assistance. Therefore, the maintenance of children in temporary homes, aside from the slight municipal aid, devolves upon the society, and here is where the society's claim upon a Christian public comes in. These children must be looked after—must be removed from their present condition of bodily suffering, privation and moral peril at all hazards. This can not be done to any considerable extent, without funds are forthcoming. Will the charitable and benevolently inclined become practically charitable and beneficent? There is no necessity to urge the claims of the society. Those who have hearts to feel and homes and children of their own to love, will not fail to see in what definite direction their duty lies. And it is to be hoped that those, whose hearts may be touched by any appeal on behalf of those wretched children, who are now in sore straits, and if their present condition continues, have only futures of shame before them, will not only feel but act. Let those think, who have the means of assisting the movement in question, how they will answer to their consciences in this life, and to the great Judge on the last day, if, through any inaction of theirs, these recruits for the brothel and the prison are not rescued from their present condition of dire peril.

Apart from any consideration of charity or other sentiment, there is a practical side to this question. Prevention is better than cure, and, from an economic standpoint, it is cheaper to rescue these children and have them grow up virtuous and useful citizens, than to permit them to prey on society or to maintain them in reformatories and prisons after detection. Besides, as was brought out at the meeting, on Monday, many of these children are made the instruments of a fraud upon the town. As was pointed out, in some cases, dissolute mothers shelter themselves behind their children and for the children's sake "charity orders" are issued. The provisions thus secured, at the expense of honest citizens, in many cases do not reach the children at all, but are consumed by the abandoned characters that frequent such homes, and the children still suffer and continue to be contaminated by their vicious environments. Some of the circumstances in such homes are too revolting almost for belief, not speak of publication; but they are existent facts, and it is to remove such conditions that the aid of all good citizens, who are able to help, is urgently solicited. Any person desirous of assisting, and still wishing for further information, may obtain it on application to the secretary of the Society, or any of the active members.

In this connection it might be a wise move for the Society to have prepared a concise and popular summary of the "Act for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, and the Better Protection of Children," written in plain language, entirely free from stilted legal phraseology, and also a summary of the constitution, powers and objects of the Society similarly treated, and have such summaries printed for general distribution. We are convinced that the grand aims and objects of the Children's Aid Society have only to be brought effectively to the public attention to enlist effective public sympathy.

Need for prompt action could not be more urgent. A cold winter is coming on when uncared-for, neglected and ill-treated children will suffer intensely; besides they will be continuously confined to their wretched homes and be continuously exposed to the degrading influences that will tend to rivet still more closely upon them the fetters of vice. In summer they can roam abroad and secure at least pure air and, compared to their homes, the pure surroundings of the streets and parks. "Pure religion and undefiled * * * is this, to visit the fatherless in their affliction."

DESECRATION AND LOOTING OF ST. LUKE'S.

AN ASHBURNHAM CHURCH IS ENTERED AND ROBBED.

Vandals Break into the Sacred Edifice—The Sunday School Contribution Boxes Opened and Rifled of Their Contents—Evidences of the Presence of a Bad Gang.

The number of small thefts and burglaries committed in Peterborough and its direct vicinity during the last several months have occurred with a frequency quite alarming. Just what the local police force is doing to cope with the difficulty and to break up the gang, which is without doubt making the town its headquarters, is not allowed to be divulged and no arrests have yet been made in a single instance, which has any bearing on the actions of the thieves.

On Tuesday night Ashburnham was evidently visited by the gang, as St. Luke's church was actually BROKEN INTO AND LOOTED.

Entrance into the church was obtained through the north door of the vestry, the perpetrators of this sacrilegious crime of desecration, opening the lock by means of a duplicate key. The gas was not lit in the church, but a fire was made and by the appearances must have been constantly replenished with wood for hours. The tin boxes, with which each class in the Sunday School is provided and in which their respective offerings are kept, were found. The padlocks were wrenched off them all and the amount of the contributions stolen. Fortunately the boxes had been emptied on the last Sunday of the month, as is usual, and in consequence only the collections of one Sunday were SECURED BY THE VANDALS.

The cabinet, containing the church communion plate, was forced open, but the service was left undisturbed, as the thieves were probably aware that considerable difficulty would be experienced in getting rid of it, without having to answer some awkward questions, which might get them into difficulty and furnish a clue to the detection of their heinous crime.

The box near the door, which was formerly used to receive contributions for the poor, was actually forced open in the search for plunder. Another box in which communications to the rector are slipped, was also examined apparently, as a match was dropped in through the opening in order that the contents

MIGHT BE REVEALED.

A huge chest in which clothing for the poor is kept, was pried open, but the contents left intact. A great deal of this clothing had been spread out on a table in the Sunday School, in order that it might be in readiness for the ladies to stich over, and this was tossed all over the place in a spirit of wantoness.

Beyond the money contained in the Sunday School boxes, nothing was stolen, but the fact remains that even if the loot did not amount to much, the act of desecrating the house of God was committed, and justice cannot be too swiftly or too severely meted out to a set of scoundrels, who, if they would commit an act of this kind, to attain their ends.

A large element of danger has entered into the situation now, and the capture of the thieves will not be very easily effected even if a clue to their identity is established. A set of men who would enter and rob a church and seek to rifle a poor-box, would resist capture most desperately, as there could be but one result, if their case ever came to conviction, viz: almost a life term in the penitentiary.

The crime was discovered by the sexton of the church yesterday afternoon and Chief Craig was instantly apprised of the circumstance. No clue, however, was left by the thieves, although the premises were most carefully examined by the police.

Protect your Horses.

Don't allow your valuable horses to go without a waterproof cover during the cold wet days of the fall. Be good to them, provide them with one of Kingscotee's strictly waterproof covers, costing only a dollar or two. If you are shipping and receiving goods that are liable to damage from wet, Kingscotte's black oiled canvas waterproof covers "fills the bill,"—nothing better or cheaper. They have no tar in their composition, being an OIL preparation, which keeps them soft and pliable. Awnings taken down and stored in a careful and agreeable manner. Halls decorated for assemblies, balls and meetings of all kinds. ALF. KINGSCOTTE, tent, sail and awning maker, 341 Water street.

A PUZZLE TO THE LADIES!

To understand how MISS RUDKINS can sell her Dress Goods, Flannel and Flannelette at such extraordinary Low Prices!!

Of course, she buys for cash, sells for cash and catches up in this and in other ways, but even then her prices are a puzzle? ? ?

Honour Bright!

Honour bright, don't you think it would be better and wiser to take advantage of the Drop In Prices at Brady's Corner Grocery and Provision Store, when you go to buy your Fresh Fruits, Fresh Baking Powder, Fresh Extracts, Fresh Lard, Fresh Butter, Fresh Eggs, &c., than to keep on buying and paying the same old price all the time?

Honest Injun, we do. Especially when we tell you you can, at the same time, buy the most Sugar for a Dollar and the Best Family Flour in the market at this same Corner Store.

Our new Automatic Fruit Cleaner removes all stems and sand from your fruit, gives you ful weight in sound, new fruit, and saves a lot of trouble in cleaning.

We had a little row the other day with a Soap man for sending us double what we ordered. The price was so low it wouldn't pay to freight it back. He asked us to keep it at half price, and we kept it. We don't want it. Honour bright. Yours to please—

People of GOOD COMMON SENSE usually appreciate a good article that is honestly made, well-finished and up to date. This explains the great success of

Granby Rubbers
They Wear Like Iron.

THEY CAN'T ESCAPE.

The liver when active is the watch-dog of the system—the destroyer of germs and impurities. The truth is: ninety-nine out of every hundred diseases begin with a sluggish liver. A slight cold or chill may amount to something serious. If you correct the liver you'll cure the cold. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets rouse the liver to vigorous action. After dinner, if you're bilious, take one of these tiny, sugar-coated Pellets. Take them when you have wind or pain in stomach, giddiness, fullness, loss of appetite, or when you suffer from costiveness, indigestion, sick or bilious headaches.

The makers take the risk of their benefiting you. If they're not satisfactory, your money is refunded.

Can you ask more?

What you are sure of, if you use Dr Sage's Catarrh Remedy, is either a perfect and permanent cure for your Catarrh, no matter how bad your case may be, or $500 in cash. The proprietors of the medicine promise to pay you the money, if they can't cure you.

PICKLES AND PRESERVES.

Chow-Chow.—Chop fine one peck green tomatoes, three onions and three peppers and boil three minutes and drain. Then take two cups of sugar, two quarts vinegar, one-half cup mustard and tablespoonful of cloves, two of cinnamon and three of salt; heat all together and pour on.

Cold Catsup.—One peck ripe tomatoes peeled and drained over night. One small teacupful of salt, two tablespoonfuls black pepper, two horseradish roots, two tablespoonfuls of celery seed, one cupful of chopped onion, one tablespoonful each of cloves and cinnamon, one cup of mustard seed and two red peppers.

Spiced Cherries.—To four pounds of sugar allow one pint of vinegar and spices according to taste; dissolve the sugar in the vinegar and heat till boiling, then pour it on the cherries and let stand three or four days. Then scald the juice and cherries and again let them stand three or four days, after which boil down the juice alone until there is just enough to cover the cherries.

Marmalade.—Cut into pieces ripe and luscious fruit and place with sugar in layers in the preserving kettle, putting fruit in the bottom and allowing three-quarters of a pound of sugar to a pound of fruit. If the fruit is not juicy enough add water and stir frequently with a wooden spoon to prevent burning. When done it will look clear and glossy, and a portion set to cool in a saucer will thicken.—Farm, Field and Fireside.

Life Sustaining Fruits.

In replying to the query of whether there are any fruits which of themselves are sufficient to support healthy life an exchange says: There are many such, among which may be mentioned the date, banana and plantain, figs when dried, the bean of the caroh, or locust tree, and the fruit of the boabab or monkey bread tree, which is eaten by the negroes in West Africa. All these contain sufficient fat, sugar, starch, pecten, gum and nitrogenous matter to support healthy life. Of all these preference must be given to the banana, which supplies to many millions a permanently nutritive food, and to the fruit of the date palm, or Phenix dactylifera, which serves as an exclusive article of aliment in parts of North Africa, Arabia and Persia.

"In all Fezzan," says one authority, "the date is the staple food not only for men, but for camels, horses and dogs. Nineteen twentieths of the population live on dates alone during nine months of the year." In hadji or pilgrimages the price of dates at Mecca and Medina forms the first question asked between the Arab pilgrims going to and returning from the sacred city. Cakes of dates pounded and kneaded into a solid mass constitute the main nutriment of the caravans crossing the Sahara. From the fresh juice of the date wine and also vinegar are made and spirit distilled, while the stones or seeds are roasted and largely used instead of coffee.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

A Great Bicycle Track.

American wheelmen are indeed enterprising. There is now under consideration a scheme for a bicycle track between New York and Chicago. The construction is suggested of a 2-foot cinder path on each side of the common roads, and it is proposed that immediate steps in the matter be taken by all the wheelmen between New York and Chicago.

Size and Speed.

The opinion that a horse of more than ordinary size was handicapped in the race for extreme speed used to be quite general. Joe Patchen, 2.04, however, weighs 1,200 pounds in road condition, and John R. Gentry, 2.3 3-4, is not so very much lighter. Among the trotters Azote and Rex Americus furnish illustrations of speed combined with size.

A Great Battle

Is continually going on in the human system. The demon of impure blood strives to gain victory over the constitution, to ruin health, to drag victims to the grave. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the weapon with which to defend one's self, drive the desperate enemy from the field, and restore bodily health for many years.

Hood's Pills cure nausea, sickness, indigestion and billousness. 25c.

EUROPEAN ECHOES.

Just before his election the president of the French republic was learning to ride the bycicle. He has had no time to give to it of late, but Mmes. Casimir-Perier and her children are good riders.

It seems likely that the Eiffel Tower will be taken down. The committee in in charge of the competition for the buildings for the Paris exposition of 1900 has just agreed that the architects may discard the tower in their designs.

Of 820,000 children within the school age in London, between 450,000 and 500,000 are educated in schools controlled by the London school board. They are taught by 7,800 teachers, one teacher to more than sixty pupils, at a cost for instruction of $13 a year per child.

Hallelujah lasses in Paris have lately made a sensation by appearing on the boulevards in a new style of headgear. Instead of the scuttle-shaped "kiss-me-nots" they wear round white straw hats with slightly upturned brims, exposing their profiles and back hair.

Two Russians, MM. Menkhoudjinoff and Oulanoff, recently arrived at Shanghai after a journey of two years and nine months through Thibet, in the course of which they visited Lhassa and had an interview with the Dalai Lama. It is the first time since 1811 that Europeans have accomplished this feat.

In Upper Tonkin there are wood mines according to the report of a French consul. The wood, which was originally a pine forest, was swallowed up by the earth, which covers it to a depth of eight yards. Some of the trees are a yard in diameter; the wood is imperishable and is sold to the Chinese for coffins.

IN HEATHEN LANDS.

The ancient Ethiopians salted the bodies of their dead and hung them up in a smokehouse to be dried and cured. They were thus kept for a year, when, perfectly preserved, they were turned over to the relatives for burial.

Many Chinese temples are provided with a bell at the entrance, and when the worshipper enters he gives the rope a pull and rings the bell in order that the Diety may be notified of his coming, and be on hand to attend to his business.

The favorite headdress for ladies in China is the figure of a bird, composed of copper, silver or gold, the wings are made to droop over the temples, the tail covers the back of the head, the head and breast plumage are just above the brow.

Horseback weedings, in which the bride and groom, mounted on horseback, run away from the attendants, who ride after them in hot haste, were common in many countries, and may still be seen in Russia and parts of Tartary.

A Roman victor was accustomed to give a great feast by way of celebration. At the feast given by Julius Cæsar after the Gallic wars the people were feasted at twenty-two thousand tables, each accomodating ten guests, and each table was twice filled.

Curing Frost Bite by Electricity.

Although the past winter has in most places been of exceptional mildness, it has developed a new cure for frost bites. Dr. Helbing has been successful in Germany in twenty cases in healing people of the frozen nose. The treatment consisted in applying electrodes to the opposite side of the nose, and passing a moderately strong current for about five or ten minutes, moving the electrodes about. The immediate result is a reddening of the tissues, which may last several days, after which the skin and flesh resume their normal condition. In extreme cases from ten to fifteen applications have been found necessary.

"Nothing succeeds like success," and nothing will more quickly insure success than true merit. For fifty years, Ayer's Sarsaparilla has maintained its popularity as the superior blood-purifier. It stands upon its own merits and never fails to give satisfaction.

Plain Facts.

As a prompt, pleasant and perfect cure for coughs, colds, hoarseness, sore throat, pain in the chest, asthma, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, influenza and all throat and lung troubles, Norway Pine Syrup is the best remedy known.

OBSERVATIONS BY KITES.

Securing a Better Knowledge of the Air's Upper Currents.

More accurate weather prediction will probably result from a closer and better knowledge of the upper air currents, and with this and other objects in view efforts have been made for some time to obtain reliable observations of the upper air. In April last H. H. Clayton, of the Blue Hill Observatory, at Mass., began some experiments with kites at the suggestion of Professor Langley, of the Smithsonian Institution, in the endeavor to reach an altitude of 10,000 feet.

Mr. Clayton, in an article in the Scientific American, says the following:

There are several obstacles to the use of kites which I found it necessary to overcome. First, the instability of the hexagon . ite with a tail. It is an ordinary characteristic of the wind to increase from a calm to 20 miles an hour in two hours. These variations cause the tail kite to dive and become totally unmanageable, as every school boy knows. Professor C. F. Marvin, of the Weather Bureau, found by experiments that gusts may suddenly increase the pressure upon a flat disk 35 per cent.

E. Douglas Archibald, of the Royal Meteorological Society, revived the scientific use of the kite in 1884, and contributed an account of his experiments to Nature in 1886. By means of two kites, diamond shaped, respectively four and seven feet in diameter, covered with Tussore silk, he achieved an altitude of 2200 feet, and carried up anemometers registering the wind velocity at various heights on the kite string. The kites flown by Archibald were placed one above the other on the same string, but the upper one was probably attached to the back of the lower, because he speaks of the movement of the lower kite being injured in its freedom of movement by the pull of the upper, a result which I verified by experiment at Bergen Point, N. J., in 1891.

In the summer of 1890, while experimenting with hexagon tail kites at Bergen Point, I found that the best tandem system was not to fasten one kite to the back of other, but to give each kite its individual string and allow it to branch upward from a main line. This method was so successful that on May 9, 1891, at Bergen Point, with a 10 or 12-mile wind from the west and with five hexagon tail kites to lift the main line, the top kite became a very distant speck, estimated at 4000 feet high by those looking on, although no triangulation of the altitude was made. I have since became convinced that the probable altitude was 6000 feet, but, as it was not measured, I have not so far included it in my records of altitude. The hexagon tail kit a carry up a wonderfully steep string, but they call for long individual lines to each kite to prevent the kite tail from becoming entangled with the line below. Very high altitudes and valuable meteorological records can be made with them, but the Malay tailless kites excel them. I have Malay tailless kites that fly with a steeper string than the hexagon and require no hauling down if the wind increases from eight to thirty-five miles an hour—conditions which would bring to the ground a tail kite.

Since the Malay kite has only two light sticks and can be built of very light paper as well as cloth, it is at home in mild winds of from four to eight miles an hour. Especially thin kites, without even the weight of cord at the edges, will rise to a great height in a dead calm, if the person holding the line walks at the rate of about three miles an hour. The cloth-covered kites are much heavier, for use in strong winds.

I carried to the observatory, which is at the summit of Blue Hill, 640 feet above sea level, fifteen tissue paper kites, to be flown with silk thread. My object was to reach an altitude of 5,000 feet with the top kite at Blue Hill, with small tissue paper kites, and then to place these light kites above a heavy tandem line at Bergen Point, N.J., which had already a record of 5,595 feet on November 7, 1893. The two tandem lines, one above the other, ought to reach a height of two miles, with not over twenty kites. But I found the construction of small kites far more difficult than the large ones, and that in ten days it would be impossible to perfect the apparatus.

The highest altitude was made by the topmost of seven kites, on August 1, when a height was triangulated of 3,540 feet above the hill, or 4,180 feet above sea level.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

Rheumatism can be Cured.

Haggard's Yellow Oil has cured Chronic Rheumatism, Stiff Joints and Swellings of years' duration after all other means had failed. In all forms of inflammatory and muscular pain it is a specific cure.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

THREE RUNNING SORES
PHYSICIANS FAILED
BUT B.B.B. CURED

Dear Sirs—After having used Burdock Blood Bitters for Scrofula in the blood, I feel it my duty to make known the results. I was treated by a skilled physician but he failed to cure me. I had three Running Sores on my neck which could not be healed until I tried B. B. B., which healed them completely, leaving the skin and flesh sound and whole. As long as I live I shall speak of the virtues of B.B.B., and I feel grateful to Providence that such a medicine is provided for sufferers.

A SCALY ERUPTION
UNENDURABLE ITCHING
Suffered Three Years—Now Perfectly Cured by B. B. B.

Gentlemen—I have used Burdock Blood Bitters for Skin Diseases, from which I have been a sufferer for three years. I have used six bottles and am now entirely cured. I have been a sufferer for three years. I have used other bottles and such as Donald Kennedy's Medical Discovery and the Cuticura Remedies, but all to no good. I doctored one year with the best physicians in the land; they pronounced my disease a Scaly Eruption, but could not remove it. It came on in red blotches and spread over my body; the skin became dry and formed hard dry scales. The itching was intolerable, but I am now completely cured, and I owe it all to B. B. B.

THE ECLIPSE AT SEA.

A Great Arch of Scintillant Light, and a Fountain of Fire.

The partial eclipse of the moon which happened the 15th September, 1894, was observed by the passengers and offices of the Red Star line Westernland, far out at sea., and they had a good view of the phenomenon, which was accompanied by an electrical display of rare beauty. Seamen, as a rule, are not susceptible to the poetry of sea, but one of the officers of the Westernland was so impressed by the glory of the scene that he delivered himself as follows:

"When I came on watch at midnight I stood in the doorway of my cabin for some minutes, so impressed was I with the beauty of the night. A silvery path through which the ship was sweeping attracted my attention; but the wonder of the moon, the stars and the deep-blue sky passes all description.

"I went up on the bridge and cast an eye toward the lovers' and sailors' friend, shining down upon us. The stars twinkled as one sometimes sees them ashore on a clear winter's night. And look where you would—north, south, all around the horizon—not the faintest sign of a cloud could be seen to mar the clear expanse of the heavens.

"Bringing my glass to bear upon the moon, I discovered an unusually dark spot near the northern pole, which was probably the beginning of the eclipse. At the same instant an unusually bright flash in the sky coming from the north attracted my attention. Looking in that direction, I saw the heavenly electric batteries were opening their full display. Rays, columns and clouds of light were bursting up from the horizon from east to west, shooting southward across the zenith.

"The lights would shoot into every conceivable shape and form, trying to outshine even the brilliant stars that gazed calmly down on the battle of light against darkness, while back of all the indigo blue of the sky was in itself not the least remarkable feature. Against the background we could see mysterious, unearthly rays of electric light crossing and flashing in all directions, lasting but a second.

"Two exceptionally remarkably apparitions during the display impressed themselves upon my memory. One was a grand arch of light, horseshoe-shaped, raising itself about twenty-five degrees above the horizon in the north. Its hollow was sharply defined against the heavens, while the line of the outer edge of the arch was almost constantly broken by rays, flashes and star-like forms that shot up continually towards the zenith. At the same time in the hollow of the arch, up from the horizon rose a column of flame that burst into a perfect fountain of fire, playing away merrily for fully five minutes without a pause. Then in a flash it was gone.

"The second of these spectacles was quite as remarkable, if not as beautiful. It was what I can only describe as a gigantic burst of flame that shot across the heavens from east-northeast towards west southwest, taking the perfect form of a monstrous feather with a sharply defined edge on the north, while that which formed the barbs spread downward to the south in soft, fleecy clouds, the western edge of the feather just touching the edge of the moon. The barbs moved longitudinally, continually revolving as they swept along, accompanied by incessant changes of color, from the purest white to light blue, orange and yellow. This lasted for ten minutes and then disappeared, when the familiar, well known electrical display, the 'aurora borealis,' began, accompanied by unusual white, fleecy clouds. These clouds remained stationery for four or five seconds, the stars shining through meanwhile, and then disappeared.

"When the eclipse began the moon stood west southwest from us at about forty degrees from the horizon. Of course, we had a perfect view of it, about one-fifth of its surface—the northern portion—being darkened. From beginning to end the eclipse lasted just two hours, and a curious feature of the electrical display was that it moved in perfect accord with the eclipse, growing stronger as the face of the moon was darkened and gradually passing away as the shadow disappeared from the silvery disk."

Studying Suicide.

Dr. A. Haig, writing on an epidemic of suicide, is of opinion that such cases of self-destruction, occurring in seasonal waves as it were, are to be explained in the theory of mental depression affecting the functions of the kidneys, and tending towards an excess of uric acid in the blood. This causes high tension in the brain-circulation with consequent mental instability, leading to self-destruction. Curiously enough, between 6 a. m. and noon is the period when suicide most frequently occurs; it is then also that most uric acid is passing through the blood. These observations, which Dr. Haig is going to publish in full, show once again how inter-dependent are the mental and physical sides of our manifold nature.

"A chemical success and medical triumph," so speaks an eminent physician in reference to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral; and the eulogy was none to strong. No other medicine is so safe and efficacious in all diseases of the throat and lungs.

Like a New Person.

Gentlemen,—I find your B. B. B. an excellent remedy for Headache and Dizziness. I had tried several remedies, but to no effect. I have taken three bottles of B.B.B. and feel entirely cured. In fact I feel like a different person.
Miss E. L. TAYLOR, Holland, Man.

Another Voice From Smith.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.
I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

HAVE WE LOST OUR HEADS?

BRING HALF THE MONEY

You intended to invest this Fall in Goods that we sell and leave the other Half at home, and for the Half you bring to spend with us we will give you as much as you would ordinarily get for the whole amount.

Don't Believe We Have Lost our Heads! Because every month since stock-taking, in February last, we have been ahead. The gratifying activity of our trade has lead to enormous purchases. Our rapidly increasing business compelled us to buy. Thousands and thousands of dollars worth of Clothing, Furnishings, Hats and Caps, Boots and Shoes, were bought early in the season for the Fall trade. Two weeks ago, when the weather was too warm, and manufacturers found it impossible to sell their goods, we bought more goods at our own price, and piled up a gigantic surplus stock, aggregating about $75,000 worth. The result is that now we have a load too much to carry.

"DESTROY US."

Another Contributor Gives Her Views on the Meaning of These Two Words.

TORONTO, Nov. 5th, 1894.

To the Editor of the Examiner, Peterborough:

DEAR SIR,—I have had handed me a clipping from your valuable paper, a teacher making enquiry from the Normal and Institute Association of the township of Otonabee Sabbath School, what is meant by the words "destroy us" in the 24th verse, S. S. Lesson, Oct. 21st, recorded in Mark 1, 21-34.

While I do not belong to either of these, the party who handed me the clipping requested my opinion of it, and feeling that we should all try to benefit each other whenever and wherever we can, I thought it might not be amiss for me to write to this dear worker in the vineyard and give them what seemed to be the prevailing thought upon it in our Bible class.

This appears to be Jesus' first visit to Capernaum (field of repententance or City of Comfort) after His return from the wilderness, where temptations were offered Him. Before going to the wilderness after his baptism by John, following this His bapatism of the Holy Ghost (Divine understanding.) John seeing Jesus as he walked saith, "Behold the Lamb of God." His two disciples heard this and followed Jesus, ascertained where He dwelt and abode with him that day. The first work one of these disciples (Andrew by name) does after leaving Jesus is to find his brother Simon and tell him they had found the Messiah, and brought him to Jesus. Jesus finds Philip and Philip finds Nathaneal.

Now it appears to be right after this that Jesus is led to the wilderness, where He remains for forty days. From there He goes to Nazareth and preaches in the synagogue. The error becomes so stirred at what He says that there was an attempt made to throw Him over the brow of the "hill whereon the city was built." But he passing through the midst of them went His way and came down to Capernaum. "And on the Sabbath He enters the Synagogue and taught. Now, we are plainly told "they were astonished at His doctrines," etc.

It is self-evident that He taught some new form of doctrine, or they would not have been so much astonished. And not only were the scribes and elders of Israel stirred at this new doctrine, but a man with an "unclean spirit" was stirred, and cried out, saying, "Let us alone, what have we to do with thee, thou Jesus of Nazareth? Art thou come to destroy us?"

Here the error (unclean spirit) sinful sense, claims equality with the man, hence the plurality of the statement.

Doubtless even the man, not knowing the "Truth of his being," believed it to be part and parcel of himself. And if he had heard of the work which Jesus had been doing at Nazareth, he, no doubt, had heard that Jesus maintained whatever was not harmonious was not of God, hence was a lie from the beginning, an unreality. The man whose disease was so real to him could not accept any such doctrine, so cried out "What have we to do with thee?"

Now, Jesus knew that this was not the man's true self-hood which had so replied but the error that would like to claim equality with the man, therefore he turned upon "it," saying "Hold thy peace and come out of him." The separation was made. The powerlessness of the error was seen, for its hold upon the man was loosened by this command of Jesus. But it seemed to wound or "tare" the man to let go of his false thought. And when he had given vent to his feelings by crying "with a loud voice" he was found to be released from his "unclean spirit" or spirit of uncleanness.

"And they were all amazed, insomuch that they questioned among themselves, saying, what thing is this? what doctrine is this? for with authority commanded he even the unclean spirits, and they do obey him."

Then it becomes us to ask ourselves, are there no unclean spirits to be cast out of man? Yes, just as many possessed with the spirit of uncleanness as when Jesus was on earth, personally proving the power of the understanding of good to destroy every sinful sense.

And nothing but the touch of the Christ mind will cast this out.

Lovingly yours in faith,
I. M. STEWART, C.S.D.,

MILLBROOK.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Rev. A. L. Brown, of Cavan, south, will occupy the pulpit in the Presbyterian church next Sunday afternoon.

Miss Mabel Clarry was in Toronto last week visiting friends.

Miss L. Burton, who was some time ago called to Kingsville owing to the serious illness of her sister Mrs. Albert Smith, returned home last Saturday. Mrs. Smith is rapidly improving.

The I.O.O.F. rooms in the new post office block will soon be fit for occupation and will be opened with grand dedicatory services.

Mr. A. M. Orr has sold out his blacksmith shop to Wm. Langton, who took possession last week.

Geo. Hetherington and Geo. Brook left on Monday for the north on a deer hunt. They drove to Cowan's Bridge, and intend canoing the rest of the distance.

The Mechanics' Institute will give a grand concert in the town hall on Thanksgiving Day. It will consist of local talent entirely.

Mr. J. B. Jenkins, who for a number of years has carried on a large harness business here, intends leaving this week for Uxbridge. Most of his stock was sold last week by auction, the remainder of which he will take with him.

AFFAIRS IN BRAZIL.

Peixoto Will Gives His Support to the New President, Moraes.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Minister Mendonca denies emphatically the report from Rio Janeiro that President Peixoto proposes setting himself up as a dictator of the republic and will for that reason refuse to surrender the reins of office into the hands of the newly-elected president, Senor Moraes, on the 15th inst.

If President Peixoto, Senor Mendonca says, has any intention of playing the role of dictator he would not have consented to the election and would not have raised the states of siege throughout the republic, in order that every citizen might have a chance to cast a ballot. Moreover, the arrangements for the festivities in connection with Moraes' induction into the presidency are now in course of preparation and the new Minister will be formally inaugurated one week from to-day. Peixoto has promised the new chief magistrate his loyal support. Peixoto, who was the ranking member of the four field marshals of the Brazilian army before his accession to the presidency, will resume his place in the army as commander-in-chief.

The reported troubles between the military and the police at Rio are greatly exaggerated.

Banquetted the New Consul.

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—A complimentary banquet was tendered last night by the French board of trade to M. Kleczkowski, the new French consul-general. Mr. H. Laporte, the president of the board, presided and nearly 200 guests sat down. Amongst those present were Mackenzie Bowell, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and Solicitor-General Curran, representing the Dominion cabinet, Premier Taillon of Quebec, Mayor Villeneuve and many prominent citizens.

A New Brunswick Bye-Election.

MONCTON, N. B., Nov. 8.—Telegraphic communication with Gloucester county has been restored. Election for the vacant seat in the provincial legislature caused by the resignation of Blanchard, Conservative, resulted in the return of P. J. Veniot, Liberal, and editor of the Bathurst Courier. There were three supporters of the Blair government running.

Mica Mining in Ontario.

OTTAWA, Nov. 8.—The mica mining trade in this vicinity is showing up. A prominent local general, who is an expert in mining matters, told a reporter that 175 men were now engaged in Ottawa county mining mica. The entire product goes to the United States and is used for electrical purposes.

Toronto's Aldermanic Inquiry.

TORONTO, Nov. 7.—The directors of the Toronto Street Railway Company yesterday gave evidence in the inquiry before Judge McDougall into the charges of corruption amongst city aldermen. These all swore that no undue influence had been used by them in connection with their tender for supplying the city with electric light.

THE REPUBLICAN VICTORY.

They Will Control Two-Thirds of the House.

NEW YORK, Nov. 8.—The returns of the congressional election have but emphasized the magnitude of the Republican victory. The number of Republican representatives has increased from 210, which then seemed the probable number, to 241, and the Democratic and Populist ranks have thinned correspondingly in the reports, and the latter almost wholly disappeared. The figures show that the Republicans will probably have not only a large majority but more than two-thirds of the house.

Comments in England.

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The Standard, after ascribing the defeat of the Democrats to divisions in the party and to Tammany Hall, says: "We regret that the Democrats will so soon again be sent into the wilderness, for, on the whole, they deserved a better fate."

The Daily Chronicle says that divided counsels, bitter international squabbles, lack of competence among the leaders, a feeling among the impoverished masses that they had been sold, and the exposure of the band of robbers encamped in Tammany Hall were the main causes of the Democratic collapse.

The Daily Telegraph says that all admirers and well-wishers of the American republic may find cause to rejoice at the result, especially at the complete defeat and practical extirpation of Tammany tyranny.

The Daily Graphic does not regard the results of the elections as indicating the re-conversion of the country to McKinleyism. "The truth is," it says, "the Democrats have done nothing during their term of office, substituting the unpatriotic rivalry of politicians for the fulfilment of pledges and the realization of great principles."

The Daily News says: "The Republicans have come into power on the strength of the discontent felt at the disuse of the Democratic party's opportunities. The Democrats dallied with their chances and public opinion turned in a tumult against them. Civilization everywhere will welcome the overthrow of Tammany Hall."

A Mysterious Shot.

TORONTO, Nov. 8.—Mr. John Hay, grocer, who lives at the corner of Adelaide and Brant streets, was shot by some unknown person driving in a buggy. Mr. Hay was taking in his goods for the night when the shot was fired, and a policeman not ten rods away was witness of the affair. The constable gave chase, but the mysterious assailant got safely away.

A Child Burned to Death.

HAMILTON, Nov. 8.—Nellie Pereira, 6 years old, living near corner of John and Macauley streets, was burned to death here. She was standing near the fire when flames caught her clothing and she ran screaming to the street. Two firemen who were passing put out the blaze, but not before the child had sustained injuries from which she died a few hours later.

WEDNESDAY

WE EXPECTED

A Jam at the Golden Lion

and it came, in downright earnest. We fully expect, and are fully prepared, for

A Jam All Week!

In the scrimmage for Bargains on Saturday, there was an extraordinary unanimity of opinion as to the GENUINE character of the Bargains which we are giving at our

60 Days' Sale

The news has spread quickly, and shoppers' orders, telephone orders, lookers and buyers, have kept us hustling to keep up.

Those who came early to-day emptied their pocket books and hastened away for more money. Those who came late are coming again to-morrow.

Those who didn't come at all should arrange for early breakfasts and be on hand when the doors open.

It will take an hour to-night to straighten out the tangled and twisted heaps that look as if a cyclone had struck them. (A cyclone did).

Ready again for the fray at 8 o'clock to-morrow morning with piles of handsome goods at bewitching prices. We are going to keep right on selling in this way until January 1st, 1895. "It's Fair's way."

You can tell by your own instinct that this sale is well worth more of your attention than the ordinary sales you see announced in the papers. For instance:—

The B & C Corsets

Sold everywhere else, at $1.00, Fair's price only 65c.

Dress Goods sold everywhere else for from 50c. to $1.00 a yard, Fair's price only 35c. to 50c. a yard.

Mantles sold formerly at from $6 to $18, Fair's price now only $3.50, $5 and $8 per garment.

The celebrated Maple Leaf Brand of All-Wool Carpet, hundreds of yards of which have been sold at $1.00 per yard, Fair's price now only 75c. per yard.

The Best 5-frame Brussels Carpet considered cheap at $1.25 and $1.35, Fair's price now only $1.10.

And so on all through the store. "It's Fair's way."

TURNBULL'S

MANTLES.

Our Mantle trade this season has so far exceeded our expectations that it has cleared out several lines and left room for new ones, which we have secured at from $3.00 to $3.50, less than original prices on the better lines. Our customers will reap the benefit of this reduction in the wholesale cost. A full range of all styles and prices now in stock at prices that are never undersold.

BLANKETS.

We have run across a line of All Wool Blankets, in large sizes, woven similar to a Sheeting but combed; they are very desirable and are selling at $3.00 a pair. We have also a splendid assortment of Light and Dark Gray Blankets in all sizes.

UNDERWEAR.

As the season advances we sometimes run across what dry goods men call snaps. We have secured one of these now in Men's All Wool Underclothing, in both natural and flesh colours, at $1.00 a suit. The best line ever offered for the money. Plenty of lower qualities always in stock.

SKIRTINGS.

We are introducing a line of heavy Blanket Skirtings, one of the most desirable materials we have found yet in Ladies' wear. They are 40 inches wide and only 35c a yard.

CAPS AND MUFFS.

Just received a splendid assortment of Astrachan and Gray Lamb Caps, in both wedge and band shapes. Also Sealette Caps and Muffs.

Our prices for Scotch Tweed Suits made to order are a surprise to everybody. We have just passed into stock several nobby lines in Serges and Suitings. A perfect fit guaranteed every time.

PANIC IN MANCHURIA

Country People in the Province Hurrying to New Chwang.

JAPAN'S CONDITION OF PEACE

Maintenance of the Chinese Troops in Corea Not Will—New Interest—Japan's Ambition—Provisional Government Over Conquered Territory.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Central News has this despatch from Shanghai: "The panic in New Chwang and throughout Manchuria continues. Numerous country people are arriving at New Chwang and two-thirds of the stores have been closed. Chang Chi Tung has arrived in Nankin with the remains of the Viceroy of Liang Chiang. A war levy of $3 a head has been imposed in Hankow. The people will probably resist it."

Mr. Uchida, Japanese Charge d' Affaires in London, said in an interview with a Central News reporter that Japan could not accept as an answer to her proposals of reforms in Corea the maintenance of a Chinese army in the peninsula. The presence of Chinese troops in Corea meant merely a series of horrors such as are now being perpetrated in Manchuria, Japan never menaced China's integrity. She did not intend to break up the empire and certainly does not wish others to do so. The height of Japan's ambition is to see China consolidated, freed from corruption, prosperous and open to commerce and civilization."

The Pall Mall Gazette prints a Yokohama despatch saying that the Japanese are laying torpedoes at Port Arthur, and are in other ways completing the trap which they have been preparing for the Chinese.

The Standard says this morning: "There is good ground for stating that there is at present little prospects of united action of the powers in China. Russia is ready to act and France offers no difficulty, but Germany does not admit the utility of intervention."

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The Herald's Shanghai special says: It is reported Ta-Lien-Wanon the north of Port Arthur, on the eastern shore of the Regent's Sword, has been taken.

The Emperor of China it desirous of consulting personally with all the foreign ministers on the situation.

A provisional local government over the conquered territory has been established by the Japanese, with its headquarters at Antong. One year's taxes have been remitted by the Japanese authorities to the natives.

Germany's Restriction on Cattle.

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—Late developments show that the prohibitory order recently issued by the German authorities against American cattle was not based on sanitary reasons, as at first believed. Two of the cargoes of cattle from the United States, in question, were passed as healthy by the Hamburg authorities, whereupon it is stated Prussian officials were ordered to examine the cattle. This they did, subsequently reporting that the animals were infected with the Texas fever. The cattle shippers of Hamburg, who have recently had built four steamships for use in the American cattle trade, are highly indignant at the action of the Prussian officials, as the new vessels have been rendered useless.

Another Fatal Election Quarrel.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Nov. 9.—Isaac Douglass, John Trainor and Louis Sharpe, prominent Fayette county farmers met here and discussed the Owens-Denny-Breckinridge election and then quarrelled. In the fight that followed Trainor shot Douglass through the heart, killing him instantly, and stabbed Sharpe in the side, probably fatally wounding him. Sharpe is a brother of ex-State Treasurer Steven G. Sharpe.

Riots in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—There was a small riot in front of Myer Jonasson & Company's cloak-making factory, at 132 and 154 Grand street, last evening. Five hundred striking cloakmakers surrounded the factory as the non-union employes were leaving at 7 o'clock. Many of the employes were seriously injured.

Mike Kelly Dead.

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Mike Kelly, the baseball player, died here last night at the Emergency hospital. He came here Monday morning to join the Loudon Galet, Girls theatrical company and was taken sick that morning with pneumonia.

Drowning at Huntsville.

HUNTSVILLE, Ont., Nov. 9.—Frank Reid, engineer on Shaw & Cassel's freight steamer, was drowned by falling off the boat whilst coming up the river with a scow of bark. After falling into the water he attempted to swim to the scow, but was taken by cramps and sank at once. The body was recovered.

Wreck on the I. C. R.

HALIFAX, Nov. 9.—The I. C. R. freight train struck a broken rail opposite Gold Mines and fourteen cars were tumbled up in heap. Transfers were made and wrecking trains and hands were kept hard at work. The van and engine were not crippled. It is thought the rail was worn out.

Evaporating Establishment.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—James E. Patmore's evaporating establishment was destroyed by fire yesterday. Total loss $1,000; insured.

CAMPAIGN IN LONDON

Opened by the New Leader of the Provincial Opposition.

NO NEW POLICY ANNOUNCED

Mr. Marter Will Lead His Party Along the Lines Adopted by Mr. Meredith—Repetitions of Former Criticisms of the Government's Policy.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 9.—The Liberal-Conservatives of this city opened the London bye-election campaign for the Legislative Assembly here last night by holding a mass meeting at which Mr. George F. Marter, the new leader of the Opposition, made his first speech since assuming the leadership.

The Grand opera house was crowded to the doors and many people were turned away. It was generally expected that Mr. Marter would take the opportunity to announce a new policy for the Opposition, but such was not to be. No new policy was announced and matters will be conducted along the line adopted by Mr. Meredith during his leadership.

Mr. Marter confined himself to the speech he made throughout the province during the late campaign. He spoke in detail regarding the expenditure, Reform methods and the surplus. The expenditures for the public asylums received a good deal of attention, and the manner of purchasing supplies was criticized.

The speaker declared that the administration of Crown Lands Department was not what it ought to be, and referred to several transactions which did not conform to his views. The Ontario ballot system he severely handled and stamped as a disgrace. He was a Prohibitionist, he said, and did not advocate it for political purposes.

Reference was made to a bill introduced a year ago, but which was defeated. Mr. Marter declared his belief that the license of the sale of intoxicating liquors was a wrong and although he was now the leader of the Conservative party he would not alter his convictions.

After Mr. O. A. Howland, of Toronto, had delivered a short address, Mayor E. T. Essery, the nominee of the Liberal Conservative party, made an address to the electors, speaking particularly on the prohibition question.

DENOUNCED WINTER CARNIVALS.

An Ottawa Clergyman Preaches Against This Amusement.

OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—The winter carnival was soundly denounced by Rev. Dr. Armstrong before a congregation in St. Paul's church. Dr. Armstrong, at the opening of the meeting, was expounding on the words, "The world, the flesh and the devil," when he said: "The lines are being drawn more closely than ever between the world and Christ. While a meeting was being held in this church last evening to bring people to Christ and Christians to a deeper consecration another meeting was being held to start a carnival in Ottawa. The carnival is the world, the flesh and the devil combined. I hope no Christian man will give a cent towards it. It is outrageous that the Christian people of this city should be asked for such a purpose.

"Let those who believe in these carnivals support them. Did you ever know of a soul converted or blessed at a carnival? We know that many a soul has been ruined at them. If the carnival comes I hope that the ministers of the city will organize a series of meetings like these during the progress of the affair."

Killed by a Falling Tree.

PERTH, Ont., Nov. 9.—A fatal accident happened in North Emsley by which Joseph Moodie, a prominent resident of the township, met his death. Mr. Moodie took their dinner to his son and hired man who were clearing in a swampy bush on the farm. He found the two at work bringing down two trees that were lodged together and he lent a hand to help them. They got one free and it fell, but its displacement freed the other, which came down unexpectedly. The son narrowly escaped being hit by it, but the father, being directly under the falling tree, was struck with great force on the back of the head, rendering him insensible. The wound was mortal and he remained insensible until his death. Deceased was 58 years of age.

Windsor Gambling Dens Raided.

WINDSOR, Nov. 9.—There was an exciting commotion in several parts of Windsor on Wednesday night. The police were making a raid and it was the alleged gambling resorts that were taken by storm. The police thought they had a cinch on the "game" and slyly stole along the alley until they arrived at D. Maisonville's saloon and Girardot's cigar store. They then quickly opened the door and tiptoed upstairs. They quickly entered the alleged gambling rooms and presented themselves abruptly. The apartments were searched but no illegitimate articles were discovered. Police are doing some tall detective work and the indications are that the night's raid was but the beginning of a serious crusade.

A Toronto Child Kidnapped.

TORONTO, Nov. 9.—Jennie Douglas, the 10-year-old daughter of James Douglas, of 236 Victoria street, is missing, and the police have been notified. The child came home from school and while her stepmother was shopping on Yonge street, she left the key of the house at a neighbor's, saying she was going on a message for her teacher. It is believed the child has been kidnapped, as all her clothes and school books have disappeared. The dress which Jennie wore was blue, trimmed with gold lace. She had on a sailor hat on which was the word "Rover."

Hamilton Gambling Dens Raided.

HAMILTON, Nov. 8.—The police visited several cigar dealers and as a result ten of them were before the magistrate charged with running gambling devices in the shape of slot machines. Lawyers for the defence were unprepared to proceed and the cases were adjourned.

Father and Son Jailed.

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 8.—Oliver Arnold, of Rawden, and his sons, Edwin and Benjamin, have been sentenced to prison for larceny. The father was given two months and the sons one month each.

AFTER THE BIG SWEEP

Relative Strength of the Parties in the Fifty-Fourth Congress.

TAMMANY WILL RE-ORGANIZE

Under the Leadership of Ex-Mayor Grant They Will Attempt to Recover Their Former Power—Mr. Bayard on the Result of the Election.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—New York city cast a heavy vote for municipal construction of underground rapid transit and for the greater New York. Brooklyn was almost evenly divided on the subject of consolidation. The supporters of the movement claim that it was carried, but the latest figures received at police headquarters in that city show that it is lost by 100 votes. Staten Island and Long Island City voted for consolidation, and Mt. Vernon and other Westchester towns voted against it.

But few changes in the congressional table have been reported and the total number of Republican representatives elected to the 54th Congress remains about as it was given in yesterday's despatches. Judging from the latest returns the total representation of every party of the Lower House in the 54th Congress will be: Republicans 245; Democrats 101; Populists 10.

Official returns have now been received from nearly every election district in the state which make the total vote of the state as follows: For governor, Morton, 670,501; Hill 513,730; Wheeler 28,635. Morton's plurality 156,781.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The board of aldermen is Republican. That fact was settled this afternoon. Mayor Strong will have a legislative branch of the city government in sympathy with him. Such a result was never expected. The fact that from a solid Tammany representation of thirty aldermen that organization has dropped to a helpless minority emphasizes the sweeping character of the Republican victory on Tuesday. As it now stands the Republicans have sixteen votes in the board and Tammany representation fourteen. Even with the vote of the president of the board—a Grace Democrat—Tammany will still be one behind.

Tammany is defeated but not disrupted and before the echoes of Tuesday's avalanche have died away there will be a movement on foot to re-organize the braves under new leadership and with a new policy which will be a radical departure from the old methods. There are leaders in Tammany who recognized the necessity of re-organization months ago. The result of the election was not a surprise to some of them. For some time past the leading men in Tammany who recognized the drift of public opinion have been quietly discussing plans and methods of re-organization. They are now fully decided what they want to do. It is possible that a re-organization will be proposed at the next meeting of the executive committee, and it is certain that by the time the annual primary is held late in December, plans will be perfected and carried out.

Mayor Gilroy, the present recognized head of the organization, it is understood, will not take the leadership when his term of office expires. The mayor intends to retire from active politics for a time.

No man in Tammany, so say those who know the inside, ever had a stronger personal following than ex-Mayor Hugh J. Grant. His friends have great confidence in him. He is said to have retained and strengthened that confidence by taking the nomination which had been given to his friend, Nathan Straus, when the latter declined to run.

It is already apparent that many men are looking to Grant to re-organize Tammany and lead them to victory again. As a reason for the belief that he is the man to do both they say that the vote he polled is proof of his strength, when it is considered that every possible element of opposition was arrayed against him in the contest. Grant has no avowed enemies in the organization, and at this time it seems there is no leader but Grant in sight.

Practical politics has been the rule of Tammany and if carried too far might be the ruin of the new organization. There is no use denying that men have been rewarded for political services, while in many cases men of greater ability have been kept in the background. The men of brains and the young men of intelligence, honesty and character will be recognized and they will be in the re-organization. It is good politics to recognize all classes of citizens and all lines of business so far as possible, in a big organization and this will also be done. The saloon element will be less prominent in the new Tammany if there is a re-organization. Thirteen saloon keepers on the board of aldermen is not going to help any organization.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 9. — Ambassador Thomas F. Bayard, speaking yesterday about Tuesday's elections, said: "I have had grave apprehension as to the result of the recent elections for some time. It has been by no means a surprise to me. I don't want to run-a-foul of those gentlemen who were responsible for the delay in the passing of the tariff bill, but, as I say, the path of duty is unmistakable and the necessity for pure democratic tariff legislation was never so great as it is now. The bills for free raw materials should be passed immediately, and the country will be able to contemplate the democratic idea of the tariff in full working order for two years before another national election rolls round. If this is done I have little fear that the verdict will be satisfactory in 1896."

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 9.—Gov. Altgeld, in an interview, attributes the Democrat defeat largely to the action of President Cleveland during the railroad strike last summer.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 9.—Gov. Waite is going to leave Colorado. He is tired of the state and disgusted with his defeat. He will make Illinois his home.

DENVER, Nov. 9.—It having been demonstrated that the woman's vote in Denver in Tuesday's election was 85 per cent. of the total vote. The leading women have formed a state organization of their own for the next political campaign the purpose being to increase their political power.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Pall Mall Gazette, commenting on the Republican success in the election in the United States, says the failure of the Democrats was due to the action of the Senate on the tariff question.

JUG-HANDLED JUSTICE.

THE Conservative party is very strong on loyalty to British institutions, but they don't seem to "take much stock" in British fair play. For instance, their tariff bears unduly upon the poorer citizen who is forced to contribute to the enrichment of his protected fellow-citzen; this is not fair. Now the government has allowed the importation, free of duty, of the raw material for the use of these same manufacturers who are unduly benefitted by a protection tariff, yet it has taken no steps towards meeting the American offer of reciprocity in salt, coal oil and agricultural implements, so that the consumer can share to a small extent in the benefits of relief from taxation. Is this British fair play and even handed justice. If the consumer could put his name opposite a three or four figure contribution to election funds, his chances of receiving consideration would, doubtless, be improved.

THEY DESERVE THE SAME FATE.

If the civic investigations now going on in Montreal and Toronto should prove the existence of the grave charges of corruption and boodling that are made, it is to be hoped that next month the electors of the respective cities will employ the same sort of pruning knife as that which clipped the claws of the Tammany Tiger in the New York elections last Tuesday.

"THE death of the Czar causes people to think of tyranny under an autocrat. The investigation at present going on in New York shows, says the Canada Presbyterian, that the most odious tyranny can be carried on by a mob. Between the tyranny of a single tyrant and the tyranny of a mob there is little to choose. The Tammany mob had no Siberia, but they systematically blackmailed respectable citizens and compelled them to pay tribute. There may be more physical suffering under Russian tyranny, but there is not as much odious corruption as has been running riot in New York for years. The condition of that city shows with painful clearness that neither the school nor the ballot reforms human nature." This bears out the suggestion recently thrown by the EXAMINER that possibly government by club, if one could get the right kind of a man to wield the club, would be better than the representative system that permits of scandalous and oppressive corruption.

AS a result of Tuesday's election, in the United States, the Republicans will have working majorities in and control the House of Representatives and the Senate at Washington; will fill all the executive offices of the State of New York, and have large majorities in the legislature of the state; will administer the affairs of the city of New York and the city of Brooklyn and will, in all the States of the Union, command more power and influence than they have done at any time since the presidency of General Grant.

A MOVEMENT is on foot to induce Hon. H. G. Joly de Lotbiniere to re-enter public life, with a view to assuming the leadership of the Liberal party in Quebec politics. When he was in Montreal last week he was approached, and, as he did not absolutely refuse, it is thought he will consent. Hon. F. G. Marchand has, it is understood, expressed his willingness to serve as Mr. Joly's lieutenant.

IN view of the possible results of the boodle investigation in Toronto, perhaps Mayor Kennedy, representing the elective civic body of the city, in sending a message of condolence relating to the Czar's death, did so under the prophetic impression that he might want some such a message himself about next January.

ACCORDING to the Canada Presbyterian, Dr. Parker says the worst kind of a Pope is a Protestant Pope; and the worst kind of popery is the kind bolstered up by Protestant money. The doctor might have added that the meanest kind of a Jesuit is a Protestant Jesuit.

Practical Experiments for the Benefit of Farmers.

(Guelph Mercury.)

During the whole of the past summer Prof. Dean has carried on experiments to find out the difference in the yield of cheese from milk of different qualities. The experiments go to show that the richer the milk the more cheese it will make. The experiments are not yet concluded, but so far they indicate that neither paying for milk at cheese factories according to weight, nor according to the percentage of fat is correct, but that adding two per cent to the fat readings will give each patron the correct amount of money due to him. These cheese have all been judged by experts, and so far their judgment is that milk containing from 3 to 3½ per cent. of fat will make excellent cheese for the export trade, and that cheese made from rich milk—that is milk containing 4 per cent, of fat and over—is very suitable for the home market, as they contain a good deal of moisture, and are rich in butter fat.

BUTTER DEPARTMENT.

In the butter department they have been comparing results from setting milk in the shallow pan, deep setting method in ice water, and creaming by means of the separator. The results indicate that the best butter is made from the separator system, and that there is the least loss of cream or butter in the skimmed milk by using a separator. They have also tried making butter by not washing it at all, washing once and washing twice. The butter made from no washing had poor keeping qualities, and that washed twice kept best while that washed once had a slightly higher flavour when made, but did not keep so well. In composite milk testing the experiments confirmed the results of last year, viz., that composite tests may be made for one, two or three weeks with accurate results. An accurate record is kept of the milk given by each cow in the herd. The milk is weighed both morning and evening and composite tests made weekly of each cow's milk. As a result of these tests they have sold seven or eight grade cows for beef, which were bought last spring for the dairy. The work is very important, as it shows to farmers what each individual cow is capable of doing in the dairy, and in no other way can an excellent dairy herd be obtained on the farm.

Experiments have been conducted in the feeding to find the effect of food on the quality of milk, and at the present time, half the cows are being fed warm slop, made of 4 lbs. of bran and 2 lbs. of wheat; the other half are getting the same quantity of meal fed dry. The ration they intend using during the coming winter is as follows:—40 lbs. corn silage, 10 lbs. clover hay, 20 lbs. mangolds, 4 lbs. bran, 2 lbs. ground wheat, 1 lb. cotton seed meal, and 1 lb. linseed oil cake. This ration will cost from 15 to 16c a day for each cow. Of course some cows would not eat all this amount and others probably more. Thus the ration is varied according to the appetite of the animals and the amount of milk they are giving.

BY-LAW No. 8.

A By-law to Provide for the Issuing of Debentures for the Purpose of Paying off the Indebtedness of the Late United Townships of Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos, and of Consolidating the Indebtedness of the United Townships of Burleigh and Anstruther.

WHEREAS, it is necessary to raise the sum of Two Thousand Dollars for the purpose of paying off the indebtedness of the late United Townships of Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos, and of consolidating the indebtedness of the United Townships of Burleigh and Anstruther, and in order thereto it will be necessary to issue debentures of the Municipality of the United Townships of Burleigh and Anstruther, payable as herein provided.

AND WHEREAS it will be requisite to raise annually during the term of fifteen years by special rate for paying the said debt and interest the sum of one hundred and ninety two dollars and sixty-eight cents:

AND WHEREAS the amount of the whole of the ratable property of the Municipality of the United Townships of Burleigh and Anstruther according to the last revised and equalized assessment roll amounts to fifty two thousand nine hundred and ninety one dollars;

AND WHEREAS the existing debenture debt of the said Municipality amounts to eleven hundred and thirty five dollars, and no principal or interest is in arrear;

THEREFORE the Municipal Council of the United Townships of Burleigh and Anstruther enacts as follows:

1. It shall and may be lawful for the Reeve of the said United Townships of Burleigh and Anstruther for the purposes aforesaid to borrow the said sum of two thousand dollars and to issue debentures for the said United Townships of Burleigh and Anstruther for the amount of two thousand dollars in sums of not less than one hundred dollars each for the repayment of the principal and interest of such indebtedness by annual instalments extending over the period of fifteen years from the date fixed for the coming into force of this By-Law.

2. Each of such Debentures shall be for the sum of $192.68, being the amount of the several annual instalments, including principal and interest.

3. The said debentures as to principal and interest shall be payable at the office of the Bank of Montreal, in the Town of Peterborough, Ontario.

4. One of such debentures (being fifteen in all) shall be payable on the first day of October, 1895, and on the first day of October in each of the fourteen years following such last mentioned payment.

5. That it shall be lawful for the Reeve of the said United Townships of Burleigh and Anstruther, and he is hereby authorized and instructed to sign and issue the said debentures hereby authorized to be issued, and to cause the same to be signed by the treasurer of the said United Townships of Burleigh and Anstruther, and the Clerk of the said Municipality is hereby authorized and instructed to attach the seal of the said Municipality to the said debentures.

6. There shall be raised and levied annually, by a special rate on all the ratable property in the said Municipality, the sum of $192.68, for the purpose of paying the principal and interest of such indebtedness.

7. This By-Law shall take effect on the first day of October, 1894.

8. The votes of the ratepayers of the said Municipality shall be taken on this By-law on the Twentieth day of September, 1894, commencing at the hour of nine o'clock in the forenoon, and continuing until five o'clock in the after noon of the same day, at the following places, and before the following Deputy Returning Officers:

1. At the Town Hall, Apsley, Peyton W. C. Shewen to be Deputy Returning Officer.

2. At Stone's School House, J. C. Stone to be Deputy Returning Officer.

9. On the nineteenth day of September, 1894, the Reeve shall attend at the Town Hall, Apsley, at ten o'clock, a. m., to appoint persons to attend at the various polling places, and at the final summing up of the votes by the Clerk, respectively, on behalf of the persons interested in and promoting or opposing the passing of this By-law.

10. The Clerk of the said Municipality shall attend at the Council Chamber at ten o'clock in the forenoon on the Twenty First day of September, 1894, and sum up the number of votes given for and against the By-law.

Dated at Peterborough, this 20th day of August, A.D., 1894.

(Signed) ALEX. BROWN, Reeve.

PREPARATIONS IN MOSCOW.

Making Ready to Receive the Body of the Dead Czar.

MOSCOW, Nov. 9.—This city is making ready to receive the body of Alexander III. with all the pomp of mourning The streets have been hung with black. The fronts of many houses and shops have been hidden with black and white cloth. Flags wound with crape are seen in every window. On the corners and in the squares funeral arches are building with feverish haste. In the Kremlin scores of workingmen are kept busy night and day. They have laid a wide board walk from the Cathedral of the Assumption past the palace to the Cathedral of Archangel Michael where the body will lie in state. The immense catafalque is almost done. It occupies nearly half of the small floor.

The Cathedral of the Assumption, which is used for coronation ceremonies, is much larger than the Cathedral of the Archangel Michael but is not so beautiful as the latter building, has been filled with precious pictures and gems of gold brass and wood carvings. The city is suaring nothing in its efforts to show its loyalty and sorrow. Subscriptions for a monument to Alexander III. in Moscow have been opened. The weather is bitterly cold but clear and dry.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Daily News correspondent in Vienna says: "The relatives of the Kilinski convicts have petitioned the Czar to pardon them. General Gourko received the petition. This is regarded as proof of an impending change of situation, as General Gourko never previously accepted a petition. It is reported in Warsaw that the Grand Duke Paul will succeed Gourko."

The Fight on the Reading Railroad.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—The fight which the Reading railroad receivers have begun to force their employes to renounce allegiance to the Brotherhood of Trainmen or else retire from their present employment assumed national importance and interest yesterday. The case came up under argument before Judge Dallas in the United States Circuit Court in this city, upon the Brotherhood's appeal to the court to prevent the receivers as officers of the court from driving the trainmen out of their order or else out of work. In this connection a letter of advice from U. S. Attorney-General Olney, taking sides with the men and against the receivers, was presented and was finally submitted by counsel for the trainmen as a part of the argument in their behalf. Argument was finished and Judge Dallas will render decision in a few days.

Dr. Talmage Resigns.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 9.—Rev. Dr. T. Dewitt Talmage has definitely decided to leave the pastorate of the Brooklyn Tabernacle congregation and accept another pastorate or enter the evangelical field. A letter to that effect was read at the session of the Tabernacle congregation. The session, after discussing the matter, resolved to comply with the pastor's request. Dr. Talmage was interviewed and said: "I have decided to leave the pastorate of the Tabernacle congregation for the reason that I cannot ask them to build another great church. It would not be right to make such a demand upon them. I intend to either accept another pastorate or enter upon evangelical work. Should Providence lead me to do the latter I shall visit systematically all the large cities of the United States and probably most of the largest European cities."

Smallpox Scare in an Ohio Town.

ALLIANCE, O., Nov. 9.—Benjamin Hazzard, residing at Deerfield, eight miles north of here, returned home from this city one week ago, knowing he had been exposed to smallpox. He stopped in Pittsburg and this city on his way home. Sunday he attended church at Deerfield and that evening was taken sick, breaking out with smallpox on Tuesday. No quarantine was established until to day and over 500 people have been exposed to the contagion. The people are wild with excitement.

Francis Kossuth Will Travel Hungary.

BUDA-PEST, Nov. 9.—Francis Kossuth is about to make a tour of Hungary. He will be accompanied by six deputies who will introduce him everywhere as the leader of the party of 1848 and the independence group of yesterday. As he has not taken the oath of allegiance to the King and the constitution Kossuth is regarded as a foreigner and might be expelled. It is likely that he will be ordered to swear allegiance or as a foreigner to abstain from political agitation.

Active Volcano in Mexico.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—A special from the City of Mexico says: The volcano of Colima is in active eruption and the people in the immediate vicinity are greatly alarmed, as streams of lava are pouring down the sides of the mountain, the flames being visible for many miles. They have abandoned their homes. Police headquarters in this city report a total of fifteen deaths as the result of last Friday's earthquake and the subsequent eruption.

San Francisco Bank Closes Down.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—The First National Bank of this city closed its doors yesterday. A quiet run was organized on Wednesday that went on throughout the day. Nothing was thought of it, however, but on opening in the morning the rush commenced and a notice was posted on the doors which said the bank would have to close in order to protect all depositors. The bank was doing the largest business in the city.

Bismarck's Advice to Germany.

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—Prince Bismarck's Hamburger Nachrichten advises Germany to secure good relations with Russia by avoiding familiar causes of offence. For instance it says she must not favor the Poles nor draw closer to England, nor criticize the Czar's absolution in dealing with the Jews and the Germans in the Baltic provinces.

Union of Catholic Churches.

ROME, Nov. 9.—The Pope presided for two hours yesterday at the conference held to consider the union of the eastern and western churches. The eastern patriarchs approved the conference's decisions, notably the one in favor of maintaining the traditional privileges of Catholics in the east.

Hood's Sarsaparilla, acting through the blood, reaches every part of the system, and in this way positively cures catarrh.

A Baby Saved.

DEAR SIRS,—My baby had a terrible cough. The doctor said it was Whooping Cough, but it got worse all the time until baby was just like a skeleton. When he was four months old I tried Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion, and after using one and a half bottles my baby is entirely cured. No other remedy but the Emulsion was used, and baby is now strong and healthy.

Declared a Fraudulent Organization.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—The Central Trust Co., with ... M. Rapp, president, and M. A. Miller, secretary, recently operating in Philadelphia, but now in Washington, has been declared a fraudulent organization by the postoffice department and denied the use of the registered letter and money order systems of the department. This action is taken on the ground that the concern is conducting a scheme devised to defraud people out of money.

The Mount Tabor's Rough Trip.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The British steamer, Mount Tabor, from Philadelphia which arrived at Dieppe reports that she encountered a hurricane off the banks of Newfoundland which lasted from October 27th till October 31. During the storm she lost gangways, sails and rigging and sustained damage to her bridge, stanchions and rails. Her decks were strained and it is feared that her cargo is damaged.

Anxiety Over a Steamer.

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—The Red Star steamer Ryhueland is six days overdue, and the officials of the International Navigation Co., to which she belongs, are worried about her. The steamer left here Oct. 24 for Antwerp. She carried 180 passengers and had a crew of 150 men.

An American Pug Dead.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, Nov. 9—Tim Dorsey, a local pugilist, died from the effects of injuries sustained several days ago in a drunken brawl in Wallsville. Dorsey was at one time wealthy, and was Denver Smith's backer and trainer.

Dutch Diamond Workers Strike.

AMSTERDAM, Nov. 9.—More than 8,000 diamond workers have struck here for higher wages and 80 factories are closed. The employers will probably yield if the strikers hold out.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 9, 1894.

The Oswego barley market is steady with Canadian quoted at 61c.

On the street here one load of white wheat brought 52c and one load of spring 51c; 1,000 bushels of barley sold at 41 to 44c; one load of peas at 55 1-2c; 800 of oats at 30 1-2 to 31 1-2c and one load of rye at 51c.

In Buffalo malsters are around thick looking for good barley, both Canada and western, at prices only slightly under the market, and some heavy trading is expected this week. Canada quoted at 61 to 64c.

Wheat was firm in Chicago. Corn was decidedly weak, the close being 1-2 to 5-8c lower for May. Oats were also weak.

At East Buffalo the total offerings of sheep were 31 cars. Market was fairly active and values steady up to close. The poorer grades of Canada lambs sold at $4.25 per cwt.

The London stock markets were idle pending the settlement on Monday. Profit-taking caused a relapse in Americans, but prices closed above the worst.

At New York no better sign of the market's general sluggishness could have been witnessed than the course of the chief industrials. These stocks were heavy in the afternoon, but when activity ceased on the general list the bidding up of lead, gas and sugar began at once. Taken as a whole the market closed firm, but remarkably irregular. In only a few stocks covering of shorts caused noteworthy advances.

WHO DR. McCORMICK IS.

Montreal has Something to say Respecting the Well Known Richmond Physician.

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond Que., whose remarkable cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has been set forth in his letter, recently published, is a graduate of McGill College, this city. He is well known, not only to the medical profession in Montreal, but throughout the entire province, as a careful and reputable physician, and his testimony to the worth of Dodd's Kidney Pills is accepted by physicians generally as a guarantee of the efficacy of the remedy. Such a communication, coming from so eminent a graduate of McGill, will have the effect of making Dodd's Kidney Pills universally popular in Quebec.

Coughs, colds, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis, and all lung troubles are quickly cured by Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times

J. D. TULLY'S DRUG STORE

ROBERT HALL.

Seasonable and Opportune.

Always forearmed for all the shopping demands of our customers—this store is never behind—the right goods at the right time and at the right prices. October suggest the need of such things as Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves.

We have too many kinds to attempt any detail, but in addition to the BEST makes in underwear we carry a full line of the celebrated "Health Brand" in all sizes and combinations.

Blankets and Bed Comforters.

The buying of these lines was done with extreme care, as we have an exacting constituency to choose for, who are wide awake judges of qualities and prices. The stock is right and the values correspond.

Along with these, we would also mention our new fall selected Shawls, in many sizes, qualities and shapes—very exclusive—and from makers who warrant their goods.

Millinery and Mantles.

Style is everything in these lines. You don't want a last year's hat, or bonnet, or jacket, at any cost, and you won't find one here. You don't even want this season's unless the style is distinctive, and that is just where we excel.

We continue to show a full range in all the newest novelties in Dress Goods.

Telfordian Temperature Topics.

Friday, Nov. 9.—I tell you, sir, a snifter has overtaken us, the self-registering thermometer at this morning's observation only indicated 13 degrees above zero. A change is fast approaching; I expect a snow storm.—THOS. TELFORD.

"The Brownies Parade."

The EXAMINER has been favoured with a copy of "The Brownies Parade" a two step march composed by Mr. L. Fred Clarey, formerly of Millbrook, now of the Toronto Law School, Osgoode Hall. The composition is bright and springy and is excellently adapted to the popular new dance called the "two step." It will certainly become very popular during the coming winter. It is issued in a very good form by the Anglo-Canadian Music Publishers Association, Ltd., Toronto, and has a very attractive title page sprinkled with brown "brownies" doing the two-step in great style which gives the title to the clever composition.

A Commendable Rivalry.

Yesterday a paragraph appeared in the EXAMINER showing that at the Collegiate Institute out of 210 pupils enrolled—208 were present. To-day it is pleasant to record that the Central School claims to "go one better." Yesterday of the two entrance classes at the Central school, out of a total enrolment of 117, there were present 116, and for two or three days in succession last week the whole 117 were present. Such rivalry as that of these two contiguous buildings is very gratifying, and the large attendance argues an esprit du corps in both cases, that speaks well for the success of the teachers in both schools in attaining the first object of successful teaching—enlistening the interest of pupils.

A Comedy Cyclone.

The comedy, "Aunt Sally," last night, was given to a full house and best of satisfaction. But the star, the central sun of the entertainment, was Miss Bertie Conway. She is, without doubt or dispute, one of the most truly chic and charming ladies we ever saw anywhere, on or off the stage. Others may be greater in fame, but none more lady-like or charming in appearance, and thoroughly true to life in their acting; they cannot be. There was not a bit of that silly, simpering wonder how-many-boquets-I'll get, about it, and she was as free from all slushy, stagy gush and giggle accents as the most modest maiden that could be found in the country around us. If it is the part of art to conceal art, she has struck "the part of art" and the best part, too, we think.—Terre Haute Express. This presentation will be at the opera house here on Monday, Nov. 12th. Plan now open.

PERSONAL.

Dr. G. W. Ferris, of Campbellford, was up to town to-day.

Rev. Father Murtagh has been transferred from Madoc to the parish of Marmora.

Mr. A. E. Dixon, of Peterborough, was registered to-day at the Alberta—Calgary Daily Tribune.

Mrs. Wellington Crosby, of Peterborough, was the guest of Mrs. M. H. Crosby last week.—Uxbridge Times.

Mrs. Robert Neill and baby Jean, of Peterborough, were visiting friends in town this week.—Lindsay Watchman.

Mr. D. S. McLeod, traveller for the James Hay Company, furniture manufacturers of Woodstock, was in town, to-day.

Mr. John Riley, contractor, of St. Catharines, is in town, sizing up the Trent Valley Canal specifications, preparatory to tendering for the work

Mr. H. Calcutt, brewer, has added another delivery wagon to his establishment, it being deemed necessary as his trade this season of the year is advancing.

Rev. J. J. Rae, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church, will deliver a lecture on the subject, "Mind Your own Business" at the annual tea of the Cavanville Methodist church.

Rev. W. C. Allen, Dr. McKinnon and Editor Given, all of Millbrook, returned to that village yesterday after spending a couple of days here selecting books for the Mechanics' Institute of that place.

Both Dr. Carmichael and St. Andrew's Society are to be congratulated on his being elected president for 1894-95. He will make not only an excellent medical adviser, but a painstaking executive officer as well.

Mr. A. P. Melrose, of Peterborough, who is at present in Wilmington, North Carolina, remembered the EXAMINER while in the South and forwarded a box of cotton plant. Some of the flowers are in bud while others are in full bloom, and the sight, which is an unusual one so far north, is most interesting.

LECTURE ON LIFE IN THE HOLY LAND.

Mrs. Montford in the Opera House Nov. 19th and 20th.

Mrs. Montford, the celebrated Oriental lecturer, will deliver two of her intensely interesting lectures, under the auspices of the George street Methodist Sunday school, in the Opera House, on Monday and Tuesday evenings, Nov. 19th and 20th. Mrs. Montford's lectures, which have been delivered to crowded and appreciative audiences in the chief cities of Canada, are not only exceedingly interesting, but instructive, throwing great light upon the narrative of the Bible. Her lectures are pointed by living illustrations. For instance when she deals with the Bible reference to shepherds, a man clad in Eastern costume appears on the platform, with his crook, and illustrates the manner in which the "lamb is carried in his bosom," gives the shepherd's call, etc. And so with other references, a dozen assistants correctly costumed, giving dramatic point to the eloquent and interesting text of Mrs. Montford's lectures.

BRIDGNORTH.

Mr. Joseph Succee Still in Business.

Mr. Joseph Succee, Bridgenorth, has not sold out his business at Bridgenorth, it is his brother, Mr. M. Succee, who has sold his shop to Mr. Wedlock of Keene. Mr. Joseph Succee still intends continuing his business, and the public are requested to remember that he is still doing business at the old stand.

"The Fatal Wedding," "I long to see the girl I left behind," and five other songs of the day for 25c, at PETERBOROUGH MUSIC Co., 404 George street.

A Sight Worth Seeing.

Go up to-day and take a walk through my beautiful greenhouse of fresh blooming flowers, potting and bedding-out plants, etc., corner Argyle and George streets. FRANK WISE.

Election Petitions.

The motion by the respondent Savage to postpone the trial of the West Algoma election petition, was made before Mr. Justice Burton at Osgoode Hall yesterday. Judgment was reserved. A motion of application for leave to withdraw the East Peterborough petition (Weir vs. Blezard) has been given.

Charity Entertainment.

The public are reminded of the charity entertainment to be given in the Catholic Order of Foresters Hall, Hunter street, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of St. Peter's Cathedral. The date is Wednesday evening, Nov. 14th. Butcher's Orchestra will furnish music and the ladies will serve refreshments. Tickets, $1.00 per couple.

The Physical Culture Class Opens.

The Physicial Culture Class, in connection with the Young Women's Association, opened last evening, under the most favourable auspices. The attendance was large and the enthusiasm manifested was proof abundant that the classes will be a success. Sergt.-Major Rundle is the instructor and imparts the lessons in the same earnest manner that has brought the drill of the public school scholars to such a state of perfection. Those who are at all interested in acquiring the art of physical culture are invited to witness the performance of the class next Thursday evening.

Children's Committee.

The following have been appointed members of the Children's Visiting Committee for Peterborough county, their duty being to aid the societies in finding foster homes for dependent children and in looking after children placed out:—East Riding—Mrs. W. E. Roxburgh, Norwood; Mrs. William Campbell, Keene; Mrs. John Moloney, Douro; Samuel Edwards, Warsaw; Wm. Gallon, Apsley, and Thomas Blezard, M.P.P. West Riding.—Miss Roberts, Selwyn; Mrs. John Sherin, Lakefield; Cornelius O'Connor, Ennismore; Mrs. James Coons, Lakehurst; J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., Peterborough.

To-night's Attraction.

What the Guelph Daily Mercury of Thursday has to say of "The Burglar":—"One of the best performances of the kind that was ever given in Guelph was the play of "The Burglar" in the opera house last night, as put on by the A. Q. Scammon Co., under the direction of Mr. A. Q. Scammon. There was not a hitch in the play from first to last. The house was very well filled and the audience was attentive and evidently appreciated the performance. The principal role was taken by Eugene Moore as William Lewis, the Burglar, who showed great power and versatility in his acting. The interest in the act where the burglar enters the house, from the time of the dropping of the pane of glass which he cuts, his entrance into the house and the appearance of Edith, was intense, especially where he discovered that he was in the house of his wife (he having had to flee on account of his burglaries, and was supposed to be dead) and recognized his daughter and Paul Benton (A Gordon-Robinson) the husband of his wife. The third and fourth acts were exceedingly well performed, and during some passages, many an eye was suffused with tears. The singing and dancing of Little Gertie Carlisle was greeted with loud applause, and thd skirt dancing of May Carlisle was well done. The company throughout is evenly balanced, and the ability of each member is considerably above the average. The play was not overdone in the least, there being no ranting in the most passionate passages. Prices 35, 50 and 75c.

We are in touch with the public Cash, one price, and that the lowest Grafton & Co.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Special meeting of the council to-night.

—Additional local matter on eighth page.

—The Prince of Wales is 53 years old to-day.

—Hiawatha Encampment meets to-night.

—There are fifty-seven distinct railway companies in the Province of Ontario.

—The work of filling in the ravine at Doube's bridge, on the Missing Link, is still progressing.

—Michael Kelly, known as the king of baseball players, died in Boston yesterday of acute pneumonia.

—Thirteen waggon load of cheese were being delivered at one time, this morning, at the G. T. R. station.

—The steamer Daisy arrived in port last evening with a scow load of lath for the Dickson Co. for their mills, Harwood, Rice Lake.

—The great Salvationist Rally in the barracks, last night, was a great success. Staff-Capt. Jewer, of Toronto, was present and conducted the services.

—A tramp applied for lodgings at the Police Station, last night, and was accorded accommodation. What many of these homeless wayfarers do to keep warm these frosty evenings, is a query.

—Mrs. Wilson, wife of the proprietor of the Wilson House, Apsley, slipped and fell down stairs, day before yesterday, and broke three ribs, besides injuring herself internally. She is under the care of Dr. Fraser, and is considered seriously ill.

—The big clock, in the Post Office building, stopped this morning at half-past seven o'clock. It looks very much like a case of "forgot to wind," though the huge timepiece may have gone on strike with the post office employees in British Columbia.

—An arrest was made this morning of a well known citizen on a charge of attempted rape. The prisoner pleaded "not guilty" and the case was enlarged until this afternoon. It is understood that there is a likelihood of the charge being withdrawn and one of assault substituted.

—A piece of the mammoth cheese was exhibited in the great dairy show in London last month, and according to a report just received by the Department of Agriculture it was of excellent quality. The English agricultural papers have commented upon the fact favourably.

—Negotiations regarding the union with Ashburnham will again be opened up this evening in the council chamber, as the Water Company, it is said, have agreed to the terms proposed by the town, viz: to place twelve hydrants in the village at $60 a hydrant, every additional hydrant to cost $35.

—Our evening contemporary says that "municipal matters are quiet." With two council meetings already this week and a third summoned for to-night, to discuss sewerage matters and the union with Ashburnham, it seems quite the opposite of quiet around the town buildings.

—The editor of the Millbrook Reporter has been presented with a potato weighing over three quarters of a pound. This is encouraging but by no means a certain indication that he will get one square meal. The editor complains that the deer hunting parties have returned and that he has not had a smell of the venison.

—In connection with the paragraph in the EXAMINER last week relative to the establishment of a butter factory at Lakefield, the following officers have been elected in the stock company: President, H. C. Garbutt; secretary, F. E. Kline; directors, Messrs. J. G. Galvin, Jas. H. Mann, Isaac Garbutt, Levi Payne.

—Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Kennealy, Lake street, Ashburnham, entertained quite a number of invited guests, principally friends and relatives, last night. After spending a most enjoyable evening the party returned to their homes in the early hours of the morning, all pleased by the way in which they were entertained by the host and hostess.

After having suffered for years from an attack of consumption, Mr. Daniel Anderson, Jr., third son of Mr. Daniel Anderson, Sr., of Douro, succumbed to the fatal disease, Wednesday. The funeral passed through town, this afternoon, and interment took place in the Little Lake Cemetery. Not long since, a sister of the deceased also fell a victim to consumption.

—A window which is attracting very general attention is that of R. H. Kells & Co. It is most tastefully arranged. In the centre stands a stellate figure resembling a six-pointed star, composed entirely of neatly rolled blankets, while a background is formed of "comforters." Around the base of the star are heaped flannels and other winter necessaries.

—Councillors Brady and Dawson, as well as the members of the fire brigade, are much pleased with the new horse, which has been chosen by the above named councillors, for firehall purposes. The animal has been put into training and shows itself to be most intelligent. Out of a half dozen trials, yesterday afternoon, it only made one mistake in running from the stall to its place on the hose waggon.

—The Port Hope Times says: A prominent citizen of the town noticed that his chickens were disappearing in a mysterious fashion, and he resolved to keep a close watch on his hennery. Tuesday night he was rewarded by the discovery of the thief, whom he cornered up. He discovered, much to his surprise, that the culprit was a woman, dressed in men's clothes. He allowed her to go after talking to her like a Dutch uncle.

—It must not be thought by any means that, because three doctors are on the board of officials, that St. Andrew's society is not in a healthy condition for it is flourishing fraternally and financially. Possibly it may be well to have a staff of surgeons at hand at the annual supper, in case that an unduly patriotic and plentiful consumption of haggis may require the performance of the surgical operation of paracentesis abdominis.

—There's a new bank clerk in town—not so very new, either, but he would be considered so, if "cheeky" and "new" were synonymous terms. The young man in question was very suddenly apprised of the fact that "cheekiness" didn't go with the Peterborough girls, when he telephoned to one of them the other day and said he "guessed he'd be up to-night." "Guess you won't then!" came the answer quick and decisive. It fairly took away the embro manager's breath, and that wasn't the worst of it either, as he had to listen to a disquisition regarding the respect which the Peterborough young ladies expected, and received.

Catarrh—Use Nasal Balm. Quick, positive cure. Soothing, cleansing, healing.

Protect your Horses.

Don't allow your valuable horses to go without a waterproof cover during the cold wet days of the fall. Be good to them, provide them with one of Kingscotte's strictly waterproof covers, costing only a dollar or two. If you are shipping and receiving goods that are liable to damage from wet, Kingscotte's black oiled canvas waterproof covers "fills the bill,"—nothing better or cheaper. They have no tar in their composition, being an OIL preparation, which keeps them soft and pliable. Awnings taken down and stored in a careful and agreeable manner. Halls decorated for assemblies, balls and meetings of all kinds. ALF. KINGSCOTTE, tent, sail and awning maker, 344 Water street.

A COUPLE OF WEDDINGS IN LAKEFIELD.

Secret—Nelson and Bullied—Elmhirst Nuptials.

A quiet but interesting event took place on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. S. Nelson, when his fourth daughter, Agnes, was married to Mr. Robt. M. Secret, of Huntsville. Rev. A. C. Reeves tied the nuptial knot in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties. The happy couple left on the afternoon train for their future home in Huntsville, followed by the best wishes of their friends for their future prosperity.

A pleasant event took place at the residence of Mr. W. R. Hawkins, Lakefield, on Monday, when Miss Sarah Elmhirst, second daughter of Mr. Philip Elmhirst, of Anstruther, was united in marriage to Mr. John Bullied, of Apsley. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wm. Limbert. After the ceremony the assembled guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding repast. The happy couple took a short wedding trip, followed by the best wishes of their friends for their future happiness and prosperity.

BIRTH.

JONES—In Peterborough, on Thursday, Nov. 8th, 1894, the wife of Mr. John Jones, of a daughter.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

RENOVATED AND IMPROVED.

Painted and Varnished—Papered and Decorated—New From top to Bottom.

Ostrom's Fruit and Fish market has been re-opened, after having undergone such renovations and improvements as converts it into one of the finest establishments of the kind in the Province.

A portion of the large store and shipping room in the rear has been partitioned off with glass and will be utilized for the storage of game. The window in this apartment can be kept open during the winter, in order to keep the temperature down to the right point for the

and by reason of the room being partitioned off in this manner, the room can be kept cold without the other apartments necessarily becoming chilly.

The store has had an entirely new front put in and the papering and decorating of the interior is also just fresh from the hands of the workmen. The new shelvings, which have just been placed in position, are quite artistic in their finish and the counters, which are just fresh from the factory, are also most handsomely made.

An office has been partitioned off from the store and is an expensive fixture as it is entirely of glass and is neatly finished off in stained cherry. An evenly matched hardwood floor has also just been laid, and proves a vast improvement. The store is neatly wainscotted in cherry, and in the department in which fresh meats are to be sold the wainscotting

REACHES TO THE CEILING.

This fresh meat department is to be made quite a special feature, as the beef is to be brought from Chicago, which, although it makes it a little more expensive for Mr. Ostrom, still will pay in the long run, he thinks, as in his opinion he can procure better cuts in the west.

As formerly, fish and game will be handled extensively in season. The firm has been appointed agent for Mrs. Parson's celebrated sausage, cheese and English brawn. Fine confectionery and groceries will also be handled in large quantities.

ASHBURNHAM MUST BE SWARMING WITH TRAMPS.

One of Them Enters a House and Declines to Leave Until Rushed Out With a Poker.

Mr. Thos. J. T. Begley, of Ashburnham, met with an odd experience last night. He was sitting alone in his residence, over in the village, when the front door was suddenly opened and a burly individual stepped inside with a very decided air.

Mr. Begley, thinking that it was merely a mistake on the part of the intruder, pleasantly remarked that he guessed the stranger was in the wrong house, but when the stranger invited him to "guess again," it was too much for Mr. Begley's equanimity and he reached for the poker.

This ended the guessing match and the stranger vanished in a twinkling, leaving Mr. Begley strongly in doubt as to whether he ought to have captured and held the man, as a suspect, in connection with the robbery of St. Luke's church, a few evenings previous.

The more critical you are in buying the more certain we are to get your trade. Grafton & Co.

Very Artistic.

A. Clegg is showing a line of fine gilt brass tables with polished oak tops, decidedly the finest of the sort ever offered in Peterborough, see his window. Also a great variety of other fancy parlor tables in choice woods, and an artistic line of highly finished antique oak chairs, with cobler seats of embossed leather, and a larger line of floor rockers at greatly reduced prices, in fact we have so many new things that we have no space this week to enumerate them. Our stock is complete in every line. A. CLEGG, 427 George street.

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY HEATHER AND HAGGIS.

THE SONS OF SCOTLAND IN ANNUAL MEETING ASSEMBLED.

Treasurer's Financial Statement—Election of Officers—St. Andrew's Day to be Celebrated by a Dinner.

The annual meeting of St. Andrew's Society was held on Thursday evening in the office of the President, R. M. Dennistoun. The chair was occupied by the President. Among those present were Dr. Caldwell, Dr. Carmichael, Thos. Gemmell, Geo. H. Noble, D. A. Shaw, Alex. Gibson, Dr. R. W. Bell, W. Breckenridge, Chas. Cameron, W. Ingles, W. Menzies and others.

The Secretary read the minutes of the last annual meeting of the society, and of the executive committee, which were on motion confirmed.

Dr. Caldwell, treasurer, read his annual financial statement, which showed the funds to be in a healthy condition, with a balance of $24.66 still on hand. The auditors who examined the statement certified to its correctness.

ELECTIONS OF OFFICERS.

The President stated that the next business was the election of officers for the ensuing year. He desired to state that he had occupied the position of president for the past three years and considered that too long. He wished it distinctly understood that while thanking the members for their repeated confidence, he positively would not allow his name to stand in the way of the honour being bestowed upon other worthy members. In the interests of the society he hoped they would appoint a new, good and live man to the office this year.

On motion of Mr. Alex. Gibson, Dr. Caldwell was nominated for President. The doctor declined the honour, and although he was respectfully urged to stand, he insisted on being allowed to withdraw.

On motion of Dr. Bell, Dr. Carmichael, 1st vice-president, was nominated for President.

Dr. Carmichael was unanimously elected President for 1895.

The rest of the officers were elected as follows, without opposition :—

First Vice-President—Dr. Caldwell.
Second Vice-President—Thos. Gemmell.
Third Vice-President—John Cleghorn.
Chaplains—Rev. E. F. Torrance and Rev. A. McWilliams.
Treasurer—Dr. R. W. Bell.
Physicians—Drs. Caldwell, Carmichael and Bell, of Peterborough, and J. R. Fraser, Lakefield.
Secretary—Wm. Menzies.
Bard—Wm. Telford.
Executive Committee for the town—Messrs. C. Cameron, C. N. Brown, W. H. Robertson, R. M. Dennistoun, A. Gibson, W. Fraser, John Logan, John Cunningham, Thos. Telford, G. H. Noble, G. M. Rogers, D. A. Shaw, W. Breckenridge, and Adam C. Thompson.
Executive Committee for the county—Otonabee township—John Cleghorn, Donald MacFarlane and Adam C. Thompson.
Keene—Jas. McNeil.
Smith—Henry Bowie, W. Graham, Geo. Harvey.
Lakefield—Dr. John R. Fraser, Robert Graham.
Ennismore—A. Morrison, R. Telford.
Monaghan—Joseph Tully, John Fowler.
Asphodel and Belmont—John Breckenridge, Donald Cameron.
Norwood—W. E. Roxburgh.
Havelock—W. Mathieson.
Dourro—Jos. Renwick, Thos. Russell.
Harvey—Geo. Smith.

ST. ANDREW'S DAY CELEBRATION.

On motion of Mr. Breckenridge, seconded by Mr. Gemmell, it was unanimously resolved that St. Andrew's Day be celebrated by a dinner. The following committee was selected to make the necessary arrangements : The President and First Vice-President, and Messrs. Alex. Gibson, W. Breckenridge and the secretary.

ANNUAL SERMON.

The president and secretary were appointed a committee to wait upon Rev. Dr. Torrance with the request to preach the annual St. Andrew's sermon to Scotchmen generally, and the members of St. Andrew's Society in particular, on Sunday evening, December 2nd.

A NEW FEATURE.

Moved by Dr. Caldwell, seconded by Thos. Gemmell, that the newly elected officers be formally installed into office at an adjourned meeting of the society to be held on St. Andrew's night, just previous to the dinner ; and also that an opportunity be afforded at this meeting for enrolling new members, and the payment of the annual membership fee of one dollar —Carried.

THE PIPER.

The Celebration Committee were authorized to engage the services of a piper for St. Andrew's night if they saw fit.

THE RETIRING PRESIDENT.

Moved by Alex Gibson, seconded by Geo. H. Noble, that the thanks of the Society be tendered to the retiring president for his very satisfactory services during his incumbency to the office.

The motion was carried by a standing vote.

Mr. Dennistoun thanked the members for their very hearty vote in his usual graceful terms. He remarked that what he had done for the Society was done heartily and without any desire to monopolize the office for three years. He looked upon the St. Andrew's Society as one of the old institutions of the county. Its old memories should be perpetuated and not allowed to pass into oblivion, and he hoped this idea would be handed down by his successors, as it had been handed down to him by his predecessors.

The meeting then adjourned.

THOUGHTFUL CONDOLENCE.

The Teachers of the George Street Church S. S. Infant Class Express Their Sympathy.

Mr. J. E. Haggart, who recently lost his wife, has just received the following letter of condolence from the teachers of the Infant classes in the George street Sunday School :

J. E. Haggart, Esq.,

DEAR SIR,—The teachers of the infant class in the George street Sunday school desire to convey to you their heartfelt sympathy in your deep affliction.

Our earnest prayer for you is that the Divine Comforter may be especially near to you. May He speak to your heart the comfort and consolation that no earthly friend can. May you be enabled to cast your burden upon the Lord, for He will sustain thee.

We will remember you and the dear little ones in our prayers.

In Christian love.

THE COUNCIL CONFERS WITH THE CONTRACTOR'S SOLICITOR.

Mr. Grant Wants a Percentage of His Outlay Paid Over to Him—Another Meeting To-night.

The council was called together last night in special session to meet the representatives of Contractor Grant, and to hear what arrangements he proposed to make relative to the signing of his bonds by suitable sureties.

Mr. Moore, solicitor for the contractor, explained that his client had tried to secure the names of the different members of a certain firm on his bonds, but had been unable to do so as one member who was out of the country had postponed his return indefinitely. He wished the council to consent to the as security on his bond, instead of that of the firm in question. He also wished the contract to be changed in such a manner as to allow him to draw 85 per cent. of what was due him pro rata, when he completed the brickwork in the excavations which were already made. If the work could have been carried through to completion he would not have asked for remuneration until he had finished the sewer, but being compelled to stop after only a portion had been done, he thought it only fair that compensation for his outlay should be awarded him.

The council was not averse to paying the contractor about fifty per cent. of the amount, but to award him more than that until the entire sewer is completed. The contract states that nothing shall be paid over until the work is done in its entirety.

Mr. Moore had not instructions to proceed farther than to make the stated proposition and was not prepared to state that the work would go on if only fifty per cent. of the money was to be paid over. It was decided therefore to call another meeting of the council for this evening, by which time Mr. Moore would have received further instructions from his client.

Mr. Edwards announced that he had completed arrangements with Judge Ketchum, of Cobourg, to receive evidence in the arbitration on Wednesday next, but there is a possibility that the matter will never go to the arbitrator as the scheme of submitting questions on the matter to experts has gained great favour in the eyes of the townships.

Honour Bright!

Honour bright, don't you think it would be better and wiser to take advantage of the Drop In Prices at Brady's Corner Grocery and Provision Store, when you go to buy your Fresh Fruits, Fresh Baking Powder, Fresh Extracts, Fresh Lard, Fresh Butter, Fresh Eggs, &c., than to keep on buying and paying the same old price all the time?

Honest Injun, we do. Especially when we tell you you can, at the same time, buy the most Sugar for a Dollar and the Best Family Flour in the market at this same Corner Store.

Our new Automatic Fruit Cleaner removes all stems and sand from your fruit, gives you full weight in sound, new fruit, and saves a lot of trouble in cleaning.

We had a little row the other day with a Soap man for sending us double what we ordered. The price was so low it wouldn't pay to freight it back. He asked us to keep it at half price, and we kept it. Our customers can have it at the same. We don't want it. Honour bright. Yours to please—

BROKEN DOWN

—by disease is the natural result if you allow your liver to become inactive, your blood impure, and your system run down.

The germs of Consumption, Grip, or Malaria, wait for this time of weakness—this is their opportunity.

If you rouse the liver to activity, so it will throw off these germs, purify the blood so there will be no weak spots; build up healthy weight where there is a falling off, you will rest secure from disease, for you'll be germ-proof.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery does this as nothing else can. That's the reason it can be guaranteed. In convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, or other wasting diseases, it's an appetizing, restorative tonic to build up needed flesh and strength.

For all diseases of the liver or blood if "Discovery" fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

THE ORIGIN OF THINGS.

The design of the American flag was probably borrowed from the family arms of Gen. Washington, which consisted of three stars in the upper portion and three bars across the escutcheon.

Watches originated at Nuremberg as early as 1477. They were at first called Nuremberg eggs, which they resembled both in shape and size. They were often fitted into the tops of walking-sticks.

The first English book on stenography, so far as known, was written by Dr. Timothy Bright in 1588. Its earlier invention is attributed to the Latin poet Ennius, to Seneca, Cicero and several others.

Guns are said to have been used by the Chinese before the beginning of the Christian era. The oldest dated piece of European artillery bears an inscription declaring that the gun was cast in 1303.

Marine insurance was practiced in Rome B. C. 45. It was very general in Europe before the discovery of America, and it is altogether probable that the ships of Columbus were insured for their full value.

Coats of arms were first employed in England during the reign of Richard I., and became hereditary in families in the following century. They originated from the painted banners carried by knights and nobles.

The Hair and Its Care.

Cleanliness is very important in the treatment of the hair. A nice head of hair, well cared for, is woman's glory. Thorough brushing with a good hair brush would be quite sufficient in ordinary cases to keep the hair in good condition. Don't be afraid of the number of strokes given. Connoisseurs in the art of hair dressing recommend one hundred strokes with a brush each night before retiring. But brushing the hair will not always keep it clean. An occasional bath in good suds in which are a few drops of ammonia is a nice thing. Rinse the hair in clear, tepid water.

The First Hoop-Skirt.

The first hoop skirt was worn in 1530 and weighed forty pounds. It was a cage that could only be entered by being tipped to one side. Women crawled into this dreadful thing, which was fastened round the waist by a strong leather belt. No wonder the modern women has all sorts of internal complaints.

Beyond Comparison

Are the good qualities possessed by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Above all it purifies the blood, thus strengthening the nerves; it regulates the digestive organs, invigorates the kidneys and liver, tones and builds up the entire system, cures scrofula, dyspepsia, catarrh and rheumatism. Get Hood's and only Hood's.

HOOD'S PILLS cure all liver ills, biliousness, jaundice, indigestion, sick headache. 25c.

RELIGION AND REFORM.

The rate of growth of the Christians in India is more than double that of the population.

Ground will be broken this fall for the erection of the American Methodist university at Washington.

It is stated that out of the forty thousand men employed by the railroads of Canada and United States only about one thousand attend church regularly.

The evangelistic work conducted by Rev. John McNeill in Africa has been eminently successful. He addressed the natives through interpreters.

An anti-cigarette crusade has been begun in Jersey city, where about fourteen hundred pupils of the schools are now wearing the badge of the Anti-Cigarette league.

The Church Missionary society has opened a medical mission station at Bannu, on the borders of Afganistan, a country which has been as firmly closed to missions as Tibet.

The Christian Herald has headed a subscription for the relief of the Coreans, with one thousand barrels of flour. The Corean minister at Washington has expressed his gratitude to the paper.

THE WOMEN.

Lady Brooke has about twenty small Japanese spaniels, worth $300 each.

Mrs. George W. Childs, widow of the Philadelphia editor, has arranged for the building of a palatial mansion in Washington.

Mrs. S. E. Taylor, a Georgia preacher, is said to surpass Sam Jones in the plainness and persuasiveness of her pulpit eloquence.

The widow of Senator Hearst, of California, is said to be the most heavily insured woman in America. She has policies amounting to $300,000 on her life.

TRY.

In the water for purple and blue calicoes, soda added.

Purifying jars from grease, by soaking in strong soda water.

For washing ceilings blackened by a kerosene lamp, soda water.

In the rinsing water for pink or green calicoes, vinegar added.

NAMED BY THE PUBLIC.

The Duke of Wellington was called the Achilles of England, from the victory at Waterloo.

James Fenimore Cooper has been called the Scott of the Seas, from his stories of marine life.

Charles I. was called the Martyr of Blood by the Puritans and the Royal Martyr by the Royalists.

Sir Philip Sydney was the Poet of Kissing because of the amatory character of much of his verse.

Henry Fielding was called the Prince of Novelists, from his skill in depicting character in fiction.

Haydn was called the Father of Symphony, from the prominence he gave that form of composition.

Charles James Fox was called the Man of the People, from his generally taking the opposition in politics.

"Nothing succeeds like success," and nothing will more quickly insure success than true merit. For fifty years, Ayer's Sarsaparilla has maintained its popularity as the superior blood-purifier. It stands upon its own merits and never fails to give satisfaction.

FARM AND GARDEN

LIME AND SULPHUR.

A Word of Warning Flockmasters Should Heed.

The importance of keeping the sheep free from the parasites is not always considered with as much care as might be by some of the flockmasters. Of course, in case the sheep are in the best condition, the insects have but little effect, but from various causes the sheep are liable to lose in vitality, which always results in favor of the parasites. As there is always some danger of injuring the wool by the use of the dips, care should be exercised in the selection of the same. The Cotton and Wool Reporter says upon the subject: In connection with our advice to wool growers concerning the preparation of their dips for market, a word should be said in regard to the use of sheep dips. Owing to the very discouraging times through which wool growers are passing, we fear there may be an inclination to economize in dipping by using the home-made sulphur dip. This is poor economy, and every wool grower should be cautioned against employing it.

A leading wool buyer showed us this week letters from several wool-growing sections of that state in which it was asserted sheep breeders were going to buy little if any patent dip this year, but were going to use lime and sulphur. We hasten to say, don't do it! Don't, by any means, injure your wool, which is already heavy this season and none too strongly grown, by employing lime and sulphur dip. The wool trade and the wool manufacturers most emphatically condemn the use of lime and sulphur in dipping sheep. Though lime and sulphur dip may be a sure preventive and curative of scab, though it may effectually remove ticks and other parasites from sheep, its use is very detrimental to the fleece. Lime and sulphur dip makes the wool hard to scour and gives it a poor color. It introduces an acid that is removed in the ordinary process of wool scouring, and that is fatal to the dyeing of certain colors. There are many first-class patent dips on the market which are cheap and which will kill parasitic growth, which do not stain the wool and which, on the other hand, cure scab, act as a tonic to the skin and promote the growth of the wool. Employ these, by all means, rather than use lime and sulphur dip. In offering this advice it is not our purpose to promote the use of any special patent dips, but to extend to the wool growers such counsel as is for their best interest.

Thayer's Berry Bulletin for September.

Perfect the growth and maturity of your berry plants with continued good care in September.

In early spring, every leaf and bud and blossom inspires us to new efforts. In summer the ripening fruit showers its bounty upon us, hope is renewed, and our table is graced with these aids to health and comfort; but with the lessening product and waning inspiration too often comes entire neglect.

At this time the plant is exhausted with the double duty of producing new plants and maturing both fruit and seeds. At this time the old canes and wood should be carefully removed, the new growth thinned out, retaining only the strong, healthy canes. This treatment gives more light, a better circulation of air and guards against insects pests and fungous diseases.

New plants of the black raspberry are started this month by covering the tips with moist soil, two or three inches deep and allowing them to remain until spring.

Plants from the currant and gooseberry may now be made by selecting strong, new growth, cutting in pieces six or eight inches long and setting at once in moist, rich dirt, leaving one or two buds above the ground. Cuttings may also be buried in sand, away from frost, and set in early spring.

In blackcaps the Ohio, Palmer, Progress and Older for early, and Nemeha and Gregg for late. Shaffer's Colossal (purple) for quality and productiveness is unexcelled, for family use. Mariboro and Cuthbert for reds are the best well-tested varieties. The London, a grand berry on the grounds of the originator, now being introduced, promises to supersede all others.

The value of a berry often depends on location and cultivation. Many new varieties, made promising by extra cultivation, are of no value with ordinary care, hence the large list of high-priced novelties that come and go in a single season. As poor berries improve with high culture, so good deteriorate with neglect. Best berries are produced only by best culture.—M. A. Thayer, Spartan, Wis.

Their Name is Legion.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

Rheumatism can be Cured.

Hagyard's Yellow Oil has cured Chronic Rheumatism, Stiff Joints and Swellings of years' duration after all other means had failed. In all forms of inflammatory and muscular pain it is a specific cure.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Valuable to Know.

Consumption may be more easily prevented than cured. The irritating and harassing cough will be greatly relieved by the use of Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam that cures coughs, colds, bronchitis and all pulmonary troubles.

ITCHING PILES AND
PILES
No More Misery.
Gives Instant Relief.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—bloody and angry form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly afflicted from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. There and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause from Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS
THREE RUNNING SORES
PHYSICIANS FAILED
BUT B.B.B. CURED

DEAR SIRS—After having used Burdock Blood Bitters for Scrofula in the blood, I feel it my duty to make known the results. I was treated by a skilled physician but he failed to cure me. I had three Running Sores on my neck which could not be healed until I tried B. B. B., which healed them completely leaving the skin and flesh sound and whole. As long as I live I shall speak of the virtues of B.B.B., and feel grateful to Providence that such a medicine is provided for sufferers.
MRS. W. BENNETT,

A SCALY ERUPTION
UNENDURABLE ITCHING
Suffered Three Years—Now Perfectly Cured by B. B. B.

GENTLEMEN—I have used Burdock Blood Bitters for Skin Diseases, from which I have been a sufferer for three years. I have used six bottles and am now entirely cured. I tried other remedies, such as Donald Kennedy's Medical Discovery and the Cuticura Remedies, but all to no good. I doctored one year with the best physicians in the land; they pronounced my disease a Scaly Eruption, but could not remove it. It came on in red blotches and spread over my body; the skin became dry and formed hard dry scales. The itching was intolerable, but I am now completely cured, and I owe it all to B. B. B.

THE HOUSEHOLD

THE GOOD COOK.

The Season's Dainties and How Best to Prepare Them.

Sweet Pickled Pears—7 lbs. of pears, 4 lbs. of sugar, 1 quart of vinegar. Make a syrup of sugar and vinegar, then add a tablespoonful of cloves and one of cinnamon. As soon as the syrup is hot put in the pared pears and cook slowly until the pears become soft and tender. The spices used should be ground, and if the pears are large it is better to halve them.

Watermelon Sweet Pickle—Cut the melon into oblong pieces and remove the rind and soft part near the seeds. To every 8 lbs. of melon take one pint of vinegar and 3 lbs. of sugar and prepare as follows: mix half a teaspoonful each of ground mace and cloves, one teaspoonful each of ginger, cinnamon and allspice. Put this mixture into a small bag made of cheesecloth and boil it with the vinegar. Cook the strips of melon first in clear water till tender, then pour the hot syrup on them. Repeat this four or five times, then heat all together, pour into jars and seal.

To Pickle Cauliflower—Cut the cauliflower into little flowerets of equal size. Throw them into boiling salted water. Put them on the back of the stove and when just ready to boil, take off and drain. Put them into jars. Boil enough vinegar to cover them, seasoning it with one ounce each of nutmeg and mustard seed and a half ounce of mace to three quarts of vinegar. Pour this while hot over the cauliflowers adding a little sweet oil to cover the top. Cover the pickle while warm with a bladder of fine leather over the corks.

Cucumber Pickles—Take one peck of cucumbers, add one large cup of salt with enough water to cover them. Let them remain over night and in the morning drain off the water. Wash them carefully and cover with scalded cider vinegar. Then add a piece of alum the size of a small white bean to make the pickles brittle, and for spices put in an ounce each of whole cloves and cinnamon.

Spiced Grapes—Eight pounds of grapes, mashed and cooked enough to strain out the seeds and skins; rub all the pulp through. Then add four pounds of sugar, one quart of vinegar, and one tablespoonful each of cinnamon, allspice and cloves. Cook slowly for three hours.

English Pickle—For 12 quarts of pickles: 6 quarts of vinegar, 1 ounce of mustard seed, 1 ounce of flour of mustard mixed with 1 cup of wheat flour, 1 ounce of curry powder, 1 ounce each of whole pepper seed, green ginger root, red pepper pods, 2 ounces each of mace and cloves. Cut the following into pieces 1 inch square and soak in strong salt and water for 2 days—small onions, sliced cucumbers, green tomatoes, green beans, green peppers, carrots, nasturtion, cauliflower and watermelon rind. Then drain off and put in jars. Scald not but boil the spices in the vinegar, putting the cloves and mace into a bag. When this thickens pour it over the pickles. The cauliflower, carrots and watermelon rind, if used, must be cooked until they are quite tender.

Chili Sauce—12 ripe tomatoes crushed, 2 onions, 2 green peppers chopped fine, 1 teacupful of vinegar, 1 tablespoonful each of ginger, allspice and cinnamon. Boil down as for catsup and then bottle it.

Pickled Peaches—Pour boiling water over peaches and then remove the skins. Put in a large stone jar. Make a syrup with proportions of 1 quart of cider vinegar to 3 parts of sugar, boil and skim and pour over the fruit 3 successive mornings. Then drain off the syrup, put a layer of fruit in a jar 3 inches deep, sprinkle with bits of whole cinnamon and cloves, then another layer of fruit and spice and so on till all is used. Boil the syrup with a handful each of cinnamon and cloves until it is like molasses and pour boiling hot over fruit. Have syrup enough to cover the fruit well and cover closely.

Piccalilli—1 peck green tomatoes, 4 onions, 4 green peppers chopped, 1 teacupful of salt. Let them stand for two hours and then put them to drain over night. Next morning take enough vinegar to cover them and add 1 cupful of sugar, 1 tablespoonful of mustard mixed with cold vinegar, 1 tablespoonful of cinnamon and 1 tablespoonful of cloves in single bags. Cook all together until tender and when cold it is ready for use.

Tomato Catsup: 1 peck of tomatoes, 2 quarts vinegar, 5 tablespoonfuls mustard, 5 tablespoonfuls salt, 4 tablespoonfuls black pepper, 2 tablespoonfuls each of cloves, red pepper and allspice. Let it boil an hour, strain through a sieve and bottle it.—American Agriculturist.

"A chemical success and medical triumph," so speaks an eminent physician in reference to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral; and the eulogy was none to strong. No other medicine is so safe and efficacious in all diseases of the throat and lungs.

Like a New Person.

GENTLEMEN,—I find your B. B. B. an excellent remedy for Headache and Dizziness. I had tried several remedies but to no effect. I have taken three bottles of B.B.B. and feel entirely cured. In fact I feel like a different person.

Another Voice From Smith.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.
I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

HAVE WE LOST OUR HEADS?

BRING HALF THE MONEY

You intended to invest this Fall in Goods that we sell and leave the other Half at home, and for the Half you bring to spend with us we will give you as much as you would ordinarily get for the whole amount.

Don't Believe We Have Lost our Heads! Because every month since stock-taking, in February last, we have been ahead. The gratifying activity of our trade has lead to enormous purchases. Our rapidly increasing business compelled us to buy. Thousands and thousands of dollars worth of Clothing, Furnishings, Hats and Caps, Boots and Shoes, were bought early in the season for the Fall trade. Two weeks ago, when the weather was too warm, and manufacturers found it impossible to sell their goods, we bought more goods at our own price, and piled up a gigantic surplus stock, aggregating about $75,000 worth. The result is that now we have a load too much to carry.

Carloads of Overcoats!

Carloads of Suits!

Carloads of Hats!

Carloads of Boots, etc!

Carloads of Furnishings!

What is to be done? Right here, early in the season, when merchants are looking for profits, we throw off all restraint and

GOUGH BROTHERS,

THE WONDERFUL CHEAP MEN. "ALWAYS GOOD AT GOUGHS." PETERBOROUGH AND LINDSAY.

IT WILL MAKE YOU CROSS-EYED TO READ IT.

Bre'r Scriver Lets Himself Loose in Writing of the Hunters.

The editor of the Hastings Star has very evidently had a bad attack of "dictionary," as this is the way he unloads himself on an unsuspecting public, who never did him any harm:

"Our boys have safely returned after a two weeks' holiday in the back country on a nimrodic slaying expedition, venison being the object for which they whetted their appetites, and on which they fully expected to satiate their palates, as well as lubricate their mental aspirations and quiet their inflamed nerves. Deer, they say, are plentiful, plenty to be seen, but hang the guns, the barrels were crooked or the balls untrue, for no matter how straight they'd aim the deer would not stop. The white flag he carries always tells how near the bullet came. The boys, we are glad to say, did not miss all they saw, they did bring a hide and an unskinned carcas with them as an evidence of their destructive abilities and aimship. We have had similar experience in the past, and know how to sympathize. It is not always the game a fellow goes for, but for the fun and the big hunting yarns he can spin afterwards. He never tells of his buck fever attacks or tries to diagnos his difficulty."

Judging by appearances, the hunting party must have brought some of its liquid refreshments back from camp, and invited the Star man to "have something," after which the above paragraph was written.

LOW SPIRITED AND WEAK.

An Unfortunate Condition Far Too Common Among the Women of Canada.

Low spirited and weak is a condition that aptly describes the condition of far too many women in this country. They are old in appearance when they should be in the prime of womanhood. They are martyrs to headaches, easily tired and indisposed to exertion, and are pale and sallow in complexion. To those who are thus unfortunately situated the following letter from Mrs. Daniel Garvin, Gaspe Basin, Que., will point the road to renewed health. Mrs. Garvey says,—"For a number of years I have been more or less of an invalid. I was low spirited, weak, and not able to do very much of the household work. My appetite was bad, and I suffered from headaches, and slightly from asthma. I used several medicines with no beneficial results and at last was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I used them for some time and am again enjoying the very best of health. My whole system is toned up and with the other troubles the asthma has disappeared. I consider Pink Pills an invaluable remedy and recommend them to the thousands of women who were suffering as I was." In all cases of this kind Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the only speedy and infallible cure. They enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves and drive out disease. Pink Pills cure when all other medicines fail. If your dealer does not keep them they will be sent post paid on receipt of 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N.Y. Every package contains the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Refuse all substitutes and imitations.

AN EXCITING DEER HUNT.

The Quarry is Captured Alive in a Farmer's Barn, Where it Rushed to Elude Pursuit.

Messrs. Alex. Patterson, Jay Gould and James Elmhirst, accompanied by "Big Joe" Elmhurst, were out on a deer hunting expedition, yesterday, at Keene. They traversed the shores along either side of the Indian river and were successful in bringing to bay and securing alive, a magnificent buck, something rare. It happened to run up Mr. James Elmhurst's lane, the high stump fence on either side, leading to the barn yard, preventing it from escaping. The animal proceeded on its wild career and made for the barn door, which was open. It entered and the door was speedily fastened, in order to keep the pack of hounds from molesting the king of the forest.

It was one of the most exciting chases of this sort experienced in that section of the country for several years. The intention of the sports is to tame their capture, which is a buck that will tip the beam at two hundred pounds. A peculiarity about the animal is that the velvet is still on its horns, which is considered strange for this time of the year.

GENERALLY PRESCRIBED.

The Idea that Bright's Disease Cannot Be Cured Proven to be a Fallacy.

Quebec, Nov. 5th.—Local physicians are much gratified over the letter to Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, this province, testifying to his cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since the introduction of the remedy in this city many physicians have not hesitated to prescribe the pills, and numerous cures have been the result. The latest testimony, coming from so well known a medical man, proves that the local men were right in changing the old-time remedies for Dodd's Kidney Pills. Hence their jubilation.

CONCERNING THE DEATH OF THE LATE MRS. JOHN FINLAY.

Condolences and Expressions of Sympathy for the Sorrowing Husband.

At an emergency meeting of the Norwood Lodge, No. 257, A.O.U.W., held in the lodge room the other evening, the following resolution was unanimously passed:

"That the members of this lodge have heard with profound regret of the severe affliction that has befallen our esteemed brother, John Finlay, in the death of his beloved wife, after a long and painful illness; that we tender him, and his family, our deep and heartfelt sympathy in this time of sad bereavement; and sincerely pray that the Supreme Master Workman of the Universe, who, in his own good time, builds up and pulls down, as, in His infinite wisdom, He sees best, may overrule this mysterious dispensation of providence to the general good, and comfort the sorrowing hearts of the bereaved ones by fresh evidences of His wisdom and His love."

The following lines on the death of Mrs. Finlay have been handed the EXAMINER for publication:

The white-winged angel again has come,
And a loved one taken away,
To a happy and blissful home,
A land that is fairer than day.

She will be missed by all, indeed,
As wife, as mother, as sister and friend;
We all should hope to sow the seed,
That won, at last, her joyful end.

A mother—Ah, that sweetest word
To those who feel her warmest hand
Who, now, may always think of her
As waiting in a happier land.

A wife—This word brings lonely thoughts
To a single heart, a heart of love,
Which inwardly throbs and beats
Till he meets her in a home above.

A sister—Ah, who can tell
What force this little world contains?
Those who were this to her, well can spell
How much kindness they did claim.

A friend—This is a word we all can [illegible];
Those who knew her well can frame
The goodness that her heart had sown
For those who to her conscience came.

These all shall miss her o'er and o'er,
And feel that she has passed away;
But for her, weep no more,
For all her sufferings are assuaged.

STRICKEN WITH PARALYSIS.

A Peterborough Resident Taken Ill Out at Apsley.

Mr. Robt. Wolstenholm, liveryman, received word this morning that his father was very ill at the Wilson House, Apsley. It appears that the old man is a peddler, and in driving into Apsley yesterday morning, he got down from his conveyance, and was about to enter a house to try and dispose of some of his wares, when a stroke of paralysis suddenly smote him to the earth.

The sufferer lay where he had fallen for some time, as there happened to be none but women around, and these were afraid to approach him, being under the impression that he was under the influence of liquor, or in a fit.

Finally, the schoolmaster happened along, and perceiving at once what was the matter, had the man removed to the hotel. Mr. Scott, a driver for Calcutt's Brewery, came into the hotel shortly afterwards, and recognising Mr. Wolstenholm, had him put to bed and placed under the care of Dr. Frazer, of Jack's Lake.

It seems that the entire right side of the sufferer is paralyzed, and he is unable to articulate.

TURNBULL'S

MANTLES.

Our Mantle trade this season has so far exceeded our expectations that it has cleared out several lines and left room for new ones, which we have secured at from $3.00 to $3.50, less than original prices on the better lines. Our customers will reap the benefit of this reduction in the wholesale cost. A full range of all styles and prices now in stock at prices that are never undersold.

BLANKETS.

We have run across a line of All Wool Blankets, in large sizes, woven similar to a Sheeting but combed; they are very desirable and are selling at $3.00 a pair. We have also a splendid assortment of Light and Dark Gray Blankets in all sizes.

UNDERWEAR.

As the season advances we sometimes run across what dry goods men call snaps. We have secured one of these now in Men's All Wool Underclothing, in both natural and flesh colours, at $1.00 a suit. The best line ever offered for the money. Plenty of lower qualities always in stock.

SKIRTINGS.

We are introducing a line of heavy Blanket Skirtings, one of the most desirable materials we have found yet in Ladies' wear. They are 40 inches wide and only 35c a yard.

CAPS AND MUFFS.

Just received a splendid assortment of Astrachan and Gray Lamb Caps, in both wedge and band shapes. Also Sealette Caps and Muffs.

Our prices for Scotch Tweed Suits made to order are a surprise to everybody. We have just passed into stock several nobby lines in Serges and Suitings. A perfect fit guaranteed every time.

JAPS MEET A REVERSE

China Urged to Make Peace Proposals Direct to Japan.

APATHY OF CHINESE OFFICIALS

Personal Interests Their Chief Care in Making Contracts for Supplies—Change in Russian Officers' Attitude to Their British Colleagues.

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 10.—Rumors are current here to the effect that the Japanese forces have suffered a reverse at Port Arthur.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The Central News says that England and other powers have urged China to make her peace proposals directly to Japan and to negotiate at once for the cessation of the war. Japan has promised to receive the overtures in a benevolent spirit.

The Daily News hears from Odessa that Emperor William has ordered the German admiral in Chinese waters to place himself in certain contingencies under the orders of the British admiral, Freemantle. The Daily News also learns that France seems to favor a European conference to consider affairs in the far east.

The Times correspondent in Tien-Tsin says: "The Chinese officials appear to be callous of the fate of the empire. They are devoting their chief attention to personal interests, contracts for arms and the like, regardless of utility. The people are equally indifferent, as they suffer more from the Chinese soldiers in Moukden and its vicinity than from the enemy. The Russian officers have received instructions to adopt a conciliatory attitude toward their British colleagues."

The Times has this despatch from Yokohama: "Two American torpedo experts have a contract with China to destroy the Japanese fleet. They have been promised $1,000,000 for each squadron destroyed and payment for each merchantman in proportion. At Chee Foo it is reported that there has been three days' fighting at Talian Wan, without decisive results."

American Trade Review.

NEW YORK, Nov. 10.—Bradstreets says: Interest in the election this week naturally tended to restrict the volume of trade, particularly south, where it interfered with mercantile collections. But within a few days the influence of more seasonable weather west and northwest, with the emphasis with which political questions have apparently been settled, have increased the confidence of many merchants and manufacturers in a prospect for an increased rate of improvement in general trade in the near future. Chicago and St. Louis manufacturers and business men already report evidence of a tendency on the part of interior purchasers to purchase for future delivery. Bank clearances at 75 cities throughout the United States this week amount to $950,600,000, or 2.5 per cent more than the previous week. There are 241 business failures reported throughout the United States this week as compared with 258 last week.

W. C. T. U. Condemn an Old Custom.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 10.—The time-honored custom of breaking a bottle of champagne on the bows of a vessel when it is launched does not meet with the approval of the W. C. T. U., of Philadelphia. At a meeting of the Union the custom was condemned, and a committee was appointed to wait upon the president of the Cramp Ship Building Company and present him with a bottle containing river water and request him that it be used by Mrs. Cleveland in christening the St. Louis, instead of a bottle of champagne. A communication was also sent to Mrs. Cleveland notifying her of their request not to use wine in christening the St. Louis.

Word-Guessing Contest Frauds.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 10.—A fraud order was issued yesterday by the department against the Fortune Publishing Co. of Detroit, whose manager is H. Bichow. The mode of operation of this organization was to advertise a word-guessing contest with $1 entrance. The prize offered was $20 to each lucky guesser, but while the rebus appeared very simple it always happened that no one was able to solve it. The persons connected with the swindle will be arrested.

Curran Bridge Investigation.

MONTREAL, Que., Nov. 10.—Examination of witnesses in the case of the Queen versus Emmanuel St. Louis for fraud in the Curran bridge affair was continued before Judge Desnoyers yesterday. L. A. Lesage, secretary of the Montreal office of the department of railways and canals, produced the official cheques paid to St. Louis exceeding in all a quarter million dollars. Mr. St. Louis' tender could not be produced, it being in the hands of the commissioners, who conducted the inquiry during the summer of '93. Ernest Marceau, the superintending engineer, gave similar evidence and the case was then continued to Friday next.

Windsor Counterfeiting Case.

WINDSOR, Nov. 10.—The case against Michael Cook, arrested at Amherstburg a few days ago by Detective Heron of the secret service and Detective Campau, on the charge of counterfeiting, was heard at the police court to-day. Morley and Charles Long and George Bettepiece testified to having seen counterfeit coin and tools which they thought were used for manufacturing the same. Magistrate Bartlett committed Cook for trial at the next assizes.

LORD MAYOR'S BANQUET

Sir Joseph Renals Installed as Old London's Chief Magistrate.

THE PRIME MINISTER'S SPEECH

Lord Rosebery Reviews the Political Situation at Home and Abroad—Great Britain's Foreign Policy a Conservative One.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The Lord Mayor's show yesterday, attending the installation of Sir Joseph Renals, the new Lord Mayor, was a very tame affair, and the crowds present were unusually small. The decorations were few and tawdry and the procession was not in any respect comparable with the procession of the last few years. The weather was mild, with showers.

The most notable feature of the Lord Mayor's banquet at the Guild Hall in the evening was the Prime Minister's speech on the political situation at home and abroad. The British Government, Lord Rosebery said, had given strong and tangible proof of its friendship for Japan by concluding the recent comprehensive treaty with her. It had also shown its benevolent neutrality by attempting to promote peace between the two warring powers. In this delicate and difficult business the Government had gone hand in hand with Russia and other interested powers.

Although the sky was not clear the Government would let slip no opportunity to settle the war. Great Britain's relations to Russia were most cordial, the difficulty as to spheres of influence in Asia having been terminated. If all the European countries concerned could only proceed cordially and without suspicion in Asiatic affairs a great step would be taken to secure the peace of the world.

But recently the civilized world had bewailed the assassination of the President of a country with which England ought to stand shoulder to shoulder in the generous commercial rivalry. Now she had to regret the death of a great Emperor, the master of peace. The young head on which had fallen the terrible responsibility of the Russian crown might prove unequal to the task.

After paying high compliments to the wisdom and moderation of Alexander III., Lord Rosebery spoke of his services in preserving the peace of Europe. Few persons realized, he said, the difficulty of keeping a good understanding among the nations. There was danger in the enormous armaments of Europe. There was also danger in the mighty engine of the press, which often spoke under the influence of fierce competition and without weighing the effects of its announcements. He must ask the press to sift its news carefully before publishing it.

The foreign policy of England was strictly conservative and had nothing to do with party. The Government wished things to remain as they were. It coveted nothing abroad. It was not worth England's while with interests all over the world to disturb the existing conditions.

THE GRAND TRUNK INQUIRY.

Correspondence in Connection With the Trouble Will Be Made Public.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The dissatisfied shareholders of the Grand Trunk, representing some £500,000 worth of stock, held a meeting yesterday, in order to receive the reply of the Board of Directors, in reply to their demand that Mr. Barker should be allowed to enquire fully and without restraint into the company's accounts in Canada, as had been promised by Sir Henry Tyler at the half-yearly meeting on Oct. 30.

The answer of the Board of Directors as that the "kickers" must await a final decision, until the board had received the further information from Mr. L. J. Sargeant, the General Manager of the company at Montreal.

After receiving this set back, the meeting immediately decided to publish, to-day all the correspondence which had passed between the Board of Directors and themselves on the subject. Thus the public will become possessed of the details upon which these dissatisfied stockholders demand that Mr. Barker be given the authority to make an inquiry into the accounts, including the item of £590,000 alleged to be due the company by subsidiary lines and which item has been increased by £250,000 in the past eighteen months. These stockholders state they believe that a large part of this £590,000 consists of advances which have been made by the Grand Trunk Company to the affiliated companies.

The Fate in Store for the Kaiser.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—The Zukunft creats a sensation by drawing a parallel between the Kaiser and Charles I. of England and predicting that the German ruler may meet a fate similar to that of the English King if he persists in his King Charles methods of claiming that the people must blindly confide in his policy for which he holds himself responsible to God alone. The paper expresses the hope that Chancellor von Hohenlohe may be able to dispel the Kaiser's illusion that a modern people can be treated as a plaything.

Funeral of Alexander III.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 10.—The funeral of Alexander III. will take place November 17. This date has been definitely set, and the Russian ambassadors and ministers who had been notified that the funeral would take place on the 20th were requested to hasten their preparations to return. Persons of all classes are hurrying by thousands to the towns at which the funeral train will halt for the celebration of masses. The body is expected to arrive in Moscow on Sunday.

A Bad Man to Meet.

DURANGO, Col., Nov. 10.—Jesse Haller, who killed Frank Carpenter near Cortes last spring, started out vowing to kill the entire Carpenter family. He met a brother of Carpenter and a man named Day, witnesses of the former shooting, and opened fire, killing Carpenter and dangerously wounding Day and killing their horses. A posse is in pursuit.

BURIED IN THE DEBRIS

Terrible Catastrophe in Which Two Men Lose Their Lives.

WORKMEN UNDER THE RUINS

The Roof of a Stone Building on Which the Men Were at Work Caved In—One of the Men Rescued Will Not Recover—Accident Caused by Frost.

MONTREAL, Nov. 10.—A terrible catastrophe took place yesterday afternoon while a large force of workmen were employed on a large new stone building which is being erected by the Montreal Street Railway Company, at the corner of Craig street and Place d'Armes Hill. The roof caved in. Twenty-one men were on the top storey when the cave-in took place, and they were hurled down amidst a shower of debris and broken plaster and stone. Some of them saved their lives by catching at the rafters and cornices, but others were buried beneath the ruins. The fire brigade and police patrols were called to the scene, and an immense crowd of people gathered around the building. The firemen and police set to work to rescue the workingmen from the ruins. Robt. Pouge, a French-Canadian, was the first man rescued. He was smashed from head to feet, and it was seen that he could not recover. He died shortly afterwards at the hospital. Pierre Monnette, another young workman who was buried beneath the ruins, was rescued shortly afterwards suffering from severe scalp wounds.

Joseph Marquis, another one rescued, died shortly afterwards. Thousands of people surrounded the building watching the work of the firemen and policemen, who rescued many people from the top stories.

Pierre Monnett is lying at the hospital with his skull badly fractured and is not likely to recover. Several other workingmen were injured. It was rumored last night that several more bodies were buried beneath the ruins, but it was impossible to confirm the report until a thorough search of the debris is made.

The accident is supposed to have been due to frost, which displaced the supports of the roof, causing the cave-in. A thorough investigation will be held to establish who is responsible for the terrible accident.

A Thief With a Record.

HALIFAX, Nov. 10.—John Drake boarded the schooner John Halifax, lying at one of the city docks, and while the captain was sleeping stole $300 in cash. Just underneath was a cash box containing $1,600, but this Drake did not see. The thief took a boat and rowed up the basin and boarded the train for St. John. By instructions the chief at St. John arrested Drake, who had $260 of the amount on his person. Drake has a record in this line. A year ago he was sentenced to prison for robbing a vessel. He escaped and was recaptured, sent back and escaped a second time. Then he went to the States and finally to Bermuda, coming to Halifax from there on a steamer a week ago. Drake was in Halifax two months ago and robbed a vessel of $80. Lately these robberies became numerous and mystified the police considerably. It is now believed Drake was the author of the whole of them.

Fatal Accident to a Young Girl.

HAMILTON, Nov. 10.—Ethel Burrows, the 7-year old daughter of Thomas J. Burrows, died yesterday afternoon from injuries received while at play in the school yard. While playing with other children on Monday last the little girl was run into by a larger girl, who struck her in the stomach, causing a rupture of the membrane of the stomach, through which portions of the bowels found their way and were strangulated. The girl made no complaint until Wednesday night and on examination the doctors decided an operation was necessary. The operation showed that the bowels had become strangulated and had mortified. Shortly after the operation the girl died.

Lace and His Wife on Trial.

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—William E. Lace and his wife Mary stood up in the dock at the police court yesterday charged with manslaughter. They pleaded not guilty and were remanded for a week. The facts of the case are known. The twain kept a baby farm in Gladstone avenue and a child died, it is supposed, from neglect. At least the coroner's jury returned a verdict to that effect. In the court Lace made a long speech, in which he said he was prepared to show that his house was properly run and that he was not responsible for the death of the child in question.

Acadia Mines Starting Up.

TRURO, N.S., Nov. 10.—Orders have just been issued at Acadia mines to have 30 of the coke ovens started as soon as possible. James Lunn, of Debert, has the contract forgetting ovens ready by end of November. The local railway track between the blast furnaces and rolling mills has been taken up and strengthened and relaid. Everything has an outlook of work at the mines commencing in earnest. There is plenty of local labor for all work to be done.

Tuesday's Heavy Gale.

HALIFAX, N.S., Nov. 10. — Schooner Chlorus, Capt. McKinnon, which has arrived from Prince Edward Island, reports Tuesday's gale twenty-five miles off Halifax. Capt. McKinnon says he never saw such a storm in twenty years. It was a regular whirlwind, the direction of wind continually changing. The vessel lost its top mast, a boat was carried away from the davits, the main sail was torn from its fastenings and other sails split and torn.

Struck by a K. & P. Train.

KINGSTON, Nov. 10.—W. Hunt, of Sharbot Lake, while walking on the railway track on his way from the village to his residence, was struck by a Kingston & Pembroke special train and died shortly afterwards of his injuries. It is supposed he had reached a point where he was to have stepped off to go home, when the train struck him. Percy Barry, the boy who was struck by an electric car on Monday, died last night.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1894.

MR. MARTER AT LONDON.

Mr. Marter made his maiden speech, as leader of the Ontario Opposition, at London, on Thursday night, and great expectations that were formed were realized—that is, his friends and admirers think that he made the brilliant and statesmanlike utterances he was expected to make and those, not so prejudiced in his favour, see that he has made just such an address as they thought he would make—he trod the beaten paths that he has followed upon the stump and in the house. Of course, as became the opening meeting of a campaign, the gathering was enthusiastic and the new leader was very heartily received. As was to be anticipated, Mr. Marter objected to Hon. Mr. Harty retaining his portfolio and demanded the resignation of the Mowat administration, in favour of those in whom the "people had placed their trust." Of course, he meant the Opposition, which, according to Mr. Marter's own showing, only numbers nineteen as against forty-seven, (Mr. Marter's figures) the number of Sir Oliver Mowat's supporters. If, as Mr. Marter asserts, Sir Oliver is not in a position to carry on the government with forty-seven supporters, how can he, even with all his great ability, carry on a government with nineteen followers? He, really, did not make out a very strong case in the direction of justifying the Lieutenant-Govenor in sending for Mr. Marter to form a new cabinet. Mr. Marter travelled over the old ground in regard to the finances, claiming to show that the Ontario Government had been extravagant, and used the old expedients to show that the Province of Ontario had no surplus of assets, when the accounts show that there is a surplus of over six millions; or, giving him his contention in regard to certain maturing liabilities, which would reduce the figures, an indisputable surplus of assets of four millions.

Mr. Marter took up the point that the expenditure of the province has greatly increased since 1871. No doubt it has, but is it not to be expected that the most progressive province in the world has achieved progress without it costing something; and that that cost has been excessive no fair computation can show. During the time in question thirty-five and a quarter millions have been expended upon the various public services, agriculture, education, hospitals, asylums and charities, etc. If the same rate of expenditure had been maintained the past twenty years, that obtained in Sandfield Macdonald's time the total expenditure would have been only about eighteen and a quarter millions; but no one will claim that at the present time the public service of the Province could be efficiently managed for the same sum that was needed twenty years ago. For the past score of years the public money has been spent judiciously and honestly; the most exacting critic has not been able to show that a single dollar has been corruptly spent. Mr. Marter's eloquent arraignment of over-consumption of eggs, etc., by asylum officials, is the chief attempt to show extravagance, but his reasoning is so puerile, so flatly contradicted by facts, that no one takes this department of the leader's criticism seriously, for the figures show that the cost of maintaining Ontario Asylums is cheaper per head than nine-tenths of similar institutions in any civilized country. In a word, anyone who has read Mr. Marter's speeches during the last campaign, have read, in effect, his London speech, which contained no new declaration of policy. He grumbles, but does not indicate what would be his policy upon prominent public questions if he should be entrusted with the law-making of the province. It is quite evident that Mr. Marter cannot be looked to to lead the crusade in the direction of a higher standard of political discussion. He can't get above pantry politics.

NEW YORK has benefitted doubly by the recent elections. The claws of the Tammery Tiger have been clipped and consequently the Augean stables of municipal corruption, that have made the city a by-word and a reproach, will probably be cleaned out. The other benefit is that the electors endorsed the proposal to annex the suburban cities that cluster round New York, which will make the population of New York 3,500,000 and remove the dread of Chicago getting ahead of Gothan in the matter of population and in the advantages that large population implies.

MR. MARTER hardly rose to the dignity of his new position at London. He slung ancient eggs at the Government, out of the same basket he used at the general elections. Pelting his opponents with stale eggs and tomato sauce is too much like Hallowe'en pranks, to be ranked at statesmanship.

NOTICE of an application for leave to withdraw the North Toronto Provincial election petition (Brown vs. Marter) has been lodged with the Registrar of the Court of Appeal, Toronto.

SIR RICHARD CARTWRIGHT addressed a large and representave meeting of his constituents at Otterville on Thursday night.

MR. D. E. CAMERON'S successor in the office of Provincial Treasurer is Mr. W. N. Anderson.

Little Beginnings.

The steam which raised the lid of the kettle led a philosophic mind to utilize it to man's benefit. No one dreamed that we should now be dragged along by it at the rate of sixty miles an hour. When Perry Davis made a preparation for the medicinal use of his family, over fifty years ago, neither he nor any other man imagined that it would now be sold in every land, and prove to be the PAIN-KILLER of the world. The new big bottle, old price 25 cents.

Wash your blankets with "Wide Awake" Soap, and you will find them cleaner and softer than they ever were before.

POVERTY OF THE BLOOD.

A Condition That Gives Rise to Neuralgia, Severe Headaches, Heart Palpitation and Other Distressing Troubles.

Poverty of the blood is the plain English for what medical men term anæmia, and it is a condition that destroys the happiness of thousands and hurries many to an untimely grave. "Going into a decline," is an expression frequently heard in reference to those suffering from langour, heart palpitation, headaches, loss of appetite, etc., and it is but another method of saying that the trouble is poverty of the blood. To those thus suffering, the following statement of Mr. Chisholm, of North Tyron, P. E. I., in reference to his daughter Lizzie, will point the way to renewed health:—"About a year ago," says Mr. Chisholm, "my daughter took sick and wasted away until she was a mere skeleton. We tried the ordinary remedies at first, but no help was had from them, and the family physician was called in. He treated her for about six months but without any apparent benefit. At this time she was confined to bed most of the time, her appetite was almost gone, and she was so weak that death seemed not far distant. To add to our sorrow and discouragement, the doctor said he could do no more. We had often read of the cures following the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but up to this time had not thought of trying them. The doctor's opinion was asked, and he said by all means give the Pills a trial; there is everything to gain, and nothing to lose by doing so. We then began the use of the Pills and by the time the second box was gone we noticed a slight improvement, and slight as it was it renewed our hopes and encouraged us to continue the use of Pink Pills. From that time the improvement was constant and rapid. Lizzie is now the picture of health and no one looking at her would think she had ever been sick a day, to say nothing of having been almost at the brink of the grave. There is no doubt in our minds that had our daughter not taken Pink Pills she would not be alive to-day, and it is with feeling of gratitude that we recommend them to others." If your dealer does not keep Dr. Williams' Pink Pills they will be sent by mail on receipt of 50c. a box or six boxes for $2.50 by addressing the company at Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y. Remember that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure when other medicines fail, and do not be persuaded to take either a substitute or an imitation.

Pool Room Giles Found Guilty.

BRAMPTON, Ont., Nov. 10.—"I find the defendant, Giles, guilty of keeping a betting house in the town of Port Credit, subject to a reserve case to be argued before the Superior Court." This is the verdict given by Judge McGibbon in the now famous Giles pool room case. Mr. Osler, who was present for the defendant, immediately took exception to the verdict and said it should have been a "disorderly house," etc.

The Welland Protest.

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—The protest against the return of W. Manley German, member for Welland, will probably be withdrawn, as an application to that effect was filed at Osgoode hall yesterday. The opponents of Mr. German claimed at one time that they could again disqualify him. The cross petition against Mr. McCleary will probably be dropped.

Marter Protest Withdrawn.

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—An application was entered yesterday by Alexander Brown, petitioner in the protest in North Toronto, to have the said protest withdrawn. The constituency is held by Mr. Marter, leader of the Opposition.

Tobacco Growing in South Essex.

WINDSOR, Nov. 10.—Lewis Wigle, ex-M. P., sold his tobacco crop on Thursday for $20,000 in Montreal, the weed being grown in South Essex.

In Self-Defense

you ought to keep your flesh up. Disease will follow, if you let it get below a healthy standard. No matter how this comes, what you need is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That is the greatest flesh-builder known to medical science, far surpassing filthy Cod liver oil and all its nasty compounds. It's suited to the most delicate stomachs. It makes the morbidly thin, plump and rosy, with health and strength.

The "Discovery" is sold on trial. In everything that's claimed for it, as a strength-restorer, blood-cleanser, and flesh-maker, if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

Like a Miracle

Consumption—Low Condition

Wonderful Results From Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Miss Hannah Wyatt
Toronto, Ont.

"Four years ago while in the old country (England), my daughter Hannah was sent away from the hospital, in a very low condition with consumption of the lungs and bowels, and weak action of the heart. The trip across the water to this country seemed to make her feel better for a while. Then she began to get worse, and for 14 weeks she was unable to get off the bed. She grew worse for five months and lost the use of her limbs and lower part of body, and if she sat up in bed had to be propped up with pillows. Physicians

Said She Was Past All Help

and wanted me to send her to the 'Home for Incurables.' But I said as long as I could hold my hand up she should not go. We then began to give her Hood's Sarsaparilla. She is getting strong, walks around, is out doors every day; has no trouble with her throat and no cough, and her heart seems to be all right again. She has a first class appetite. We regard her cure as nothing short of a miracle." W. WYATT, 89 Marion Street, Parkdale, Toronto, Ontario.

Hood's Pills are purely vegetable and perfectly harmless. Sold by all druggists. 25c.

COME THOU WEARY!

An Invitation to all Sickly and Broken-Down Women.

Paine's Celery Compound Guarantees Health, Strength and Renewed Life.

Mrs. Mossop, of Mimico, Ont., Speaks for Your Benefit.

MRS. MOSSOP, MIMICO, ONT.

A modern professional writer, says:—"A life of extreme labour, or indeed extreme exercise of any kind, of exreme anxiety about worldly concerns, of extreme moral excitement of any kind, is unfavourable to long life."

A large proportion of the wives and mothers of Canada, shorten their lives, owing to the fact that they soon become too devoted slaves to home and children; they shoulder greater burdens than nature can bear, and as a result health is undermined and shattered; they become wrecks physically, and husband and little ones lose their best earthly friend.

To all broken-down, overworked, and sickly woman we would say, that while there is life there is hope, yes more than hope; a certainty of a renewed life—a freedom from all sickness and physical infirmities. In order to secure this desired change—a happy change that has been experienced by thousands of women, old and young—it is necessary to use a true health builder and strengthener, an agent that purifies the blood, and that braces the weak and shattered nerves.

The experience of cured and saved women points at once to Paine's Celery Compound, nature's true and never-failing medicine. In this our dear Canada, thousands of sincere hearts thank Heaven for life and health through Paine's Celery Compound.

Mrs. Mossop, of Mimico, Ont., has a message for all women who suffer as she once suffered; she says:

"I have much pleasure in giving my testimony in favour of Paine's Celery Compound. I was entirely broken down by hard work, anxiety and sleeplessness, and had pains all through my body. Doctor's remedies had no effect, and nothing met my case until I used Paine's Celery Compound. This medicine has done wonders for me, and I would strongly urge all suffering women to use it, as it is the best in the world."

Trade in the Dominion.

MONTREAL, Nov. 10.—Special telegrams from Halifax report gains in almost all lines with collections improved. There is also an improvement in wholesale lines at Toronto, colder weather having stimulated business, but prices are unchanged. Retail trade is stimulated here, but jobbers report collections less prompt than a year ago and the volume of business is not equal to expectations. Bank clearings at Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax amount to $22,544,551, a large increase as compared with the preceding week, when the total was $16,972,237. One year ago the week's total was $21,559,863. There are 40 failures in business reported from Canada this week, compared with 46 last week, 38 in the first week of November, 1893, 14 in 1892 and 30 in 1891.

The Course of True Love.

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—Florence Mabel Glover, the well-known vocalist, and Harry Woodland, the lacrosse player, were secretly married in Cooke's church on October 11. On Saturday last the young couple left for New York, but their honeymoon was of short duration, for Mr. Glover, the father of the bride, followed the young couple to New York and brought his daughter back. Woodland is still in New York. It was reported that the mother would apply at Ottawa for a decree of divorce for her daughter on the grounds of her being under age, but this statement is denied. Mrs. Glover said that her daughter would be allowed shortly to join her husband in New York.

To Elopers in London.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—The Chicago elopers are still in Jail. The effort to secure bail for them was unsuccessful. Mrs. Hecking is confident of securing her freedom. She still maintains her innocence of any wrong and says that her sole object in coming here was to get away from her husband until the divorce case should have been settled. The two men who came with her, Borberg and Schroeter, claim that they came with the woman purely from a desire to see her comfortably located. They purposed going back to Chicago again.

The only way to cure catarrh is to purify the blood. Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and tones up the whole system.

A Baby Saved.

DEAR SIRS,—My baby had a terrible cough. The doctor said it was Whooping Cough, but it got worse all the time until baby was just like a skeleton. When he was four months old I tried Milburn's Cod Liver Oil Emulsion, and after using one and a half bottles my baby is entirely cured. No other remedy but the Emulsion was used, and baby is now strong and healthy.

TORONTO BOODLE INQUIRY.

Getting at the Bottom of the Alleged Crooked Transactions.

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—The investigation into the alleged boodling transactions with which certain aldermen in the city council are charged, are becoming decidedly interesting. The evidence of Mr. Wright, manager of the Toronto Electric Light Company, to the effect that Ald. Stewart had approached him with a view to putting up $13,000 to secure the contract for the city's lighting, was partially corrobated at yesterday's session of the court.

A. B. Smith, an officer of the G. N. W. Telegraph Co., who said he was on intimate terms with Mr. Wright, told of several conversations he had had with the latter in regard to the electric lighting contract. In one of the conversations Mr. Wright said that the opposing influence at work was so strong that he was afraid his company would not secure the contract for the reason that money would have to be paid and his company would not pay any money. He did not specifically designate any corrupt proposals.

Thomas Walmsley, a director of Mr. Wright's company, stated that Mr. Wright called on him on July 12th and told him that he had been approached with a view to putting up $13,000 to secure the contract. He said that the approach had been made by Ald. Stewart, chairman of the Fire and Light Committee.

W. A. Martin, secretary of the above company, also testified to the same effect.

Each of these witnesses told of Mr. Wright's acquainting them with the fact that Ald. Stewart had shown him false figures of the Street Railway Company's tender.

Mr. Wallace Nesbitt, who is conducting the investigation, asked for an adjournment till to-day, when it is expected some important revelations will be made.

Mr. Lancefield's Reply.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—In the Times there is a letter from R. T. Lancefield, public librarian of Hamilton, Ont., which deals with the question of Canadian copyright and is generally a reply to the communication of Mr. Dalby, secretary of the British Copyright Association, which appeared in the same journal of the 18th ult. Mr. Lancefield's letter concludes: "We are determined to secure our rights in order, for one thing, to assist the cause of Imperial Federation."

Losing Their Faith in It.

LONDON, Nov. 10.—"A Very Disgusted Shareholder" writes to the Financial News with reference to the recent call by the Manitoba Mortgage Investment Company of £1 per share, and asks how long the shareholders are expected to endure such a state of things, adding that it is only sending good money after bad to endeavor to buoy up a concern that is fast becoming a wreck.

WHO DR. McCORMICK IS.

Montreal has Something to say Respecting the Well Known Richmond Physician.

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond Que., whose remarkable cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has been set forth in his letter, recently published, is a graduate of McGill College, this city. He is well known, not only to the medical profession in Montreal, but throughout the entire province, as a careful and reputable physician, and his testimony to the worth of Dodd's Kidney Pills is accepted by physicians generally as a guarantee of the efficacy of the remedy. Such a communication coming from so eminent a graduate of McGill, will have the effect of making Dodd's Kidney Pills universally popular in Quebec.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times

ROBERT HALL.

Seasonable and Opportune.

Always forearmed for all the shopping demands of our customers—this store is never behind—the right goods at the right time and at the right prices. October suggest the need of such things as Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves.

We have too many kinds to attempt any detail, but in addition to the BEST makes in underwear we carry a full line of the celebrated "Health Brand" in all sizes and combinations.

Blankets and Bed Comforters.

The buying of these lines was done with extreme care, as we have an exacting constituency to choose for, who are wide awake judges of qualities and prices. The stock is right and the values correspond.

Along with these, we would also mention our new fall selected Shawls, in many sizes, qualities and shapes—very exclusive—and from makers who warrant their goods.

Millinery and Mantles.

Style is everything in these lines. You don't want a last year's hat, or bonnet, or jacket, at any cost, and you won't find one here. You don't even want this season's unless the style is distinctive, and that is just where we excel.

We continue to show a full range in all the newest novelties in Dress Goods.

This is what we are doing, giving away Overcoats and Suits, at close wholesale prices. Grafton & Co.

Young Women's Association.

Rev. Mr. Heer will address the Gospel service this evening. Cordial welcome to all young women. Remember the social on Thanksgiving eve.

Telfordian Temperature Topics.

Saturday, Nov. 10.—Our storm has come; and at this morning's observation the thermometer indicated only 26 degrees above zero. The temperature will remain about the same, although colder at night.

"Ask your stove or hardware dealer for F. L. Madden's Enamel. It is the only Stove Pipe Varnish that does not smell, smoke or burn off."

It's Impossible—but it can be done.

It seems almost impossible that W. J. Green, merchant tailor, can supply you with a perfect fitting pair of pants made to order, of good material, for the very small sum of $3.00. But he does it. Give him a call at his store on Hunter street, and you will be convinced.

A Pointer for Councillors.

If our town fathers would see their way clear to co-operate with the Children's Aid Society, much of the money now mis-spent on charity would be turned into a proper channel, and many of the unworthy annual pensioners would disapper. Our city fathers should also remember the fact that to save a child from error is only five per cent of the cost of punishing the criminal the child is pretty sure to develop into, if not saved.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Carbon and Porcelain Company was held yesterday. A statement of the business for the past seven months was verbally laid before the meeting by the president. The election of directors took place and resulted as follows: President, Wm. Clurton; A. P. Poussette, J. W. Taylor, Jas. Stevenson, Thos. Brooks, H. LeBrun, T. E. Bradburn, A. E. Dixon, T. E. Bradburn, A. L. Davis. Mr. John Carnegie, Mr. Adam Hall and Mr. J. R. Stratton retired from the Board.

The Yunck Concert, December 4th.

The date for this grand concert has been fixed for Tuesday, Dec. 4th, and a treat is in store for the people of Peterborough in hearing this great artist. The Toronto Mail says of Herr Yunck's playing at the Massey Festival:—"Herr Yunck played "Le Trille du Diable," composed in 1671, by Tartini, with an added cadenza of his own. The execution was most smooth and finished and the tone of great purity." Herr Yunck will be assisted by Mrs. Martin-Murphy, soprano; Mr. H. M. Blight, baritone; Miss Blight, accompanist. An opportunity of hearing a programme presented by such an array of talent may not be repeated for some time to come. Opera, Dec. 4th.

St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham.

The Rev. Roland Hilton, of Macleod, Atta., will preach in St. Luke's Church to-morrow morning, and the Rector will occupy the pulpit in the evening.

A Sight Worth Seeing.

Go up to-day and take a walk through my beautiful greenhouse of fresh blooming flowers, potting and bedding-out plants, etc., corner Argyle and George streets. FRANK WISE.

$1.50 Per Leg.—

Which means $3 for the two legs, which is the very low price that Mr. W. J. Green, merchant tailor, charges for a pair of made to order pants, excellent material, first class fit and good finish. Hunter street is the place.

Appreciated Praise.

A customer of the EXAMINER, in Toronto, in sending his cheque in payment of a large order for printing and binding, says, "I am well pleased with the work. Printing, paper and binding are excellent and the job throughout thoroughly satisfactory."

Cure for That Tired Feeling.

See Aunt Sally—she will make you laugh and forget your cares and aches. The company is composed of all first class singers and dancers, and you'll laugh till you bust a suspender. The company appears at the opera house here Monday night, Nov. 12th. Prices, 25, 50 and 75c.

Charity Entertainment.

The public are reminded of the charity entertainment to be given in the Catholic Order of Foresters Hall, Hunter street, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of St. Peter's Cathedral. The date is Wednesday evening, Nov. 14th. Butcher's Orchestra will furnish music and the ladies will serve refreshments. Tickets, $1.00 per couple.

Special Meetings in the Salvation Army.

Major Friedrich, late of Germany, accompanied by Ensign Morris, will conduct very special services in the Salvation Army Barracks Saturday night and all day Sunday. They will be assisted by Mrs. Staff-Capt. Jewer, of Toronto. Ensign Morris is a good vocalist; shall have with him and play the banjo, cornet and concertina. Everybody come.

Here to Stay.

The statement published in an Ottawa paper and in the Ottawa correspondence of yesterday's Globe to the effect that Matthew's pork packing factory is to be removed to Hull is absurdedly incorrect. Inquiry at headquarters reveals the fact that the firm has no such intention—that the business is here to stay. No firm outside of a lunatic asylum would think of removing the centre of its business from a place like Peterborough to a place like Hull.

Canadian General Electric Works Notes.

Mr. Geo. Stephens, general superintendent Canadian General Electric Co., town, visited Montreal on his way to Schenectady, N. Y., and will be back on Monday.

Mr. E. G. Patterson is having his home beautifully illuminated by electricity. The power is furnished by the Canadian General Electric Co.

All the departments of the Works are very busy.

The members of the Hunt Club are shooting in the township of Smith this week.

Death of Mrs. John Lee, Sr.

To-day another of our old residents passed away in the person of Mrs. Lee, widow of the late John Lee, sr., who died at the residence of her son. She had reached the venerable age of nearly eighty-five years. The deceased was a native of the north of Ireland and she settled with her husband at the corner of George and Smith streets over half a century ago where she has lived since. She leaves behind her four sons—William, John, jr., Thomas, all of town, and R. J. Lee, of Parry Sound, and one daughter, Mrs. Edward Thompson. Mrs. Lee was well-known and very highly respected. Funeral on Monday at 2.30 o'clock from the residence of her son, 705 George street.

Woman's Day.

Next Tuesday will be kept as "Woman's Day" in St. John's parish. The order of proceedings will be as follows:

10 a.m.—Celebration of Holy Communion.

3.45 p.m.—Subject, "Woman's touch of Faith."

4.15 p.m.—Conversational conference in St. John's school house, led by Mrs. Williamson, of Toronto. Subject, "Personal and family religion."

5 p.m.—Devotional meeting in the church. Subject, "Woman's service of Devotion."

6 p.m.—Tea in School house.

7.30.—Evening prayer in church.

8 p.m.—Conference in School house. Subject, "Woman's service of work."

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—Additional local matter on eighth page.

—Once more the post office clock can be depended upon.

—The Keene river is frozen over, as well as Kent's creek and Nogey's creek.

—Every youngster who had a sled triumphantly trotted it out this morning.

—The new electric sweeper was out for a run over the street car tracks this morning.

—On and after Monday next the police court will meet in session at ten o'clock instead of nine, as formerly.

—The chopping department of the Otonabee Roller Mills, Ashburnham, commenced operations this morning.

—The regular meeting of the W. C. T. U. will be held on Monday, Nov. 12th, at the residence of Mrs. Paton, 292 Brock street, at 3.30 p. m. All are welcome.

—The workmen on the new Bank of Commerce building as well as on the other buildings in course of erection in town, are forced to lay off to-day on account of the snow.

—Mr. "Bat" Laroque, of the Montreal House, town, after a sojour of four days on "Big Sugar" Island, Rice Lake, succeeded in laying low sixteen brace of duck.

—The Campbellford Young Bachelors will hold an assembly on the evening of Nov. 23th, and quite a number of Peterborough young ladies and gentlemen will go down to participate.

You may work and worry and Study and think,
But you can't do business
Without printers' ink.
—Duquesne (Pa.) Observer.

—A drunk was fined five dollars and costs, this morning, in the police court, for creating a disturbance, last night, in the Opera House, while the presentation of "The Burglar" was in progress.

—The Steamers Dolat and Hoover arrived in port to-day on their regular maroid trips from ports in and about Rice Lake and the Otonabee, carrying quite a number of passengers as well as market produce.

—The council of the Board of Trade met last evening and discussed some important correspondence which had been received. A full report of the meeting is unavoidably held over until Monday's issue of the EXAMINER.

—The City hotel, Peterborough, has been purchased by Mr. Jas. Dolan, familiarly known to many friends here some years ago as "Jimmy Webster." Mr. Dolan will make an ideal hotel proprietor.—Lindsay Post.

—The special meeting of the Council, last night, was declared off by the Mayor, at about five o'clock in the afternoon. Many of the Councillors and also a large number of the ratepayers had a long trudge for nothing.

—Messrs. Harry Neil and "Jay" Gould left this afternoon for Big Sugar Island, Rice Lake on a fox hunt. They have nine hounds with them. No doubt they will take a crack at an odd duck or so. This is the season of the year they take their outing—foxes leaving their foot prints in the snow.

—Workmen are busily engaged in raising the sunken scow at Hales' Bridge by means of pumps. The cause of the sinking was that those engaged in unloading the timber did not understand what they were doing—unloading one end first—thereby causing her to sink at the other and allowing water to gain access to her hold, which filled rapidly.

—Thomas Nicholls, a gentleman from Toronto, had an experience with a small birch canoe on big West Macoon lake. He stood up in the boat to locate some ducks in the marsh, and the boat turned over suddenly. Without assistance he crawled out on a log, a wetter and a wiser man. He can't hear the word birch canoe without a shudder, as he had a close call.

—Mr. James McComb, the glove man, makes an excellent window display of winter gloves. All who look are certain to admire and prepare to buy. It will be love at first sight. The assortment is large and varied, inclosing French and English made gloves of kid, kangaroo, kid goat, buckskin, reindeer, dogskin, sealette, astrachan, Persian lamb, and other styles of Mr. McComb's own manufacture.

—Mr. M. A. Jamieson, of the "Little Windsor," accompanied by Mr. Dave Evans, were out on a skirmish through a certain eastern jungle, several miles from town, yesterday afternoon, and succeeded in locating two silver gray foxes, which they killed, as well as a red one. They also bagged several brace of partridge, a grist of rabbits, and five black squirrels.

—A blaze in the chimney on the premises occupied by Mr. Mcindoo, storekeeper, on the corner of Smith and Hunter streets called the brigade to that point last night. The fire was subdued without the necessity of coupling the hose and small damage was inflicted. The new fire horse took the run and behaved most satisfactorily. It is a good runner and keeps right up in the collar. It is a most quiet animal, but possessing some good blood naturally runs well.

—A good many were out with smoked glasses, to-day, to observe what effect Mercury would have on the sun's disc, when it crossed that orb. The first external contact of the planet with the sun took place at 10:55 a. m., the first internal contact shortly afterwards and by 4.15 p. m., the transit was completed. This was the 14th transit of Mercury in the century. The next will occur in 1907. Mr. T. A. Hay, C. E., had an improvised observatory equipped with a telescope, erected in the Central Park.

—That charming, instructive and laughable play, "The Burglar," was presented at the Bradburn Opera House, last night, to a very large audience which thoroughly enjoyed the many novel situations in the play. Each member of the company is deserving of individual praise for the manner in which his or her several roles were assumed and little Edith, especially, was most charming in her versatile representation. The company is deserving of the highest econiums and will, without doubt, have a most successful season, as the reward of their meritorious presentation of the Burglar.

—The Lindsay Watchman says: "Mr. A. Goheen, east ward, was one of a party hunting on Bass Lake, Harvey, and in addition to securing his legal supply of venison he succeeded in ridding the neighborhood of a very large wild cat. At an early hour he started through the woods to put the hounds on a deer trail, and while resting after getting a start he heard the bush crackling in the direction from which he had just come. Supposing the noise to be caused by a deer or dogs he stepped behind a large tree, and was somewhat surprised to see a pair of very large wild-cats come trotting along, evidently tracking him. Raising his rifle he shot the larger one, but its mate dodged into the bush before he could pull the trigger again. Mr. Goheen of course brought home the skin, for which he has been offered a nice sum."

—Yesterday afternoon in the police court, the charge of attempted rape preferred against a citizen by the cook in one of the restaurants, was withdrawn, and one of indecent assault substituted. In the evidence which was adduced, it was proven that the defendant entered the kitchen in which the plaintiff was employed, and hugged and kissed her. To this no very great objection was apparently offered, as the defendant left the room shortly afterwards and gave the girl ample opportunity to leave the apartment if she choose. She didn't choose, however, and when the defendant returned to the apartment such other actions followed as induced her to lay the charge against him. The magistrate queried as whether or not the girl's allowing the prisoner to kiss and fondle her, was not an invitation to induce him to go even further, as the man was almost a stranger to her. Still the fact that the act was committed remained, and a fine of $100.00 or six months in gaol was imposed.

SELWYN.

New Blacksmithing and Carriage Woodwork Business.

Mr. M. Sucee, who recently conducted a blacksmithing and horseshoeing business at Bridgenorth, has purchased the blacksmithing shop of Mr. Wm. Isbister of Selwyn, and intends carrying on a carriage wood-work business in connection, something that there is need for in this place. Mr. Sucee intends removing to Selwyn about Nov. 19th. He is a steady, reliable and capable workman, and will doubtless succeed well in his new field of labour.

ORIENTAL ENTERTAINMENT.

Realistic Representatives and Descriptions of Life in the Bible Land.

The tableau-lectures of Mrs. Mountford (nee Lydia Mamreoff Von Finkelstein) are unique entertainments. The word lecture very imperfectly describes the entertainments, because, in the first place, Mrs. Mountford's realistic word paintings bring the scenes vividly before her audiences, and in the second place, with her assistants, costumes and accesories, the scenes described are, at the same time, presented to view in a manner that makes the peculiar manners, customs and dress of the people of Palestine very plain. Sometimes these lectures are called dramatic lectures, spectacular lectures or tableau lectures, but, to be understood or appreciated, they must be seen.

Mrs. Mountford is of European parentage and was born and brought up in the city of Jerusalem. She lived in Palestine and Syria until she was twenty-two years of age and she is thoroughly familiar with the customs and manners of the various races which inhabit those countries. Palestine is of peculiar interest to the people of Peterborough, as well as other western people, because it was the scene of the events recorded in the sacred Scriptures, and Mrs. Mountford's lectures are of great value for the same reason. There are references and passages in the Scriptures that cannot be understood unless the peculiar customs referred to are understood, and this lady, with her full knowledge of the subject, takes up reference after referene of this character and makes it plain, and shows the full meaning and beauty of the passages. For instance, when the Saviour sent out His disciples to preach, He told them to salute no man by the way. This is difficult of explanation until the custom of the people in this regard is understood, and a delegate to a recent Sunday school convention at Belleville, who heard Mrs. Montford lecture there, states that her explanation of this one point was worth the cost of attending the lecture.

The lectures while being very instructive, are also fascinatingly interesting and entertaining, and the thousands who have heard her in the various cities and towns in Canada as well as in the United States, and Europe, have been delighted as well as edified.

In Belleville about a year ago Mrs. Mountford gave three lectures, and this fall she was brought back to the same city and gave three more.

Mrs. Montford will give two of her unique lectures in Peterborough, on the evenings of Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 19th and 20th, in the Opera House. The price of admission is low, 25 and 35 cents, and every one should hear her. The plan of hall is open at the Peterborough Bookstore.

GENERALLY PRESCRIBED.

The Idea that Bright's Disease Cannot be Cured Proven to be a Fallacy.

Quebec, Nov. 5th.—Local physicians are much gratified over the letter to Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, this province, testifying to his cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since the introduction of the remedy in this city many physicians have not hesitated to prescribe the pills, and numerous cures have been the result. The latest testimony, coming from so well known a medical man, proves that the local men were right in changing the old-time remedies for Dodd's Kidney Pills. Hence their jubilation.

The more critical you are in buying the more certain we are to get your trade. Grafton & Co.

THE MARKET SITUATION.

The tendency of the beginning of cold weather is to stimulate business. Special telegrams from Halifax report gains in almost all lines with collections improved. There is also an improvement in wholesale lines at Toronto, colder weather having stimulated business, but prices are unchanged. Retail trade is stimulated at Montreal, but jobbers report collections less prompt than a year ago and the volume of business is not equal to expectations. Bank clearings at Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax amount to $22,544,551, a large increase as compared with the preceding week, when the total was $16,972,237.

One year ago, the week's total was $21,569,963. There are 40 failures in business reported from Canada, this week, compared with 46 last week, 28 in the first week in November, 1893, 14 in 1892, and 30 in 1891.

THE LOCAL GRAIN MARKET.

Locally, since the cold weather threatened the farmers having no farm work to occupy their attention are bringing in grain more briskly. Prices are not extravagantly encouraging but not so bad considering the generally depressed condition of commerce and agriculture, not only in this vicinity and county, but the world over. Wheat is quoted at from 53 to 55c, peas, 50 to 60c, the latter figure for mummies or black eyes; oats, 28 to 29c; barley 35 to 43c; buckwheat, 35 to 40c.

The market to-day was a good one. Poultry, butter and eggs, as well as grain and dressed pork, were marketed in immense quantities—in fact in such quantities that it is strange that the prices were not slumped to a far greater degree than they were. Eggs held firm at 16c., but fresh butter dropped a little and was sold at 18 cents. Poultry dropped in price a little, chickens bringing from 35 to 45c, ducks from 45 to 60c per pair, and turkeys from 60 to 75 cents. The dressed pork market may now be considered fully opened, as the market to-day was well stocked with that commodity. Prices in grains ranked somewhat higher, as the competition has become a great deal keener on account of the presence of another buyer in the person of Mr. Quinn, who is purchasing for the firm of Davidson & Co.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Items of Interest to Local Sportsmen.

CURLING.

Representatives from the Colt rinks of Peterborough, Belleville and Campbellford, will meet in the latter town on Monday evening next to arrange a programme for a series of matches. Belleville will make the following proposals, which will in all likelihood be carried out:

1. Association to be suitably named and officers elected, consisting of president, vice-president, secy.-treas., and an executive committee of three, one from each club.
2. Trophy to cost not more than $15, and to be won three times.
3. Colts of last year to be allowed to compete this year, and all members to be eligible for three years from date of joining.
4. Two rinks from each club and home and home games to be played, the date of which are to be fixed at meeting of Association, when rules and by-laws are adopted.

Mr. George J. Horkins will represent the Peterborough Colts Monday at the meeting.

The local curlers are confident that the Peterborough Colts will far outclass their opponents.

THE FORESTERS' THANKSGIVING CONCERT.

Courts Langton and Peterborough Union Entertainment.

The Foresters have now completed arrangements regarding the programme, which they will furnish on the evening of Thanksgiving Day, when the grand union concert will take place.

Miss Effie Elaine Hext, who has won an enviable position in the ranks of Canadian elocutionists, will recite and give an exhibition of statuesque posing in Greek costume.

Miss M. T. Stevenson, of Guelph, a charming soprano singer, who has won the highest ecomiums throughout Ontario and the Northwest, will render several selections.

An engagement has also been made with Mr. Fred. J. Perrin, the refined humourist and vocalist, who comes highly recommended by the Toronto papers and clergy.

Miss F. M. Kenrick will also assist in the programme. Miss Kenrick is a graduate of the Royal Academy of Music, London, England, and is spoken of as a most accomplished solo pianiste and accompaniste.

How to Get a "Sunlight" Picture.

Send 25 "Sunlight" Soap wrappers (the wrapper bearing the words "Why Does a Woman Look Old Sooner Than a Man") to LEVER BROS., L't'd, 43 Scott street, Toronto, and you will receive by post, a pretty picture free from advertising and well worth framing. This is an easy way to decorate your home. The soap is the best in the market, and it will only cost 1c. postage to send in the wrappers, if you leave the ends open. Write your address carefully.

Why leave your measure for Suit or Overcoat, when Grafton & Co., can give you the same thing exactly at half the price.

Relief in Six Hours.

Distressing Kidney and Bladder disease relieved in six hours by the "GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN KIDNEY CURE." This new remedy is a great surprise on account of its exceeding promptness in relieving pain in the bladder, kidneys and back. If you want quick relief and cure this is your remedy. Sold by all druggists.

Very Artistic.

A. Clegg is showing a line of fine gilt brass tables with polished oak tops, decidedly the finest of the sort ever offered in Peterborough, see his window. Also a great variety of other fancy parlor tables in choice woods, and an artistic line of highly finished antique oak chairs, with cobler seats of embossed leather, and a larger line of floor rockers at greatly reduced prices, in fact we have so many new things that we have no space this week to enumerate them. Our stock is complete in every line. A. CLEGG, 427 George street.

Protect your Horses.

Don't allow your valuable horses to go without a waterproof cover during the cold wet days of the fall. Be good to them, provide them with one of Kingscotte's strictly waterproof covers, costing only a dollar or two. If you are shipping and receiving goods that are liable to damage from wet, Kingscotte's black oiled canvas waterproof covers "fills the bill,"—nothing better or cheaper. They have no tar in their composition, being an OIL preparation, which keeps them soft and pliable. Awnings taken down and stored in a careful and agreeable manner. Halls decorated for assemblies, balls and meetings of all kinds. ALF. KINGSCOTTE, tent, sail and awning maker, 344 Water street.

To destroy worms and expel them from children or adults use Dr. Low's Worm Syrup.

Notices of Marriages, Births and Deaths will be inserted at the following rates: Marriages 50c., Births and Deaths 25c.

are needed at once, now that the cold weather has come, but—BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU BUY. You will find just what you want in our First-class Stock, and everything RELIABLE. NO FALSE STATEMENTS. NO DANGEROUS GARMENTS. PUBLIC PATRONAGE IS A PUBLIC TRUST.

OVERCOATS for Men, Youths and Boys at very low prices. We will not detail the prices here, but simply say that we are confident we can offer these goods as low, if not lower, than any house in the trade. We have secured a lot of them at exceptionally low prices, bought for cash from the makers, and you are welcome to come in and see them so that you'll know better than pay a few dollars more for the same goods elsewhere.

AN IMPORTANT THING about our Ready-Made Clothing is that we buy from the Best Houses in the Dominion, and they are made up in factories under the careful supervision of experienced tailors, so that they are free from all filth, with no possibility of carrying infectious diseases with them.

Ladies can come here and buy Underclothing or Overcoats for their husbands, brothers, uncles, fathers or sons' and can rely on getting the best value that can be got for their money.

Winter Underwear.

A Warm Suit, Shirts and Drawers, for 50c. or 70c.

A Good Heavy Ribbed All Wool Suit, for $1.00 or $1.25.

A Better Suit, Scotch finish, for $1.50 or $2.00.

A Still Better Suit, Genuine Scotch Wool, beautifully finished Sateen Waist Bands, Brace Strap, etc., for $2.00 or $2.50.

We warrant everything sold by us to be as represented. It's the same whether you buy a collar button or an extensive wardrobe. That's what we call protecting our customers.

Danger From Catarrh.

The most important feature about that very common complaint, catarrh in the head, is its tendency to develop into some other more serious and dangerous disease. The foul matter dropping from the head into the bronchial tubes or lungs is very liable to lead to bronchitis or consumption, that destroyer which causes more deaths in this country than any other disease. As catarrh originates in impurities in the blood, local applications can do but little good. The common sense method of treatment is to purify the blood, and for this purpose there is no preparation superior to Hood's Sarsaparilla. The powerful action of this medicine upon the blood expels every impurity, and by so doing cures catarrh and gives health to the entire organism.

Honour Bright!

Honour bright, don't you think it would be better and wiser to take advantage of the Drop In Prices at Brady's Corner Grocery and Provision Store, when you go to buy your Fresh Fruits, Fresh Baking Powder, Fresh Extracts, Fresh Lard, Fresh Butter, Fresh Eggs, &c., than to keep on buying and paying the same old price all the time?

Honest Injuo, we do. Especially when we tell you you can, at the same time, buy the most Sugar for a Dollar and the Best Family Flour in the market at this same Corner Store.

Our new Automatic Fruit Cleaner removes all stems and sand from your fruit, gives you full weight in sound, new fruit, and saves a lot of trouble in cleaning.

We had a little row the other day with a Soap man for sending us double what we ordered. The price was so low it wouldn't pay to freight it back. He asked us to keep it at half price, and we kept it. Our customers can have it at the same. We don't want it. Honour bright. Yours to please—

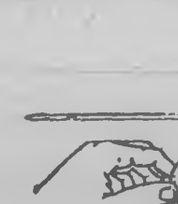
THE PETERBOROUGH BOOKSTORE,

A. H. STRATTON & CO.

YOUR MONEY IS RETURNED if you receive no benefit from Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This fair and business-like offer is held out to all women who suffer from the diseases and derangements peculiar to their sex. To weakly womanhood no prize could be more secure, nor the benefit more lasting, than that to be derived from the purchase of a bottle of this famous "Prescription." Its success in curing all the functional derangements, painful disorders, and chronic weaknesses of women, warrants its makers in guaranteeing it. What this medicine has done for thousands of delicate women, it will do for you. At the two critical periods in woman's life, the change from girlhood to womanhood, and, later, the "change of life," it's an invaluable tonic and a soothing nervine, which can produce only good results. It cures nervous prostration, insomnia, or inability to sleep, and many nervous disorders due to derangement of the functions.



An invitation to consumption is what a bad case of Catarrh means. Don't take the risk! The makers of Doctor Sage's Catarrh Remedy agree to cure your Catarrh, or they'll pay you $500 in cash.

DO THOU LIKEWISE.

A LADY SAVES FIFTY DOLLARS BY WISELY INVESTING SEVENTY-FIVE CENTS.

A wise, careful and thrifty wife and mother living about five miles from a large and flourishing Ontario town, tells how she was enabled to save fifty dollars by the judicious investment of seventy-five cents. Her story runs as follows:

"Last season I found it was necessary to provide new overcoats, suits and dress for three boys and two girls. The materials for these garments and the making and trimmings would cost fifty dollars. This was a large sum to expend just at a time when we were making great efforts to build a new house.

"For two days I thought the matter over, and after carefully examining my children's garments, the question strongly presented itself to my mind, 'can I make use of the Diamond Dyes?'

"I had used the Diamond Dyes before with great success in a smaller way, and so I determined to see what could be done, with the view of saving so large a sum as fifty dollars. My children's garments were not torn or very badly worn; they were simply faded, dingy and old looking. I commenced with an overcoat to test my skill, and succeeded in dyeing it a lovely dark shade of brown. I pressed and finished it in such a way that it looked like a new garment from the hands of a tailor.

"Meeting with such great success, I tried the other garments and achieved wonderful results, and the total cost of the work was only seventy-five cents.

"My boys and girls were astonished, and were quite as well pleased with the garments as they would have been with brand new ones. Very few people around me were aware of the fact that I had used Diamond Dyes to renew my children's clothing, and fit it for another winter's wear. Of course I had told some of my friends how I had saved fifty dollars, and they are following my example and are freely using the Diamond Dyes.

"You will clearly see how any intelligent and handy woman can easily save quite a good sum of money every year. Diamond Dyes are certainly money-savers."

A New American Party.

CHICAGO, Nov. 10.—An application has been forwarded to Secretary of State Henrichsen asking that a charter be granted to an organization to be known as the Independent American Citizens' Party. The incorporators are Walter Sims, formerly national lecturer for the American Protective Association, William Seervis and A. W. Slaught. The new association is the outgrowth of internal dissensions in the American Protective Association, and will have the same objects as the Protestant Protective Association of Canada.

Arrested for Forgery.

HAMILTON, Nov. 10.—William R. Morris, accountant, was a prisoner in the police court yesterday on a charge of forging the name of Wm. B. Williamson to a promissory note for $120, which was discovered by John F. Wood. Defendant was formerly employed by the Gurney-Tilden Co. The case was adjourned for a day in order to allow the prisoner to employ counsel.

South Wellington Patrons.

GUELPH, Nov. 10.—Wm. Raw, of Guelph township, was nominated by Patrons to represent them in South Wellington at the convention held here yesterday.

The Rosensteel Wreck.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Nov. 9.—Later reports from the wreck in the Cumberland division of the Baltimore and Ohio railway at Rosensteel siding confirm the reports received. Six persons were killed and two badly wounded.

Refuse Allegiance to Nicholas.

BERLIN, Nov. 9.—Many Catholic priests in Russian Poland have been arrested for refusing to take the oath of allegiance to the new Czar. At Lublin Bishop Jackdewski was arrested for reading the oath in Polish.

New Westminster Murder Case.

NEW WESTMINSTER, Nov. 10.—At the fall assizes here when Sidney W. Lobb, of Nanaimo, was arraigned on a charge of shooting and killing his wife. The prisoner pleads not guilty and asserts that his wife committed suicide on account of his drinking habits. Mr. E. P. Davis, of Vancouver, appears for the defence, and W. Leamy, Q.C., is prosecuting attorney. Judge Bale is the presiding judge. The Crown called seven witnesses, the neighbors and servants of the prisoner. They gave evidence of what they saw and heard on the fatal night after Lobb rushed into a neighbor's house and said: "My wife has shot herself." On being cross-examined by Mr Davis the witnesses all admitted that as far as they knew the kindest relations between Lobb and his wife had always existed.

New Assistant Provincial Treasurer.

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—Walter N. Anderson, of the stock broking firm of Anderson & Temple, in this city, has been appointed assistant treasurer of the province, the position vacated by Mr. D. E. Cameron. The appointment is a surprise to the officials in the Parliament buildings, as it was given out semi-officially a few months ago that the Government had decided to give the position by right of promotion to Mr. W. C. Noxon, cashier and acting assistant, who had discharged the duties of the position for the past six months. From the standpoint of financial experience Mr. Anderson is well fitted for the position. His appointment has not yet been gazetted. He will assume his duties on the 15th of November.

A Young Man Drowned.

MONCTON, N. Y., Nov. 10.—William E. Bysart, a young man, was piling laths at Bleakney & Mains' saw mill at Elgin, Albert county, yesterday. The platform on which he stood gave way, precipitating him into the water, and he was drowned.

Arrested for Keeping Gambling Machines.

HAMILTON, Nov. 10.—At yesterday's session of the police court nine more cigar dealers were committed for trial for having gambling machines on their premises. The machines were all of the slot variety imported from the United States.

A Lunatic Captured.

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 10.—A lunatic who had escaped from the Rockwood Asylum was captured at Luftsville Thursday and returned to the asylum yesterday.

Revolt Against the Rajah.

CALCUTTA, Nov. 10.—The natives of the tributary state of Nyaghur, in the province of Orissa, have revolted against their ruler, the Rajah Sihi el Otspeucht, and a large force of police and a company of infantry have been sent to put down the disturbance.

Telephone Between Vienna and Berlin.

BERLIN, Nov. 10.—The telephone line between Vienna and Berlin will be opened in a few days. Emperor Franz Josef will speak the first message and Emperor William will be at this end of the line to answer it.

"Nothing succeeds like success," and nothing will more quickly insure success than true merit. For fifty years, Ayer's Sarsaparilla has maintained its popularity as the superior blood-purifier. It stands upon its own merits and never fails to give satisfaction.

Wide Awake people buy "Wide Awake" Soap, because it is the best and cheapest they can get.

LOSS OF THE CORONET.

She Encountered a Heavy Gale and Went to Pieces—Four Drowned.

HALIFAX, Nov. 9.—J. R. Siteman, owner of the schooner Coronet, has received particulars of the loss of his vessel before reported abandoned at sea. The vessel had fine weather after leaving Halifax until October 14, when they met a strong gale and the vessel was hove to, but five hours later the storm sail was blown away. At 11.30 Captain Balcom used the bent jib as a storm sail on the main mast, but it was soon blown away. The vessel was thrown on its beam ends, and they began to cut away the masts. The vessel filled with water by the skylight and companion way and the steward, named Angulla, a native of the West Indies, was drowned. The vessel partially righted, and the crew at this time were lashed to the weather rail. There they remained throughout the night.

At 10 a. m. next day a heavy sea came aboard and washed off one seaman, a Norwegian. Next day and throughout the night, with tremendous seas washing over them, the men remained and when day light broke on the 16th they found Mate Freeman Hood, of Halifax, and a Norwegian sailor had been washed overboard. Captain Balcom and two seamen, named Freed and Peter, were all that remained. They were continually washed and knocked about all through the 17th, enduring much suffering with neither water or food, and with little hope of being rescued. At 6 a. m. on the 18th the steamer Creole Prince, from New York to Trinidad, bore down and took the survivors off. They were all very much exhausted, their limbs swollen and badly bruised, almost nude, their clothes having been washed off them.

GRAND TRUNK ENQUIRY.

Sir Henry Tyler Denies That a Complete Investigation Is Hindered.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—In an interview, Sir Henry Tyler, president of the Grand Trunk Railway, positively denied that obstacles were being placed in the way of a complete investigation of the company's affairs. He said: "It is correct that the Shareholders' Committee are corresponding with me, but only in regard to the forms the committee's questions and the investigation shall take. So long as these are not framed in a manner to injure the Grand Trunk, its allies, or friends, by disclosing unnecessary trade secrets, and serving no good purpose to the shareholders, the committee will be allowed every access that was ever enjoyed by any investigating committee. As soon as the committee and myself have agreed instructions will be issued to Manager Seargeant to allow Mr. S. R. Barker, formerly solicitor for the Great Western railway of Canada, who has been selected by the shareholders to conduct the investigation, to go ahead.

He also said that it was not true that the accounts were involved with American companies. The present financial position of the Grand Trunk is not the result of mismanagement, but of the unfavorable industrial condition of the United States and trade causes in Canada, well-known in Canada and the United States.

Chicago Elopers in London.

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Another act in the romantic circumstances surrounding the Chicago runaways was duly performed at the Police Court yesterday. It amounted in short to the remanding a second time of the two men the girl-wife until to-morrow. The checks of the trunks brought here by the elopers, and which are alleged to contain the husband's goods, were left behind in Chicago. The prisoner, Schroeter, told the police, and these had been telegraphed for, but were not expected to arrive until yesterday at noon. As a result, the crown were not ready to proceed as, of course, the customs authorities would not give up their trunks until the checks were returned. Schroeter has the keys of the trunks.

Violated the Alien Labor Law.

BUFFALO, Nov. 9.—The King Spring Company will be prosecuted for violations of the alien contract labor law. Instructions to press the case were received from Washington by Assistant United States District Attorney Mackay. It is alleged the company published advertisements in Toronto newspapers for carriage body makers and subsequently imported under contract three workmen, William Holman, Samuel Heap and Henry J. Mummery. The men came to Buffalo in March, 1893, and since then have been working for the company.

Centre Wellington Patrons.

FERGUS, Ont., Nov. 9.—The Patrons of Centre Wellington met here yesterday in convention for the purpose of electing a candidate for the next election to the House of Commons. Mr. W. L. Gordon, of Pilkington, securing a majority of the votes cast upon the first ballot, his nomination was made unanimous. Mr. Gordon accepted the nomination in a neat speech. Three candidates are now in the field, Mr. Semple, Reform; Dr. Groves, McCarthyite, and Mr. Gordon, Patron.

Disastrous Forest Fire.

BROWNSVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 9.—Several days ago the woods in Hatchie Bottom, eight miles west of here, caught fire. With strong winds the fire has spread rapidly and is now within four miles of this city destroying all timber houses and fences in its path.

Shot Himself in the Heart.

BUFFALO, Nov. 9—Charles Egglart, a cooper, shot himself in the heart, dying instantly. Business troubles drove him almost insane and when a few days ago he was attacked with hemorrhage, he became more melancholy. He was a man of 50.

There is no lack of so-called cures for the common ailment known as corns. The vegetable, animal and mineral kingdoms have been ransacked for cures. It is a simple matter to remove corns without pain, for if you will go to any druggist or medicine dealer and buy a bottle of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor and apply it as directed the thing is done. Get "Putnam's," and no other.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS
THREE RUNNING SORES
PHYSICIANS FAILED
BUT B.B.B. CURED
Dear Sirs—After having used Burdock Blood Bitters for Scrofula in the blood, I feel it my duty to make known the results. I was treated by a skilled physician but he failed to cure me. I had three Running Sores on my neck which could not be healed until I tried B. B. B., which healed them completely, leaving the skin and flesh sound and whole. As long as I live I shall speak of the virtues of B.B.B., and I feel grateful to Providence that such a medicine is provided for sufferers.

A SCALY ERUPTION
UNENDURABLE ITCHING
Suffered Three Years—Now Perfectly Cured by B. B. B.
Gentlemen—I have used Burdock Blood Bitters for Skin Diseases, from which I have been a sufferer for three years. I have used six bottles and am now entirely cured. I have been a sufferer for three years. I have used six bottles and the Cuticura Remedies, but all to no good. I doctored one year with the best physicians in the land; they pronounced my disease a Scaly Eruption, but could not remove it. It came on in red blotches and spread over my body; the skin became dry and formed hard dry scales. The itching was intolerable, but I am now completely cured, and I owe it all to B. B. B.

OIL WELLS OF ATHABASCA.

Mr. Fraser, an Expert, Returns From the Northwest—Capital Notes.

OTTAWA, Nov. 10.—In the month of August last Dr. Selwyn, director of the geological survey, and Mr. Fraser, an expert in boring for oil wells, left for the Athabasca district in the Northwest to make some experiments in regard to the large deposits of petroleum which were reported to be in that locality. Dr. Selwyn pointed out to Fraser where he could begin operations, which was near Athabasca Landing, some 250 miles from Edmonton. The officers of the geological survey thought at this point oil would be found 600 feet down. Mr. Fraser started to work and Dr. Selwyn returned to Ottawa. Mr. Fraser has arrived here and had a long interview with Hon. T. M. Daly. It was at Mr. Daly's instigation that he started the experiment. It is understood that Mr. Fraser has bored through the shale 1,000 feet, so that the distance to reach the oil stream is greater than the geological staff calculated. The indications, said Mr. Fraser, are that there is an abundance of oil in the region, although he has not struck the stream at the point he was boring. He expected to do so at almost any time, but ran out of pipe and had to come east to get an additional supply. At some places in the locality the oil, he said, was oozing out of the surface and getting mixed with the sand. It was used for tar pitch by those who built boats for plying on Lake Athabasca. When he has finished boring at this point he will conduct experiments at other places. Of one thing he had no doubt, and that there was an abundance of oil in that part of the country. If once this industry is developed it will be of incalculable benefit to the settlers of the Northwest.

Dr. Thorborne, chairman of the board of civil service examiners, has received a letter stating that J. A. Desillettes, a law student in Montreal, who was assisting Sub-Examiner Benoit at the last November examinations, was fined $60 for having allowed fraud with his knowledge to have taken place. It was also shown that Desilette afterwards tried to blackmail one of the candidates who was guilty of an irregularity.

W. Gerald, of the Inland Revenue Department, has been appointed by Hon. John F. Wood, the Controller of Inland Revenue, to inquire into the system of grain inspection. Mr. Gerald has therefore left for Duluth, Port Arthur, and other points to investigate the whole question and report to the Government. Until such time as Mr. Gerald makes his report it is not likely that the Government will do anything definite in respect to grain inspection and the other different points at issue between the millers on the one hand and the grain producers on the other. The department had already recommended a change in the inspection so as to make it a little more difficult to mix No. 1 Manitoba hard and No. 2 Manitoba hard, but it is not likely that the Government will pass the recommendation until Mr. Gerald has reported.

Æ. Irving, Q.C., counsel for Ontario, along with other lawyers for Quebec and the Dominion Government, appeared at Supreme Court prepared to argue the prohibition dispute which has been hanging fire between the Government and provinces. It is not expected, however, the much-desired judgment will be given until next term.

The Cook Gang Again Heard From.

COFFEYVILLE, Kas., Nov. 10.—Despatches received state that the Cook gang of outlaws raided the little town of Lenaph, 12 miles south of this city, killed a young man named Milton and robbed John Shuffeldt, proprietor of a store, of $100 and a gold watch. All the robbers escaped.

A Ball Player Convicted of Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 10.—Charles Sweeney, formerly one of the best known baseball players in the country, has been convicted of a murder committed in a saloon quarrel and sentenced to eight years' imprisonment.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 10, 1894.

The failures in the States the past week have been 261, against 338 last year.

Exports of wheat, flour included as wheat, both coasts of the United States and Canada, aggregate 2,680,000 bushels this week, against 2,934,000 bushels last week.

Buffalo maltsters are figuring away, but can get nothing under 56c for western barley, the offerings of low grades being very light. Canada is in fair request at 61c.

Wheat was strong in Chicago, closing 1 8-8c higher for May and 1c for cash. Corn was firm in sympathy with wheat, closing 1-4 to 3-8c higher. Oats made a like gain on the day's business.

In East Buffalo when all the stock had been yarded there were fully 90 cars of sheep and lambs, about one-third of which were Canada lambs. Values were all 10 to 25c lower at the close, most of the sales of Canadas being $4.15, with a few at $4.20.

The Lord Mayor's show in London restrained business on the market, which was stagnant. Americans were irregular, closing good, but Atchison was very flat on the expectation of Little's report. Grand Trunks were weak on reports of the directors refusing the investigation committee the full powers justly demanded.

On Wall street nothing could be more curious and nothing more unexpected than the sudden appearance of sugar certificates in the market leadership. Coming stock market events which cast shadows before are preceded commonly by a retreat of speculators for the decline. When they arrive, therefore, their market force is proportionately broken. A better general trade demand for sugar was noticed, and this, though perhaps exaggerated, was not at all astonishing.

"A chemical success and medical triumph," so speaks an eminent physician in reference to Ayer's Cherry Pectoral; and the eulogy was none too strong. No other medicine is so safe and efficacious in all diseases of the throat and lungs.

Like a New Person.

GENTLEMEN,—I find your B. B. B. an excellent remedy for Headache and Dizziness. I had tried several remedies, but to no effect. I have taken three bottles of B.B.B. and feel entirely cured. In fact I feel like a different person.
MISS E. L. TAYLOR, Holland, Man.

Another Voice From Smith.

SMITH, July 7, 1892.
I was troubled with a nasty pain in the back and shoulders for a long time, and had tried several remedies without getting any relief. I thought at first it might be my lungs, as the doctor's say such pains are symptoms of lung trouble coming on, but I was induced to try a bottle of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, for sale at Tully's Drug Store, and after taking the second dose I was surprised to find the pains all leaving me. It acted like magic. I never knew anything that acted so quick on man or beast before.

HAVE WE LOST OUR HEADS?

BRING HALF THE MONEY

You intended to invest this Fall in Goods that we sell and leave the other Half at home, and for the Half you bring to spend with us we will give you as much as you would ordinarily get for the whole amount.

Don't Believe We Have Lost our Heads! Because every month since stock-taking, in February last, we have been ahead. The gratifying activity of our trade has lead to enormous purchases. Our rapidly increasing business compelled us to buy. Thousands and thousands of dollars worth of Clothing, Furnishings, Hats and Caps, Boots and Shoes, were bought early in the season for the Fall trade. Two weeks ago, when the weather was too warm, and manufacturers found it impossible to sell their goods, we bought more goods at our own price, and piled up a gigantic surplus stock, aggregating about $75,000 worth. The result is that now we have a load too much to carry.

Carloads of Overcoats!

Carloads of Suits!

Carloads of Hats!

Carloads of Boots, etc!

Carloads of Furnishings!

What is to be done? Right here, early in the season, when merchants are looking for profits, we throw off all restraint and

GOUGH BROTHERS,

THE WONDERFUL CHEAP MEN. "ALWAYS GOOD AT GOUGHS." PETERBOROUGH AND LINDSAY.

A MOST SENSATIONAL ELOPEMENT CASE.

MISS MABEL FLORENCE GLOVER FLEES THE PARENTAL ROOF.

The Pastor of Cooke's Church Performs the Ceremony and the Young Couple Go to New York, but the Bride is Brought Home.

The Toronto Evening News publishes the following account of the marriage and flight of Miss Mabel Florence Flover, who has relatives here and is well-known in Peterborough:

This is a record: Maid, wife and grass widow! And all in a month!

Few women indeed have been all these at the age of 16. But such has been the experience of one of the best known and most popular young ladies in Toronto.

A month ago Florence Mabel Glover was a simple maiden. Two days later she became a wife, and to-day she is separated from her husband and kept under lock and key at the residence of her irate parents.

FLORENCE MABEL GLOVER, who has from childhood sung more or less in public, has of late years developed into quite a celebrated cantatrice. She is one of Signor Vegara's most successful pupils, and has charmed many an audience in Toronto and other cities. In fact she, though only 16 years old, has sung in almost every town of any considerable importance in Canada. She is the daughter of Mr. Wm. Glover, of 21 Hayter street, and has always lived with her parents. Slight and girlish in figure, and blessed with a winsome little face, pretty blue eyes, and a wealth of brown hair, she has, ever since she entered her teens, been quite a favourite with gentlemen. Such is the heroine of this story.

And the hero is

MR. HARRY WOODLAND.

Everybody knows Harry. He is the brother of the lacrosse player, and is a well known musician. Aged 19, he has always lived with his parents on Prospect street. For some time he was organist at Broadway Tabernacle.

Months ago, this young boy and girl met for the first time. They seemed to take a liking for one another from the first. Nor after that, did they lack opportunity to meet, for the names of the two frequently appeared on the programmes for the same concerts and entertainments.

Thus, and in other ways, the athlete and songstress often found themselves in each other's company. Soon the liking developed into love. Cupid had aimed well, and it was not long ere had promised to wed the stick wielder.

So our hero went off, and upon representing himself and the girl whom he wished to wed as of the full age required by law, procured a marriage license.

Then, still proceeding quietly, the love-sick twain went to the residence of Rev. Wm. Patterson, pastor of Cooke's church, where they were, much to their joy, made one.

THE WEDDING OCCURRED

on Oct. 11th, but the two parties chiefly concerned and the others who knew about it, kept it so secret that almost a month rolled around before the parents of the bride knew anything about it.

Once man and wife they separated, the groom going to his home and the bride to hers. But they soon grew weary of this style of married life, and began to cast about to see how they could live together as man and wife should.

Finally they made up their minds to leave the city, and made secret preparations accordingly.

Thereafter, it is said, little by little, the wee wife removed her wardrobe and other possessions from her own cosy boudoir to the room of her girl friend.

HER MODUS OPERANDI

was to make up little bundles of her belongings, and quietly drop them out of her bed room window. Then, when no one was looking, she would go out and pick them up and take them to her friend's.

A Miss Wright of Phœbe street, and a Miss Edwards of Hayter street, are also said to have lent Mrs. Woodland aid in her preparations for flight. Finally all was ready, and everything stowed away in a big new Saratoga trunk which she had purchased.

On Saturday last the drayman called and took the trunk away. Early the same afternoon Mr. Stamford Lindsay, a young gentleman of Collingwood, called at the Glover home and took the daughter of the house out, as he said, "to attend the matinee," but not in reality so.

A couple of hours later the happy couple were cheered by a small all girls and boys in the secret, as they stepped aboard a west-bound passenger train at the Union station en route to New York.

COTERIE OF FRIENDS

But their honeymoon was doomed to be cut short. Shortly after the young couple left, word reached the Glover home of the elopement, and Mr. and Mrs. Glover prepared to give chase. They took the next train to New York at 11 o'clock the same night and arrived in the metropolis a few hours after the fugitives.

On reaching the metropolis Mr. and Mrs. Glover drove immediately to a friend's house, where they discovered young Mr. and Mrs. Woodland enjoying their honeymoon.

A LIVELY SCENE,

it is said, ensued. Mrs. Glover gave young Woodland a piece of her mind, as did also her irate husband.

The father and mother brought their daughter back home with them, and now keep her under lock and key. The young wife is almost frantic at her enforced absence from her husband's side.

Young Woodland is still in New York, as are also his wife's trunks and most of her dresses, diamonds and other jewellry.

It was stated on the street last night that Mrs. Glover would apply at Ottawa next session to have a decree of divorce granted her daughter on the ground of her being under age. This report was denied by Mrs. Glover, who was seen at her home by a News reporter this morning. Mrs. Glover said that Mrs. Woodland would be allowed shortly to join her husband in New York. She has been brought back merely that she might be fitted out and sent off equipped as a bride should be.

Some of Mr. Woodland's friends here have made vain efforts to see his wife but all attempts at such were in vain. The action of Mr. and Mrs. Glover in keeping their daughter secluded is very adversely commented upon.

TEMPLARS PAY A FRATERNAL VISIT.

Otonabee Lodge Members Drive out to Springville and Have a Merry Time.

The members of Otonabee Council, Royal Templars of Temperance, journeyed out to Springville last night to pay a fraternal visit to the local lodge of that village.

Arrived at Springville, the visitors were most warmly welcomed to the lodge room, and Select Councillor, Mr. Fred Wilson, of the village lodge, called upon Mr. Chas. Crowe, treasurer of Otonabee Lodge, and the signest visiting officer present, to take chair, after which the following programme was rendered:

Instrumental	Miss Kate Hooper
Solo	Mr. Peat, Springville
Recitation	Miss A. McGregor
Reading	Geo. K. Munro
Duet	Misses Kate and Nellie Hooper
Reading	R. Howland
Comic song	Matt Reid
Recitation	Miss Maud Hooper
Solo	Miss Lillie Belleghem
Reading	I. J. Gates
Solo	Miss Nellie Hooper
Comic song	John Howland

A vote of thanks was tendered Springville Council by the visitors for the cordial manner in which they had been received, and for the excellent refreshment furnished.

GEORGE STREET IN 1861.

How it Looked in the Year of the Great Fire—The Chief Business Places.

Mr. J. H. Roper has shown the EXAMINER a stereoscopic photograph, a view of George street, taken in the year 1861, after the great fire which swept away a great part of the buildings on the east side of the street, from Hunter to Charlotte. To show by ocular demonstration, as it were, the great havoc made by the fire, the view in question was taken from the window of the studio of R. D. Ewing, situated in the rooms now occupied by Mr. Manning, dentist. From this point, a view at that time took in Charlotte as far south as King street while, to-day, the vista from the same point of view would close at the Bank of Toronto building, corner of George and Hunter streets. There are visible at the south end a row of small clapboard or plastered buildings, including Might's saddlery. The first important block is the Burnham block. On the opposite corner was the old Jos. Dickson block. Then a shop occupied by Coulter the druggist, then Stethem's hardware place, then Brennan's baker shop, then a shop of Mrs. Giles, and Benjamin Green's place. Then James Stevenson's shop, T. Bradburn's, W. Cluxton's. Next that is a vacant shop, then the boot and shoe store of J. W. Bisby, and another place of business, the sign of which is not decipherable, but three or four barrels on the the outer edge of the walk in front may serve to suggest a guess. In the middle of the street is a buggy drawn by the well known white horse of Mr. Sawers, the mayor at that time. On the eastern side of the street are seen the piles of lumber and other materials for the erection of the new buildings to replace those burnt. The ladies shown in the view have their skirts widely distended with the hoops that were then all the rage.

Burdock Pills do not gripe or sicken. They cure Constipation and Sick Headache.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Young men's meeting to-night at 8 o'clock. Subject—"How to Bring Others to Christ." Short talk by the secretary, and music by the orchestra. All young men cordially invited.

"Kindness," will be the subject for prayer, prayer and discussion at the Gospel and Song Service to-morrow night. Secretary, chairman.

An important meeting of the Board of Directors will be held Monday night. Be there if possible.

—Thos. Ritchie and Robt. Ferguson, of South Dummer, returned home from Haliburton last Friday laden with venison.

—The Payne-Hendren hunting party, of Lakefield, returned home on Saturday, after having spent two weeks in quest of game around Crane Lake. The party secured five deer and a large number of partridge and ducks. The weather was too fine for keeping deer or else the party could have secured a number more.

When my little girl was one month old, she had a scab form on her face. It kept spreading until she was completely covered from head to foot. Then she had boils. She had forty on her head at one time, and more on her body. When six months old she did not weigh seven pounds, a pound and a half less than at birth. Then her skin started to dry up and got so bad she could not shut her eyes to sleep, but laid with them half open. About this time, at the earnest request of friends, I started using the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and in one month she was completely cured. The doctor and drug bills were over one hundred dollars, the Cuticura bill was not more than five dollars. My child is now two years old, strong, healthy and large as any child of her age (see photo.) and it is all owing to CUTICURA. Yours with a Mother's Blessing,

TURNBULL'S

MANTLES.

Our Mantle trade this season has so far exceeded our expectations that it has cleared out several lines and left room for new ones, which we have secured at from $3.00 to $3.50, less than original prices on the better lines. Our customers will reap the benefit of this reduction in the wholesale cost. A full range of all styles and prices now in stock at prices that are never undersold.

BLANKETS.

We have run across a line of All Wool Blankets, in large sizes, woven similar to a Sheeting but combed; they are very desirable and are selling at $3.00 a pair. We have also a splendid assortment of Light and Dark Gray Blankets in all sizes.

UNDERWEAR.

As the season advances we sometimes run across what dry goods men call snaps. We have secured one of these now in Men's All Wool Underclothing, in both natural and flesh colours, at $1.00 a suit. The best line ever offered for the money. Plenty of lower qualities always in stock.

SKIRTINGS.

We are introducing a line of heavy Blanket Skirtings, one of the most desirable materials we have found yet in Ladies' wear. They are 40 inches wide and only 35c a yard.

CAPS AND MUFFS.

Just received a splendid assortment of Astrachan and Gray Lamb Caps, in both wedge and band shapes. Also Sealette Caps and Muffs.

Our prices for Scotch Tweed Suits made to order are a surprise to everybody. We have just passed into stock several nobby lines in Serges and Suitings. A perfect fit guaranteed every time.

Our Motto is to Undersell and Never be Undersold, and to always keep Our Stock Well Assorted.

ARRIVAL AT MOSCOW

The Ancient Capital Does Homage to the Dead Czar.

FORMATION OF THE MARCH

A Funeral Pageant, Gorgeous in the Extreme, Passes Through Thronged Streets to the Cathedral of the Archangel Michael Where the Body Lies.

MOSCOW, Nov. 12.—The Imperial party with the body of Alexander III. arrived here yesterday in typical Moscow weather. The sky was dull, the thermometer was two degrees below the freezing point, and a north wind blew fitfully throughout the day. Although thousands were busy all night putting the city in mourning for the late Czar, the streets at daybreak looked as if some great festival was to be celebrated. But for the heavy folds of black which hung high and low on all walls a person would have thought that the crowds thronging every corner and open space had come to celebrate a national holiday rather than to lament the death of a powerful monarch. Such ceaseless, universal activity and such enormous numbers of peasants, tourists and soldiers had not been seen here since the coronation of Alexander III., more than ten years ago.

Aside from the draping of the buildings, the decorations in the streets along the route consisted of high poles wound with black and white and joined with streamers and crossed strands of evergreen. Hundreds of draped portraits of Alexander III. were displayed in the windows of shops and private houses.

The train with the body arrived at 10.40 o'clock. The Czar Nicholas II., as soon as he alighted, was saluted by the Grand Duke Serguis, the Metropolitan of Moscow and Koloma, the high clergy, the commandant and civil governor, members of court, the chief nobility, the mayor, many generals and others officers. All stood bareheaded. The procession was then formed in groups as had been arranged, and the generals carried the coffin to the dais in the temporary chapel near the station. Four of them removed the pall and the Metropolitan read a short service. The four generals who had removed the pall bore the coffin slowly to the funeral car in the station yard.

Three guns from the Kremlin gave the signal that all the 180 groups to be formed in the column, fall into the fifteen divisions of the procession. Three more guns, and the divisions took their places in the line; three more guns, and, amid the tolling of a thousand bells, the head of the huge column moved off slowly toward the red gate. The master of ceremonies rode first on a black charger. Behind him came the second and third companies of the Moscow house-hold dragoons with a band of trumpeters; two companies of grenadiers with enormous antique helmets, their marshal mounted and in the deepest mourning; the first company of the dragoons, a company of cadets from the Imperial Alexander academy; court lackeys, the family standard of the Romanoffs, the red war standard; Alexander III.'s charger, richly caparisoned and led by two staff officers in mourning; the stable servants of the imperial household; the banner and arms of Moscow; the imperial naval flag, carried by an admiral and supported by captains; an immense black silk mourning banner and an equally large white banner, each carried by staff officers, assisted by subordinates; the Grand Escutcheon of the Empire, borne by four major-generals; the Grand Standard of the double eagle, carried by two major-generals and two colonels.

Then came a deputation of city officials, numerous societies and delegations of merchants, shopkeepers, workingmen and peasants, all marching abreast; the mayor of Moscow and the mayors of all other towns in the government of Moscow; noblemen, conspicuous citizens and head marshals, three abreast and in heavy mourning, the governor and vice-governor of Moscow; delegates from local assemblies and ministries and the judges of the district; squadron of dragoons; two heralds, four colonels with reversed swords and officials carrying on cushions of gold bordered with silver the decorations of the late Emperor; the imperial regalia, including the banner, shield, sword, ball, sceptre and great crown, borne on golden cushions; also the crowns of Poland, Siberia, Tauris and Astrachan; the Emperor's war sword, brought from St. Petersburg to Moscow; the historical insignia of Moscow; the clergy in the long robes and high hats of office, with the metropolitan of Moscow and Kolomna at the head, all carrying lighted tapers; the court clergy and confessor and the proto-presyytery Janeschoff, holding aloft the picture of a saint.

The funeral car, which came next, was drawn by eight horses led by eight major-generals. The tassels of the canopy were held by four adjutant-generals, flanked by sixty cadets bearing torches. Directly behind them rode Emperor Nicholas II., alone, looking pale but resolute. His uniform was half hidden in crape. The order was then: Count Woronzoff Dachekoff, Minister of the Imperial court; the commandant of the guards and eight adjutant-generals; the Prince of Wales alone, the Grand Duke Michael Nicolaevitch, the Grand Duke Sergius, the Grand Duke Alexander Michaelovitch, the King of Greece, Prince Alexander Petrovitch and the Duke of Oldenburg, escorted by adjutant-generals, the Moscow division grenadiers.

In the first carriage behind the grenadiers rode the Czarina, the Princess Alix of Hesse and the Grand Duchess Xenia. The carriage was flanked by esquires, and behind it walked two Cossacks. The Queen of Greece, the Grand Duchess Elizabeth Feodorovna and the Princess of Wales occupied the second carriage, which was flanked with equerries and two grooms of the chamber; the Czarina's suites; foreign ladies and their suites; ladies of the court and bedchamber, attaches, secretaries, etc., in carriages, the Czar's physicians and personal attendants, a company of cadets, several companies of artillery, a deputation from the Frederick William IV. grenadiers, eight military companies from as many Russian military districts.

The procession passed ten churches. In front of every one stood the priests in their robes, purple hats and chasubles. At the Iberian chapel the procession halted and the clergy stepped out, bearing the miraculous picture of the Virgin, with which they blessed the body.

The metropolitan and higher clergy awaited the body at the door of the Cathedral of the Archangel Michael. The members of the imperial family gathered between the gorgeous pillars at the foot of the coffin and listened in silence, broken only by sobs, to the reading of the solemn mass for the dead.

The body is watched day and night by six staff officers, twelve subalterns and two special guards at each door. Masses are held at appointed hours and everybody, whatever his creed or nationality, is welcomed to bid farewell to Alexander III.

Disputed Accounts in the Supreme Court—Ottawa Flags at Half-Mast

OTTAWA, Nov. 12.—In the Supreme Court on Saturday the case of the Crown against the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec in regard to the disputed accounts came up for argument. It is an appeal from the arbitrators' award. The point involved is whether interest on the excess of debt should be calculated from the 1st of July, 1867, the date of Confederation, or from the 1st of January, 1868.

The Union Jack is at half-mast on the flag-staff of the Parliament buildings owing to the death of the Czar. It will remain until the 17th, the day of the funeral. The Queen has communicated to the acting Governor-General, through the Colonial Office, her pleasure that all flags on Government buildings in Canada be placed at half-mast until after the funeral of the late Czar.

The following Queen's counsel have been appointed: Messrs. G. V. McInerny, of Richibucto, N.B.; B. Tennyson, of Moosomin, N.W.T.; and H. Symons, of Calgary.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster returned here today from England. He was the guest of Sir Donald Smith at Montreal yesterday.

GRAND TRUNK AFFAIRS.

Publication of the Correspondence Between Sir Henry and Bondholders.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The correspondence between the G. T. R bondholders committee and Sir Henry Tyler, president of that road, has been published, according to the resolution of the shareholders. The bondholders claim that the points which the directors now object to have investigated were all laid before the company before the recent meeting of the shareholders in this city, and the directors then agreed that the bondholders' committee were entitled to inquire into them.

The Financial News, commenting on the correspondence between the shareholders and the directors, in which the latter express a desire to consult the general manager of the company in Canada before consenting to Mr. Parker's investigation, says that the directors might have at least indicated which are the points they object to. The paper adds that the public will probably conclude that the directors fear the shedding of full light on Grand Trunk affairs.

Collection of Peter's Pence.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—An interesting and important letter has been received from Rome by the apostolic delegate, Mgr. Satolli, to be forwarded by him to the Archbishops, who are to distribute it to their suffragans. Heretofore the Peter's pence collected each year in every diocese have been sent directly by the bishops to Rome. Now those collections must be transmitted to the delegate. Moreover, any individual who wishes to make in his own name a more liberal contribution than he would ordinarily put in the diocesan collection may do so by addressing it directly to the Pope through the delegate.

Shot His Pursuers.

BOSTON, Nov. 12.—A snatch thief who gave his name as Richard Mack, 22 years old, living in Milford, Mass., was detected in the act of stealing a watch from an unknown man. He was chased by a crowd of men and boys, and, seeing that he was being overtaken, he drew a 38-calibre revolver from his pocket and fired four shots into the crowd. Two of the bullets took effect and the man is now locked up on the charge of assault with intent to kill. Two boys named Ahearn and William Hughes are now in the hospital under treatment. It is supposed the injuries to Hughes will prove fatal.

Gales on the Lakes.

DETROIT, Nov. 12.—Reports from lake ports show that the northwest gale is still prevailing on Lakes Erie, Huron and Superior and in the Straits of Mackinaw. The schooner Richard Wilson broke away from the steam barge Inter-Ocean at Allegan and ran on Sulphur Island reef, breaking the steering gear. It is thought here that the wreckage washed ashore near Ossiniki is from the wreck of the Wilson, which sank off Thunder Bay Island two weeks ago. A steamer captain reported that he passed the wreckage with a man lashed to the rigging.

Toronto's Boodling Inquiry.

TORONTO, Nov. 12.—The investigation into the charges of boodling against aldermen in the city council closed on Saturday. Judge McDougall concurred in the opinion of Mr. Nesbitt that to get at the bottom of the alleged irregularities the scope of the investigation should be extended, and at the meeting of the council to-morrow this extension will be asked for. Several of the aldermen are placed in a bad position by the revelations so far, and it is the determination to press the inquiry to the fullest extent.

Progress of the Movement Against the Upper House.

THE ENTENTE WITH RUSSIA

Diplomatic Measures Will be Entered Into to Secure Closer Relations — The Earl of Jersey's Report—The Canadian Premier in Paris.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—At a cabinet council the ministry decided to put the resolution for the abolition of the veto power of the House of Lords in the first place on the programme of legislation to be considered at the coming session of Parliament. Following this measure will come in order the electoral registration bill, the bill for the disestablishment of the church in Wales, and Mr. Morley's Irish land bill. The Government supporters are firmly convinced that it is possible to pass the anti-Lords and registration measures before the dissolution of Parliament, and have instructed the party managers throughout the country to organize the agitation against the House of Lords and to arrange for demonstrations at various points without delay. The National Reform Union has arranged a series of meetings in the principal midland county centres, and the executive committee of the National Liberal Federation will carry on the agitation in the north and south of England.

All over Great Britain the various local Liberal Associations will respond to the reports from headquarters with alacrity, and the movement against the Upper House promises to become as enthusiastic and widespread as any reform agitation ever known in the country.

Lord Rosebery on Saturday visited Mr. Gladstone for the purpose of consulting with the ex-Premier on the general position.

The Ministers have been encouraged by the success already attending their efforts. A vigorous private canvass among the wealthy Gladstonians has already realized for use in the campaign against the Lords and for election purposes nearly £250,000, as the Conservative papers allege. The state of the election fund will enable the executive committee to promote the candidacy of a number of workingmen who are not associated with the socialists and independent labor candidates. The Conservatives on their side being unable to work the popular vein will send lecturers. The chief of these campaign lecturers is the author, W. H. Mallock, who will attempt to educate the public in the relations between the labor capital and property.

Lord Salisbury will reluctantly assent under pressure of Joseph Chamberlain for the introduction into the House of Lords of measures providing for old age pensions for workingmen and for state aid for artisans in securing dwellings for themselves. The Tory press treat Mr. Chamberlain's schemes with suspicion, while the workingmen look upon them with indifference approaching contempt.

Lord Rosebery, in his speech at the Lord Mayor's banquet in the Guild Hall on Friday evening, hinted at the possibility of an entente with Russia being reached. The Prime Minister did not reveal the exact line of diplomacy to be followed to reach the desired end, but stated that it had received the sanction of the Cabinet, and would effect such an arrangement with Russia as would be counter to the French policy. An article which appeared in the Daily News signed "Diplomat," but known to have been inspired by Lord Rosebery, urges the settlement of both European and Asiatic difficulties with Russia and suggests the construction of extensive Russo-Asiatic railways to meet the strategic lines in India, making a continuous trading connection. "Diplomat" argues that every advance made by Russia in Asia within assigned limits ought to be welcomed, not only with the least misgiving, but with the most positive satisfaction.

With regard to the effect upon Europe of an entente, such as the one in view, "Diplomat" asserts that the Deitfund has brought the natives of the localities concerned to the verge of bankruptcy. With England and Russia friends, however, all Europe would be compelled to follow their example. The monstrous system now in vogue, he declares, cannot survive to the end of the present century.

No policy such as advocated by "Diplomat," however, has been foreshadowed by any Government organ, and it is generally believed that Lord Rosebery grounds his plans upon the hope that the regime of Emperor Nicholas II. will be favorable to the establishment of close relations between the two countries.

Michael Davitt has written an open letter denouncing Cardinal Vaughan and many priests for trying to coerce Catholic votes in the London School Board elections. He says that no obligation rests on Catholic laymen to think as do the priests on the election of a commoner or member of the school board. Like the Archbishop of Canterbury and Lord Salisbury, Cardinal Vaughan, he thinks, is on the side of Toryism and with them represents the anti-Irish feeling.

It is expected that Lord Jersey's report on the Ottawa colonial conference will be issued this week. If his lordship's private talk is a reliable guide he is certain to advocate imperial subventions for a new line of mail steamers between England and Canada, and a cable between British Columbia and Australia. If this should prove to be the case the Government will probably submit a bill to Parliament at the next session, for both projects are undeniably popular and a large majority in the Commons is assured.

Sir John Thompson, Canadian Premier and Minister of Justice, who is now visiting England, said in an interview that no steps has as yet been taken regarding Canadian affairs which he was at liberty to announce. Sir John went to Paris on Saturday on important business. He said he would return in four or five days, and that then he might be able to make public what has been done in regard to Dominion affairs.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1894.

THE case of the Queen against Emmanuel St. Louis, charged with obtaining one hundred and forty-three thousand dollars by false pretences in connection with the Curran bridge, was commenced Friday morning in Montreal, before Judge Desnoyers. After hearing some evidence, the enquete was adjourned until next Friday. The despatch that conveyed the above facts had no mention of what course is to be taken in dealing with Sir John Haggart, Minister of Railways and Canals, by whose neglect of duty Mr. St. Louis was able to commit the alleged stealing, for which he is undergoing trial. It would be queer justice that would punish a receiver of stolen goods and permit the thief to go scot free.

SIR ADOLPH CARON thinks he can carry Quebec. If he will only carry the mails properly he will gain the public gratitude. But if he attempts to carry Quebec, railway subsidies will receive a terrible milking, for Sir Adolph, with that moral courage criminals call "dying game," has declared that "under similar circumstance he would do it again to help his friends." We all remember the modest abstraction of $25,000 from Senator Ross for the St. John Railway subsidy, and the companion contribution from Mr. Beemer. Sir Adolph may carry Quebec, but it will take two or three railways to do it.

DR. T. Dewett Talmage, pastor of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, has tendered his resignation and will in future devote himself entirely to evangelical work. He will commence early in January, making pastoral visits through the country. The manager of his business affairs says that "Dr. Talmage believes that he is called upon to preach the Gospel, and not to plan how the interest on a big church debt can be raised and how impatient creditors can be appeased."

THE Ottawa Citizen very naturally sniffs at the idea of any reference to the election contribution of $50,000 which Sir Adolphe Caron recived from Messrs. Ross & Beemer as unworthy of a wide-awake newspaper. Such reminescences are inconvenient, to say the least.

THE Directors of the Belleville Mechanic's Institute have decided, so as to enable the city to have a free library, to hand over to the latter all the books of the Institute if the council will take the matter up.

HON. G. W. Ross and Hon. Mr. Dryden will speak at London, on Tuesday evening, in the interests of Mr. Hobbs.

Canadian Apples in London.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The imports of Canadian apples just now are large. Prices range from 19s 6d to 23s per barrel, according to variety and quality. The returns for October of the emigration to Canada show a decrease of 160, as compared with September, the total number embarking being 1,203. For the 10 expired months ending with October the total number of emigrants to Canada was 16,021, a decrease as compared with the same period of the preceding year of 7,316. The number of foreigners who shipped at English ports for Canada was 5,748, against 24,866 in 1893.

Snow Storm in Quebec.

QUEBEC, Nov. 12.—The snow storm has interfered somewhat with navigation. On Saturday several of the market boats were unable to leave port. The R. & O. navigation company's steamer Carolina will not leave for Montreal until the storm clears. The steamship Restia, which arrived in port in tow of the steamer Derwentholme, did not proceed to Montreal as announced, owing to the prevailing snow storm.

The Commercial Travellers' Association.

MONTREAL, Nov. 12.—At the quarterly meeting of the Dominion Commercial Travellers' Association, held on Saturday night, Col. Fred Massey, of the Gurney Massey Company, was nominated for president for the ensuing year. His opponent will be W. B. Morin, a prominent French Canadian member of the Association. The election will take place at the annual meeting on December 15th. The association now numbers 2,490 members.

JARVIS, Nov. 12.—A fire occurred here Saturday night, totally destroying Smith's rolling mills and contents. Understood loss about ten thousand dollars and insured for half amount. The mills were new and the loss will be seriously felt by this place as they were running day and night. Cause of fire unknown.

AKRON, Ohio, Nov. 12.—While driving across the Cleveland Lorrain and Wheeling tracks at Doylestown a carriage in which were seated Mrs. David Epinper, wife of a Doylestown farm and her 11 year-old son, was struck by a train and their bodies torn to pieces.

THE MARCH OF VICTORY.

Japanese Sweep Everything Before Them —Talien Wan.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12. — The Herald's Shanghai special says: "The stampede of the Chinese throughout Manchuria continues. Since the advance of General Nodsu's force to Feng-Huang-Cheng and the dispersal of the Chinese there, the Japanese troops have searched in vain for an organized body of the enemy.

The Japanese are now marching westward and southward unopposed. They are everywhere welcomed with enthusiasm by the entire population—excepting the officials—who find themselves relieved from oppression of the mandarins, under whom they have suffered patiently so long.

Likewise in the Province of Chi-Li there will be no stand made by the Chinese against the Japanese until Pekin is reached, which Col. Hannekin in fortifying with all haste.

At the meeting of the Emperor, Prince Kung and the Grand Council held Saturday, it was determined that the court and the personnel of the government shall leave the capital before it falls into the hands of the Japanese.

It is believed that an entente exists between Viceroy Li Hung Chang and Japan. It is even said he has gone to Port Arthur to watch the operations there, instead of following the command of the Emperor to proceed to Pekin. Many of his relatives have vanished quietly taking with them their valuable and personal effects.

The humanity of the Japanese, which has caused the people of Manchuria to welcome them as friends and deliverers, and the unexpected display they have made of splendid statecraft have created consternation in Pekin.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The Pall Mall Gazette's despatch from Chee Foo says that Port Arthur has been captured. The despatch also says that five Chinese torpedo boats passed Chee Foo at an early hour yesterday morning, steaming in the direction of Wei-Hai-Wei.

A despatch from Shanghai to the Central News says the Emperor of China has had a severe attack of fever. The same despatch says that the power of Viceroy Li Hung Chang is gradually waning.

Thirty thousand Chinese are awaiting a chance to leave New Chwang.

The Tokio correspondent of the Central News says: "Unofficial returns say that Gen. Oyana has captured the Talien Wan batteries and Kinchow, that Port Arthur has been invested and the two outer forts have been taken, and that a Chinese steam torpedo layer has been captured. The official despatches there have not reached here. Mr. Otter, formerly Japanese minister in Seoul, has been made a privy councillor in recognition of his services."

A special steamer has arrived at Hwang Chu with despatches as to the course of the war in Corea. "Kinchow was taken by the Japanese on November 4. The garrison consisted of some 1,200 infantry and artillery. The batteries were very badly served during the defence.

"The first division of the Japanese army advanced to the attack with spirit on the morning of the 4th. The resistance of the Chinese was feeble. The fire from their guns was weak and ill-directed, and the outlying fort works were cleared quickly. A panic then took place in the troops. They abandoned their guns, standards and stores and fled in disorder, the infantry even casting aside their small arms in their haste. The defence was so weak that only a few Japanese were wounded, but twenty or thirty Chinese were killed and wounded. It is believed that many of the garrison had deserted on the 3rd when they became convinced the battle was at hand.

"After the victory the first division joined the second division in investing Talien Wan. In the evening of the next day (Nov. 5) fire was opened on the Chinese position. On the 6th the works were carried with a rush. The garrison of 3,000 men hardly waited to resist the attack. They fired a few shots and then fled toward Port Arthur, strewing the road with their firearms, swords, drums and standards. In the confusion of their flight the Chinese lost some fifty men, killed and wounded. The Japanese loss was two killed and ten wounded. The Japanese fleet, cleared for action, steamed into a bay at Talien Wan on the afternoon of the 6th, but it was too late to assist the land force which was then celebrating its victory.

"From Talien Wan the first and second divisions started for Port Arthur which they were confident of capturing within a week. Admiral Ito's despatch to the Mikado concerning the fleets part in the operations at Talien Wan confirms the account sent by the land commander."

The Central News' correspondent in Shanghai says: "It is reported that the Japanese force is approaching New Chwang and the town was already panic stricken. The officials are paralyzed. Hordes of half starved and desperate deserters are arriving daily. It is expected that Moukden will be captured before the 17th of this month.

"The report that the court will leave Pekin is confirmed. The gates are expected to close on the 16th. The state of siege will be declared at the same time. The Emperor desires to see the diplomatists before his departure and probably will give them an audience."

A despatch from Shanghai says that the court may go to Sinjanfu, Province of Kiangsu.

The Chee Foo correspondent of the Times says: "Taotai Kung, with several military leaders, abandoned Port Arthur on the 6th. This indicates an intention to surrender. There was an ample force, adequately armed, at Talien Wan and Port Arthur to make an effective resistance, but there was no direction. Everywhere one finds chaos. The Pei-Yang squadron of six ships was at Taku on the 10th embarking stores and ammunition.

THE OUTFALL SEWER MATTER

Dealt With From a Township Point of View.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—As the question of the permission of the outfall of the town's sewer to pass through our township has been the most important and apparently the most litigious piece of business that the township and town authorities have ever had to contend with, and as both municipalities have come under the bane of public censure from those that are unacquainted with the real facts of the contention between the town and township, more especially the latter for their serious objections to granting of the former's demands, I wish to submit a few facts. At the inception of this grave question, when the town council notified the township council of North Monaghan of their intention to construct their sewer through Monaghan, the township authorities objected, not on the grounds that the building of the sewer would, according to the plans submitted damage the street which they proposed using, but that the pouring in of the sewerage of the town of the ten or twelve thousand inhabitants of the town of Peterborough would pollute the Otonabee river to such an extent that it would render it unfit to be used by either man or beast (for which purpose any sane man would say that Providence had placed it there for that purpose.) On our refusal the town notified us that they would compel us to arbitrate, as the municipal law directs in such cases. The arbitrators were appointed; Mr. Langford for the town, Mr. Collins on behalf of the township and Mr. H. Calcutt as third arbitrator. For some reason (not very plain to me) the board of arbitrators met and adjourned many more times than the circumstances of the case called for but at last and it was at this final sitting that the town solicitor and town council made their very serious mistake—a mistake that bids fair to cost the town a lot of money to be collected in taxes, which the poor man and the rich will have to pay. The law is fairly explicit on the duty of an arbitration board in this matter, pointing out that they are not only to consider the damage to the highway but also whether such a possible nuisance as an outfall sewer should be constructed so as to pollute the river. Mr. Langford and Mr. Calcutt being, I presume, advised by the town solicitor, Mr. Edwards, refused to admit or allow Mr. Edmison, the township solicitor, to submit evidence on the sanitary aspect of the question at all, but adjourned to meet again and make their award, which was favourable to the town constructing the sewer through the township. Just as soon as the award was made known, the North Monaghan council notified the town council through their solicitor, Mr. Edmison, that they would appeal to the courts against the award, chiefly on the point involved, that the arbitrators had left the most important part of their duty unperformed.

But the town's all wise council took no notice of their country cousin's little "no," but rushed ahead with the necessary formulæ of letting a contract, but like Pharoah's army, stopped when they had to, and listen to what common-sense people had to say in the premises. Now, sir, the town authorities have been using all their persuasive eloquence to try and convince themselves and others that the sewage will do the river no harm but the people of the township of North Monaghan, Otonabee and South Monaghan take a more rational view of it than they, thinking that the excrete, slush and filth of every description, together with a possibility of contagious disease germs that would cause the pollution of the river, would prove a as well as the convenience of all the inhabitants living along the shores of the river, and to many of the townspeople who use the river as a means of travel during the summer. In rendering the river water unfit for domestic use the financial loss to the farmers could scarcely be estimated for in these present times of agricultural depression farmers have been driven into darying in which the farmer to be successful must be particular in giving his cows plenty of wholesome fodder to eat and pure water to drink and also keep the vessels in connection with his dairy clean which can only be done by using pure water, which he will not be able to obtain from the river if the sewerage of the town of Peterborough is poured into it. The contention of some of the town council that the river will be pure a short distance from the outfall of the sewer is not borne out by the fact, as the only method of purifying water is through filteration or by the free use of chemicals.

Even Dr. Bryce admits that the river water will be rendered (if the sewerage goes into it) unfit for use, which statement alone, (as he is an expert) proves that the town council is endeavouring to deprive the people of Monaghan and Otonabee of the rights which nature intends them to have and enjoy.

Now sir, as the law is laid down plainly that a single resident or coporation cannot lay claim for any damages or for any injury that might and should occur if the sewerage is allowed in the river, there is no doubt that it will materially decrease the value of lands lying along the river. All parties concerned should be extremely careful in view of this fact in dealing with the matter that they will not place a hardship involving pecuniary loss and possibly laying liable to disease, which, if they were placed in the same position, they would resist possibly with unlawful means. As the matter has already engendered a slight spirit of ambition in the public officials of all the municipal officers to set the machinery of the law in motion, which, if kept running for a long or short period of time, together with a few legal lights to see that it makes no variations and when the fuel is exhausted, and lawyers fold their arms and tot up the costs, it will undoubtedly depress the enthusiasm and glory which all parties connected with have been buoying themselves up with. It would be well for both municipal bodies to pause and approoch the matter in a

and see if they cannot curtail the large expenditure of the people's money before going further, as the taking of a lot of expert and possibly irrelevant evidence, together with lawyers and arbitrator's charges, will necessarily heap costs up into thousands of dollars of the people's hard-earned cash. The case seems to be a matter of two opinions, one believing that the sewage going into the river will do it no injury; the other contending that it will pollute the water and be of great injury to any person having necessity to use it. The latter opinion expressed seems to be from a common-sense view of the case—a correct opinion. There has been no experts as yet employed that the people believe to possess the ability to be able to give a sworn statement that the sewerage from ten or twelve thousand people going into the river would become so pure as to render the water fit for use and guarantee to not carry germs of disease so as to render it a pest hole and a place to be avoided. In view of the fact the case suggests itself to me to try and settle the affair amicably—that the municipal bodies of the different municipalities interested would arrange and appoint a committee of a few of their most level headed men, not men who lose their tempers because every other person may not agree with them, but men who will be willing to reason out the difficulty in a calm and honest manner with a view to endeavour to adjust the matter so as to not inflict the least possible injury to any person. This would undoubtedly be aiming at saving a large expenditure of money, and if such an arrangement could be agreed upon would leave the town and county people with the same common interest for each other's welfare in the future as in the past. Thanking your space, Mr. Editor,

I am yours truly,
T. M. HUNTER.

Forest Fires in Tennessee.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 12.—The forest fires which have raged to an alarming extent through the country adjacent to Memphis in west Tennessee, eastern Arkansas and north Mississippi continue. The smoke is so dense here that respiration is difficult. In Obien, Shelby and Tipton counties much damage has been done to crops, fences, houses and outbuildings. In Arkansas the damage is confined principally to timber, but several towns are in danger. There is anxiety for several parties of hunters.

Big Fire in Fredericks, S.D.

FREDERICKS, S.D., Nov. 12.—Fire last night did $100,000 damage here. Most of the leading business places were destroyed, including the Thyl's large store, the city hall, Simmon's and Howe's bank, Pettingill's drug store, the postoffice building and a large number of residences and smaller stores.

An Insane Man's Deed.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 12.—William W. Jones, of Woodstock, Va., a patient at the Western hospital for the insane in this city was thrown into a tub of boiling water by another lunatic named Margruder and held there until badly scalded. Jones died yesterday from the effects of his scalding.

The Training Cruiser Sighted.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The British cruiser Calypso of the training squadron was sighted yesterday sixty miles north of the Canary Islands. She parted from the rest of the squadron in a gale a few days ago, and when the other vessels reached Las Palmas without her much anxiety for her safety was felt.

Double Lynching in Louisiana.

VICKSBURG, Miss., Nov. 12—News reached here of a double lynching that occurred at Lloyd, La., one of the victims being a negro and the other a Mexican half breed. These men were in jail at Lloyd charged with the murder of Thomas A. Kaya, a business man.

Alkali Trust in Difficulties.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—The closing of the enormous chemical works at Rollox, Glasgow, this week gave rise to a rumor that the famous alkali trust is in difficulties. It seems also that the closing was only part of a plan for concentrating the trust's operations in North England. The cost of the production is considerably larger in Scotland, and the difficulty of selling the waste product is greater, but the main saving will be in the carriage of coal and limestone. The alkali trust was formed about four years ago, and fortunes are said to have been made by those concerned.

Twenty Miners Killed.

PRAGUE, Nov. 12.—A fire damp explosion in the coal mine at Brue Cho, Bohemia, killed twenty miners and injured many more.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, an-have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times

Seasonable and Opportune.

Always forearmed for all the shopping demands of our customers—this store is never behind—the right goods at the right time and at the right prices. October suggest the need of such things as Underwear, Hosiery and Gloves.

We have too many kinds to attempt any detail, but in addition to the BEST makes in underwear we carry a full line of the celebrated "Health Brand" in all sizes and combinations.

Blankets and Bed Comforters.

The buying of these lines was done with extreme care, as we have an exacting constituency to choose for, who are wide awake judges of qualities and prices. The stock is right and the values correspond.

Along with these, we would also mention our new fall selected Shawls, in many sizes, qualities and shapes—very exclusive—and from makers who warrant their goods.

Millinery and Mantles.

Style is everything in these lines. You don't want a last year's hat, or bonnet, or jacket, at any cost, and you won't find one here. You don't even want this season's unless the style is distinctive, and that is just where we excel.

We continue to show a full range in all the newest novelties in Dress Goods.

A Deer With Four Horns.

About ten days ago Messrs. Frank Scott and Christopher Graney shot on Concession lake, in the township of Galway, a splendid buck whose head was graced with two distinct pairs of horns. Each pair grew from a single stem, which was larger than usual close to the head, and all four horns were of the size usually found on a full grown deer. The animal weighed 287 pounds, dressed, and it is estimated that he would have weighed about 350 pounds when alive.

ELECTRICITY IN BUSINESS.

Mr. W. H. Meldrum's Practical Application of it to Facilitate Business—Bringing His Business and the Public Together.

In this age of keen competition, the successful man is he who uses every expedient to make it the interest of the public to deal with him—who makes it easy for the public to secure his goods. In recognition of this fact, Mr. W. H. Meldrum, of the Auburn Flouring Mills, has directed his surplus energy to the adaption of his surplus water power to the purpose of bringing him, his customers and the general public in closer touch. It is well known that he conducts that large establishment—the Auburn Flouring Mills and that he also has in use the Stevenson store house, alongside the railway tracks, on Bethune street. In order to make this store house of more direct service to the public, Mr. Meldrum has had placed in the Auburn Mills an electric generator from which power is carried to the elevator on Bethune street, where it is used to drive two sets of elevators of a capacity of 1,000 bushels per hour, to run a chopper for feed for farmers and others, and also to drive the connected machinery, barley scourers, pea cleaners, etc.

MR. MELDRUM'S OBJECT

in this enterprising departure, is to meet the farmers, as it were, half way. That is when they reach the business centre of the town they are practically at the down town elevator and are saved the long drive to the Auburn Mills. Of course those living in that direction can deal directly with the Auburn Mills. Thus farmers can get their chopping done down town at the Bethune street elevator and also exchange their wheat for flour. This elevator is to be made a flour and feed depot as well as a centre for buying all kinds of grain at the highest market price. This down town depot will be a great convenience to both country and town customers for they can obtain there whatever they may require in the way of flour, feed or grain. Flour and feed are shipped in cars to the down town depot. In fact the shipping facilities of both places are so excellent that Mr. Meldrum has several points in his favour in competing with any establishment.

A few words may be devoted to the electrical energy that has turned into a practical direction. A news-finder dropped into the Stevenson elevator and noticed a dynamo whirling merrily and driving a chopper and the other machinery in use in the elevator. This machine, with a capacity of 24 horse power, ran smoothly and with as little jar as a sewing machine. The electrical energy that set it in motion was transmitted from a generator in the mills at Auburn. This beautiful piece of work was turned out by the Canadian General Electric Company. It looked strange that a machine about a yard square in a room about seven by ten, was the source of power that drove a complicated set of machinery nearly two miles distant. A belt connected with the water wheel, is harnessed to the generator and the lightning developed. The electricity is conveyed to the down town depot by No. 2 copper wire—four times as large as the wire usually employed, No. 4. There is very little loss of power. At the last test the electrometer at the generator indicated 26½ horse power, while that developed at the elevator was 23½, showing a very small loss. Mr. Meldrum having more water power than he can use otherwise, wisely devotes it to this purpose. By this means a very large saving is effected at the elevator over what steam would cost, not to speak of the lessened risk decreasing the rate of fire insurance. At present the elevator machinery requires the use of only about half the power the generator is capable of furnishing.

Mr. Meldrum would appreciate a liberal share of the public patronage he thinks he is entitled to claim.

—Two excellent anthems were rendered in St. Paul's church yesterday. Mrs. Sanderson took the solo in good voice.

—The Deanery of Northumberland meets in St. Luke's church next Monday. The sermon will be delivered by Rev. Mr. Westmacott, of Brighton.

—A citizen who was arrested on Saturday evening on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, was this morning remanded for a week by the magistrate.

—The old grey fire horse was sold on Saturday for $28.00. In it its younger days it was one of a team for which the owner, Mr. Terry Smith, is said to have refused $425.

—About a dozen men started to work on the sewer, this afternoon, at one o'clock throwing out the earth and sand which has fallen in since the construction was stopped by injunction.

—A blazing chimney in a house belonging to Mr. T. E. Bradburn was the cause of the fire brigade going to Aylmer street, between Charlotte and King, this afternoon. Little or no damage was done.

—Queen's College won the Rugby football championship of Ontario by defeating Hamilton 14 points to 2, on Saturday. London won the intermediate and Lornes II, of Toronto, the junior championship.

—A blaze in the roof of a house on Park and Brock streets called the brigade to that point yesterday at about one o'clock in the afternoon. The sparks were easily subdued without the necessity of coupling the hose.

—The Irondale, Bancroft and Ottawa Railway Company completed another ten miles of track last week. The trains can now run to Wilberforce, in Monmouth township. It is quite surprising the amount of traffic that has developed on this line already, and as soon as it strikes another railroad to the east, this traffic will be greatly increased.

—Owing to the fact that Mayor Kendry has been called away from town, the conference between him and the ministers of the town in relation to the dispensation of charity during the coming winter, has been postponed until Wednesday, Nov. 21st, at 2.30 p. m., when the conference will be held in the council chamber.

—Florens McAuliffe, a young man who was employed for some time in Miss Rudkins' dry goods store, died at six o'clock last night at the residence of his father, 12th concession of Douro, near the "Finger Post." His age was 29 years and 9 months. The funeral of the young man, who was well respected, takes place to-morrow at 2.30 from the family residence to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to the R. C. cemetery.

—Last week two hunters from Toronto had the good fortune to shoot a black bear and two wolves in the township of Anson, about eight miles from Minden, which they sold to Mr. R. Davis of this village. Quite a few of our citizens paid a visit to the premises of Mr. Davis to see the dead wolves, which were both big brawny beasts, whose jaws seemed capable of crushing the leg bone of an ox.—Minden Echo.

—A peculiarity of the blind is that there is seldom one of them who smokes. Soldiers and sailors who have been accustomed to smoking, but who have lost their sight in action, smoke only for a short time afterwards. They say it gives them no pleasure, because they cannot see the smoke. Another peculiarity of the blind is that while other storekeepers are asking a dollar for a blind with a lace fringe, stratton is selling them at sixty-nine cents each, with roller and fittings complete.

—There were three young men before Squire Woods, Ashburnham, on Saturday for being drunk and disorderly and raising a disturbance on a public thoroughfare and using obscene language Sunday night week. The Squire fined each one of the hoodlums two dollars and costs, which was paid. Chief of Police Craig distinctly wishes it understood that rowdyism in the "Scotch village must cease. The New Deputy Treasurer.

The office of Deputy Provincial Treasurer, vacated by Mr. D. E. Cameron, now of the Mutual Reserve Life Association, of New York has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Walter T. Anderson, of the firm of Anderson & Temple, stock brokers. Mr. Anderson should be thoroughly versed in financial matters. He was formerly manager of the Hamilton branch of the Bank of British North America. He removed to Toronto in 1871, and was appointed inspector of the Bank of Commerce. Three years later he was made manager of the bank, which office he retained until 1886, when he gave it up, afterwards becoming assistant to the general manager of the broking firm with which he was connected a few years since.

THE COUNCIL OF THE BOARD OF TRADE.

Will the N. & J. B. Railway Benefit the Town.

THE GREAT NORTHERN COUNTRY.

It is Thought That the Construction of the Nipissing and James' Bay Railway Will Divert Considerable Trade to Peterboorough From the North.

The Council of the Board of Trade met on the evening of the ninth with the following members present: Messrs. Manson, chairman, and Fair, Shortly, Gilchrist, McWhinnie and Hay.

The report of Mr. A. L. Davis, chairman of the enclosing letters from the G. T. R. and C.P.R. relating to market fares on Saturdays and Wednesdays, was received. The chairman of the committee expressed his regrets that his efforts to obtain further privileges from the railways in this respect had not met with success. The opinion of the members present was that a greater effort should be made to attain the desired end, and that the town council should be asked to co-operate with the Board in bringing the matter before the railways.

The following

were received:

From Mr. W. H. Robertson, relating to a manufacturing company desirous of removing their works from Montreal. The secretary informed the meeting that he had on receipt of the communication, at once opened a correspondence with the company, but had nothing further to report at present.

From the St. John's, N.B. Board of Trade, enclosing a resolution passed by the Board relative to the importance of an "All Canadian Route" for exports and imports."—Received and ordered to be dealt with at the next meeting of the Board.

From G.E. Parmalee, assistant secretary, Province of Ontario, and from W. Harty, Commissioner of Public Works, enclosing report of Engineers of Public Works, relative to control of waters in the back lakes.—Received.

From W. B. McMurrich, Toronto, enclosing a circular re Nippissing and James Bay Railway, showing the action taken by Warring Kennedy, Esq., mayor of Toronto, when he referred to the railway in the following terms in his message to the Toronto Council on Sept. 24th, 1894:

Gentlemen,—The Northern Territory of the Province of Ontario lying, as it does, within such easy reach of the city of Toronto, with its possibilities has virtually been a terra incognita to our people and, in fact, to the people of Ontario. Rightly or wrongly, the impression has been generally formed that the country North of the Canadian Pacific Railway was a land in which Jack Frost held carvival for the greater portion of the year; that it was not a place for a white man to live in; that it was not worth while for commercial men to pay attention to it, and that even the lumbermen were not interested as there was no means of access to the district to get out what pine was there.

It is only during the past three or four years that a few of our citizens have had their attention directed to this part of the Province and in this manner, the general public were enlightened in regard to the valuable possessions, which Ontario owns throughout this district. Instead of a land given over to ice and snow for the greater portion of the year, it has been found out to the surprise of many, that it lies in the very centre of the best wheat producing belt in the world, that geographically it is further south than Dakota, Minnesota and parts of Michigan as far regards the southern portion of the belt in question, and that even the northern portion is not as far north as the upper portion of our Province of Manitoba.

We are now finding out for the first time that in the district in question there are vast tracts of good agricultural soil—the limestone underlying the district having been worn away by the action of the ice, making a magnificent soil of calcareous clay with a strata of black mould formed of decayed vegetable matter on its surface, giving to the agriculturist the best kind of soil for raising his products, not excelled anywhere in the Province of Ontario. The townships laid out by the Government of Ontario to the west of Lake Temiscaming contain, perhaps, some of the best woodlands on the continent; and in the twenty-six townships laid out, it is estimated by the government engineers that there are not over 200 acres of swamp or bad land. The fires of a century ago have rendered the work of clearing the land comparatively easy, as compared with the work which the early settlers had to perform on the lands in the early settled portion of Ontario. Not only can all the cereals be grown just as easy and productively, as in other parts of Ontario, but even the tenderest vegetables can be grown, while all the small fruits as well as the large fruits, are cultivated to perfection.

As regards the climate, it is strange that all the popular ideas should be overthrown, as the climate from actual observation, differs but little from that enjoyed by the residents at Gravenhurst, or that portion of Ontario west of Brockville; and there is no doubt as has been the experience in other parts of Western Ontario, that as the country is opened up, the chances of summer frost will be reduced to about the same percentage as now exists there.

But beyond the agricultural wealth waiting to be developed, there are also traces of mine and forest wealth.

Prospecting during the past two or three years has developed the fact that the portion of the territory immediately to the north of Toronto is as rich in minerals as any other portion to the west of it, and in some varieties of ore—even more so—while the numerous wood rangers sent in by Canadian and American lumber companies during the same period, have brought out the fact that between North Bay and Lakes Tamogaming and Temiscaming there exists a large tract of valuable pine timber lands.

With all this wealth lying to the north of us, what has become of the energy of the commercial men of this city; what has become of their business enterprise that they have not, long before this, made this territory tributary to Toronto and not only to Toronto, but to the Province of Ontario through their exertions, as this province is the province most interested.

At present the city of Toronto is connected with the southern boundary of the district in question by the Northern and Northwestern Division of the Grand Trunk Railway running from Toronto to North Bay—a distance of some 225 miles. The extension of the road northward as projected by the Nipissing and James Bay Railway would make the distance from North Bay to James Bay, 350 miles making the total length of the line, when completed, 575 miles; so that virtually all that requires to be done by the citizens of Toronto to gain access and make the district tributary to the business of this city, is to have extended northward, the line of the Grand Trunk Railway via the Nipissing and James Bay Railway into the district in question.

We have, therefore, the hard facts staring us in the face that within a distance of 225 miles north of the city of Toronto, there is a climate that is good, land on which the crops come readily, where there is a good market and where a good market will continue for many years to come until the lumber in the section is exhausted; a land well covered with pine and other woods in great demand, and a country capable of vast development for its mineral treasures. Surely it is worth while for the people of Toronto and the province of Ontario to take an interest in making use of the wealth thus at their doors. While we are letting this chance of controlling the trade of the district—even now considerable with its population of over 25000 slide through our fingers, the province of Quebec and the merchants of Montreal have been thoroughly alive to their interest and by the construction of the road from Mattawa north to Lake Temiscaming have secured for themselves the trade of the district, a trade even now of no mean importance. No less than four railways are now projected into this district and various companies are building in this direction; while the province of Ontario, who should reap the benefit, are doing nothing to secure the advantage of the rich mineral, lumber and agricultural riches known now to exist in this hitherto locked up territory.

We have been accustomed here to look upon the district of Muskoka as the great summer outing place for this province and the United States, but in the new territory, there is a new field to be opened up for summer tourists—larger in extent—with more beautiful lakes than any that are at present within reach in Muskoka. Lake Tamogaming in the west of the district being a lake of particular beauty and large extent and within such easy distance of Toronto, that when the road is built, anyone leaving in the evening can take their breakfast in their cottage on the lake next morning—the lake in question being only 225 miles from Toronto—a shorter distance than from Toronto to Montreal.

The territory itself will be the Sportsman's Paradise. The lakes teem with fish, such as bass, pike, pickerel, and trout, while all kinds of game, especially moose, caribou, and red deer are plentiful.

Beyond the lake Temiscaming district, the road when built, will reach the height of land above lake Abitibi, and will be easy of construction, as the country from lake Temiscaming north to Moose Factory on James Bay is loamy and level. It is in this district that the coal beds have been discovered. Along the Abitibi and Moose rivers, outcrops of lignite have been found of such quality, that the Indians are known to use it for cooking their food; but although the Ontario government have sent up exploring parties, it has been impossible up to the present time, to ascertain the commercial value of this lignite, but should it prove of good quality, there is no doubt that the building of the road will create at once a large industry, as the mineral belt in the neighborhood contains vast beds of iron ore, a fact which justifies the remark once made by Dr. Bell of the Geological Survey: "That some day this country is destined to become the Penn-sylvania of Canada."

Hard coal was also found by Dr. Bell, but as yet no thing has been done to ascertain the extent of this coal formation. It is surely time, with all these facts patent to us, that steps should be taken to open up this territory, and that this council should co-operate with other councils and Boards of Trade throughout the province, in bringing such pressure to bear, as would induce an early construction of the Nipissing and James Bay Railway, through which the supplies of the district could be brought into this province and to the city of Toronto. United action on the part of the various bodies referred to, would no doubt lead to an early commencement of the work.

I understand that the Nipissing and James Bay Railway have received from the Ontario and Dominion governments the usual bonus towards the construction of the first sixty-eight miles of their road, so that everything seems hopeful for the early prosecution of the work.

I would recommend that this subject be referred to the Executive Committee to take this matter into their consideration, and to confer with Boards of Trade and with the directors of the Nipissing and James Bay Railway, with a view of speeding the opening up of this territory. WARRING KENNEDY, Mayor.

THE SECRETARY EXPLAINED

that while this circular was compiled for the purpose of showing the benefit to be derived by the City of Toronto, by the building of the Nipissing and James' Bay Railway, there was no doubt that the statements contained therein were correct, not only with regard to the benefits to be derived by that city, but by the whole province. By the completion of the Trent Valley Canal and future development of the railway system in the northern counties, the secretary thought much of the traffic of the proposed James Bay Railway would undoubtedly come this way, and that it would be to the interests of Peterborough, as a manufacturing centre, to keep a sharp lookout.

REGULATION OF TRADE.

Mr. Fair mentioned that members of the Board had requested him to bring to the notice of the Board the fact that city retail business houses were sending representatives from house to house taking orders for clothing, drygoods, groceries and other wares, much to the injury of our merchants, and suggested that some action be taken to regulate this trade.

It was moved by Mr. Shortly, seconded by Mr. Gilchrist, "That the Merchantile Committee be instructed to look into the matter, and obtain the opinion of the town council and town solicitor, it being the opinion of this meeting that such traffic should be restricted by license, as these representatives of outside places are nothing but peddlers and should be dealt with accordingly."—Carried.

The council then adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.

THE SEWER CONTRACT WILL UNDERGO A CHANGE.

The Bond Will be Signed and the Contractor's Wishes Acceded to.

The town council held a special session on Saturday evening which made the fourth meeting which was called during the week. The councillors were called together in order that Mr. W. H. Moore, solicitor for Contractor Grant, might lay before them the names of the sureties which he proposed giving on his bond for the completion of the contract.

The general opinion of the councillors was that if the names submitted were suitable there would be no great harm in altering the contract to such an extent as to allow of the payment to the contractor of 85 per cent. of the value of his work as far as he completed it. Although the on this step, and although the names submitted were most satisfactory, still it was not until a late hour that the mountain finally, after great labour, brought forth the following resolution which was unanimously adopted:

"Moved by Councillor Dawson, seconded by Councillor Brady: That on the contractor for the outfall sewer furnishing within five days the joint and several bonds of John Whitfield, John Price and Messrs. Tomlinson & Son, in the sum of $10,000, in form satisfactory to the Town Solicitor, for the due construction of the said sewer, this Council agrees to the payment of the contractor, as the work progresses according to the terms of the specifications, and that the Solicitor be authorized to prepare the contract accordingly. This resolution to be without prejudice to the existing rights of the Town, and not to be binding upon this corporation unless and until such security be furnished and the contract executed."

While the three lawyers present were compiling the resolution, quite was going on between Councillor Dawson and Foreman Scott of the sewer works.

AN ANIMATED DISCUSSION

Mr. Dawson charged Mr. Scott with having violated the contract to the extent of employing foreign labour, instead of Peterborough workmen, on the building of the sewer. Mr. Dawson had heard many complaints on the subject and did not propose to stand quietly by and see the same thing occur again.

Mr. Scott pointed out that it would be an impossibility to carry on the work with such labour as he could procure in Peterborough. He had to have experts employed on the bottom work of the sewer and in the "timbering" of the big ditch. He would be afraid to trust the labourers down in the sewer unless the sides were properly shored up. If this work was not looked after by experts there was danger of a cave in.

Mr. Dawson interrogated as to how many experts would be required and in reply, Mr. Scott stated that seven of the contractor's regular staff would be needed on the work. He assured Mr. Dawson that Peterborough workmen would not be slighted, but on the contrary, their interests would be well looked after and that on no occasion would he employ outside labour when home workmen could be secured.

A Prominent Lawyer Says:

"I have eight children, every one in good health, not one of whom but has taken Scott's Emulsion, in which my wife has boundless confidence."

Why leave your measure for Suit or Overcoat, when Grafton & Co., can give you the same thing exactly at half the price.

Very Artistic.

A. Clegg is showing a line of fine gilt brass tables with polished oak tops, decidedly the finest of the sort ever offered in Peterborough, see his window. Also a great variety of other fancy parlor tables in choice woods, and an artistic line of highly finished antique oak chairs, with cobler seats of embossed leather, and a larger line of floor rockers at greatly reduced prices, in fact we have so many new things that we have no space this week to enumerate them. Our stock is complete in every line. A. CLEGG, 427 George street.

A "Cold" Day!

You caught a cold last week—one of those long, lingering sorts of colds that's sneezy thing to get. Everybody you knew, and some people whom you had never been introduced to, told you what to take, and the more you took the more cold you took. Finally you went to see a doctor. He felt your pulse, told you to hold out your tongue, which felt like an all wool blanket, and advised you to drink plenty of COLD WATER, take two grains of quinine every two hours—and wear a good warm Overcoat. "Two dollars, please," said the doctor, and as you paid him like a little man, you made up your mind that if you had bought an Overcoat when you should, you would have saved your two dollars, the quinine, and wouldn't have to drink so much COLD WATER.

Honour bright, don't you think it would be better and wiser to take advantage of the Drop In Prices at Brady's Corner Grocery and Provision Store, when you go to buy your Fresh Fruits, Fresh Baking Powder, Fresh Extracts, Fresh Lard, Fresh Butter, Fresh Eggs, &c., than to keep on buying and paying the same old price all the time?

Honest Injun, we do. Especially when we tell you you can, at the same time, buy the most Sugar for a Dollar and the Best Family Flour in the market at this same Corner Store.

Our new Automatic Fruit Cleaner removes all stems and sand from your fruit, gives you full weight in sound, new fruit, and saves a lot of trouble in cleaning.

We had a little row the other day with a Soap man for sending us double what we ordered. The price was so low it wouldn't pay to freight it back. He asked us to keep it at half price, and we kept it. Our customers can have it at the same. We don't want it. Honour bright. Yours to please—

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

ALL OVER THE GLOBE—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are known. Pills of American manufacture easily lead. Why? Because they're smaller; the vegetable extracts are concentrated. There are many liver pills, yet there must be a reason why Dr. Pierce's Pellets give the best satisfaction. Probably because they're sugar-coated, small as grains of mustard seed, therefore, easily swallowed. Most of all—they act in a natural way, and are effective in result. Then, too, after they're taken they can't be felt—so different from the old-fashioned pills, with their griping and violence.

For indigestion, pain in stomach, costiveness and habitual constipation, as well as sick and bilious headaches, these "Pellets" bring such a lasting cure, that they can be guaranteed. Your money is returned, if they do not give satisfaction.

To every sufferer from Catarrh, no matter how bad the case or of how long standing, the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy say this: "If we can't cure it, perfectly and permanently, we'll pay you $500 in cash." Sold by all druggists.

FARM AND GARDEN

JERSEY CATTLE.

An Enthusiastic Admirer on Their Economical Qualities.

The lesson of the nineteenth century has been economy. Men consider now, not so much what has been done, as how it has been accomplished. The scientific engineer calculates exactly the increase of power which an extra pound of coal beneath his boiler will produce, and the most economic amount to accomplish a certain work. The tailor and the shoemaker no longer toil and draw their thread from morning till night; the genius of the age has pointed the way to a production of shoes and coats at an infinite reduction in cost. In all lines of labor and trade the rule holds true, and nowhere are its workings better exemplified than in the field of agriculture and dairying.

In the vast industry represented by the cow, competition has caused new methods to supersede the old. The dairying-farmer considers from an economic standpoint and decides by actual test the relative value of different breeds. It is under such circumstances that the cattle of the Island of Jersey have risen into prominence until, received with almost universal favor, the Jersey cow may rightly be called the "Queen of the Dairy."

Originating, as is supposed by eminent authorities, on the coast of the continent neighboring to the island whose name they bear, this breed has ever been cherished and protected by the inhabitants of fertile Jersey. As civilization advanced in the eighteenth century, and ease of communication became more general, the fame of this native breed spread, and the records they were making, even in those early times, astonished the then dairy world. From 1789 when the States of Jersey enacted laws forbidding the importation of foreign cattle from France, to the present day, the history of the Jersey breed of cattle is a story of progress and merit recognized. The spirit of emulation and industry raised among the Jerseymen has been the means of making their island a place of no small importance.

The reasons for the so general adoption of the Jersey as the cow for all purposes are numerous and important. Along most lines the Jersey has no superior. Quality and quantity of butter product, small cost of keeping, the ability to trace her pedigree through many generations, these are some of the points in which the Jersey is invulnerable. From being called the "gentleman's cow," her superiority has gradually asserted itself until, as a dairy cow, such records are registered for her as can be shown by no other known breed.

The idea is prevalent that the Jersey is a cow only to be owned by the wealthy cattle-breeder. No greater mistake could be made. Economy points to the Jersey as the cow also for him who uses but a single head for family purposes. True, the original expense may be somewhat greater for a Jersey of good breeding than for a cow of common stock. But can we say that it would be economy in this age for the publisher of any newspaper, however small its circulation, to use a press such as Caxton employed because its cost would be less than that of one of those models of ingenuity in use to-day? The utility of the Jersey and her adaptability to all situations were fitly praised in a recent number of the Country Gentleman: "The Jersey cow that can average a pound of butter 365 days in the year, with good care, is the cow for the millions, and it has been proved that the Jersey will do this five to one over all other breeds and with less feed."

The Jersey has been well denominated a milk-machine. Small usually in size, there is no room for surplus fat while she is making the rich milk for which she is noted. Mr. Wayback may continue to feed a large cow through many years, in order that, finally, she may make more beef: but he who is abreast of the times adopts the economic Jersey. A beef breed the Jersey is not; but every part of the little cow has a use in producing the present profit of her owner.

The care and treatment of the Jersey must be based, as with any breed, on the broad foundation of common sense. Different individuals of any breed require different food and management. For docility the Jersey has no equal; for hardiness almost no superior. Braving without harm the storms of a Canadian winter, acclimated with the most encouraging success in the warm States of the South, she thus far has defied the complaints of the croakers.

Bred in and in through many generations in that narrow land which is their ancient home, and always with their worth for dairy purposes in view, the Jerseys produce milk richer by far in the elements of butter than that of any other breed. Tests in a different direction have also revealed its worth for cheese-making. Richer in color, finer in quality, pre-eminently superior in the quantity of butter product for a given quantity of milk—such, in addition to commanding a higher price in the markets, are some of the characteristics of the products of the Jersey cow.

To state facts concerning her performances is to argue most cogently in favor of the Jersey. Her position to-day seems one of assured success. As in the past, when her merits became recognized, she was warmly welcomed, so in the future her worth must gain her friends.—Prize Essay in Kansas Farmer.

Looking Ahead.

With many kinds of small fruits especially it is quite an item to have a few plants of some variety that are a little early or a little late in order to prolong the season as much as possible.

A Mysterious "Horse Sickness."

A mysterious South African disease called, in default of a more distinctive name, "horse sickness," which appears to defy prevention or cure, is causing serious loss in the Orange Free State. To find an animal dead of the disease in this locality was formerly a rarity, and it therefore became an essentially horse-breeding district. This year, however, from the beginning of February to the end of June, it is computed that from 2,000 to 3,000 horses have succumbed to the disease. Even mules and donkeys, though long popularly believed to be immune, have been among the victims

A Couple of New Ideas.

At a meeting of the local branch of the South Australian Bureau of Agriculture, a member stated that he had raised and sold fifty pigs at a cost of less than sixpence each for feed. He had kept them in an inclosure where they fed off an early crop of barley, and were then fattened on melons, the latter being a profitable food for the purpose

GENERALLY PRESCRIBED.

The Idea that Bright's Disease Cannot be Cured Proven to be a Fallacy.

Quebec, Nov. 5th.—Local physicians are much gratified over the letter to Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, this province, testifying to his cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since the introduction of the remedy in this city many physicians have not hesitated to prescribe the pills, and numerous cures have been the result. The latest testimony, coming from so well known a medical man, proves that the local men were right in changing the old-time remedies for Dodd's Kidney Pills. Hence their jubilation.

Beyond Dispute.

There is no better, safer or more pleasant cough remedy made than Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. It cures hoarseness, sore throat, coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles.

THE SUN'S TEMPERATURE.

Its Heat Has Always Been Overestimated; It is Now Said.

It is easy to infer that the problem of the sun's temperature is a difficult one, from the fact that the estimates of various republic authorities range all the way from the millions of degrees contended for by Secchi and Ericsson, to the three, four, or five thousand of Pouillet and Vicaire, says C. A. Young in the Cosmopolitan. The very high estimates, however, are obviously wrong, being based on the hypothesis that the amount of heat radiated by a body is proportional to its absolute temperature. It really increases much more rapidly, as has been known for a long time, and the low estimates referred to are founded upon a purely empirical law deduced from this knowledge ▶ law of more than doubtful application to conditions differing so much from those of laboratory experiments. For the past decade the value assigned by Rosetti (about 18,000 degrees F.) has been very generally accepted as the most probable; but within the last two years new investigations by Le Chatelier, in France, and by Wilson and Gray, in Ireland, working by different methods, both apparently improvements on Rosetti's lead to reasonably accordant values, which are considerably lower—14,000 and 12,000 degrees.

Within a few months Scheiner, of Potsdam, has come upon a spectroscopic phenomenon which in a general way confirms these results, without, however, deciding between them. Among the lines in the spectrum of magnesium there are two which behave in a curiously contrasted way. One of them, having a wave-length of 435.2 microns, is conspicuous in the spectrum produced by the electric arc, where the temperature is not far from 6,000 degrees F., but is wholly absent from the spark-spectrum at a temperature much higher—probably not less than 20,000 degrees. The other line (wave-length 448.2) is brilliant in the spark-spectrum, and absent in that of the arc.

Now this latter line is very conspicuous as a dark line in the spectra of the great white stars, like Sirius and Vega, and wanting in the solar spectrum, while just the reverse is true of the other. Hence, the obvious conclusion that the white stars are much hotter than the sun, and that the temperature of the sun's absorbing atmosphere is approximately that of the electric arc—certainly not lower than that, but also certainly not so high as that of the electric spark. As for the atmosphere, or shell of incandescent cloud, which constitutes the visible surface of the sun, it must be much hotter than the absorbing atmosphere. It is a pity that observation does not fix the limit of possibility somewhat more closely, but to do so it would be necessary to determine just the temperature at which one of the magnesium lines gives place to the other, and so far as we know, it may be anywhere between 6,000 degrees and 20,000 degrees.

SEEING BY ELECTRICITY.

Professor Bell is Conducting Some Astonishing Experiments.

Professor Alexander Graham Bell is spending these months at his place in Nova Scotia, engaged in a series of investigations which will no doubt have important and perhaps sensational results. His outdoor work is devoted to experiments in "aerial navigation," in connection with Professor Langley, of Smithsonian Institution, while in his laboratory he is endeavoring to demonstrate a problem to which he has given a great deal of thought, and in which he thoroughly believes. It is to harness electricity to light, as it has been harnessed to sound, so that the people may be able to see a great distance, just as the telautograph enables them to write and the telephone enables them to speak at a great distance. Professor Bell firmly believes that it will be possible some day to see from Washington to New York as easily as one can convey the sound of the voice that distance. He insists that the fact has already been demonstrated and that it only remains to construct the apparatus necessary to bring the possibilities of the discovery into actual and practical use. This is exceedingly difficult—much more difficult than the construction of the telegraph instrument or the telephone, for the reason that the vibrations of light are so much more rapid than the vibrations of sound. But Professor Bell is confident that he will soon be able to discover a diaphragm sufficiently sensitive to receive the vibrations of light and produce the effect necessary to convey the impressions to the human vision.—Chicago Record.

You Can't get too Much

Of a good thing. This is eminently the case with Polson's Nerviline, and great pain cure. It is an honest remedy, for it contains the most powerful, the purest, and most certain pain subduing remedies known to medical science. It is honest, for it does all it claims to do. It is honest, because it is the best in the world. It only costs 25 cents to try it, and you can buy a bottle at any drug store. Nerviline cures toothache, neuralgia, pain in the back and side. All pains are promptly relieved by Polson's Nerviline.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—bloody and tumorous form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly affected from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and trouble. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Gives Instant Relief.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause than Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

THE WHY OF IT.

Snow is sometimes of a red color, because of the presence of a minute vegetable cell, the Protococcus nivalis, which secretes a red coloring matter.

A match ignites because of the heat generated by friction. Matches are tipped with phosphorus and sulphur, both highly inflamable substances.

A plumb line by the side of a very large building inclines a little from the perpendicular because the weight is attracted by the mass of the edifice.

Flies can walk on the ceiling because their feet are natural air pumps, and form a vacuum so that the body is supported by atmospheric pressure.

Sea shells murmur because the vibrations of the air, not otherwise observable, are collected in the shell and by its shape are brought to a focus.

A spoon in a glass filled with hot water prevents the breaking of the glass because the metal readily absorbs a large part of the heat of the water.

Many springs are intermittent, probably because the channels leading from the reservoirs to the surface are crooked and constitute natural siphons.

Iron rusts more readily when wet than when dry because it has, or seems to have, a greater affinity for oxygen when the latter is combined with hydrogen.

A black down grows under the feathers of many birds at the approach of winter because down is the best non conductor and black the warmest color.

New Zealand's Experience.

The introduction of predaceous animals, to hold certain pests in check, has not proved an unqualified success in New Zealand. A local paper of that colony states that the weasels, which were imported to keep down rabbits and rats, are increasing so rapidly as to become a serious menace to poultry keepers. Their success in keeping down the rabbit pest is problematical, and so far are they from destroying rats, it appears that they fraternize with them, one farmer having found a rat living on merry terms in the same nest with four weasels.

Fishing With a Thermometer.

A French doctor has just discovered why some fishermen catch cod and others do not. He found that on the northerly side of high submarine peaks the cod would not bite, while on the southerly side they did. By attaching thermometers to fishing lines he further found that most fish was taken at a temperature between forty-five and fifty degrees, and that at forty-five degrees, with a depth of about fourteen fathoms, the catch was best.

A Terrible Experience:

Mr. Geo. Tribe, of Straffordville, Ont. a pretty village near the shores of Lake Erie, went through an experience lately that he will never forget. He tells it in his own words:

"For three years I suffered from skin disease in its worst form. I tried Kennedy's Medical Discovery and the Cuticura remedies, and doctored one year with the best physicians in the land, but got no benefit; they pronounced my disease a Scaly Eruption, but failed to remove it. It came on in red blotches and spread over my body; the skin became dry and formed hard, white scales; the itching was intolerable, but I am now completely cured by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. I can truly say I owe my good health to B. B. B., and I advise all sufferers to use this splendid medicine.

CHURCH CHIMES.

GEORGE STREET METHODIST.

Rev. Prof. Wallace, of Victoria University, formerly pastor of the George street Methodist church, delivered both the morning and evening sermons in that edifice yesterday. At the morning service he took as his text Revelations II chap., 5th verse: "Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent and do the first works; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, unless thy repent."

He then likened the candlestick mentioned in his text to the church and the light of the candle to Christ Himself. The query was then propounded as to how the church acquired the light and it was explained that the acquirement was only secured according to the light of the membership. While it could not be said that the candlestick had ever actually been removed from any of the churches of Christ, yet in some the light had at times grown very dim. In strong contrast to this the progress and success of the Methodist church was pointed out, and as Wesley was the originator of Methodism, the speaker thought that he could not better illustrate the manner in which success had been obtained by the church, than in pointing out the course followed by Wesley.

The great leader of the Methodist movement had a profound, deep, strong, accurate intellect, but not to his intellect must be attributed the success which was meted out to him. Intellect, the speaker stated, was undoubtedly a great possession and he was hopeful and desirous of never seeing it arrayed in opposition to the forces of Christ, yet with intellect alone it was impossible to acquire the light.

Wesley was possessed of great ambition. A man had to be possessed of ambition to ever amount to anything in this world. Wesley had the greatest ambition to do his duty faithfully to save souls and to serve his God with all his strength, yet ambition was not the instrument through which he received the light. He never had an ambition simply to make a great name for himself.

Wesley was gifted to a very great extent with the power of organising and governing, but the power of organising and of governing is not the gift which wins mens' souls. A many must have the power to draw others to him before the power of governing can be exercised.

"The answer may be given," continued he, "that all Wesley's abilities were consecrated to God," but even that would not account for the success which he acquired—another element must be added, and the whole range of his magnificent abilities had to be vitalized by an experience of conversion and sanctification."

Mr. Wallace then went on to speak of Wesley's conversion, and related the circumstances connected with that notable date of 1738.

Changing his subject somewhat, Mr. Wallace went on to state that worship could be conducted just as successfully in a cathedral as in a cabin, and as well in fine clothes as in poor raiment, and vice versa, but he looked forward in horror to the day when the thoughts of the grand cathedral and the fine clothes took precedence in the minds of the congregation to the fact, that all these gifts were due to the bounteous mercifulness of the Almighty.

Methodism, he stated, began with the innovation and change and was thrust out of the English Church because that church could not adapt itself to these innovations quickly enough. He thought that if Methodism did not abound in innovations and changes, that it would soon relapse into a lifeless body. If would be sad, indeed, though if Methodists, in their search for change, should ever go so far as to forget the first principles of the church.

In the evening a large congregation again assembled to hear the former pastor.

ST. ANDREWS.

Yesterday, the services in St. Andrew's church were of a very interesting nature. The pastor preached two very original and practical sermons. The subject in the morning was "the temptation of Christ," text, Matt. 4 1. The occasion of the temptation, the reality of the temptation, being no sham battle, the temptation three-fold, to distrust the Father, to presumption and bribery; and the temptation resisted—resisted by the skilful use of the sword of the spirit, were all dealt with. The speaker said that never was the word of God more honoured than at the temptation of Jesus. Jesus did not appeal to His Divine nature for direction, nor did the Holy Spirit speak of self, but guided Him for counsel to the Holy Word. Never was the word more honoured and whatever critics and skeptics may think of the Word, it is quite evident that Christ had no doubt of its genuineness and authenticity. In the evening again, a stirring sermon was delivered from Luke 13—7, "Cut it down why cumbereth it the ground." The spirit's presence was felt, some remaining behind to converse about their soul's salvation. The music was of a high order. Miss Grant presided at the organ in her usual able manner. In the morning, the choir sang "Father, I know Thy ways are just," and "Man of sorrows." In the evening, they sang the anthem "Rock of Ages," and the hymn "Throw out the life line." Mr. Mulligan, in a fine voice, sang the verses, while a male quartette sang the chorous in perfect harmony. It was a sermon in song and was very impressive.

ST. JOHN'S.

At St. John's and the Mission Building yesterday, an urgent call was made upon every woman in the parish to take some part in the proceedings of "Woman's Day" to-morrow, by contributing her presence, sympathy and prayers. The afternoon meetings will begin at 3 p.m., but women unable to be present then are invited to come at any time during the afternoon. The proceedings will be of the most informal character, and all are expected to throw themselves into the spirit of the day and help it forward. It is hoped that as many as possible will remain for tea at 6 p.m. Between this and 7.30 will be devoted to personal intercourse. Mrs. Williamson, the gifted and devoted president of the W. A., will be present for consultation on the present position and difficulties of woman's work in the church. The president will explain the work of the W. A. at the evening meeting, which, however, will not be confined to this. The full programme of the day is published by request.

ST. LUKE'S.

The morning services in St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, yesterday were conducted by Rev. Roald Hilton, of McLeod, Alberta, an old Peterborough boy and son of Rev. John Hilton, formerly of this diocese.

A large number from this side of the river were in attendance in order to hear their old schoolmate and friend expound the gospel. Mr. Hilton is a good reader, and possessed of an excellent delivery, selected for this text, Isaiah, chap. xlv, v. xv: "Verily, Thou art a God that hidest Thyself O, God of Israel, the Saviour." While dilating upon the deep researches of science into the marvellous mysteries of nature, the reverend gentleman maintained that the Christian can, by faith, see the glory of God in the Heavens and recognize His handiwork in the starry firmament. Philosophers in viewing material objects determine that there must have been a Creator, but faith in Christ teaches us that nature is, after all, a screen, rather than a crystal, interposed between us and heaven by the merciful provision of God, who deems it necessary for the good of mankind to "hide himself" from the human view. But, the speaker pointed out, by faith the invisible may be seen, approached, understood and loved, until that day when faith shall be superseded by sight. Many people question the wisdom of God in "hiding himself," and would like the opportunity of seeing Him in the flesh, as did the disciples of old. But the Jews, although confronted with Christ Himself and viewing His miracles, and listening to His teachings, were yet incredulous and clamorous for further manifestations of His spirituality. And so it would be with us to-day were God to favour us with an optical revelation; therefore God "hideth himself" from us, who are unable even to understand what he has revealed—the Trinity and Unity of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost.

GENERAL.

Rev. Mr. Pady, of McMaster University, was in town for Sunday and conducted the services at the Park street Mission. In the morning he took "Prayer" as the subject of his discourse, and in the evening "Hope" formed the theme for his sermon. Mr. Pady's solo, "Nothing but leaves" was greatly appreciated by the congregation.

The anthem, "Oh, How Lovely," was rendered in the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday morning, and the solo part was taken by Miss Annie Fawcett. While the offertory was being taken up, Mr. A. L. Davis sang a solo entitled, "The Old Story." At the evening service, Miss Fawcett and Mr. Davis took the solos in the Te Deum.

COUNTY MAGISTRATE EDMISON'S BUSY SESSION.

George Stephens Fined a Dollar For Horse Racing.

George Stephens was fined a dollar and costs this morning by the County Magistrate on a charge of racing on the public highway. It appears that Stephens on a bet drove from Peterborough to Omemee in an hour and a half, rested and fed his horse for an hour, and then drove back in another hour and a half.

John Williams, a tramp, who was arrested last week, in Jackson Park, was discharged, but warned to leave the county immediately, which he promised to do.

Brown and Ounick, the two tramps confess to having entered and robbed the house of Joseph Bell, North Monaghan, last Monday, were remanded till next Thursday. Word has been received from Napanee that Brown has hitherto borne a good name and was considered a trifle simple. Further details respecting him are expected as is also some news regarding the life which Ounick led while in Trenton.

DOCTORS INTERESTED.

They Cannot but Accept the Testimony of Two of Their Professional Brethren.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—The letters of Dr. McCormack of Richmond, and of Dr. E. A. Rose of Portland, recently published over their own signatures and testifying to their complete cure from Bright's disease and diabetes, respectively, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, have established to the satisfaction of medical men generally, that the pills do all that is claimed for them by their manufacturers. Both physicians are known as men well up in their professions, whose word can be absolutely relied upon, and who rarely make mistakes. The result of these letters will be an enormous sale of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Montreal.

MANTLES.
Our Mantle trade this season has so far exceeded our expectations that it has cleared out several lines and left room for new ones, which we have secured at from $3.00 to $3.50, less than original prices on the better lines. Our customers will reap the benefit of this reduction in the wholesale cost. A full range of all styles and prices now in stock at prices that are never undersold.
BLANKETS.
We have run across a line of All Wool Blankets, in large sizes, woven similar to a Sheeting but combed; they are very desirable and are selling at $3.00 a pair. We have also a splendid assortment of Light and Dark Gray Blankets in all sizes.
UNDERWEAR.
As the season advances we sometimes run across what dry goods men call snaps. We have secured one of these now in Men's All Wool Underclothing, in both natural and flesh colours, at $1.00 a suit. The best line ever offered for the money. Plenty of lower qualities always in stock.
SKIRTINGS.
We are introducing a line of heavy Blanket Skirtings, one of the most desirable materials we have found yet in Ladies' wear. They are 40 inches wide and only 35c a yard.

FOSTER'S TRIP ABROAD

The Finance Minister Interviewed on His Return to the Capital.

FLOATING OF THE NEW LOAN

Interest Taken in it by the Canadian Banks—Huddart and His Scheme—Mr. Foster Has Little to Say on the Result of the U. S. Elections.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—Hon. Geo. E. Foster, Minister of Finance, arrived in the city yesterday from his trip to England in connection with the new Dominion loan which he has just floated satisfactorily. Mr. Foster was seen by a reporter at his handsome residence on Wellington street. The Minister of Finance looks very much improved in health, as a result of his trip across the Atlantic. Asked as to how he felt, Mr. Foster replied: "My health is improving and my physician says that with a little relaxation of work and occasional rests for a time my health will become pretty well restored."

"Now, as to the loan?" queried the reporter.

"The particulars as to the floating of the loan you have received by cable. I may, however, say that the loan went off very satisfactorily, and under all the circumstances was a particularly favorable one, being five points better than the last loan placed upon the London market, and in point of number of subscribers and amounts subscribed being far better than any previous loan. One gratifying circumstance was the interest taken by Canadian banks, whose subscription was over £550,000, or more than half the whole loan, though, unfortunately, the tenders were not high enough to get any of the stock. It is, however, satisfactory to see Canadian banks taking an interest in the Dominion loans. Quite a block of stock was taken in New York, which introduces our securities at first hand on United States banks."

"What is the feeling in England as to the Intercolonial Conference?"

"Lord Jersey's report was not made public when I left England, although I saw a copy of it. It will no doubt be soon given to the press, and will, I think, be considered as sympathetic as could well have been expected by the colonies interested in the conference. Everywhere the conference was looked upon as a great step in the right direction, which would result in drawing the colonies and the empire closer together, and to be followed by practical consequences favorable to the Imperial and intercolonial trade."

THE FINANCE MINISTER.

"Do you find generally a greater interest taken in things Canadian than has been the case in the past?"

"My stay was very short and confined to the business I had on hand. In my intercourse with the people I met I found an increasing interest and knowledge of Canada, and the prevailing opinion that Canada stands not only first of the colonies in point of credit and stability, but her future is looked as one of assured prosperity and progress.

"You returned by the American route?"

"Yes; I came by way of New York, taking passage on the Campania, one of the Cunard vessels. She is a splendid ship and makes excellent speed, but I must say just as comfortable a passage can be had in the Parisian if time is not a necessity of the trip. These vessels—I mean the American ones—have some disadvantages, and the service via New York has a disadvantage in the long and unutilized interval between Liverpool and Queenston, and the detention of twelve hours or more between Sandy Hook and New York, together with extensive transfer in New York itself. A vessel of quick speed, run from Southampton to our own ports, would have a more decided advantage not only in time, but in cost and comfort."

"How is Mr. Huddart succeeding with the fast line project?"

"Mr. Huddart is pushing his scheme with all the energy that is possible and expresses strong hopes of succeeding in the enterprise."

"Is the present a good time for borrowing in the London market?"

"Although there is any amount of money waiting investment it will be satisfied with nothing but first-class security and the time was never more unpropitious for floating airy on impracticable schemes."

"What is your opinion about the elections in the United States?"

"We did not hear the result of the landslide until we reached New York. There was general satisfaction over the rout of Tammany coupled with the hope that the result would be the purifying of municipal politics."

In the Supreme Court.

Argument on the disputed accounts case between the Dominion and the Provinces was completed in the Supreme Court yesterday, and judgment reserved. The Court adjourned then until January 15th, when it is expected judgment will be given in the prohibition cases.

Cattle Trade of 1894.

The report of the Government live stock inspectors to the Minister of Marine this year will show an active movement of the cattle trade for the season of 1894. Up to date 81,775 head of cattle have been shipped this year, while the total figures of 1893 reached 88,292. During the next two weeks it is expected that at least 9,000 will be shipped. There has been a large increase in the export of sheep. Last year 3,743 sheep were shipped to Great Britain from the port of Montreal, while the number up to date is no less than 126,055, so that the returns this year will show an increase of 120,000 in this branch of export trade over last season's business. The same phenomenal increase is noticed in the horse trade. In 1893 there were exported 1,739 horses to the old country, while the figures up to date reach 5,279, and there can be little doubt of the total increase at the close of navigation footing up to an increase of about 4,000.

OUR ECONOMIC CONDITIONS.

Tupper, the Elder, Lectures in Edinburgh on the Dominion's Resources.

EDINBURGH, Nov. 13.—Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner, delivered a lecture before the Geographical Society yesterday upon the resources and general economic condition of the Dominion of Canada. He dilated upon the influence of Federation upon the economic position of the Dominion as seen in the enormous developments of trade and commerce and the prosperity of the country generally since the establishment of the Dominion, especially in the expansion of foreign commerce.

Canada's trade in 1893-94, he said, was the highest ever reached, and the increase since 1877 had been 90 per cent. The stability of trade had been remarkable in spite of the McKinley law, the financial disturbance and the fall of prices, Canada having been little affected.

The demand for staple products and exports was as high as ever. The salvation of the country lay in the soundness of its banking system and the prudence of its traders. The excellence of the national credit had been shown in the success of the recent loan, which was now at par. He referred to Canada's extensive coal and iron resources and deposits of nickel, and expressed his belief that wheat would continue to be the great staple product of the Northwest long after the United States had ceased to grow it at a profit or to export.

The French treaty, said Sir Charles, had sealed the power of Canada to regulate external trade relations. The Ottawa conference would do much to promote intercolonial and imperial trade, the development of steamship lines and ocean cables.

Sir Charles will deliver addresses in the course of a week at Aberdeen and Dundee.

Serious Dynamite Accident at Ottawa.

OTTAWA, Nov. 13.—Shortly after beginning work yesterday a serious accident happened in a drain on Cathcart street, where Frederick May, who lives at the corner of King and Bolton streets, was badly injured by a premature discharge of dynamite. He, with two others, was preparing the charge, when the cartridge went off, badly shattering May about the face and arms. His companions miraculously escaped injury. The poor fellow was taken to the Catholic Hospital, where it was found that his injuries were of the most horrible character, and will probably result in death. His face was torn badly, being ripped open from the chin to the right ear, and upper lip terribly lacerated. The flesh on his right arm was torn off from the elbow to the shoulder, so that the joints and bones are exposed. The doctors think that he will die from the effects of the explosion.

Toronto Boodling Case.

TORONTO, Nov. 13.—Judge McDougall has presented his report of the investigation into the charges against the aldermen to the Mayor, and a meeting of the council has been called for this evening. The general feeling is that the extended powers which will be asked for must be given. The Mayor says he will favor going back as far as need be, but he thinks the inquiry must at least go as far as the street railway franchise and the Guelich paving tenders. Alderman Hewitt is a defendant in a case brought by John T. Inglis, of the firm of Inglis & Sons, engine builders, to recover the sum of $1,000 alleged to have been paid to Mr. Hewitt and a Mr. A. T. Johnson, commission agent, to secure the contract for an engine for the Toronto Street Railway. The contract was not awarded to Inglis & Sons, hence the suit.

A Coal Docker's Bad Fall.

WINDSOR, Nov. 13.—William Kelly was seriously if not fatally injured in an accident at Sandwich. He was employed at Mullen & Gatfield's coal dock, and the derrick at which he was working got out of repair. He ascended to the top and was fixing the apparatus when the bar upon which he stood suddenly gave way. He fell a distance of twenty feet. His right leg was fractured at the thigh, three ribs broken and a deep gash cut over his right eye by striking a stone. He was removed to his home, where he lies in a critical condition.

Chicago Elopement Case.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Chicago's eloping sensation, which the courts of this city are investigating, was up in the police court yesterday, and occupied nearly three hours, most of which time was taken up in a cross-examination of the aggrieved husband, Constans Hecking. Several minutes were required to dispose of a wrangle between the Customs authorities and the prosecution. At the close Magistrate Parke released Mrs. Hecking, but committed the male prisoners for trial. His worship at the same time passed a severe censure upon the conduct of the elopers.

A Dalhousie Farmer Killed.

LANARK, Ont., Nov. 13.—William Baird, a farmer in the township of Dalhousie, went into his sheep pen, when the building fell, killing him instantly. The building was frame and had only been built about three years.

CLEVELAND TO MEDIATE

China Looking to the United States to Mollify Japan.

BRITAIN MUST HAVE A SAY

She Is Not Willing That the States Should Have All the Honor of Procuring a Cessation of Hostilities—An Uprising Stamped Out in Corea.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—It is understood the assurance which China has given respecting the proposed mediation of the United States between China and Japan do not favor arbitration but look only to the use by the United States its good offices in bringing the hostile countries together with a view to peace negotiations. China's pride will not permit her to accept the service of any country as an arbitrator but the situation is such that she will gladly accept the services of President Cleveland in arranging the preliminaries leading to a cessation of the troubles between herself and Japan. While there is little doubt that Japan will accept the friendly offices of the United States, as proposed by Presideno Cleveland, there will be no cessation of aggressive movements on its part until a definite settlement has been made.

Nothing official has been received at the State Department from either China or Japan. It is believed that definite replies will be received from both countries before to-morrow. So far as China is concerned, it was not expected that her reply would be formally given until she had consulted Great Britain, and it is not believed that Great Britain will be willing that the United States alone shall gain the prestige which will naturally belong to this country from bringing the war to a close. Great Britain is more anxious than this country that hostilities should cease, but she wishes to have a voice in effecting this result. Another stumbling block will be the amount of the indemnity. Japan will doubtless hold out for $100,000,000, while China will regard not more than half that amount as the proper figure. It will be a matter of great embarrassment for China in her present impoverished condition to raise so large a sum as Japan will exact. It can only be done by increasing her duty on foreign importations, which is now about 5 per cent., and which in view of her treaty obligations will not be easy. Great Britain, which is the largest exporter of manufactured products to China, would be the first to protest against this increase in customs duties, and this is another consideration which will cause China not to act precipitately, but to await Great Britain's pleasure.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A despatch from Tokio to the Central News says Count Ito Huobumi, the Japanese Prime Minister, reports that Japanese at Talien Wan have destroyed all the torpedoes laid by the enemy at that place and captured several torpedo boats with their apparatus, etc. The torpedo barracks at Talien Wan was occupied by the Japanese without disturbing the mines. Important maps of the position and all the torpedoes laid were also seized. When the Japanese fleet with transports entered Talien Wan Bay it was rumored that a Chinese squadron had appeared outside and a naval encounter appeared imminent. Suddenly, however, the Chinese observing the Japanese fleet steamed rapidly away toward Wei-Hai-Wei.

A despatch from Fusen, Corea, reports another rising of the Tong-Haks in the province of Kyong Sang Do. The rebels were dispersed by Japanese troops, who killed six and captured 29.

WHITEWAY IS NOT DOWNED.

He Carried Seven Seats in the Bye-Elections—Goodorich's Last Hope.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Nov. 13.—In the bye-elections in this city the Whitewayites carried the whole five seats. Burin also returned two Whitewayites. These seven seats make the total held by the Whitewayites 18, exactly one-half of the members of the Legislature. The returns for the three seats in Placentia and the one seat in St. George are yet to be heard from. These seats are the last hope of the Government.

New Westminster Murder Case.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Nov. 13.—After consideration of the case, Mr. E. P. Davis, of Vancouver, said he would not call any witness for the defence of his client, Sidney W. Lobb, of Nanaimo, who is charged with shooting his wife. Mr. Davis intended to place before the jury Mr. Lobb's statement of how the shooting was done, that the revolver was discharged by the deceased and leave this statement to weigh against the suspicions of the prosecution. Mr. Leamy, for the Crown, insisted on the technical right of delivering the last speech to the jury. Mr. Davis then reconsidered his decision, and on Saturday placed two witnesses in the box, both Vancouver surgeons who had been subpœnaed by the Crown. Dr. McGingan, formerly of Stratford, Ont., thought that the fatal wound might easily have been inflicted by the deceased. His colleague also judged from the position and surroundings as described and agreed that death might have been caused by the act of the deceased.

No court was held yesterday and a verdict will be reached to-night.

His Wife Saved His Life.

AENA, Ont., Nov. 13.—John Bowers, of the 5th concession, London Township, attempted suicide by hanging. Bowers and his wife had repaired to the barn to do the chores, he sending her down to the creek to break the ice so that the cows might drink when he cleaned out the stables. As Mrs. Bowers had been previously warned by the doctor to keep a sharp look out for suicide, she hurried back and found him dangling by a plow line to a harness stake. She screamed for help and quickly loosed the rope and pulled him to the door, breathing having suspended. Dr. McNeill succeeded in resuscitating him. Mr. Bowers has been suffering for over 10 years with epileptic fits, which has terminated in epileptic insanity.

AN EXCESS OF ZEAL.

THE inquisitorial thumb-screws which have recently been applied pretty industriously to the conductors on the Grand Trunk Railway have developed a rather embarassing degree of zeal on the part of the present staff of conductors. Last Friday evening Judge Ferguson, who had been holding court at Napanee was returning to Toronto to spend Sunday with his family. He purchased a through ticket at Napanee, which the conductor took up shortly after leaving the station. The conductor knew the judge and said to him, "Are you going to Toronto, your lordship?" The judge replied that he was, whereupon the conductor put the ticket in his pocket and went on. At Belleville the train, which was heavy—the Kingston football team and their friends being aboard—was formed into two sections. The conductor who took Judge Ferguson's ticket went on the first section and a freight conductor was sent to take the rear section through. Shortly after leaving Belleville he approached the judge and demanded his ticket. He was told that another conductor had already lifted it. Having no ticket and refusing to buy another, the freight conductor, who, in view of his lordship's size, perhaps fancied that he came within his special department of freight, acted accordingly and put His Lordship off the train. The unseated judge spent the hours in banco at the station, at Trenton till three o'clock, when the next train came along and he reached the city, fully satisfied that a very flagrant extra-judicial act of contempt of court had been committed. It is stated that his lordship has reserved the question of bringing an action of damages against the Grand Trunk, whose officials say it was all a mistake. The first conductor, when he took up the ticket, should have exchanged for it a "hat check" but the train was heavy and the conductor had run out of checks. It must be admitted that the temporarily promoted freight conductor was no respecter of persons, or otherwise, he had very little faith in the judge's story and regarded him as a new variety of spotter, who was not going to catch the new conductor napping. It is fortunate in this instance that the victim is so distinguished a person as Mr. Judge Ferguson, for the circumstance will tend to a more vigorous action, in case action at all is taken, to get a definite pronunciation as to the relation of the rights of railway passengers and the duties of conductors. As the EXAMINER has remarked, some prompt action would be taken in regard to providing gates for level railway crossings, when, by their absence, some director is run over and killed. In like manner Judge Ferguson being the victim of the insistent zeal of a "fresh" conductor, would help to a speedier settlement of the question of the rights of the travellers and the duties of railway servants, originating, or at least receiving greater prominence, from His Lordship's unpleasant experience.

THE SPEAKERSHIP AGAIN.

The Empire says:

The vacant Speakership in the Ontario Legislature seems to be still the source of difficulty. Mr. Balfour, M.P.P., for South Essex, was the Government's first choice, but owing to objections being raised he was pulled out of the running, and the name of Dr. McKay, of Oxford, chief Government whip, substituted. He, too, however, will, it, is said, have to be passed over, on account of hostility in influential quarters, and some one else chosen. This some one, on pretty good authority, is said to be Mr. Stratton, of Peterborough, and for the present he holds the boards. But owing to his action in the Grundy case, it is hardly thought his chances for the Speakership, which calls for some impartiality and absence of party bias, will remain very bright. In fact the Government had better hurry and get the House together or nearly every member of the decimated Ministerial party will be put up as candidates for the Speakership and then pulled down by some unseen influence.

The Empire may "take a rest." Mr. Stratton is not worrying himself about the Speakership. As to the Grundy matter, the Empire should remember that the electors rather decisively settled that at the recent election, at which Mr. Stratton was returned by over 750 majority.

THE petitions against the return of the members recently elected for East Toronto, West Huron and East Simcoe were asked to be withdrawn on Saturday. Eleven petitions of the 31 filed have now been asked to be withdrawn. The petitions which now remain are:—Monck, South Renfrew, North and South Perth, Halton, West York, West Wellington, North Ontario, North Wentworth, Lincoln, East Northumberland, West Algoma, Parry Sound, Addington, South Huron, West Northumberland, West Durham, Haldimand, North Lanark and Kingston.

IN 1887 the protection papers and politicians protested that hard times could be cured by legislation, and by fooling the people into this insane belief, honest Alexander Mackenzie was relieved of office. Now we have as hard times as we had seventeen or eighteen years ago. Why do not the people who then claimed that hard times was a malady curable by legislation, show their faith by their works? We do not hear the Empire demanding a special session of parliament to pass an act banishing hard times, which would be a very nice thing, at the beginning of a hard winter.

Connors Demanded Damages from Mr. Parsons, of Omemee.

Mr. Parsons, of Omemee, who was instrumental in arresting Connors as a suspect of the robbery of his store, received the following letter from Connors, in Toronto, last week, with the peculiar spelling shown. It will be noticed that his address is the same place where the robbery occurred last week:

TORONTO Oct. 22nd, 1894.

THOS. J. PARSONS, Esq.,

SIR,—I beg thus respectfully to address you with a short letter. I wish to state to you that I have taken leagal advice here in Toronto in conection with the burgarly at your store on or about the 19th ult. I have been advised to enter an action against you, but I wish to pay the part of a Gentleman I am willing to settle with you on reasonable torms if you so wish if not then I will proceed against you for a full recompence of what I have lost by your misjudgement. I am sorry for you or any one whom loses anything in that oind of a way. Let me tell you what you put me out of through that arest: I sent for two whitnesses, which cost me $8.00; I lost the boat races at Shemone, at which I could have made at least $25.00; I lost Peterborough and Lindsey Fair, at each I could have made $125.00; so you see what money you threw me out of, the whole amount would be $258.00. Now, Sir, I am willing to settle with you for $50.00, and I consider it a fair offer. You may consult a consal on this matter and he will tell you my terms are easy. I will now close, so you know my turms and if you wish to settle you can send the money to the undersigned address and I will send you a recipt for it. I have the Honor to be Sir

Your obedient servant,
PROF. D. R. CONNORS.

The trip to Kingston is all the proceedings which Connors will take for some time.

MOTHER!

Lactated Food Will Make Your Baby Bright, Strong and Happy.

Why is your darling baby so weak and puny, so cross and peevish? You say you cannot tell why, and you know of no good reason why it should be so. Let us, in a few words, tell you where the trouble arises. Your baby, dear mother, is not receiving a perfect, pure and nourishing food; its digestion is imperfect, its stomach is weak, and it cannot rest and sleep well.

If you were feeding your treasure daily on pure Lactated Food, what a wondrous change you wood see in baby. No ill-tempered babies exist where Lactated Food is used; no peevishness is observed, no crying for hours at a time, when nature's true food is regularly used from day to day.

There is danger, dear mother, if you neglect to use the only food fitted for infantile nourishment. If you are not fully convinced about the superiority of Lactated Food, get your physician's opinion at once; he knows that the great food is a wonderful live-saver.

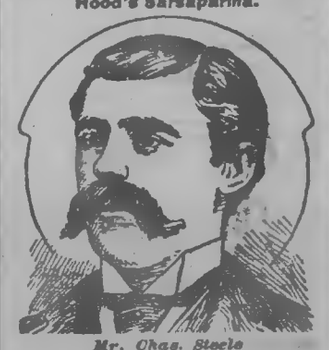
That Tired Feeling, Constipation and Pain in the Back

Appetite and Health Restored by Hood's Sarsaparilla.



Mr. Chas. Steele
St. Catherine's, Ont.

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"For a number of years I have been troubled with a general tired feeling, shortness of breath, pain in the back, and constipation. I could get only little rest at night on account of the pain and had no appetite whatever. I was that tired in my limbs that I gave out before half the day was gone. I tried a great number of medicines but did not get any permanent relief from any source until, upon recommendation of a friend, I purchased a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which made me feel better at once. I have continued its use, having taken three bottles, and

The Mother Heart Touched

"I Believe SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE Saved the Lives of Two of My Children."—Puny Children Grow Fat and Strong—Tired and Ailing Women Take on the BLOOM of EARLIER YEARS.

What will touch the mother heart more deeply than the illness of her little ones? She may suffer much herself, and women are sorely afflicted with many ills, but she will endure all this, however often, without a murmur; but there can be no disguising her anxiety when the little ones of the home are stricken down with sickness. And how many puny children there are! We talk of the bloom of youth, but thousands of children know not of it. Others may romp, but they are weaklings.

Mothers, would you have your loved ones strong and healthy? Would you enjoy good health yourself? Then use South American Nervine Tonic; there is no doubting its efficacious properties. Investigate from a scientific or a common sense point of view and you will find that nearly all disease has its start in the nerve centres of the body.

The mission of South American Nervine is to at once reach the nerve centres, which are to the whole body what the mainspring of the watch is to every other part of the timepiece. Science has made perfectly clear that the troubles that affect the individual organs of the body, have their seat in these nerve centres, so, without any wasteful experimenting, South American Nervine reaches out to the seat of the difficulty, and straightening out what is wrong there heals the whole body. Listen to what Mrs. H. Russell, Wingate, writes on this point: "I have used several bottles of South American Nervine Tonic, and will say, I consider it the best medicine in the world. I believe it saved the lives of two of my children. They were down, and nothing appeared to do them any good until I procured this remedy. It was very surprising how rapidly both improved on its use. I don't allow myself to be without some of it in my house. I recommend the medicine to all my neighbors." It will certainly grant new life to all who are delicate, whether young, middle-aged, or old. Do not worry along with ill health, but dispel it, and brighten your lives by the immediate use of South American Nervine.

On the Mountain Top

Weary and Jaded Seekers Attain the Coveted Position.

After Months and Years of Suffering Joy takes the Place of Sorrow.

Paine's Celery Compound Leads to the Summit of Health.

What a joy and satisfaction is experienced when weary and jaded travellers reach the peak of some mighty mountain range. Often such achievements are won after many privations and sufferings. Once the snow-clad and cloud enveloped summit is attained, past reverses and failures are forgotten; the heart is filled with joy and gladness and a profound satisfaction is experienced as a consequence of victory.

So it is with every human being who has reached the mountain top of vigorous health and strength through the aid of that wondrous medicine, Paine's Celery Compound. There is an intense joy and a feeling of happiness for victory secured after months and years of failures when agencies that promised help but resulted only in deception.

The direct cause of failures in the past to reach the elevated heights of health is entirely due to the use of worthless medicine.

Mark well the successes and victories of those who, in times of weakness, helplessness and suffering, were led, guided and sustained by that health-giver Paine's Celery Compound.

The common nostrums of our times are not able to cope with neuralgia, rheumatism, heart disease, nervousness, insomnia, dyspepsia, liver and kidney troubles. They may kindle in the breast a false hope for a time, and for a few days give a small measure of relief, but invariably the frail cords snap, and the victims are hurled into more dreadful dangers and sufferings, and often to death.

How vastly different is the experience of those who take Paine's Celery Compound as their strong leader, guide and protector. They are led surely and steadily onward and upward until the summit of perfect health is reached.

The experience of Mr. William Conley, farmer and hide merchant, of West Bolton, P.Q., will fully illustrate the lesson we wish to impress on every reader of this paper. It proves fully the great value of Paine's Celery Compound, and shows the folly of wasting time and money on medicines that have no curing merits to recommend them.

Mr. Conley writes a, follows:

"I have had several attacks of neuralgia. It kept on increasing—getting worse; and I tried all the doctors for help, and took all kinds of medicine, and I got so at last that I could not sleep nights. I was sent to Geo. W. Gilmour's for medicine and I got a prescription of quinine and other mixtures of drugs, which I took, but they produced no good. I saw an advertisement of Paine's Celery Compound, and I went and bought a bottle, and it cured me of all pains, and I can now rest as well as ever before. I would not be without it, if I had to pay $15 a bottle."

MYSTERIOUSLY DISAPPEARED.

An American Who Was Last Seen at St. Thomas, Ont.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Nov. 13.—Jacob S. Kernegood, who formerly resided in this city and whose home is now in New York, has disappeared in a very strange and mysterious manner. Mr. Kernegood is employed as a travelling salesman by Bernard L. Price, a clothing manufacturer doing business on Green street in New York.

Last week he started out from Omaha on an eastbound Michigan Central train at St. Thomas, Ont. He was preparing to retire to his berth just after the train left St. Thomas. Since then he has not been seen. The next stop of the train was at Buffalo and it did not stop again until Syracuse was reached. It passed through Rochester about two o'clock on Sunday morning.

At Syracuse it was discovered that Mr. Kernegood was not on the train. His clothing, satchel and shoes were in the sleeper. The entire train was searched, but Mr. Kernegood could not be found. The only explanation that can be given is that the man either walked from the train in his sleep or that he became suddenly insane and jumped off. Mr. Kernegood is 40 years old and has dark hair, long black moustache and short cut side whiskers. He is 5 feet 7 inches in height and weighs 146 pounds.

WILL ACCEPT THE CHEQUES.

The Anti-Parnellite Party Holds a Meeting in Dublin.

DUBLIN, Nov. 13.—The Anti-Parnellites met here yesterday, with their leader, Justin McCarthy, in the chair. They declared that the acceptance of Mr. Gladstone's and Lord Tweedmouth's celebrated cheques was justified, as these contributions to the Irish cause were made spontaneously. The begging circular, the meeting resolved, was not a party matter, as the party was not responsible for it. The circular had been sent out, the resolution added, through the blunder of a clerk. The meeting deprecated newspaper discussions of party differences as calculated to injure the Irish cause. Before the debate concerning the cheques was closed a resolution protesting against acceptance of them was proposed and rejected. The meeting declared that it was the Liberal party's paramount duty to secure the autonomy of Ireland and to observe faithfully its pledges in this respect. Such observance would be the sole guarantee of the continuation of the alliance between the Anti-Parnellites and Liberals.

PEACE OF EUROPE ASSURED

The Policy Adopted by His Father Will Be Adhered to—The Remains of Alexander III. Taken From Moscow En Route to the Capital.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 13.—M. De Giers, Minister of Foreign affairs, sent on Saturday this circular to Russian Ministers and ambassadors abroad:

"Our illustrious Sovereign upon assuming the supreme power conferred upon him by the inscrutable decrees of Providence, is firmly resolved to take to himself in all details the exalted task which his beloved father of imperishable memory undertook His Majesty will devote all his strength to the development of the internal welfare of Russia. He will deviate in no way from the completely pacific loyal and firm policy which has contributed so greatly to the general tranquility of the world.

"Russia will remain faithful to her traditions and will endeavor to maintain friendly relations to all powers recognizing as hitherto in the respect for right law and order the best guarantee of the safety of the nations.

"At the opening of the glorious reign which now belongs to history the rule's goal was simply the ideal of a strong and happy Russia, having proper regard for her own good, but at the same time without intending to injure anybody. To-day, at the beginning of a new reign, we avow the same principles with equal sincerity. We implore the Lord's blessing that these principles may be executed without modification for many years and may produce invariably the expected blessings."

The circular ends with the request that its text be laid before the government to which the recipient is accredited.

Will Try to Deport Mowbray.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—It is said that Immigration Commissioner Senner will probably take some action against Charles W. Mowbray, the English socialist who slipped through the immigration authorities last Saturday from the steamer Campania. Mowbray entered the country under an assumed name, and his appearance was so much changed that the inspectors failed to recognize him. It is said that efforts will be made to deport him on the ground that he obtained admission into the United States by fraud.

Deception in Marking Cheese.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 13.—Importers of Canadian cheese complain that deception has been practised in marking cheese made in June and which was sent out as being fit to market in September. Two of the largest importers say that the deception has been worse during the past season than in former years. Importers propose to make it compulsory for shippers to mark the exact date of the month and year on all cheese imported.

Sir Frank Writes to the Times.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Minister Smith of Canada, who is in London, has written to the Times endorsing Mr. Wakeham's recent communication as to fast steamers to Montreal. The Journal of Commerce, he says, considres the proposed scheme quite feasible. The known safety of the route and the excellent lighting of the St. Lawrence, he thinks, amply justly Admiral Hopkins' views.

DOCTORS INTERESTED.

They Cannot but Accept the Testimony of Two of Their Professional Brethren.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—The letters of Dr. McCormack of Richmond, and of Dr. E. A. Rose of Portland, recently published over their own signatures and testifying to their complete cure from Bright's disease and diabetes, respectively, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, have established to the satisfaction of medical men generally, that the pills do all that is claimed for them by their manufacturers. Both physicians are known as men well up in their professions, whose word can be absolutely relied upon, and who rarely make mistakes. The result of these letters will be an enormous sale of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Montreal.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times

LOCAL NEWS.

Young Women's Association.

Bible study this evening commencing at eight o'clock. Teacher, Miss Code. All young women welcome.

"The Fatal Wedding," "I long to see the girl I left behind," and five other songs of the day for 25c, at PETERBOROUGH MUSIC Co., 404 George street.

Fowler & Co., 150 Hunter street, are now offering special bargains in groceries, provisions, etc. Extra value in tea. 'Phone 262.

This is what we are doing, giving away Overcoats and Suits, at close wholesale prices. Grafton & Co.

"Ask your stove or hardware dealer for F. L. Madden's Enamel. It is the only Stove Pipe Varnish that does not smell, smoke or burn off."

$1 50 Per Leg.—

Which means $3 for the two legs, which is the very low price that Mr. W. J. Green, merchant tailor, charges for a pair of made to order pants, excellent material, first class fit and good finish. Hunter street is the place.

Telfordian Temperature Topics.

Tuesday, Nov. 13th.—Although a change, but not so mild as expected, the thermometer only rising to 20 degrees above zero at this morning's observation. Will have some snow if the wind goes northwest, then cold.—TPCS, TELFORD.

It's Impossible—but it can be done.

It seems almost impossible that W. J. Green, merchant tailor, can supply you with a perfect fitting pair of pants made to order, of good material, for the very small sum of $3.00. But he does it. Give him a call at his store on Hunter street, and you will be convinced.

A Sure Way.

He advertised a brand new scheme,
"How to make your trousers last,"
For fifty cents he'd tell the plan—
Demands came thick and fast.
And this reply he promptly sent,
'Twas but a cruel jest,
The postal card here but one line—
"Make first your coat and vest!"

Charity Entertainment.

The public are reminded of the charity entertainment to be given in the Catholic Order of Foresters Hall, Hunter street, under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of St. Peter's Cathedral. The date is Wednesday evening, Nov. 14th. Butcher's Orchestra will furnish music and the ladies will serve refreshments. Tickets, $1.00 per couple.

Protect your Horses.

Don't allow your valuable horses to go without a waterproof cover during the cold wet days of the fall. Be good to them, provide them with one of Kingscotte's strictly waterproof covers, costing only a dollar or two. If you are shipping and receiving goods that are liable to damage from wet, Kingscotte's black oiled canvas waterproof covers "fills the bill,"—nothing better or cheaper. They have no tar in their composition, being an oil preparation, which keeps them soft and pliable. Awnings taken down and stored in a careful and agreeable manner. Halls decorated for assemblies, balls and meetings of all kinds. ALF. KINGSCOTTE, tent, sail and awning maker, 344 Water street.

A MOST AUDACIOUS ROBBERY COMMITTED.

SHERIFF HALL'S RESIDENCE BURGLARIZED.

The Thief Enters and Removes Clothing From the Bedsides of the Sleeping Members of the Family—He Empties the Pockets and Sits Down and Regales Himself With a Luncheon.

The next sensation to which the Peterborough public will be treated will, in all probability be that the police station or one of the big policemen has been stolen and spirited away.

To the long list of burglaries already committed one more was added, last night or more properly speaking early this morning, when the residence of Sheriff Hall was entered and robbed with the coolest and most audacious effrontery.

The Sheriff's house, on Hunter street, was ablaze with light until a late hour last night, as the young people of the family had invited a number of their friends in to spend the evening, and the social function lasted until between one and two o'clock this morning—an hour later and the Sheriff's house was clothed in darkness, the family having retired for the night.

The house was opened up by the servants early this morning, but the fact that an entry had been made during the night by thieves was not ascertained until the Sheriff and his sons arose. They then discovered that a great deal of their clothing had been removed from their bedsides while they were asleep.

A HASTY INVESTIGATION

instantly ensued, and the missing coats, vests and trousers were all found in the woodshed, but completely stripped of everything valuable which had been contained in the pockets. Fortunately, a pair of trousers, in the pocket of which was a big roll of bills was not taken by the thief, but, as it was a handsome gold watch and chain, together with a considerable sum of money was secured by the marauder.

A plush case, in which a couple of dozen solid silver spoons generally repose, was also taken, by by a fortunate accident a set of plated spoons were put in the case by mistake last night, and thus the more valuable set was saved.

Nothing else of value has as yet been missed, and the burglar was evidently one of

as he enjoyed an impromptu lunch out in the woodshed with the greatest possible nerve imaginable. It was no snack, either, but was composed of the best in the house. The thief very evidently is a quaint kind of a humorist in his way, as he spread a tablecloth for himself and brought out all the dishes, etc., which he needed for his midnight repast.

It has not been ascertained just how an entrance to the house was obtained, as the domicile was opened up before the robbery was known of. There was no breakage whatever, and doubtless the door was either found open or the intruder was possessed of a

DUPLICATE KEY.

It is surmised that there was only a single individual concerned in the robbery, as there was only a place set for one at the table where the luncheon was enjoyed. Still the man's companions may not have been as fastidious as he, in providing themselves with plates and knives or there may have been a confederate watching outside, as is very often the case.

The police have been acquainted with the facts of the robbery, but other than confirming the suspicion that Peterborough is being "worked" by a regularly organized gang of thieves, no other result has yet become apparent.

—The members of the Gun Club will all turn out for a big shoot on Thanksgiving Day.

—Walter Stocker, "the sticker," is erecting a new bill board on Hunter street, just west of the Oriental.

—St. John's church, Havelock, will hold a dinner and entertainment on Thanksgiving Day evening.

—It is said that an American Syndicate will lease and enlarge the Arlington summer hotel at Cobourg.

—H. W. Hunt, of Sharbot Lake, was killed at that village on Thursday night by a Kingston & Pembroke train.

—The broken plate glass window in Mr. Frank Schneider's jewelry store, George street, will be replaced this week.

—The goose bone is nearly all white this year, and therefore snow will lie on the ground from erly in December until April or later.

—Many of the ratepayers are anxious to see the announcements of aspirants for the mayoralty. It is also about time for the aldermanic candidates to announce themselves.

—The Volts Hockey Club will meet for re-organization at the rooms, over the Palace Restaurant, to-morrow evening, at 8 p. m. sharp. A large attendance is requested.

—While eating an orange, the other day, a tiny Peterborough lass ran across a seed, and in mentioning the fact to her mother, exclaimed that she had found a bone in the orange.

—Owing to the stormy weather the brickwork was not commenced on the sewer this morning, but if it turns brighter the bricklayers will be at work early to morrow.

—Belleville was the scene of a dog-fight, last week, and the Humane Society of that place has laid information and will prosecute the owners of the dogs and the spectators of the fight.

—The Government Inspectors of live stock at Montreal, estimate that over five million dollars has been paid to Canadian farmers the past season, for cattle exported to the old country.

—This should be a warning. A cook in a restaurant at Peterborough was hugged and kissed by a citizen, who was fined $100 or six months in gaol for his fun. Cooks come high.—Belleville Intelligencer.

—Belleville has been notified by that man McLean, of the Underwriter's Association, that unless immediate steps are taken to discover the perpetrator of the incendiary fires there, that the classification of the city will be lowered.

—MR WM. Sanderson, of Ashburnham, arrived home Saturday evening after spending some several months at the Capital, Ottawa, where he was engaged in erecting a cottage for his son Albert, who is a foreman in the Government printing office.

—The steamer Daisy made her last trip of the season down the river to-day. Until navigation closes she will be engaged in towing the scows to their winter quarters, and in adjusting glance booms and other timbers for the Point St. Charles Lumber Company.

—The arbitration re the outfall sewer, which begins at ten o'clock in the morning in the council chamber will not be conducted with closed doors, but will be open to the public. As a great deal of interest has been manifested in regard to the question the attendance will probably be large.

—The farmers are jubilant over the fact that once more the root crop is securely housed for another year, and generally speaking, from what we can hear as well as observe, the fall work is almost completed. Of course some can plough a little more if the weather proves favourable; but, owing to the particularly fine fall, work has been well done.

—A scarlet fever card has been hung out on a residence on North Water street. Too great care can not be exercised in isolating a case of this kind, as scarlet fever is perhaps one of the most infectious diseases known to medical science. There is a case of diphtheria at the Nicholls Hospital and these two cases form the only infections diseases which now have a foothold in Peterborough.

—A warning to people who are in the habit of using their mouth for unnatural purposes is the case of Edward Hales, a Toronto carpenter, admitted to the General Hospital, yesterday. Hales was working on a building, and, while looking upward, swallowed some wire nails which he had in his mouth. One of the nails lodged in his throat, and an operation will have to be performed before it can be dislodged.

—The Omemee Mirror says: "It was suggested by a Peterboroughnian one day this week, hearing of so many Omemeeites moving to Peterborough, that it would be well for us to hire Abe Huffman, of Millbrook, and move the whole village down, but we will have to wait until the Trent Valley Canal is completed and Pigeon River dredged. This, we suppose, will be about the day when the millenium has come.

—A peculiarity of the blind is that there is seldom one of them who smokes. Soldiers and sailors who have been accustomed to smoking, but who have lost their sight in action, smoke only for a short time afterwards. They say it gives them no pleasure, because they cannot see the smoke. Another peculiarity of the blind is that while other storekeepers are asking a dollar for a blind with a lace fringe, stratton is selling them at sixty-nine cents each, with roller and fittings complete.

—One cannot be too careful in drawing down the blinds in the evening, unless inspection of all one's actions is invited. Last night two men and a woman in a room on George street afforded amusement to quite a crowd, who were posted in a window in a building just opposite. The Greek posers would not have been in it with this trio in the portrayal of anger, grief and merriment. Just what the pantomime all meant the crowd could not guess.

—A citizen applied to Magistrate Dumble for a search warrant this morning. His wife is not living with him at present, and he is positive that she has taken some of his furniture and tools which he had stored away. In fact he has secured the evidence of the carter, who removed the goods on the instruction of the wife. The magistrate declined to interfere in the case unless it was brought before him as a criminal, and not a civil, action. The complainant did not wish to see his wife locked up, and so will apply to the Division Court for a writ of replevin.

—A New England comedy, in four acts, entitled "Aunt Sally," which was presented at the opera house last night, proved quite a drawing card. The play abounds with funny situations and is so arranged as to enable each mhmber of the company an opportunity of giving a specialty "turn." Some good dancing and singing was witnessed during the evening. Miss Bertie Conway, as Tommy Tucker, earned no inconsiderable applause for the manner in which she sang "My Bowery Girl." Her dancing was also good, as was that of Mr. Harry Sargeant, the Irish seargeant. Mr. William Gray, as Milwaukee Behr, was particularly funny and his odd sayings were fully appreciated.

Did You Ever

Sit in the Exact Centre of the World and Watch it Revolve Around You?

We almost thought that we did that very thing all day Saturday as we stood in our MANTLE and MILLINERY ROOMS and saw so many people circulating around us. Orators say that they catch inspiration from a sympathetic audience. We know that this is true of retailers of Dry Goods.

Our enthusiasm mounts as rapidly up the mercury in the thermometer during an August scorcher.

Everyone who called admired our JACKETS and MILLINERY. Everyone bought. Many told us they had been to all the stores in town, but nowhere was there such an assortment, and, as to price, they tell us that Our Prices are fully 25 per cent. Less than any other house.

AN AMUSING MUSICAL MISTAKE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I noticed in Saturday's issue of the evening papers, a local paragraph which states that "Le Trille du Diable," which will be one of the selections performed by Herr Yunck, the great violinist, at the concert in the Opera House, on Dec. 4th, was composed in 1671. This is palpably an error, as it fixes the date of the composition twenty-one years before the composer was born. Guiseppe Tartini, the composer of what is popularly known as the "Devil's Trill," or as he himself called it, "The Devil's Sonata," was born at Pirano, Italy, in 1692. The "Trille du Diable," was composed about 1713, and the origin of the piece is weird enough to justify the title. One night Tartini dreamed that he had sold his soul to the Evil One, and his new servant obeyed his every wish. Tartini gave him his violin to play upon, and was astonished to hear him play a sonata "of such exquisite beauty as surpassed the boldest flights of my imagination." He awoke, and seizing his violin, tried to repeat the strains he had heard in his dreams, but in vain. However, he used the idea, and composed the "Devil's Sonata," which, "though," as the composer says, "it was the best I ever wrote," was far below the one he had heard in his dreams. The piece itself bears out the truth of this description of its origin. It consists of five movements, and begins very slowly. The opening larghetto is soft and low as though it was a seductively whispered invitation to listen to the demon's music. This melancholy strain is momentarily interrupted by a demoniab laugh in the shape of tenths, followed presently by other fiendish guffaws, in shrill, strident thirds. Then comes a change of time, which leads up to the spirit-stirring theme of the "devil's trill." Again the demon performer laughs and trills again and again. Then, as though the sleeper had been disturbed by the impish laughter, comes a passage of soothing melodious music, then a rapid movement (allegro assai.) Now trill upon trill follows; the allegro movement is repeated a fifth higher; then more trills, and as they cease one can fancy the dreamer waking and listening to the receding sounds of soft, muted music, that dies away in the last long-drawn chord. This composition abounds in transcendant technical difficulties, which only a virtuoso like Herr Yunck can overcome, which he does with the most brilliant facility, as those who attend the concert, on December 4th, will discover by delightful experience.

Yours, etc.,

BEATS THE WORLD.

Yankee Dairymen Concede the Superiority of Canadian Cheese.

The Executive Committee of the Wisconsin Dairymen's Association recently met at Fort Atkinson to consider the best means of preventing the entire destruction of the dairying interest of the State. The Milwaukee Sentinel prints a long article containing the substance of the discussion and in it we find much ground for congratulation upon the wisdom of Canadian laws and the honesty and competency of Canadian dairymen.

After describing and lamenting the decay of the home industry, the Sentinel says:—"In strong contrast with the management of the cheese business in Wisconsin is the course of the Canadian Government and cheese makers there. In Canada there is a law which absolutely prohibits the manufacture of filled cheese, which is backed by not only an overwhelming public sentiment, but also by the active aid of Professor Robertson, the efficient dairy commissioner of the province. Canadian cheese is in demand everywhere in the European markets and at the World's Fair, last year, swept everything before it in competition with the products of the American factories. Even in Wisconsin and Illinois it is no uncommon thing to see Canadian cheese on the menu card. It has been raised to the highest position in the markets of the world by the aid of the Government in preventing frauds."

This tribute from a disinterested source speaks volumes for our cheese industry and explains one of the causes why our farmers have maintained a comfortably prosperous condition during years of world-wide depression.

A MEETING OF SUNDAY SCHOOL WORKERS.

All Interested Invited to Attend.

At the request of the President of the County Sunday School Association, the following circular is published:

County of Peterborough, Nov. 1894.

DEAR FELLOW WORKER,—The Provincial Sunday School Convention for 1894 is now history.

Many things have been said and thoughts suggested, that it is well for us to think over and see how far we can carry them out. Our county was largely represented at Belleville by intelligent workers, composed of pastors, superintendents, officers and teachers.

Now, before thoughts and impressions fade or vanish, it has been thought advisable to call a meeting of S. S. workers, and together discuss ways and means by which the work in our county may be pushed and extended. At the present time our county holds no mean place among the counties of the province; let us continue to hold it. To halt is to lose, to rest at ease is to go behind.

A number of subjects of interest to every one will be presented at the meeting which will be held on Nov. 17th, in Peterborough, at the rooms of the Y.M.C.A., at the hour of 10 a.m. sharp. Be sure and be there.

THE PRESIDENT.

NORMAL NOTES.

At the late Provincial examination held on Sept. 28th, '94, the Otonabee Normal class sent up twelve students, 11 of whom passed, two took 199 marks out of a possible 200, and the lowest scored 176 marks.

As a class, that of Otonabee leads the province, not excepting the cities.

The class has organized again and is studying the 2nd Normal and Training book, in view of the next Provincial examination to be held on Sept. 27th, 1895.

SPECIAL OFFER TO NEWSPAPER READERS.

Extraording Inducements—The Hit of the 19th Century.

The WEEKLY EXAMINER begs to announce that it has completed arrangements for clubbing with the Family Herald and Weekly Star, Montreal, that superb Metropolitan weekly which is recognized as a phenomenal paper by the leading papers of the world, and which is in the truest sense considered all over the continent as a household necessity. The Family Herald and Weekly Star has no competitor. The Family Herald is a quarter of a century old and it is celebrating the event by presenting each yearly subscriber with a magnificent picture, a picture which is simply carrying the people of Europe by storm. It is entitled "Mother's Darling." The PETERBOROUGH EXAMINER PRINTING Co. will accept $1.75 for the Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal, and the WEEKLY EXAMINER for one full year.

TESTIMONY OF EYE WITNESSES.

A number of residents of Peterborough and vicinity have, at other places, heard Mrs. Mountford, who gives two of her tableau lectures, in the Opera House, here, on Monday and Tuesday evenings next, and they speak of her as follows:—

PETERBOROUGH, Nov. 13th, 1894.

Having heard and seen Mrs. Mountford in one or more of her lectures, we gladly testify to the value of her lecture in vividly illustrating and explaining the manner and customs of the people of the Holy Land. As these are so different from the customs of Western lands, her lectures are deeply interesting to all, and an evening spent at one of her entertainments is an evening of pleasure and edification. They are especially of value to clergymen, Sunday school teachers and Bible students, and to all who feel an interest in the land of the patriarchs, prophets and apostles. Every one in Peterborough should hear and see her if possible.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The Board of Directors held an interesting meeting last night. President Bennett called the meeting to order, with the following gentlemen present: L. Croly, Wm. Madill, A. L. Grover, P. H. Green, F. Mason, J. W. Garvin, Sheriff Hall, G. M. Roger, A. Parker, W. J. Green, and the secretary.

Plans for the winter's work were discussed. It was thought advisable to make some changes in the religious work of the Association. Suggestions were made for a bright lively song service Saturday nights, and a Gospel meeting for men Sunday afternoons.

A reception to young men on Thanksgiving day met the approval of the Board.

Finances were discussed, and it was felt that honest, earnest work along association lines would be backed up by the business men and friends of the association. The plans were not at all elaborate, and the "working up" of a great amount of machinery seemed out of place. The spirit of the meeting was rather toward getting a firm hold of the work as it is, and slowly feeling the way, to press along profitable lines, laying great stress on united, prayerful effort, looking to the King for His blessing and approving smile.

The Secretary is now at his post, and will be pleased to meet young men, friends and well wishers of the Association. All donations of kind criticism, advice, work and prayer thankfully received.

What do the musical members think of a Glee Club for the winter months? Call at the office and talk it over.

SPORTS AND PASTIMES.

Items of Interest to Local Sportsmen.

HOCKEY.

The Peterborough hockey players met in the rooms over the Palace Restaurant, last night, and organized for the season. The attendance was very large and the enthusiasm manifested so great, as to greatly encourage the members of the club.

The election of officers resulted as follows,—

Honorary President—Mr. Geo. Hatton.
President—Mr. Greenwood.
Vice-President—Mr. George J. Horkins.
Sec.-Treas.—Mr. J. P. Hurley.
Captain—Mr. W. J. Montgomery.
Executive Committee—Messrs. Walter Phalen, Wonham, Lionel King, J. P. Hurley, and W. J. Montgomery.

The Peterboroughs will again enter as competitors in the Junior Series and are confident of coming out of the winter's campaign as victors. The first team will be stronger than last year. Mr. Hedley, who has left town, will probably be replaced by L. Fevre, who played with the Royal Military College team, of Kingston, last year, and Strickland, also a former R. M. C. man, will be found on the ice this winter.

HE COMMITTED THE THEFT IN A SPIRIT OF MISCHEIF.

An Honourable Discharge Granted the Prisoner by Magistrate Dumble.

David Strain, for whom the police have been looking for the last couple of weeks, was placed under arrest last night on a charge of theft. He was honourably discharged by the magistrate this morning, as His Worship thought the boy spoke the truth when he stated that the theft was committed in a spirit of mischief and was only intended as a joke.

It seems that Strain removed a milk can from the wagon of a milk vendor, and hid it behind the fence on the afternoon of October 21st. On the following night he carried it up to the Central School and left it in the yard, where it was found later on.

The magistrate inquired of the boy what he had done with the milk which was in the can, and the court audibly smiled when the lad answered that there was no milk in the can, but that it was half full of water.

GENERALLY PRESCRIBED.

The Idea that Bright's Disease Cannot be Cured Proven to be a Fallacy.

Quebec, Nov. 5th.—Local physicians are much gratified over the letter to Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, this province, testifying to his cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since the introduction of the remedy in this city many physicians have not hesitated to prescribe the pills, and numerous cures have been the result. The latest testimony, coming from so well known a medical man, proves that the local men were right in changing the old-time remedies for Dodd's Kidney Pills. Hence their jubilation.

Also a great variety of other fancy parlor tables in choice woods, and an artistic line of highly finished antique oak chairs, with cobler seats of embossed leather, and a larger line of floor rockers at greatly reduced prices, in fact we have so many new things that we have no space this week to enumerate them. Our stock is complete in every line. A. CLEGG, 427 George street.

WILL THE BILLIARD TABLES BE SUPPRESSED.

It is Said an Endeavour Will be Made to Prevent the Issuing of Licenses Next Year.

The ministers and some of the foremost in the ranks of the temperance workers are not saying much in regard to the municipal elections, but they are "sawing wood" all the same, and it is rumoured that quite an elaborate programme is being drawn up in the way of the lines upon which they will work this year.

A set of rather embarassing questions, it is understood, will have to be answered by the aldermanic candidates in the different wards, before they will receive the vote of the temperance people and moral reformers of the town.

A campaign, it is stated, will be inaugurated against the pool and billiard tables, but if they are closed up the town treasury will sadly miss the twelve hundred dollars a year, which is now paid in for the billiard and pool table licenses. A strong effort will also be made to even further reduce the number of hotels and saloons in the town.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A "Cold" Day!

You caught a cold last week—one of those long, lingering sorts of colds that's sneezy thing to get. Everybody you knew, and some people whom you had never been introduced to, told you what to take, and the more you took the more cold you took. Finally you went to see a doctor. He felt your pulse, told you to hold out your tongue, which felt like an all wool blanket, and advised you to drink plenty of COLD WATER, take two grains of quinine every two hours—and wear a good warm Overcoat. "Two dollars, please," said the doctor, and as you paid him like a little man, you made up your mind that if you had bought an Overcoat when you should, you would have saved your two dollars, the quinine, and wouldn't have to drink so much COLD WATER.

LONG STRING

of diseases follows a "run-down" system when the liver is inactive and the blood in disorder. Look out for "breakers ahead" by putting the liver and blood in a healthy condition. You've only to turn to the right remedy to make yourself secure from disease. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery prevents as well as cures. Take it, as you ought, when you feel the first symptoms (languor, loss of appetite, dullness, depression) and you'll save yourself from something serious.

In recovering from "La Grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, or to build up needed flesh and strength it is indicated.

It's a blood-purifier that has stood the test of time. For a quarter of a century the "Discovery" has numbered its cures by the thousands. The manufacturers prove their faith in it by guaranteeing it for all disorders arising from bad blood; in Scrofula, Eczema, Tetter, Salt-rheum, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, and every kindred ailment.

If you receive no benefit you'll get your money back. What offer could be fairer?

It cures Catarrh in the Head — perfectly and permanently — Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

ALMOST A TOTAL WRECK.

How to Regain Health and Strength When Run Down by Overwork, Worry or Disease

In this age of rapid living, thousands of men are broken down in health and spirit as the result of overwork or mental worry. To all such Dr. Williams' Pills offer a speedy and unfailing cure. They invigorate the blood, restore the nerves, giving the sufferer a new lease of life and energy. Mr. A. N. Elsan, of Ship Harbor, N. S., gives his experience for the benefit of such sufferers. He says :—"I cannot speak too highly of the value of your Pink Pills. Before I began using them it is no exaggeration to say I was a total wreck. I suffered from nervous debility and had tried many remedies without getting any relief. Indeed, I was often worse after taking some of these remedies than before I began. When I commenced using Pink Pills I weighed about 140 pounds, while now after their use I weigh 176 pounds, and never felt better in life. My wife has also used Pink Pills for kidney trouble and has derived great help from them. I cheerfully give you my testimonial in the hope that what I may say may be of benefit to some other sufferer in inducing him to try your wonderful remedy." Beware of imitations and substitutes. The genuine Pink Pills are positively not sold in any form except in the boxes bearing the company's trade mark. Anything said to be "just the same," or "just as good" is a fraud.

The Fairy Ring of Helena.

The well known circle on the pasture lands about six miles east of Helena, near the old overland stage road and which has been a curiosity and a source of speculation for years, is identical with the fairy rings so common in some parts of England. There were formerly two of these rings, but one has entirely disappeared within the last few years. The remaining one is about 200 feet in diameter and forms a perfect circle. The ground forming the circle is about two yards wide and quite destitute of vegetation. Many theories have been advanced as to the cause of these rings. Some say that it is the result of lightning, others that a herd of buffalo, pursued by wolves, stopped and formed themselves into a circle as a means of defending their young, and thus trampled out the grass.

These rings have attracted the attention of scientific men, and recent investigations have shown they are the result of the centrifugal development of certain kinds of fungi, among which is the common mushroom, which shows a tendency to grow in this manner. The spot where it has grown is unfitted for its continued nourishment, and the spawn extends outward to new soil, forming the circle. These rings are common in eastern Montana along the Musselshell river, but the one near Helena is the most perfect in the state. —Helena (Mon.) Independent.

Laboring in High Altitudes.

According to an American journal, some curious facts were brought to light on the capabilities of men to labor at high altitudes, during the construction of the Peruvian Central Railroad. This line starts at Lima, and, proceeding inland, reaches its highest point at the tunnel of Galeria, 15,645 feet above sea level. It is stated that men were able to do a fair "sea level" day's work as long as the altitude did not exceed 8,000 feet to 10,000 feet above sea level, but beyond this there was a sudden falling off in the work of one-fourth to one-third up to the heights of 12,000 feet, and at still higher elevations 100 men were required to do work easily done by fifty at sea level.

An Interesting Experiment.

A vessel containing a certain white powder is placed upon the table, where the operator advances, waving his wand and uttering some magic words coined by himself, when lo! of a sudden the room is lighted up with a brilliant light, so effulgent that it dims the eyes of the spectators. The secret is this: The powder is composed of equal weights of loaf sugar and chlorate of potash, separately reduced to fine powder, and then well fixed together. This is placed in a cup, and when the powder is touched with the least drop of sulphuric acid it will instantly burst into a flame. The end of the glass rod should be dipped in the acid immediately before use.

THE ECONOMY OF GAS ENGINES.

An Interesting Resume of Their Value as a Means of Power Producing.

In a paper read before the Incorporated Institution of Gas Engineers in London, Mr. Bryan Donkin gave a number of facts as to the extent to which gas engines are used and the degree of economy they have attained. He said that, according to Mr. Dowson, gas engines for electric lighting, developing about 7,000 horsepower, had been sold in England and Otto engines for 11,000 horsepower in Germany. Messrs. Crossley informed him that the number of Otto gas engines in use in England was about 30,000, and he might assume that there were about nearly double this number for all kinds of gas engines.

At "Chateau Lay" an Otto gas engine, feeding about 650 glow lamps, consumed 1.2 pounds of fuel per indicated horsepower per hour for the manufacture of its Dowson gas. At the Chelsea flour mill a 60 nominal horsepower twin cylinder gas motor, with Dowson gas, used during a full load test about .87 pound of anthracite and coke per indicated horsepower per hour. The engine had a cylinder 17 inches in diameter by 2 feet stroke and made 156 revolutions per minute. At the Leven tweed mills there were, he said, four gas engines with Dowson gas, developing 200 horsepower. These engines used during a six days' test 1¼ pounds of anthracite per brake horsepower per hour. With coke from the gas works the consumption was 1¾ pounds per hour.

At Godalming paper mills there were gas engines giving 400 indicated horsepower, with an avarage consumption of one pound of fuel per indicated horsepower per hour. At a weaving mill in Halifax there were four gas engines of about 200 indicated horsepower using 1.2 pounds of gas coke per horsepower per hour. At the Uxbridge waterworks a water pumping test was made in February, 1892, using generator gas. The consumption was a pound of coal per indicated horsepower, or 1¾ pounds per horsepower of water lifted per hour. The approximate power was 10¼ indicated horsepower. The whole of Messrs. Crossley Bros.' large works are driven by gas engines using Dowson gas made from anthracite coal. There are eight gas motors from 12 to 30 nominal horsepower, indicating collectively about 325 horsepower.

The firm stated that the consumption was from 1 to 1¼ pounds per indicated horsepower per hour. The net cost of the anthracite fuel, labor, interest on capital and repairs worked out at about 2¼ pence per 1,000 cubic feet. Comparing this with average town gas and allowing for the difference in thermal value, the equivalent cost would be about 10 pence per 1,000 cubic feet. A single cylinder gas motor indicating 280 horsepower, driving a large flour mill in France, was lately seen by Mr. Donkin working with generator gas from French coal. The preliminary trials gave about three quarters of a pound per indicated horsepower per hour. The engine will give a maximum of 320 indicated horsepower.—Providence Journal.

A Matter of Compromise.

Gonebigh—You and your wife always seem to get on admirably together. How do you manage it?

Levelhed—We came to an understanding early in our married life, and have kept things up ever since on the basis we established then.

Gonebigh—Tell me about it.

Levelhed—Well, when we first went to housekeeping my wife wanted linen sheets and I wanted cotton ones, and—

Gonebigh—Well?

Levelhed—Well, we compromised by having linen sheets.

A Fruitful Cause of Loss.

The loss of stock from impure water is greater than is usually known. In many cases the animals do not die but lose condition and do not make weight in a satisfactory manner. Where the drinking water has a green scum over it it is not fit for drinking purposes for any animal, and unless pure spring or creek water is in plentiful supply it is good economy to put down wells and erect windmills. This may cost something to begin with, but will save money in the end.

TO BUILD A NEW ROAD

A Line Which the C. P. R. is Said to Be Contemplating.

FROM BUFFALO TO THE FALLS

Prospectus of the Work Which the Company is Said to Have in View—A Short Route, Commanding a Good View of the Falls of Niagara.

BUFFALO, Nov. 12.—For several years there has been more or less talk about the Canadian Pacific coming into Buffalo, but it has never developed into anything of a definite nature. If, however, the information that has recently come to this city is correct, and it came from a source that is apparently entirely reliable, this great corporation has finally completed its plans to build a line of its own into this city, but nothing is known as to when it will go.

Ever since the electric road from Chippewa to Queenstown was built and all doubt as to the Canadian Pacific being vitally interested in the enterprise dissipated, it has been confidently believed that the great aim of the company was to secure such a footing as the Falls as would enable it to offer the most alluring inducements to the travelling public.

It will be remembered that several years ago a charter was obtained to build a bridge at the Falls. Later a line was surveyed on this side of the river and leading to a point in the city that warranted the conclusion then formed by those who were watching the movements of the Company that their intentions was to build this bridge between the present carriage or upper Suspension Bridge and the Cantilever Bridge used by the M. C. It would seem in the light of more recent development that this was simply a blind to cover up the real intentions of the company. It appears according to the Courier that the company deemed it advisable to head off any opposition that might possibly come from the company that controls the upper Suspension Bridge and so had it was made it is stated under which it was arranged that when the C. P. R. was ready to come to this side of the river from Canada certain alterations should be made in the bridge which would make the structure available for railroad purposes both by steam and electric motor as well as foot passengers and conveyances.

The plan is to first build a steel arched bridge underneath the present structure for a carriage way and foot passengers when that work is completed and ready for use. The present bridge is to be replaced by a modern steel railroad bridge of sufficient capacity to admit of the passage of railroad trains and electric cars.

It will be at once seen that if a scheme of this character were carried out and trains of the Canadian Pacific were run over such a bridge travellers would be brought closer to the cataract while en route than they now are by any road running to the Falls. The value of such a position is quite obvious, particularly when one reflects on the fact that it would make the Canadian Pacific master of the situation so far as any likelihood of any other road being able to bridge the Niagara gorge so far as the other side of it is concerned.

The understanding is that the company has its right of way all secured and the line laid out in readiness to build when it is prepared to carry its plan into effect. The statements made that it will bridge Niagara river from a point above the city of Niagara Falls to Navy Island and from that island to Grand Island. Then it will build its road from the foot to the head of Grand Island and from that point will reach Strawberry Island and the mainland by bridges. It will be remembered that some time ago the sale of Strawberry Island to a company was recorded, and much was said at that time about what was to be done in the way of utilizing it for immense docks, etc. It is now said that the sale was a blind to cover up the plans of the Canadian Pacific.

How it proposes to come up into the city after it again strikes the mainland is not known, but, having accomplished so much as has been herewith outlined, it is not likely that they have lost sight of so important a matter, and now that so much is known of its plans and intentions in all probability more developments will eventually follow. If the line is to be built as stated it will be the shortest of any road running between Buffalo and the Falls.

Situation in Madagascar.

LONDON, Nov. 12.—A despatch to the Times from Port Louis, Mauritius, says that all the diplomatic relations between France and Madagascar have now been broken off.

PORT LOUIS, Mauritius, Nov. 12.—Advices received here from Tamative say that the Hova Primer has announced that he will afford protection to the Methodist missionaries in Madagascar, and all the French now in Tamative, where M. Le Myre De Vilers, the French Commissioner, now is. The Hovas are concentrating at Diego Sauriez, at the northern extremity of the Island.

Ringing Noises

In the ears, sometimes a roaring, buzzing sound, are caused by catarrh, that exceedingly disagreeable and very common disease. Loss of smell or hearing also result from catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, is a peculiarly successful remedy for this disease, which it cures by purifying the blood.

Hood's Pills are the best after dinner pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.

A Terrible Experience:

Mr. Geo. Tribe, of Straffordville, Ont., a pretty village near the shores of Lake Erie, went through an experience lately that he will never forget. He tells it in his own words:

"For three years I suffered from skin disease in its worst form. I tried Kennedy's Medical Discovery and the Cuticura remedies, and doctored one year with the best physicians in the land, but got no benefit; they pronounced my disease a Scaly Eruption, but failed to remove it. It came on in red blotches and spread over my body; the skin became dry and formed hard, white scales; the itching was intolerable, but I am now completely cured by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. I can truly say I owe my good health to B. B. B., and I advise all sufferers to use this splendid medicine.

Depredations of the Cook Gang.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Nov. 13.—The Cook gang held up farmers and stole horses and saddles six miles from here yesterday. They are headed toward Fort Gibson, and a posse started out after them. Seven of the gang went to the house of James Dinkens near Perry and demanded food which was refused. The outlaws then bound Dinkens, his wife and his daughter and plundered the house. Elmer Lucas, a member of the gang under arrest at Fort Smith, Ark., made a confession of his connection with Bill Cook. Lulu Cook, who was arrested last week at Tahlequah, is at liberty here on bond. She has written a long statement to the public charging that Marshals harassed her brothers Bill and Jim until they were forced into outlawry.

Affairs in the Sandwich Islands.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 13.—Honolulu advices up to November 8 have been received here. The election was held October 29 for Senators and Representatives of the Legislature on that Island, and all the candidates of the American Union party were elected. The single Opposition candidate failed of election. On the other islands the candidates elected are nearly all active supporters of the Republic. It is believed all the senators strongly support annexation. Letters have been received from Queen Victoria and the Czar of Russia recognizing the Republic of Hawaii.

Big Fire in Hastings.

HASTINGS, Nov. 13.—Fire broke out in the Misses Perkins' millinery store yesterday. The millinery store as well as the second storey in which were the C. P. R. Telegraph and the Star newspaper, controlled by J. H. Scriver, was gutted. The losses are:—Building, loss $400 to $500; insurance possibly in Guardian. J. A. Howard, loss on plant, $1,500, fully insured. Miss Perkins, millinery, loss $1,000, insurance $900 in Guardian. J. P. Coveney, grocer, damage $300, covered by insurance in Phœnix, England. T. Howard, harness, damage $500, insured in Guardian; J. H. Scriver, Star, loss $400, no insurance; F. Jaynes, groceries, damage slight.

Reform in Municipal Elections.

MONTREAL, Nov. 13. — The Volunteer Electoral League have drafted a bill to be presented to the Legislature, which proposes some radical changes to the city charter regarding municipal elections. Corrupt practices are to be punishable by seven years' disqualification. Each voter is to vote only once for Mayor and a waiting room for voters is asked for at each polling booth. The list is to be open to public inspection. Candidates are to be required to make a monetary deposit which will be forfeited if they do not take 20 per cent. of the vote cast. A new ballot marker has to be introduced.

IN A PITIABLE CONDITION.

A Barque Crowded With Sick Negroes Arrives at Perth Amboy.

PERTH AMBOY, N.J., Nov. 13.—The American barque Robert S. Patterson, which has arrived here, was visited by the health officer, who found her crowded with negroes in a pitiable condition of suffering from disease, bad food and lack of clothing. The negroes were employed in the phosphate mines on the Island of Navassa, and being unable to stand the hard work, bad food and exposure to the climate, took passage for home aboard the vessel, which has no accommodations except for the crew.

Seventy men were packed in between decks in a space 25 by 50 feet and suffered greatly from sea sickness and lack of ventilation. A disease known as berri-berri, a form of scurvy, broke out. Three men died on the voyage and were buried at sea; three died here and were buried in the pauper burying ground belonging to the city.

Dr. Ramsey, the health officer, applied for the admission of ten sick men to the Marine hospital at Staten Island, but was informed that only members of the ship's crew could be admitted. They will be taken care of in the city's emergency hospital until they are well enough to be sent to their homes at Baltimore. Dr. Ramsey will take legal measures to abate this evil if possible.

The Volcano of Colima Still Active.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 13.—A special from Guadelajara, Mex., says the volcano of Colima is still in a state of active eruption and the people of that section are terror-stricken. The crops at the base of the mountain have been destroyed by the burning lava that has been pouring down upon the fields. The red flames ascend to a great height and the scene is a grand one, particularly at night, and is plainly visible for a distance of 200 miles. It is believed this eruption is connected in some way with the recent earthquakes that were felt throughout Southern Mexico.

Mrs. Cleveland Christens a Boat.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13.—The first of the two steamships built in this country for the International Navigation Company was launched from the Cramps' shipyard in the presence of President Cleveland, members of the cabinet and a large throng of people. Mrs. Cleveland stood sponsor for the vessel, and christened it the St. Louis, after the metropolis of Missouri.

Heavy Snow Storm in Michigan.

MENOMINEE, Mich., Nov. 13.—A heavy snow storm is raging here and the wind is blowing a gale from the southwest. The steam barge Pringle and consorts and the Business are two or three days overdue and fears are entertained for their safety. They are bound up from Buffalo to load with lumber at this port.

A Bomb on the Stand.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—A policeman found what he supposed to be a bomb in a niche between the pillars of the courts of justice on the Strand last evening. He took it to the Bow street police station where it is soaking in a bucket of water, awaiting examination. The shell is of iron, and the whole thing is twelve inches long and five inches thick.

Gave Birth in a Street Car.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Mary Kaufman, a young married woman, was alone when she boarded a car on the Second avenue line. When she left the car at Sixth street she was accompanied by a female baby. Both were removed in an ambulance. There were several passengers in the car when the woman first gave evidence of the event.

Founded on Dr. Wild's Idea.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 13.—A church, the cardinal principle of which is the belief that the Anglo-Saxon race is one of the lost ten tribes of Israel, has been founded by Rev. Mr. Allen, who conducted a public baptism of converts in the waters of the bay.

Smallpox in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—Fourteen cases of smallpox were discovered by the health authorities yesterday. The contagion in each case resulted from the cases discovered recently at No. 437 West 39th street.

Cold in the head—Nasal Balm gives instant relief; speedily cures. Never fails.

WAYS TO GET RICH.

The road to fortune is paved with printer's ink.

Shekels and sense are necessary in successful advertising.

Get something people want, advertise it wisely and it is sure to pay.

The best advertising will not create a demand for that which is not wanted.

Success in business is paved by the typesetter and made smooth by the printing press.

Brevity is the soul of defeat in some advertising. Grain won't grow to fruitfulness the day it is planted.

The advice of a bishop to a young preacher applies equally well to an advertiser: "Have something to say. Say it. Stop."

The men who fail and go down in oblivion belong to the class who never advertise, advertise occasionally or only as they think their trade will warrant.

There may be a double meaning in the misspelled sign in South Brooklyn: "For Sail—A sloop yacht of forty-five tons. Apply to owner, Third avenue, Bay Ridge."

An advertisement should tell the whole story in the least number of words, carefully selected and easily comprehended. The display should be adapted to the medium used.

To catch the eye is the first requisite in an advertisement; what follows should be so well put together as to excite the reader's interest and claim his attention to the end.—Printer's Ink.

PROGRESSIVE WOMEN.

Queen Victoria greatly dislikes a visitor who is shy and colors or looks agitated when addressed. At the finish of the interview the queen generally bows slightly or offers her hand, and then turns a little to one side to save the very trying necessity of an entirely backward exit from her presence.

The empress of Austria has her hair shampooed once a month. It is still beautiful, luxuriant and perfectly black, and when let down touches the ground as she stands, and she is tall. It is said the hair wash requires forty eggs, and the other ingredients are obtained from no less than twenty mysterious bottles.

One of the best-known figures in Paris is Mme. Yoer, who, upon the death of her husband, a reporter for the French press, took up his work and has conducted it with marked enterprise. In her rounds she is accompanied by a great white poodle called "The Doctor," who permits no one to trifle with his mistress.

One of the authorities on decoration in England is Mrs. Comyns Carr. She is the wife of a successful theatrical manager, and to her ideas on stage decoration and costume he owes much of his success. Mrs. Carr has designed dresses for several of Mr. Irvings' plays, and is almost always Miss Terry's chief counselor on wardrobe matters.

POULTRY POINTS.

As soon as the old hens can be spared for market they should be fattened and sold. This ought to be done before the hens begin moulting.

Light, nutritious and easily digested food is what confined fowls require to do well, but under no consideration should corn be fed exclusively.

If disease appears and obstinately resists remedies, it is better to begin with new stock than to breed from those that have been sick a long time.

Mark the pullets that you want to keep as soon as you know which ones they are. Then there will be no danger of their being sold or eaten by mistake.

The hens should always have somewhere to dust. It will aid them to rid themselves of lice. If a spoonful of insect powder be added to the dust, all the better.

Chickens should not be allowed to go on the roosts until they are ten or twelve weeks old. If allowed to roost too young their growth and appearance will be injured.

A small box of charcoal kept where the hens can have access to it will arrest disorders of the bowels from overfeeding. Use it freshly burned and break it into reasonably small pieces.

CHURCH AND CLERGY.

There are 50,000,000 Lutherans in the world.

Bishop Foster has been attending annual conferences for fifty seven years.

The Methodist Episcopal church south had an increase of nearly 40,000 members in 1893.

The Presbyterian church is agitating the establishment of a "temperance Sat bath." The third Sabbath in September is suggested.

Amanda Smith, the colored Methodist evangelist, says there are just two things in the Bible: "It shall come to pass," and "It came to pass."

The Swedish Lutherans in America have over 1,100 students in their three colleges at Rock Island, Ill., Lindsburg, Kan., and St. Peter, Minn.

FLASHES OF FUN.

She—Are you going to any balls this season? He—I am going to three balls tomorrow.—Syracuse Post.

"I'm going to become a professional prize-fighter." "What! Why, man, you haven't the slightest command of language."—Chicago Record.

Clara—Were there any marrying men down at the beach this summer? Cora—Yes; there were two ministers and a Justice of the Peace.—Yonkers Statesman.

Cæsar was a lucky man. He could go around where he pleased and his wife never asked any annoying questions. She was above suspicion.—Boston Transcript.

"What was the trouble over at the Woman's Club yesterday afternoon? I never heard such talking." "Oh, it was the first whist party they've had this fall."—Chicago Inter Ocean.

"When horses are done away with," said the Funny Boarder, "what will become of the people who want to ride hobbies?" "That's easy," answered the Cheerful Idiot. "They will ride the wheels in their heads."

To destroy worms and expel them from children or adults use Dr. Low's Worm Syrup.

Be Careful What You Buy.

OVERCOATS and UNDERWEAR

are needed at once, now that the cold weather has come, but—BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU BUY. You will find just what you want in our First-class Stock, and everything RELIABLE. NO FALSE STATEMENTS. NO DANGEROUS GARMENTS. PUBLIC PATRONAGE IS A PUBLIC TRUST.

OVERCOATS for Men, Youths and Boys at very low prices. We will not detail the prices here, but simply say that we are confident we can offer these goods as low, if not lower, than any house in the trade. We have secured a lot of them at exceptionally low prices, bought for cash from the makers, and you are welcome to come in and see them so that you'll know better than pay a few dollars more for the same goods elsewhere.

AN IMPORTANT THING about our Ready-Made Clothing is that we buy from the Best Houses in the Dominion, and they are made up in factories under the careful supervision of experienced tailors, so that they are free from all filth, with no possibility of carrying infectious diseases with them.

Ladies can come here and buy Underclothing or Overcoats for their husbands, brothers, uncles, fathers or sons and can rely on getting the best value that can be got for their money.

Winter Underwear.

A Warm Suit, Shirts and Drawers, for 50c. or 70c.

A Good Heavy Ribbed All Wool Suit, for $1.00 or $1.25.

A Better Suit, Scotch finish, for $1.50 or $2.00.

A Still Better Suit, Genuine Scotch Wool, beautifully finished Sateen Waist Bands, Brace Strap, etc., for $2.00 or $2.50.

We warrant everything sold by us to be as represented. It's the same whether you buy a collar button or an extensive wardrobe. That's what we call protecting our customers.

Tailoring

GET MEASURED NOW.

Gentlemen who prefer Tailor-made Garments are advised to leave their measure and orders at our Tailoring Department NOW before we get too busy.

A Laborer's Good Luck.

WINDSOR, Nov. 13.—Michael Cavanagh, a laborer, has become heir to a $30,000 estate in Galt. He did not have a penny when he went to Chief Wells yesterday, and the latter on receiving a telegram from the executor of the estate loaned him the amount of his fare to Galt.

Ontario Ministers in London.

LONDON, Nov. 13.—Hon. Geo. W. Ross, Minister of Education, and Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, addressed a large mass meeting in the interest of Thomas S. Hobbs, the Liberal candidate, at the Grand Opera house last night.

A Flagman Killed by a Train.

BUFFALO, Nov. 13.—Lawrence Collins, 65 years old, a flagman employed by the New York Central railroad, was struck and instantly killed by a Nickle Plate stock train at the Seymour street crossing. His skull was crushed and he was bruised considerably about the body.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 13, 1894.

On the street here 200 bushels of wheat sold at 55c. for white and 58c. for goose. Red was quoted nominally at 63c. Barley, 2,000 bushels, sold at 42c. to 44c. One load of peas (poor quality) brought 52 1-2c, and 300 oats 30 1-2c to 31 1-2c.

Barley in Buffalo was higher. Bids were refused for a large amount at old prices, sellers having advanced their figures 1-2 to 1c. Canada is quiet but firm, quoted at 61 to 65c.

Wheat was strong in Chicago on higher cables and decrease in visible supply. Corn was dull and firm, closing 1-4c higher. Oats were strong for the same reasons which influenced wheat.

The East Buffalo live stock market closed very dull, weak and unchanged, with fully 75 loads unsold.

The settlement in London disclosed a rather large account, but it was easily arranged. Money still was cheap and contagious. Americans were 2 per cent. The tone of the Americans was uncertain.

TURNBULL'S

MANTLES.

Our Mantle trade this season has so far exceeded our expectations that it has cleared out several lines and left room for new ones, which we have secured at from $3.00 to $3.50, less than original prices on the better lines. Our customers will reap the benefit of this reduction in the wholesale cost. A full range of all styles and prices now in stock at prices that are never undersold.

BLANKETS.

We have run across a line of All Wool Blankets, in large sizes, woven similar to a Sheeting but combed; they are very desirable and are selling at $3.00 a pair. We have also a splendid assortment of Light and Dark Gray Blankets in all sizes.

UNDERWEAR.

As the season advances we sometimes run across what dry goods men call snaps. We have secured one of these now in Men's All Wool Underclothing, in both natural and flesh colours, at $1.00 a suit. The best line ever offered for the money. Plenty of lower qualities always in stock.

SKIRTINGS.

We are introducing a line of heavy Blanket Skirtings, one of the most desirable materials we have found yet in Ladies' wear. They are 40 inches wide and only 35c a yard.

CAPS AND MUFFS.

Just received a splendid assortment of Astrachan and Gray Lamb Caps, in both wedge and band shapes. Also Sealette Caps and Muffs.

Our prices for Scotch Tweed Suits made to order are a surprise to everybody. We have just passed into stock several nobby lines in Serges and Suitings. A perfect fit guaranteed every time.

The Expose Complete of the Corrupt Practices of Aldermen.

FULL INQUIRY TO BE MADE

The City Council Determined to Get at the Bottom of These Dishonest Transactions—Judge McDougall's Findings in the Investigation.

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—Judge McDougall's report was presented to the council last night by Mayor Kennedy.

In regard to the judge's application for wider powers to make a fuller investigation, the Mayor said: "In the light of the testimony already given and the report thereon which I have in my hands, I would strongly urge upon the council the wisdom as well as the necessity of complying with the judge's request. It is clearly in the interest of good and clean government of the city that the investigation now entered upon should be as extensive and exhaustive as possible. If it be true that members of this council are or have been guilty of selling their votes and influence in this chamber such charges, surprising and shocking as they are, should at once be thoroughly inquired into, and if they are not true, the character of our aldermen vindicated. If, unfortunately, the charges should have any foundation in fact the sooner the guilty ones are located the sooner will the just men in the council breath freely, and the council chamber be purged of those unworthy to sit and vote in it.

A resolution carrying out the recommendations of the judge in this respect was moved by Ald. McMurrich, seconded by Ald. Foster, and unanimously carried.

Ald. Stewart, whose conduct was so seriously condemned in the judge's report, was present at the Council meeting, and when the resolution was passed made a statement. At the last meeting at which he was present, he said, he had been granted leave of absence. He knew that the investigation was going on under terms of the resolution of the Council, and on the 6th he received a subpœna to attend. In the letter was $14, and as he had a return ticket he desired to hand back the money. He had read Judge McDougall's finding in the papers and could hardly understand it. No charge had been laid against him and he was there simply as a witness. He would like the Council to understand that. Yet his Honor brought him in guilty. He did not think it hardly British fair play. That was all he desired to say.

The Mayor advised him to hand back the money to the court, and with this the alderman resumed his seat and the members still sat in ominous silence. A moment later the Mayor announced that Ald. Stewart's wife was ill and unconscious, and the alderman left the Council Chamber hastily. The judge's report was thus disposed of.

Finding of the Judge.

Judge McDougall, in regard to the investigation just closed, reported his findings as follows:

1. I find upon the evidence submitted that after the City Engineer had made his report upon the cost of establishing a civic plant and had also made his estimate of the cost of running the said plant, and before Mr. McGowan's report on the cost of running the said plant had been received or acted upon by the Fire and Light Committee of the Council, Alderman William Temple Stewart, who was chairman of the said committee, sent for Mr. John J. Wright, the manager of the Toronto Electric Light Co., and informed him (Wright) that the aldermen had made up their minds to procure a civic plant for street lighting purposes, and that if Mr. Wright's company had any hopes of continuing their contract for electric lighting for the city after the expiration of the present contract the only way to defeat the project of establishing a civic plant was to corruptly spend a sum of money amongst certain aldermen. That he stated the sum required to effect that purpose was $18,000; and he gave his own name and the names of four other aldermen as the persons amongst whom the said bribery fund would be distributed and whose purchase would effect the defeat of the plan to establish a civic plant.

2. I find that in order to give some time to Mr. Wright to consider this corrupt proposition that the said Alderman William Temple Stewart, chairman of the said Fire and Light Committee, as aforesaid, stated that he would adjourn a proposed meeting of his committee. And I find on the evidence given that there was a meeting of the said committee proposed to be held on the 25th day of June, 1894, but which was not called until the 27th day of June, 1894. And I find that the said Alderman William Temple Stewart, when asked in examination as to the reason for the postponement of this meeting of his committee, untruthfully stated that it was because Mr. McGowan's report was not ready, the fact being that Mr. McGowan's report was ready and in the printer's hands prior to the 25th day of June.

3. I find that subsequently, on the 14th day of September, the said Alderman William Temple Stewart again sent for Mr. Wright, the manager of the Toronto Electric Light Co. and submitted to him certain figures which he (Stewart) stated were the figures which would be inserted in the tender of the Toronto Railway Co. for street light. The said Alderman Temple Stewart admitted in his examination before me that such statement to Mr. Wright was false and that the figures shown were not the figures of the tender of the Toronto Railway Co. I find that the object of such false and dishonest statement was to deceive and mislead the said John J. Wright, and, through him, the Toronto Electric Light Co. to induce them to put in a tender for lighting at prices slightly below the alleged Toronto Railway Co.'s figures, in the belief that such false induced tender would prove unsuccessful.

4. I find further on the evidence, and as a proper conclusion to be deduced therefrom, that on or about the second day of October the said Alderman William Temple Stewart, chairman of the Fire and Light Committee, again sent for Mr. Wright. At this time the tenders were all in and the tender of the Toronto Electric Light Company had proved to be the lowest. Alderman Stewart again made corrupt proposals to Mr. Wright, and suggested to him that he make his company's chances certain for securing the contract (for which they had put in the lowest tender), it would be necessary to furnish him, Ald. William Temple Stewart, chairman of the Fire and Light Committee, with $6,000 or $7,000 in cash to be distributed by him amongst certain aldermen, including a share for himself.

5. I find and report as a result of the foregoing conclusions of facts that Alderman William Temple Stewart, chairman of the Fire and Light Committee of the City Council, has been on two occassions wilfully guilty of corruptly soliciting a bribe of money from the manager of a corporation, who had put in a tender for a civic contract, for the openly avowed purpose of securing and ensuring the votes and influence of himself and other aldermen in favor of the acceptance of such tender.

In concluding his report the judge commended the action of the Toronto Electric Light Company in refusing these dishonorable proposals and condemned the action of the Brush Electric Company of Cleveland in their attempt to shield the alleged culprit or culprits, and refusing to give evidence before the investigation court.

Inglis Wins His Suit.

TORONTO, Nov. 14.—The action of Contractor Inglis, of Inglis & Hunter, to recover $1,000 from A. T. Johnson and Ald. Hewit, which was advanced them by him to purchase their influence on his behalf in a tender for engines and boilers for the Kelly & Everett street railway syndicate in 1891, resulted in a verdict in Inglis' favor for the full amount.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

Clothes of a Hangman Found—Better Mail Service Wanted.

OTTAWA, Nov. 14.—At the court house here when some cleaning up was in progress a parcel containing an old suit of clothes was found stowed away in a corner. Upon examination it was found to contain the garments which the hangman of Patrick Whelan, the murderer of D'Arcy McGee, wore on the day of the execution. The clothes are of dark material resembling jean. They are loose fitting. In the bundle was a toque which the hangman wore, as well as the black cap which was put over the head of the murderer as he was rushed into eternity. The execution took place in 1868. No one but the sheriff and jailer of that day knew who the hangman was. Both are dead since then, and with them has gone the name of the hangman.

A. B. Ingram, M. P. for East Elgin, Mayor Beattie, Windsor, and a number of other delegates from the counties of Elgin, Essex and Kent are here seeing the Postmaster-General about having a better mail service along the line of the Canada Southern railway. The service to-day is no better than in 1861.

N. C. Bell, secretary of the Winnipeg Board of Trade and of the Grain Exchange, has arrived in the city. It is understood that he is here to see the Government in regard to the question of mixing grain.

Immoral Use of the Mails.

MONTREAL, Nov. 14.—As the result of an advertisement which appeared lately in the Police Gazette of New York, Eugene Cote, of 24 St. Christopher street, was arrested on the charge of forwarding immoral photographs through the mails. He pleaded guilty and was brought before Judge Dugas yesterday for sentence. Cote is a young man, 23 years of age, and comes from a good family. He appears to have been the agent for a European firm. The Court, in pronouncing sentence, commented upon the fact that the prisoner was a young man of good family and hitherto had borne good reputation and that he had been petitioned by the prisoner's parents and the Government to deal leniently in the case. For that reason, although it lay within power to sentence the prisoner to a term of two years in the penitentiary he would only impose of a fine of $50, the prisoner to remain in gaol until the fine be paid.

A Congressman's Death at Trenton.

TRENTON, Ont., Nov. 14.—The Hon. Myron B. Wright, of Susquehanna, Pa., died here after an illness of several weeks' duration, at the Grand Central hotel. Early in October, while on a pleasure tour with his family and friends in the Bay of Quinte district, he contracted a cold, which soon developed into typhoid pneumonia, to which attack he finally succumbed. Deceased was a prominent banker of Susquehanna, Pa. Although but 47 years old at the time of his death, he had represented the fifteenth congressional district of Pennsylvania in Congress three terms, and at the general election on the 6th instant was re-elected for a fourth term by the handsome majority of about 9,000. In politics he was a Republican. His wife and two sons survive him. The eldest son is seriously ill here of typhoid fever.

Indian Chiefs Go to Washington.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Nov. 14.—Several chiefs of the Grevine and Assinaboine tribes of Indians passed through St. Paul in charge of Major Kelly bound for Washington. It is their first visit to civilization, and they will confer with the President concerning the alleged violation of treaty stipulations whereby their rights are being invaded by land speculators.

Shocking Cruelty of a Colored Woman.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 14.—Susan Bruce, colored, was arraigned in court on the charge of cruelty to her five-year-old foster child, Beside. The child had been placed on a red-hot stove and after being terribly burned its tongue was split by the woman to prevent it from informing neighbors. The woman was held in $800 bail. The child is in a serious condition.

FUNEREAL CEREMONIES

The Body of the Dead Czar Lying in State at St. Petersburg.

ANOTHER SOLEMN PROCESSION

With Pomp More Elaborate That That at Moscow the Remains of the Dead Ruler Are Conveyed Through the Streets of the Capital.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 14.—The preparations for the reception of the body of Alexander III. in this city were hardly equal to those in Moscow and in consequence of a thaw followed by fog and a heavy snow fall, the procession had to march through deep slush and mud.

The heralds announced that the body would arrive at 10 o'clock in the morning. The hotels were crowded to their fullest capacity with visitors from all parts of Russia and the continent, and windows along the route of the procession had been readily rented days ago at 100 roubles.

Preceding the ceremony of removing the body from the Nicholas station to the fortress three guns were fired. After the third gun the church bells were tolled and throughout the day minute guns were fired. When the funeral train arrived at the Nicholas station, the weather was dull and damp and chilly, and the streets were very muddy. The station was crowded with the nobility of Russia and representatives from every other European country and the long platform in front of the station was covered with black cloth.

The hearse, with a silver and gold body, a golden canopy surmounted by a crown and topped and edged with three white feathers, stood ready to receive the remains of the dead Emperor, and around it was ranged the guard of honor, all representatives of the navy. In addition to these there were a large number of clergymen, choristers and others awaiting the arrival of the train. Beyond the limits prescribed by the police and military was an immense crowd of people.

Amid the solemn music of the band and the chanting of priests and singers, the long funeral train drawn by two locomotive with wide flaring smokestacks and wood piled high upon their tenders, slowly stole into the station until the mortuary car was opposite the steps leading to the hearse, when it came to a full stop. With candles and incense, the priests in a group lining the steps, the Metropolitan of St. Petersburg and the higher clergy at the top near by bowed a salute, the roll of the drums of the Grenadiers mingled with the chanting, showing the harmony of the tributes of the church and army to their former head. A boy choir began a chorus, in which the men joined, and the volume of vocal music swelled high upon the frosty air. The roofs of the houses were crowded with people as the procession moved at 10.30 o'clock.

The Prince of Wales walked with the Czar Nicholas, each wearing a uniform similar to the one he wore in Moscow only more elaborate. This characterization is true to the whole procession. It was conducted upon the same plan as that in Moscow, only more elaborately. There were more horses caparisoned with flowing black and emblazoned with the arms of the various provinces, more regiments, etc., but except that the procession and ceremony were on a larger scale, everything was the same as last Sunday. The procession was divided into thirteen sections, each headed by a master of ceremonies wearing a black and white scarf. The sections represented various degrees of mourning. The first section comprised the late Czar's companies in all the principal regiments followed by footmen and pages.

The second section included the Czar's family standards, the red military standard and the Czar's charger, the former carried and the latter attended by superior officers.

The third section floated the standards of Siberia, Vetelsk, Bulgaria, etc., also carried by superior officers.

The fourth section carried similar standards, and like the second and third sections was closed up by subalterns and the horses of leading officials.

The fifth section also carried various standards together with the Imperial pennant borne by a vice-admiral, and the standards of the Empire in black and white silk.

The sixth section included the great standard of the Empire, carried by two major-generals, two colonels and two superior officials.

The seventh section was composed of peasants, burghers, merchants and delegations from various places and the mayor and municipal authorities of St. Petersburg.

The sections from eight to eleven inclusive were composed of delegations from local bodies, public officers and the Imperial household, the members and officials of the senate, the officials of the various chancellories, the secretaries of Finland and the Empire, the Imperial ministers and the members of the Imperial council.

In the twelfth section were four colonels holding the four glaives of the Empire, points downward, and the dead Czar's medals and orders carried by officers of the army and navy.

In the thirteenth section were the choir of the Convent of Alexander Nevsky and the Czar's confessor, Father Yanicef. These were followed by the hearse drawn by eight horses, generals holding the tassels. On both sides of the hearse were 60 pages, 30 on each side, with lighted torches. Immediately after the hearse came the Czar Nicholas II., wearing a general's uniform, with the Imperial household, the Prince of Wales, the King of Greece, the Russian Grand Dukes and their aides, and a company of grenadiers. Following came the Czarina, Princess Alix of Hesse-Darmstadt, the Duchess Xenia, the Grand Duchess Olga, and a large number of equerries, companies and regiments. The floor of the cathedral of St. Isaac's was covered with black cloth: the edifice, built of massive stone and full of dignity, was in sharp contrast to the gauzy cathedral of St. Michael the Archangel in Moscow.

The procession arrived at the cathedral at 1.30 p.m. The coffin was at once placed on the catafalque in the centre of the cathedral. The lying in state will continue until the day of the funeral. Constant masses will be celebrated.

THE SOLICITOR ON BRIBES.

Judge Macdougal, of Toronto, has given judgment in the Toronto boodle investigation, and declares that Alderman Stewart is guilty of corruptly soliciting a bribe from the Electric Light Company. If we assume that Judge Macdougal is right, and if exemplary punishment follows, the fate of Alderman Stewart it will teach Toronto aldermen that the law regards the solicitor of a bribe as bad as the giver of a bribe. In fact the man that seeks a bribe is worse than the giver, because he provides the temptation and opportunity for the commission of an act that, perhaps, would not otherwise have been thought of. If the scope of Judge Macdougal's investigation were extended beyond civic circles, he would no doubt discover how common Alderman Stewart's offence was in connection with elections of all kinds. There are thousands of persons who regard their franchise in no higher light than an asset to be realized. Electors offer themselves for sale, and the candidates whose over-zealous and officious supporters may be led to yield to the temptation, is held to the responsibility, which in the great majority of cases should rightly fall more heavily upon the man that incited to the offence by offering his franchise for sale and soliciting a price for it. While bribery should receive proper punishment, the insistent solicitor of a bribe, who, in the majority of cases, is the real culprit, and who, also, in the majority of cases, escapes, should also be unsparingly punished.

IF WE COULD ONLY AFFORD IT.

There will probably be another big tug at the financial vitals of the Dominion at the next session of parliament. A charter is to be applied for at the next session of parliament to construct a railway from Quebec westerly, as nearly as practicable in a straight line to Norway House, north of Lake Winnipeg, and thence across the Rocky Mountains to the Pacific coast, with a branch from a point west of Lake Winnipeg to Hudson Bay. Of course this implies applications for big subsidies and and land grants. Such a railway would be a fine thing, no doubt, for the districts it traverses and for the country at large, but the question of expense is a grave one. Canada has hardly a hundred million dollars to expend for another transcontinental railway.

THE Dominion revenue for the first four months of the fiscal year ending 31st October continues to show a falling off. The receipts are $1,587,000 less than for the corresponding period last year, and the expenditure over $300,000 greater. For the month of October the receipts fell off by $175,000 from customs, and $20,000 from excise. The total falling off for the four months was $1,250,000 in customs, $237,000 in excise, $57,000 in public works and railways and $63,000 in miscellaneous. There is an increase in only one of the services, namely, the post office, and then of only $15,000. The expenditure for October was almost $200,000 greater than in October last year. In spite of the large amount of taxes paid by the people, there does not seem to be enough to meet the spending requirements of the Government.

MR. MARTER at London was very severe upon the Ontario Government for its extravagant management of asylums, particularly in the matter of allowances. Dr. Bucke, superintendent of the London Asylum, gets the same salary as that fixed by Sandfield Macdonald, and has the same perquisites as those he allowed to superintendents of asylums. So that Mr. Marter's criticism of government extravagance resolves itself into this, that he is abusing the Mowat Government for maintaining the standard of expenditure fixed by Sandfield Macdonald, who is held up by Mr. Marter and Conservatives generally as a model of economy.

MR. MARTER, the leader of the Opposition wants the Ontario Government to resign because it has not a majority. In whose favour would the government resign. Not of the Coeservatives because they have only 27; not of the Patrons for they have only 17; not of the Indepedents for there are only 2. The Ontario Government is, as Hon Mr. Ross points out, in a most embarrassing position; even if they wished to resign ever so badly there is nobody to take the government off their hands. Even the new Conservative leader with his committee of eight guardian angels, consisting of four lawyers, three business men and one doctor, couldn't make a following of 27 outvote a following of 47.

WITH reference to Mr. Marter's denial in his London speech of the existence of a surplus, Hon. Mr. Dryden at the Hobbs meeting on Monday night, said:—"He says the Government deceives the people. In answer to that charge I will not say Mr. Marter is a liar, because that would be unparliamentary and indecent, but I will say that if Mr. Marter speaks the truth I am a liar. You will let me say that."

THE Globe, as a newspaper, beats the Empire in both fairness and enterprise. While the former gave three or four columns to a report of the first meeting of the Conservative candidate in London, at which Mr. Marter spoke, the Empire gives about a quarter column report at the first meeting of the Liberal candidate in London, on Monday night, at which two ministers of the crown gave important addresses.

THE Hamilton Spectator rejoices over the fact that a "graduate" of its office, a former reporter has been elected to the New York Assembly from Brooklyn. Is this the outcome of the Spectator's eloquent preaching of the gospel of Canada for the Canadians, or clever Canadians for Canada? The Spectator would never admit the exodus.

A correspondent sends the following query to the Empire:

On the arms of the city of Toronto, as seen on letters from city officials, the motto reads: "Industry, Intelligence, Integrity." And on the label in the books at the Public Library the word "integrity" appears in the centre. Which is correct?

According to recent developments neither is right. In Toronto integrity seems to be outside altogether—out in the cold.

ACCORDING to present indications several Toronto aldermen may date their appeals for re-election for the jail—across the Don.

JAPAN, in little size and big pluck is the Great Britain of the East.

THE cash value of the conscience of a Toronto alderman seems to be about $500.

HAD NO HOPE OF RECOVERY.

This was the Doctor's Verdict, but the Patient is Again as Well as Ever.

The wonderful value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People in all cases arising from poor or watery blood, or shattered nerves, is proved by the fact that they cure when other medicines fail, and in scores of cases restore the patient to health after doctors had said there was no hope of recovery. Such a case is that of Mrs. Wm. Arnott, of Burnside Station, Man., who says:—"I was very low and weak when I was advised to try your Pink Pills. My system was run, down, my blood had turned to water, and the doctors who were attending me told me that there was not much hope of my recovery. As the doctors could do nothing for me, I went to Winnipeg for three months. Not getting better I returned home, and was so weak I could hardly move about. I then got six boxes of Pink Pills, and by the time I had taken four of them I was gaining rapidly. I continued the use of the Pills, and am now a new person, feeling as well as I did twenty years ago. I have recommended the Pink Pills to many others, and have seen beneficial results from their use in their cases. I cannot recommend them too strongly, and I trust that under God's guidance some other sufferer may find as much benefit as I have done." Thousands bear equally strong testimony to the great healing powers of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Sold by all dealers, or sent by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LINES

Of thanks respectfully addressed to the Endeavour Society flower committee of the Gilmour Memorial church, Smith, for sending to me a beautiful bouquet of flowers, while I was suffering under the hand of affliction.

Young friends your presence touched and tuned my lays,
Inspiring me to promulgate your praise;
It reached the love springs of my my feeling heart,
Prompting the thanks I unto you impart.
I prised the gift, though small its worth might be,
Because it showed your sympathy for me;
It seemed so kind, in young hearts gay and light,
Remembering me when sick, though old and white.

I viewed the bouquet you so kindly sent,
Each flower appeared from paradise just lent;
Their lovely tints and variegated hues,
In shades and beauty shining so profuse.
Flower for the sick you made a perfect choice,
Though they possess no train of thought, nor voice,
Their heaven-like odor and bright beauty shows,
A gem no hand, but one divine, discloses.

Your gift of flowers a Christian love displays,
In the sick chamber they seem heaven-sent rays,
Cold is the heart that knows not of the power,
That plans and paints perfection on each flower.
With your good work God's flowers you do entwine,
Your thoughts of love strong in harmony with mine.
In health or sickness, shut up or abroad,
Each flower I view reminds me of a God.

One wish I breathe when my time comes to die,
Their fragrance will blow o'er me where I lie;
And if God wills in mercy and in love,
Admit me in among his flowers above.
For your kind present please accept my thanks,
May God's best blessing rest upon your ranks.
And as your strive affliction's hour to cheer,
May each of you "well done," distinctly hear.

Young friends your flowers bind round with cords of love,
~~If not on earth reward is marked above,~~
One bright flower standing as death's glazed eyes roll,
If blessed by God may save a thoughtless soul.

WM. TELFORD,
Smith.

TOWN LOCAL UNION.

There will be a union meeting of the town societies on Monday evening, Nov. 26th, in the George street Sunday school room, beginning at 8 o'clock. Eloquent speakers will discuss the themes suggested by Rev. F. E. Clark, and endorsed by the Provincial Convention held in Kingston. These are: "Christian Citizenship," "Missions and Systematic Giving" and "Junior Work." Along these lines Endeavourers are concentrating their efforts this year.

It is hoped there will be a large attendance of voters and citizens of the town as well as all Endeavourers in the Union. A collection will be taken up.

MISSION FIELD GLEANINGS.

Men Needed.—Mr. James Monro, C.B., formerly the chief commissioner of the police in London, has devoted himself with several members of his family, to voluntary mission work in India, where he once was a judge. In a recent letter he appeals for men. He says: "How many converts has the C.M.S. made from among the thousands at Exeter Hall meetings to the belief that the ground of missions is the command of our Lord. The record of recruits is miserable; and when I think of the solemn appeals which were made last year during the F. S. M., and the lamentable absence of response made to such appeals, I feel inclined to say to those good people who are only interested in missions, "Physician, heal thyself." Go first and obey the command, and then talk about missions. Our present progress is a disgrace to our Christianity, instead of being a subject for congratulation. Men and women, not money, should be the first thing to be asked for."—Home words.

JUNIOR RALLY.

The juniors hold a rally in the Y. M. C. A. Hall, on Saturday, Dec. 1st, at 3 p. m. A full attendance is requested.

WHAT WILL YOU BE DOING WHEN JESUS COMES?

Do nothing that you would not like to be doing when Jesus comes.

Go to no place where you would not like to be found when Jesus comes.

Say nothing that you would not like to be saying when Jesus comes.

Harbor no thought that you would not like to have when Jesus comes.

Read no book that you would not like to be reading when Jesus comes.

Join no company in which you would not like to be found when Jesus comes.

Refuse no work that you would not like to be found refusing when Jesus comes.

Neglect no opportunity that you would not like to be neglecting when Jesus comes.

That man is right who is living as he would wish to be living when Jesus comes.—The Templar.

NORWOOD NEWS NOTES.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Rev. Mr. Holmes preached a fine sermon in the Methodist church Sunday morning.

Miss Campbell was absent from her duties at the High School a couple of days last week on account of illness.

The electric light plant was moved on Tuesday to its new quarters at Mr. W. C. Harrison's. The whole change was made in one day, and in the evening, after a slight trouble from a slipping pulley, the lights were started satisfactorily for the evening. Miss Isaac Puffer will remain in charge for a time. We wish Mr. Harrison success in his new undertaking.

The regular monthly meeting of the Model School Literary Society was held on Friday evening. There were a large number of friends of the Modelites present in addition to the members. The following programme was rendered:

Critic's Report ..... Mr Macfarlane
Recitation ..... Miss Powell
Instrumental duet ..... Misses Gallagher
Impromptu Speeches ..... Mr Ottis Kidd
Recitation ..... Miss Roxburgh
Journal .....

The school board met Monday evening with the following members present: W. E. Roxburgh, chairman, W. H. Stephenson, secretary-treasurer, Jas. Raddon, P. W. Reynolds, A. R. Anderson' W. H. Brethen, Wm. Webster, and Drs. Ford and Pettigrew. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The chairman of the executive committee reported that in accordance with instructions from the board they had advertised for a third assistant for the High School. In answer to the first advertisement thirteen replies were received, ten of which were from females and three from males, none of which were satisfactory. A male teacher was advertised for, and seven applications received. Mr. S. E. Hill was selected at a salary of $500 per annum. The action of the committee was confirmed. A communication from the principal of the high school was read pointing out the advisability of having a commencement day, as recommended by the regulations, and asking that a committee be appointed to cooperate with the principal in securing the attendance of the Minister of Education and others. The communication was received, and Messrs. Roxburgh, Stephenson and Dr. Ford were appointed a committee. The principal's report of the High School was read. We give a digest of it in another column. On motion the report was received, and instruction given that a synopsis be prepared. The following accounts were presented and referred to the Finance Committee: McGregor Bros., cartage, 75c.; Chas. Simpson, wood, $10: J. G. Keefer, printing, $15.50; Thos. Rahal, $10.50.

DOCTORS INTERESTED.

They Cannot but Accept the Testimony of Two of Their Professional Brethren.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—The letters of Dr. McCormack of Richmond, and of Dr. E. A. Rose of Portland, recently published over their own signatures and testifying to their complete cure from Bright's disease and diabetes, respectively, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, have established to the satisfaction of medical men generally, that the pills do all that is claimed for them by their manufacturers. Both physicians are known as men well up in their professions, whose word can be absolutely relied upon, and who rarely make mistakes. The result of these letters will be an enormous sale of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Montreal.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, and have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times

The New Diphtheria Cure.

A New York dispatch of last night says: Dr. Paul Gibier, director of the Pasteur Institute, announced to-day that the first shipment of anti-toxine serum for the cure of diphtheria, manufactured in this country, will be sent from the Institute to-night to New Orleans, where diphtheria has been raging for nearly a month. The next shipment will be made to Toronto on Thursday.

Blaze at Coldwater.

Coldwater, Ont., Nov. 13.—About 9 o'clock on Saturday night a fire took place at Mr. W. H. Manning's handsome new residence, which was considered to be the finest of those erected in this township, when the entire building was consumed. Loss about $6,000; insured in the British America Assurance Company for $1,500. Cause of fire unknown, but supposed to be incendiary.

Always Up to Date.

It will be noticed by advertisement in another column that Pete Simons & Co., have just received a fresh consignment of cloths and underclothing which their desire the public to inspect. The reputation of this house for first-class material and well-fitting garments is world-wide, and therefore need no "puffing" from us. We advise all requiring anything in their line, however, to give them a call, as they will be sure to find everything "up to date."

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The Sons of Canada meet this evening.

—No more deer shooting after to-morrow.

—There is an investigation going on in municipal circles at Belleville.

—The voters' list comes up for final discussion at the Court House to-morrow.

—The police want an owner for a pocket book containing a sum of money.

—City Lodge No. 404, I.O.G.T., will meet to-morrow night. Full attendance requested.

—The Millbrook boys are enjoying skating already, the ponds in the vicinity being safely frozen over.

—A young forger "did up" a number of Belleville merchants yesterday for a considerable sum of money.

—The members of the Volta Hockey club meets this evening in the rooms over the Palace Restaurant, for reorganization.

—A charity entertainment will take place to-night in the Catholic Order of Foresters Hall. Butcher's orchestra will be present.

—Ives won the billiard match in New York last night, making 632, to Schaefer's 253 Ives' total for the two nights is 1200, Schaefer's, 833.

—Mr. John Belcher, town engineer, states that he does not remember seeing the water in the river as low as it is now, within the last forty years.

—Mr. T. A. Hay has just received from the Goldsmiths' and Silversmiths' Company, London, Eng., a set of most beautiful engravings, representive of a number of the great English prize trophies, plate services, etc.

—Chief Excess Baggage Detective Hibbard, of the Grand Trunk Railway, was here yesterday, looking after excess baggage, and keeping his eyes upon the [illegible] of this department at the Grand Trunk station. Baggage agents are now included as "knocker-downs."

—An old one-armed gentleman is around the west end begging for his bread. He has a daughter, who is married and well-to-do, and a son, who is one of the most prominent men of the town, yet neither of the children will have anything to do with their aged and decrepid father. It is a sad case.

—A couple of the electric street railway conductors have been laid off for a time, in consequence of an accident, which occurred the other day, at the Spaulding's Bay switch. It seems that one of the cars pulled out trifle too soon and sustained considerable damage in consequence by catching in the gearing of the other car, which was just running into the siding.

—As the present lecture room of the Mechanics' Institute has proved itself much too small for the members of Mr. A. V. White's engineering class, the directors last night decided to at once furnish their large lecture hall. This hall is 47x28 feet, and it increased accommodation will add much to the comfort of both the Engineering and Drawing Classes.

—Mr. Walter Stocker, "adhesive artist"—since his aesthetic instincts resent the title of "sticker," is, while looking after his own interests, performing a public good. He is renovating unsightly places places by erecting new picture galleries or bill boards. In the recess at Jones' livery stable he is erecting two more, and will erect another on Water street, south of the Canadian Canoe Company.

—The Agricultural Insurance Company, of Watertown, N. Y., has assigned the farm business only of the company to the London Mutual, but still retains the city, town and village insurance, and persons in the town and vicinity willl retain their policies. In this connection it may be stated that the manager of the Agricultural was in town on Tuesday and settled satisfactorily with Chas. Holland, and issued a cheque for the amount of the loss claimed on account of recent fires.

—A peculiarity of the blind is that there is seldom one of them who smokes. Soldiers and sailors who have been accustomed to smoking, but who have lost their sight in action, smoke only for a short time afterwards. They say it gives them no pleasure, because they cannot see the smoke. Another peculiarity of the blind is that while other storekeepers are asking a dollar for a blind with a lace fringe, stratton is selling them at sixty-nine cents each, with roller and fittings complete.

—A couple of lads were fined two dollars and costs, this morning, in the police court, on a charge of disorderly conduct. It appears that they, together with a half a dozeh other lads, have been having a high old time in the vicinity of the Smith street bridge, on Sunday afternoons. The large residence in Inverlea Park was entered and the boys created a fearful uproar in the huge empty rooms. Remarks of a rude nature were addressed to passers by and in fact on Sundays, the lads almost owned that portion of the town. When the children were returning from Sunday school, many of them were afraid to cross the Smith street bridge, if the young hoodlums chose to post themselves on it.

DOURO.

Venerable Residents Pass Away.

During the past month, three of the pioneer residents of Douro, have passed away, the aggregate of whose ages is 246. They are Mrs. Allan, aged 83; Mrs. Condon, aged 82; and Mrs. O'Connor, aged 81. They leave behind them numerous descendants. They have been highly respected residents of the township for over fifty years.

Purity of Intonation.

Of the singing of Miss Maude T. Stevenson, who assists in the Foresters' Concert on Thanksgiving, the Owen Sound Sun says: Her singing was characterized by purity of intonation, clearness of enunciation, and a sympathetic quality of tone that in the softest piano was distinct and round, and in the louder passages unforced. She sang Arditi's florid "Should He Upraid," with ease, and in the aria from "La Favorita," the purity of her Italian accent evinced high training.

Oriental Life Reproduced.

Mrs. Mountford is assisted in her tableau lectures by ten or twenty ladies and gentlemen, who are dressed in Oriental costumes. The lectures are further illustrated by tents, furniture, pictures and other household accessories. She reproduces on the platform accurate and picturesque representations of some of the most interesting scenes in Bible history. Her lectures are singularly eloquent and realistic, while the groupings offer the most vivid illustrations of life in Palestine. They are really tableau entertainments, showing every phase of oriental life. On Monday evening next, her subject will be "The homes and haunts of Jesus," and on Tuesday evening, "Life in Jerusalem," both in the Opera House. Admission 25 and 35 cents. The reserved seat plans are being rapidly filled up. They are at the Peterborough Book Store.

SEWER ARBITRATION NOW IN PROGRESS.

JUDGE KETCHUM FORMALLY OPENS THE PROCEEDINGS.

The Town Closes its Case, but Mr. Edmison, for the Townships, is not Ready to go on just yet With his Expert Evidence.

The sewer arbitration was formally opened this morning before Judge Ketchum of Cobourg. Town Solicitor E. B. Edwards, represented the town, and Mr. Geo. Edmison was present on behalf of the townships.

As His Honour was totally ignorant of any of the facts of the case, Mr. Edwards gave a brief resume of the different events in connection with the sewer, since the plan for a sewerage system for the town proposed by in 1892 was submitted.

Town Clerk Armstrong was the first witness called, and formally testified to the correctness of the bylaws and plans which were submitted.

Councillor Henry Best was the next witness called. His evidence was largely devoted to the showing of the necessity of having the sewer empty into the river at the spot calculated as a part of the general system of sewerage laid out by Mr. Alan MacDougall and approved of by the Provincial Board of Health.

Mr. John Belcher testified that the laying of the sewer through the township did not interfere with any water or gas pipes owned by North Monaghan. His evidence principally dwelt on the explanation of the contemplated sewerage system as illustrated by a number of maps. In answer to a question by Mr. Edmison, he stated that one of the reasons why the town wished of the new sewer to a point lower down the river was to gain the greater fall as, at present the water often backed up in the Edison drain. Another reason was that the sewerage matter was caught and retained by the great sawdust beds in Little Lake. When the water lowered these beds were in instances exposed to the sun and the result would be that unsanitary gases would be generated. Mr. Edmison inquired if the sawdust beds down the river would not retain the sewerage matter as well as the the beds in front of the town. He thought the fact was that the nuisance would be just as bad down the river, and that it was merely a case of the town getting rid of it to inflict it on the township.

Mr. Belcher was sure that there were within three or four hundred feet of the point where the proposed sewer would empty, and that the sewage matter would be completely lost in the rapid current before it ever reached any of the beds.

"Yes! lost to view may be, but that's all," commented, Mr. Edmison.

Mr. Belcher thought the river ran at a rate of about ten miles an hour at the point in question, whereas, the water above the locks was frequently dammed back to an extent to reduce the effects of any current, which might exist, to a very great extent.

Mr. Edwards

CLOSED THE CASE

for the town at this point, but if necessary expert evidence may be submitted.

Mr. Edmison, in a short address, thought that the town had made out no case whereby it was proven that the sewer had to be laid through the township. He held that the statute provided for the completion of a sewerage system before a contiguous municipality was entered. He did not think that the town had showed that the means of putting in such a system was possessed.

Judge Ketchum did not see eye to eye with Mr. Edmison on this point, and Mr. Edwards pointed out that the Edison drain and George street sewers formed as well as a portion of the outfall sewer, which was already partly constructed. He considered these facts a sufficient guarantee of the town's intention of adopting the system in question.

The judge asked Mr. Edmison if his witnesses were ready, but the solicitor for the townships was not ready to go on with his case, as negotiations have not quite been completed regarding the bringing of sanitary experts from the United States. He states that a messenger had already been despatched to make terms with the experts in question, and that his return could not be looked for at an earlier date than a week at the inside.

Some local witnesses, however, will be examined this afternoon on behalf of the townships, after which the arbitration will adjourn until some future time.

THE PITY O' IT.

Friendless and Alone in the World Richard Price Asks to be Sent to Prison.

An old man with whitened whiskers and silvery locks stood up in the prisoners' box in the police court this morning, when the name of Richard Price was called. The charge against him was one of vagrancy and he pleaded guilty. He told the magistrate that he was seventy-three years of age, homeless, friendless and unable to support himself.

Price is an Englishman, but left the mother country in '36. He has lived in and around Peterborough for the last forty years and has been working at Croft's hotel lately, but apparently outlived his usefulness and in order not to starve applied to be committed to jail for the winter.

The magistrate sympathized with the old man and regretted that there was no poor-house to which he could send him. Price has been kept in a state of poverty all his life by sickness in his family and in his old age finds himself alone, as his wife and daughter both sickened and died some years ago. His hands are so crippled up as to render such a thing as work an impossibility to him.

Protect your Horses.

Don't allow your valuable horses to go without a waterproof cover during the cold wet days of the fall. Be good to them, provide them with one of Kingscotte's strictly waterproof covers, costing only a dollar or two. NORWOOD HIGH SCHOOL.

Synopsis of Report for the Year—A Fine Showing.

The total enrollment for the current year from January to date is 201. Enrollment for the first six months was 122. Of these 47 left school at the summer holidays. But 19 new pupils were added this term, making the present enrollment 154. The attendance at this date last year was 114, an increase of 40, a remarkable increase in one year. There were 30 enrolled during the year who came from outside counties.

CONDITION OF THE SCHOOL.

Inspector Seath reported for the first term of the year that the organization, discipline, and general tone of the school were excellent. The principal reports for this term that although the increase in attendance is so great, the behaviour of the the pupils, their diligence and enthusiasm for their work, are even more commendable than for any past term.

DIVISION OF THE WORK.

The Principal taught mathematics, classics and history throughout. Miss Garret taught French, German, senior English and part of drill calisthenics. Miss Campbell taught science, commercial course, junior English and part of the drill and calisthenics.

EQUIPMENT.

The report showed that the Board of Education has supplied everything or nearly everything essential to successful teaching. In addition, the students have fixed up an excellent reading room, which, in the absence of a gymnasium, is much appreciated.

EXAMINATIONS.

At the Ontario School of Art examinations, held in April last, Norwood obtained 87 proficiency certificates and 3 full certificates; each of the latter counting 5 proficiency certificates or a total of 102 diplomas, being the second highest number obtained by any of the High Schools sending up candidates. At the commercial examinations, in June, from forms I II, 44 candidates presented themselves and 38 were successful. The commercial examinations, this year, comprised, in addition to the work of last year, a written test, set by the department in drawing and bookkeeping. At the July exams. for matriculation and non-professional certificates 35 pupils wrote for primary certificate and 20 passed, there being 5 appeals sustained. Eighteen wrote for junior leaving and 12 passed, one appeal being sustained. Six wrote for matriculation, part for pass and part for honours, which included the senior leaving papers or the course prescribed for the first year's work at the University. Everyone passed, obtaining a standing in each subject written upon. One took first class honours in French and second class in German; one obtained second class honours in Latin and second class in French and one obtained second class in French. On the other subjects they got pass standing and the remaining three passed in all the subjects required.

Taking the enrollment for the month of June—the end of the scholastic year—there were nearly 36 per cent. passed the July examinations or about 65 per cent. of the candidates writing. The year has been one of hard work on the part of all with, we hope, satisfactory results.

NORTH SMITH.

(From Our Own Corespondent.)

There was a meeting held in the Methodist church on Nov. 7th at 7.30 p.m. for the purpose of reorganizing the society of E.I of C.E. Mr. Jas. Roberts, president of the Union, occupied the chair. There was a good deputation of speakers from the Gilmour Baptist church present and they spoke on the different subjects—1. On the rules and regulations of the society. 2. Prayer meeting committee. 3. Look out committee. 4. Why every church should have a Y.P.S.C.E. It is unnecessary to say that the speakers handled the different subjects allotted to them satisfactorily to all present. The ex-President of the Selwyn Baptist church gave some excellent advice. After singing "God be with you till we meet again," the meeting was brought to a close with the benediction.

The members of the Wesley Methodist church intend holding their fourth anniversary tea meeting on Thanksgiving Day. Tea will commence at 4 p.m. Entertainment will commence at 7 p.m., which will consist of speeches, recitations, dialogues, singing, etc. Rev. Mr. Clare will preach a thanksgiving sermon at half past ten a.m.

The young people of this neighbourhood have organized a brass band, consisting of twelve pieces. Success boys.

OCTOBER ITEMS.

October, one of our fall months, has gone, leaving a good account of itself, being one of the finest Octobers during a number of years. All of our imigratory birds have left with a genteel nod of the head and a farewell chirp. The month came in fine, and although changeable, the weather continued lovely and pleasant. The coldest of the mornings observation only coming down to 30 degrees on the 7th, 12th, 15th and 19th respectively, and going up 4 times to 47, the 3rd, 20th, 22nd and 25th. Then taking the 1 p.m. observations it came twice to 70 degrees, namely, the 20th and 22nd, but at 60 degrees and between that and 70 degrees, we had it 13 times, leaving the mean temperature of the month at 50 21-31 degrees. Rain fell on 11 days to the depth of 2 inches and 41-1000, twice it thundered, but only a slight fall of rain each time, twice fog, 2 severe gales, twice hail, 2 different flurries of snow, one halo and Indian summer from the 19th to the 23rd. The following are the different points from which the wind was blowing at sunrise during the month respectively, namely: south-west 7 days, west 4 days, south 3 days, north 2 days, north-east 3 days, north-west 7 days, east 3 days, and south-east 2 days.—THOMAS TELFORD.

CURLIANA.

The following interesting item in the Empire of yesterday was unfortunately crowded out of last evening's issue of the EXAMINER:

The curlers of central Ontario, that most enthusiastic of curling districts, have struck a keynote in the right direction in forming a Colts Association. Curling is no longer a game confined to the mature and reverend elders, but it is a sport in which youth can participate with equal enjoyment. A Colts Association would undoubtedly be a great boon in Toronto, and other curling centres, for it is on the twenty-to thirty-year-olds that the future of the good old game depends.

Campbellford, Nov. 12.—A meeting was held here to-night for the purpose of organizing a colts curling association of the Midland district of Ontario. The following officers were elected:

Patron—W. H. Biggar, Belleville.
Patroness—Mrs. Biggar, Belleville.
President—George J. Horkins, Peterborough.
Vice-President—F. J. Smith, Campbellford.
Secretary-Treasurer—T. W. R. McRae, Belleville.
Committee—D. H. Douglas, Campbellford; D. Davidson, Peterborough; J. F. Willis, Belleville.

The rules of the Ontario Curling Association were adopted, with the following modifications:

The definition of a colt to be as follows: All members of Peterborough, Campbellford and Belleville clubs who were colts in 1893 to be colts this year, and to be eligible as members of this association for three years from date of joining.

All names of new members must be submitted to the committee and certified to under the hand of the president and secretary of their clubs as being new members who have never curled before.

Draws and dates of matches to be made and fixed at the annual meeting.

Trophy to cost not more than $15, and to be won three times by any one club of the association.

Home and home matches of 22 ends to be played.

Club winning greatest number of matches to be holder of trophy for ensuing season, and club winning it three times to be absolute owners thereof.

The annual meeting to be held on the second Monday in November each year alternately, at Campbellford, Belleville and Peterborough.

Entrance fee to be $5 from each club, with an annual fee of $1 from each club.

Dates for matches were arranged as follows: Belleville v. Peterborough, at Peterborough, 14th Jan., 9 a.m.; Belleville v. Campbellford, at Campbellford, 14th Jan., 7 p.m.; Campbellford v. Peterborough, at Peterborough, 18th Jan., 9 a.m.; Campbellford v. Peterborough, at Belleville, 21st Jan., 12 a.m.; Belleville v. Campbellford, at Belleville, 24th Jan., 7 p.m. The following names were accepted as members for the year:

Belleville—F. Armstrong, W. Brown, J. Brasier, J. Grant, F. S. Foster, W. H. Ketchum, S. D. Lazier, E. H. Laroche, F. J. Lewis, T. W. R. McRae, J. McFee, W. C. McLean, A. Moon, W. J. McCammon, W. W. Pope, H. Smart, C. Sullivan, J. P. Thompson, G. F. Thompson, J. F. Willis, M. Wright, P. Harrison.

Campbellford—A. E. Jewitt, F. J. Golden F. J. Smith, W. G. Neill, D. J. Lynch, D. H. Douglas, J. C. Fowlds, G. A. Benor, F. W. Wood, A. M. Shields, T. S. Tait, T. Bell, G. A. Payne, G. L. Sawyer, W. Thompson, W. Nancarrow, J. Y. Routh, H. Routh, J. Dickson, F. Linton, C. A. C. Smith, Dr. McBride, W. H. Haynes, R. S. Shannon.

Peterborough—G. L. Hay, W. Buchanan, F. McKay, D. Davidson, G. J. Horkins, T. Connal, H. R. H. Kenner, C. Halliday, E. Clegg, J. Knapman, G. Ellison, V. McGill, W. Thompson, W. Hall, G. Matthews, D. Hall, E. Wasson, W. Montgomery, J. Crane, A. H. Ferguson, George W. Morrow.

CRICKET.

In 1890 it was quoted as a record when Mr. J. G. Francis, the veteran Suffolk cricketer, and his son, H. A., each scored over 1,000 runs in the same year. During past season father and son have again done the same thing. Mr. Francis, sen., is 63 years old, and has in matches a record of 82 innings, 8 not out, 1,004 runs, highest innings 106; the son, 44 innings, 10 not out, 1,387 runs, highest 108.

LACROSSE.

The members of the junior Peterborough lacrosse club will have their photos taken at Byer's studio to-morrow at noon hour. The full team is requested to be present.

FOOTBALL.

Arrangements were fully made with the Lornes, one of Toronto's intermediate teams, to come down to Peterborough for a game of Rugby football on Thanksgiving Day, when it was discovered that some of the members of the local team were anxious to go to Toronto on that day, so Secretary Poussette has written to try and make an arrangement whereby the Lornes will play here on Saturday next and the return match will be played in Toronto on Thanksgiving.

The Idea that Bright's Disease Cannot be Cured Proven to be a Fallacy.

Quebec, Nov. 5th.—Local physicians are much gratified over the letter to Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, this province, testifying to his cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since the introduction of the remedy in this city many physicians have not hesitated to prescribe the pills, and numerous cures have been the result. The latest testimony, coming from so well known a medical man, proves that the local men were right in changing the old-time remedies for Dodd's Kidney Pills. Hence their jubilation.

PRESENTATION AND ADDRESS.

A Sunday School Teacher is Leaving For Ottawa and Receives a Present.

The members of Miss Hettie Lunsden's Sunday school class met her, last evening, at her rooms on George street and presented her with a ladies' companion and the following address, on her departure to Ottawa, to enter for training as a nurse.

PETERBOROUGH, NOV. 13th, 1894.

DEAR TEACHER,—It is scarcely necessary for us to tell you that we, the members of your Bible class, in the George street Methodist Sunday school, deeply regret that you are about to leave Peterborough, and that you have therefore resigned your position as teacher of our class. During the years that you have taught us, we have learned to deeply respect you for your earnest efforts to do good, and to highly esteem you for your zeal on our behalf. We recognize that you have given a great deal of time and labour for the class, both during the week and on Sunday, which has been highly appreciated by us. And not only have you given your time to study and teaching, but many of us have reason to know that your interest in our welfare has been shown especially when we were ill. We have been and are grateful to you for your kindness, and we ask you to kindly accept our sincere thanks for what you have done for us.

We also ask you to accept of this ladies companion as an earnest of our thankfulness and of our good wishes. We hope that you will succeed even beyond your expectations where you are going. We will always remember you and the time spent in class with you, and we hope that you will bear in mind the members of this class. We trust that the Master you have served so well will give you His richest blessings.

Signed on behalf of the class,
H. WYNNE.

The surprise was such a total one to Miss Lunsden that she was overcome by her feelings to such an extent that she was only able to thank her class for their kindly rememberance to her. The members of the class remained and spent the evening and had a most enjoyable time.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

The ladies have promised to do their share in making it pleasant for the young men on Thanksgiving Day. In the afternoon, the rooms will be open and the secretary and some of the members will be "at home." We will be glad to have calls from as many young men as possible. In the evening, a reception will be held, to which all young men are invited. The programme will consist of music, games, conversation and refreshments. An enjoyable time is anticipated.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

A "Cold" Day!

You caught a cold last week—one of those long, lingering sorts of colds that's sneezy thing to get. Everybody you knew, and some people whom you had never been introduced to, told you what to take, and the more you took the more cold you took. Finally you went to see a doctor. He felt your pulse, told you to hold out your tongue, which felt like an all wool blanket, and advised you to drink plenty of COLD WATER, take two grains of quinine every two hours—and wear a good warm Overcoat. "Two dollars, please," said the doctor, and as you paid him like a little man, you made up your mind that if you had bought an Overcoat when you should, you would have saved your two dollars, the quinine, and wouldn't have to drink so much COLD WATER.

We Will Back Our Overcoats

Against any Others In Canada

for saving doctors' bills, and you couldn't have better advice than to get it to one of GOUGH'S tip-top Overcoats FORTHWITH.

Buy a $4.00 one if you can't afford a better one, as that may save a five dollar doctor's bill. Buy an All-Wool $10 one for $6 50 if you want a better one—or if you want a heap o style for your money, we've got the extreme styles at from $12 to $15

WOMEN IN SOCIETY

—often need the strengthening support of a general tonic and nervine. They're tired out or "run-down." This is frequently the result of "weakness," and it makes life miserable.

Are you weak, nervous, or ailing? Then Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription brings you special help. It's a remedy prescribed for delicate women, for all the derangements, disorders, and diseases of the sex.

For regulating and promoting all the proper functions, building up and invigorating the entire system, and restoring health and strength, this is the only remedy that can be guaranteed to benefit or cure, or the money will be refunded.

For every case of Catarrh which they cannot cure, the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy agree to pay $500 in cash. You're cured by its mild, soothing, cleansing, and healing properties, or you're paid.

WOMAN'S HEAVY LOAD.

SOL. JONES SAYS EMPHATICALLY THAT SHE IS WRONGED.

He Philosophizes on the Grevious Burdens of the Fair Sex, and Wants to Know Why Men Always Escape While Their Weaker Victims Suffer.

Elias Town's daughter Mag come back last week. She married and went away from here five years ago comin' Christmas, and here she is just in good time for another, with nothin' as I can see to be glad for.

'Lias was comftable, and took good care of his family. Mag had as good a home as enny girl in the county. Plenty of young men here would have bin glad to git her, but she wouldn't have none of them. And when a feller come along from another county she ups and takes a shine to him. She didn't know nothin' about him, and she sed she didn't care to know. He suited her and if he didn't suit others that didn't need to bother with him.

Of course she married him and then tha went out to the plains, and 'Lias set them up in farmin'. But Mag's man didn't like the work on a farm, and she wrote back his helth wasn't strong enough to plough, so they sold the things and went into a store in the town. Then the next letter told 'Lias how Mag's husband's partner had cheeted him out of everything and run away with the money, and there tha was.

'Lias sent them money, and tha spent it, and then ast for more, and spent that, and she took in washin' and cooked for a family that she wouldn't spoke to here to home, and raised three children, and got tired of der man, and here she is.

She couldn't say hard enuff things about him when she first come home, but 'Lias tells me this mornin' that she will have to have her man sent for.

I have saw a good many curis things in my day, but the way a man can fool a woman is the curisest.

He finds her purty, and he brings her back after a while lookin' so old and so worn that noboddy wants her. He finds her happy, and he fetches her back with nothin' to be happy for. He finds her helthy, and he brings her back with some unen:in' complante for the doctor to practise on.

And he's been gettin' better all the time. He's got fat while she was gittin' pore. He's made friends while folks has wondered how a man can live with her. He's loafed in the woods and et frute, while she's pulled the wash tub around in the shade of the house, and tride to make a dinner out of cold corn bred.

But, after all, that's the least harm he can do her. A woman that gits off that well is lucky.

I see in the papers an article about a young woman that killed herself in a hotel up there in the city because she didn't have no money and not a friend to pay for her bord and lodgin'. I reckon some of the smart young fellers thare in the city has some sharp things to say about her, and somethin' funny to laff at. But I'm old enuff to see more than simply a bad women that killed herself.

Mebby she didn't have no raisin', and so took up with some one that wasn't man enuff to trete her right. Mebby she hadn't no home, and didn't know how to work. Mebby she was wild, and wanted to see the world.

But supposin' you was the man that met her along thare at the beginnin'. Some man did meet her then. Supposin' it was you. Supposin' you looked at her, and you seen that she was purty, and esy to lede, and you just set down by her an' seed: "I will tell your fortune. I see a young woman about your size, and she's goin' to a theatre with a young man, and after that she's goin' to supper with him, and after that he's goin' to put her into a big den in the cellar, whare thas mud on the floor, and lizards, and crawlin' snakes, and todes and them things. And there on the floor I see a lion creepin' up tords her, with his jaws all over blood, and his eyes all red, and he's goin' to eat her up, and she can't git away without she climbs over the wall, and if she does she gits into a fire that burns all the time, and it scorches her feet, and blisters her hands, and burns her fase, and she smells her own hare thare where it's in the flame, and she tries to put out the coles that are stuck on her shoulders and her arms, and all over her, and she scremes and scremes, but tha ain't nothin' that can help her, lessn she goes back to the lions and the todes."

And then supposin' you sed to her. "That's your fortun, my girl." Mebby it would scare her. Mebby she wouldn't want to go ahead when a man what knows told her what was ahead for her. Mebby she'd ast him if tha wasn't a way to escape from the lions on one side of the fense and the fire on the other. And then supposin' he told her tha was if she stayed a good girl.

But the man that met her, he didn't tell her nothin' of all that. He told her fortun this way: He told her—"I see a young woman, a purty young woman, and she's going to have a good time at the theatre, and she's goin' to git a supper that'll taste better than ennything she ever et before in her life, and then she's going to travel through orchards where peaches hang on the limbs of the trees all the time, and apples drop into her hands whenever she's hungry, and where tha's sunshine from mornin' till night, and shaddlers whenever she's tired of the sun, and fine close all the time, and music and flowers and burds and all them sorts of things. And she'll be the happiest woman in the country if she just goes in in the way what she's started."

Something like that's what he told her. He knowed it wasn't so. He knowed the muddy celler and the horror would ketch her just as sure as he'd escape. And tha did. And he has escaped. She's ded. And no man knows whare he is. But I'll bet all the corn in the lower fields he's havin' a good time.

She's ded, and tha aint a relative in the world that likes to clame her, and he's smokin' good segars, and drinkin all the whisky his selfish hide can hold. She's ded, after living for years in the cellers where the todes and fire and the lions has been at her more'n half the time, and she haint had no chanct to get away from them. She aint had no weepin' to fite them with. She aint had no salve for the places whare tha stung her, and burned her, and bit her.

She's bin proud, and has held her hed up while hart was hevvy as deth. She's wore good close, and tride to look like a lady, and mebby she's past the man that told her fortune thar at the beginnin', and he's bin too happy to see her; she's bin hungry, and he's bin too contented with a good dinner to look at the rings under her eyes; she's bin insulted and he's bin too merry over gittin' some man's money to care a cent whether she's livin' or ded; she's bin tired, and he's so fat with good livin' that he never thinks how easy is the path that leads to a bed, nor how hard is the rode with no rest at the end of it.

She's got nothin' out of life, and if he'd told her the truth thare at the beginnin' she'd have knowed she wouldn't. She's bin lookin' for the gardens and the orchards he promised her, and the nearest she comes to findin' them is to-day when she lays thare stiff, with the smell of poison about her, and the dark of the devvil's night in her eyes.

Married or single, woman gits the worst of it. But God pity the girl that hopes that right will come from rong.

COMFORT FOR CATTLE.

Valuable Suggestions Regarding Stanchions or Cattle Ties.

Winter will soon be here. A merciful man is mercifnl to his beasts. With regard to live stock, the mierciful man will make even his stable comfortable. Horses, cattle and sheep must not only be fed and watered, but they must be housed, whether in barns, or folds or stables.

Valuable horses are kept in single, roomy stalls and generally are not confined by halters. Others are tied up, sometimes in single or double stalls.

Mates of good disposition can be made comfortable in double stalls.

Brood mares should have a single stall.

Sheep may be put by fifties or hundreds in a single fold, but this should be so large that all and each can get at the feed at the same time.

Cattle, especially the milky mothers of the herd, should have a full share of the farmers' care and attention. They cannot be herded together in a fold like sheep They can, however, be made comfortable in stalls without extra partitions.

In fixed stanchions, which are still in use in most dairies, the cow puts her head through a V-shaped stanchion, the right-hand upright of which fastens at the top and the whole assumes the shape of the Roman H when the head is in. I have favored a single pole with a cattle tie adjustable to the size of the neck.

Recently I have seen what may be called an improvement on either of the given methods. The stanchion consists of two round, upright poles of even size and smoothly rounded, fixed on a round disk made of plank above and below, which allows the whole stanchion to turn or revolve at the will of the cow; that is to say she can turn her head by her side—the general natural position—while lying down or while standing turn either way to lick herself or rid herself of a fly. With the old stanchions she could not do so, which was and is the principal objection.

Warmth, more or less, is needed by all animal life, more directly by warm-blooded creatures. When it comes to health and thrift or growth it is produced by food, which is as fuel to a furnace or stove, and husbanded by warm stables.

Cattle, horses and sheep will consume (and need it, also) from one third to one half more of feed during winter under open sheds or with no shelter overhead, than live stock well housed in barns and stables. Hence it is true economy to provide these. Nothing looks more pitiful than to see cattle and sheep shivering on the lee side of a rail fence in a snowstorm. A man who will subject his animals to such treatment is not a farmer, for he does not even study his own best interests. There may be some readers who would be profited by these hints if they would put them to a practical test.—St. Louis Republic.

The Metal Required.

Twelve inches of well consolidated materials in a good condition will be sufficient for roads of the greatest travel, and will resist all usual weights and frosts. Macadam considers from seven to ten inches sufficient, calling the latter depth of "well consolidated materials equal to carry anything." In the climate of France, ten inches has been shown to be quite enough for the most frequented roads, and six or eight inches enough for others. The thickness should vary with the soil, the nature of the materials, and the character of the travel; it should be such that the greatest load will not affect more than the surface of the shell, and it is for this purpose chiefly that thickness is required, in order that the weight which comes on a small part only of the road may be spread over a large portion of the foundation.

NICKNAMES OFTEN HEARD.

Henry VIII. was called Bluff old Hal, from his rudeness and coarseness of speech.

James Boswell was nicknamed the Bear-leader, from his association with Johnson.

Cobden is called the Apostle of Free Trade on account of his labors in that direction.

John Calvin was the Pope of the Reformation, from his influence among the reformers.

Louis Bourdaloue was called the Desmosthenes of Divinity, from his rare eloquence.

Aristophantes was the Father of Comedy, because he was the first Greek satirical writer.

Ariosto was the Walter Scott of Italy, because of his skill in the line of historical romance.

John Seiden was the Walking Library, because of the amount and diversity of his knowledge.

William Hogarth was dubbed the Juvenal of Painters, from the satirical character of his works.

You Can't get too Much

Of a good thing. This is eminently the case with Poison's Nerviline, and great pain cure. It is an honest remedy, for it contains the most powerful, the purest, and most certain pain subduing remedies known to medical science. It is honest, for it does all it claims to do. It is honest, because it is the best in the world. It only costs 25 cents to try it, and you can buy a bottle at any drug store. Nerviline cures toothache, neuralgia, pain in the back and side. All pains are promptly relieved by Poison's Nerviline.

The Mother Heart Touched

"I Believe SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE Saved the Lives of Two of My Children."—Puny Children Grow Fat and Strong—Tired and Ailing Women Take on the BLOOM of EARLIER YEARS.

What will touch the mother heart more deeply than the illness of her little ones? She may suffer much herself, and women are sorely afflicted with many ills, but she will endure all this, however often, without a murmur; but there can be no disguising her anxiety when the little ones of the home are stricken down with sickness. And how many puny children there are! We talk of the bloom of youth, but thousands of children know not of it. Others may romp, but they are weaklings.

Mothers, would you have your loved ones strong and healthy? Would you enjoy good health yourself? Then use South American Nervine Tonic; there is no doubting its efficacious properties. Investigate from a scientific or a common sense point of view and you will find that nearly all disease has its start in the nerve centres of the body.

The mission of South American Nervine is to at once reach the nerve centres, which are to the whole body what the mainspring of the watch is to every other part of the timepiece. Science has made perfectly clear that the troubles that affect the individual organs of the body, have their seat in these nerve centres, so, without any wasteful experimenting, South American Nervine reaches out to the seat of the difficulty, and straightening out what is wrong there heals the whole body. Listen to what Mrs. H. Russell, Wingate, writes on this point: "I have used several bottles of South American Nervine Tonic, and will say, I consider it the best medicine in the world. I believe it saved the lives of two of my children. They were down, and nothing appeared to do them any good until I procured this remedy. It was very surprising how rapidly both improved on its use. I don't allow myself to be without some of it in my house. I recommend the medicine to all my neighbors." It will certainly grant new life to all who are delicate, whether young, middle-aged, or old. Do not worry along with ill health, but dispel it, and brighten your lives by the immediate use of South American Nervine.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

Swimming in the Dead Sea.

From Jerusalem we had a thoroughly delightful trip of three days to Jericho, the Dead sea and the Jordan. In the saddle most of the time and under a blazing Syrian sun the fatigue was certainly great, but the interest was far greater. It was good to be out among the mountains, stern and naked as they were, and to make the descent of nearly 4,000 feet to the wilderness in which John the Baptist had preached and in which the Essene communities had wrought out so many of the peaceful tenets of the gospels.

As for the Dead sea it will, in contradiction of the name, forever preserve a green and living memory in my mind. No fish can survive in it, we all know, but for a place for a swim, or, above all, for a float, commend me to it beyond all the Winnipesaukees in the world. How it bears you up in its arms! How it annihilates the tiresome ponderosity and dignity of the laws of gravitation! How it introduces you into the inner consciousness of dainty ariel and thistle down and all other airy fairy creatures! The more you weigh the less you weigh—there is the real hydrostatic paradox. An elephant in the Dead sea would feel himself a gazelle. Then what a mirror its steely surface was that morning, and how beautiful its reflections of the mountains of Palestine on one hand and of Moab on the other!—Christian Register.

Value of Knowledge.

If any instance of the value of knowledge in the dairy were needed, no more striking proof could be given than that furnished by the experience of Hoard's Dairyman in the vicinity of its location. In 1885 the township of Koshkonong, where it had an established circulation, produced 154,081 pounds of butter, which, we are told sold for an average of 21.08 cents. In the township of Watertown, where it had no subscribers at the time in question, there were produced only 83,445 pounds, which sold for the average price of 12.08 cents per pound, or 9 cents per pound less than the price obtained in Koshkonong township. This amounted to $7,710.10 or $3.71 for each man, woman and child in the township. The farmers of one township posted themselves and the others did not. These two townships were only sixteen miles apart and had the same characteristics and the same markets.

The Jap's Illustration.

A bright young native of Japan, who is in business in this city, came into the Express office the other evening to learn the latest news about the war between his country and China. He speaks English with but a slight accent, and his only difficulty in expressing himself seems to be rather in a limited vocabulary than in inability to pronounce the words. He has the utmost confidence in Japan's ultimate victory, and when it was remarked to him that China had a great advantage in point of numbers, he said:

"It's just like this. You have one hundred cents—that's one dollar. I have one dollar-bill. That's only one. My one is as good as your hundred."

This Japanese has evidently a full appreciation of the advantages of civilization. His simile was a good one, and pretty nearly describes the situation.—Albany Express.

Noted Jersey Breeder Dead.

The death is announced of Edward P. Pasons Fowler at Southampton, England. Perhaps no man's name is more familiar to Jersey cattle breeders than that of Mr. Fowler. His father began importing Channel Island cattle to England in 1811, and the son took up the business while yet a youth. He resided for twenty-eight years on the island of Jersey, but his later years were spent in Southampton. He made many passages with Jersey cattle to this country. His career is an important chapter in the history of Jersey cattle.

Striking at His Rights.

Hungry Higgins—I met a Anarchist last night. Had a long talk wit' him.

No Rice Throwing Allowed.

The Vicar of Cropedy, an Oxfordshire village, has had the following notice attached to the church door with regard to rice throwing at at wedding: "It is particularly requested that no rice be thrown at the conclusion of weddings when the bride and bridegroom leave the church. The bride's house, and not the church, is the right place for observances which have no connection with the religious ceremony, and are sometimes a cause of disorder and irreverence."

Ringing Noises

In the ears, sometimes a roaring, buzzing sound, are caused by catarrh, that exceedingly disagreeable and very common disease. Loss of smell or hearing also result from catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, is a peculiarly successful remedy for this disease, which it cures by purifying the blood.

Hood's Pills are the best after dinner pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.

A Terrible Experience:

Mr. Geo. Tribe, of Straffordville, Ont. a pretty village near the shores of Lake Erie, went through an experience lately that he will never forget. He tells it in his own words:

"For three years I suffered from skin disease in its worst form. I tried Kennedy's Medical Discovery and the Cuticura remedies, and doctored one year with the best physicians in the land, but got no benefit; they pronounced my disease a Scaly Eruption, but failed to remove it. It came on in red blotches and spread over my body; the skin became dry and formed hard, white scales; the itching was intolerable, but I am now completely cured by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. I can truly say I owe my good health to B. B. B., and I advise all sufferers to use this splendid medicine.

FIGHTING FOREST FIRES

Settlers in Arkansas, Tennessee and Mississippi in Great Danger.

MUCH PROPERTY DESTROYED

Hunting Parties Camped in the Woods — Feared to Have Been Lost Towns Surrounded by Fire—An Aged White Couple Burned to Death.

BEEBE, Ark., Nov. 14.—The forest fires are approaching dangerously near this place. Many hunting parties were camped in the woods, and it is feared several lives have been lost. The situation at Neelville is alarming and farmers are fighting day and night to save their homes and buildings.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov 14.—Forest fires in North Mississippi, West Tennessee and Eastern Arkansas continue to rage with unabated vigor. The fires have made their way into Alabama in the vicinity of Florence following the lines of the Tennessee River whose banks are heavily wooded. Many men in the Shoal creek neighborhood near Florence are engaged fighting the flames to keep them from the settlements yet a dozen houses have been burned down and barns, fences and crops swept away.

Paris, Tenn., is surrounded by flames. Jas. Snyder, living near there went to fight the fires from his fences. When he returned to his home it was in ashes. This is the experience of many settlers.

The village of Hollywood, Miss., is surrounded by fire and in great danger.

Near Renova, Miss, Harry Owsley and wife, an aged white couple, were burned to death, and a young woman living with them had a narrow escape.

THE WAR IN THE EAST.

Port Arthur Not Yet Captured—Japs Preparing for Winter.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 14.—The Shanghai Mercury says that Port Arthur has not yet been taken by the Japanese.

TIEN-TSIN, Nov. 14.—Li Hung Chang's son has left Tien-Tsin, taking with him his valuables.

Col. von Hennekin lately submitted at the foreign boards request a scheme of military reorganization. The Emperor and the Manchur statesmen approved the scheme, but the stratagem of certain wealthy Taotis frustrated it.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—The Japanese Government has just placed in this city orders for 250,000 yards of cotton duck to be used in making tents. This is assumed to mean that the Japanese military authorities are preparing for a protracted winter campaign in China.

Knights of Labor in Session.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 14.—The Knights of Labor session opened yesterday in Screween's hall. The representation at the meeting is large and influential and it is anticipated a large measure of legislation will be had for the benefit of the order. The general public participated in the opening of the meeting. Mayor Kirkpatrick made the address of welcome to the visiting Knights, extending them the hospitality of the city and expressing the hope that their deliberations would make for the good of labor throughout the country. Grand Master Sovereign responded. After the formal opening of the convention an executive session was called for and the business of the convention was begun. In the absence of the Governor, who is sick, Col. T. Sambola Jones addressed the convention and read a letter from the Governor, wishing the convention success in its labor. Eugene V. Debs wired that he has been called to Chicago and cannot come to New Orleans.

Chicago Police Suspended.

CHICAGO, Nov. 14.—Seventeen policemen have been suspended by Inspector Schaack at the East Chicago avenue station. Their indifference to the numerous outrages committed at the polls, culminating in the murder of Gus Goliander on the election night, is alleged to be the direct cause.

A Newspaper Man's Serious Scrape.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Robert Percy Dow, a newspaper man, has been held in $1,500 bail by U. S. Commissioner Shields for examination on the charge of writing an obscene letter to Mrs. W. E. Aitken, of 23 Hunter street, East Hamilton, Ont.

Killed by a Live Wire.

BROOKLYN, Nov. 14. Dennis O'Connor, in the employ of the United Electric Supply Company, of New York, was killed while at work in the Abraham & Strauss store yesterday. He came in contact with a live wire.

Personnel of the New House.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—The Republican national congressional committee has given out a revised list of the membership of the next house. The total gives the Republicans 345 members, Democrats 105 Populists 6.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 14, 1894.

The earnings of the Grand Trunk for the past week show a decrease of $54,736 under last year's report.

Canadian barley in Oswego is steady at 63c.

On the street here one load of red wheat sold at 54c. One thousand bushels of barley changed hands at from 40 to 44c. and 200 bushels of oats at from 30 1-2 to 31c.

Owners of barley in Buffalo are holding on to the advance asked and buyers are only taking small lots. Canada is quoted at 61 to 65c.

Wheat had a downward tendency in Chicago, the close being 1-2 to 5-8c lower. Corn and oats were dull and a shade lower.

The East Buffalo live stock market closed dull and weak with 60 loads of sheep and lambs again going over unsold. Canada lambs unchanged.

The big boom in South American mines absorbs attention in London. Nearly £1,000,000 in gold is expected at the Bank of England to-day from Russia. The city of Quebec yesterday offered on the market £71,900 in debenture 50 year 4's at £96 10s.

A slow hardening in the New York money market is now perceptible, a noteworthy indication, for that market has not stirred in such direction—not even pending the February bond sale—since the heapup of idle bank reserves began a year ago. The stock market undoubtedly reflects the state of mind existing among the speculators generally. Their obvious conditions is perplexity and bewilderment. This hesitation left the stock exchange wholly dull during the greater part of the day's transactions and robbed the market of its usual significance. Nevertheless the tone was very strong and here and there prices crept up continuously.

Cold in the head—Nasal Balm gives instant relief; speedily cures. Never fails.

Valuable Horses Burned.

OTTAWA, Nov. 14.—Eleven of the finest thoroughbred horses in Canada belonging to Mrs. P. Maguire, at Janeville, a suburb of Ottawa, was burned to a cinder yesterday. The horses were to be sold by auction in a few days. There were two of the mares worth $10,000, and there was not an animal in the eleven that was not worth over $500. Mr. Maguire made his money in New York and fitted up the old homestead at Cyrville here in good style, having the best stock that could be purchased. He died some time ago and the widow who still lives in New York was disposing of the stock privately until all but eleven were disposed of. How the fire occurred is not yet known. There was no insurance.

P. P. A. Boycott in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Nov. 14.—There is much indignation in Catholic circles over an attempt to introduce the P. P. A. methods in a portion of this city. Some time ago a lodge of the P. P. A. was established in Point St. Charles, an English and Protestant portion of the city. There are, however, a number of Catholics engaged in business, and now it has been determined to inaugurate a systematic boycott against them. The first move has been made against a couple of barbers who did a good business. The word has gone forth that they are not to be patronized, and a Protestant barber has taken up business. An action before the law courts is threatened.

Chicago Elopement Case.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Richard Schroeter and Victor Borberg, the two Chicago men who have figured in the Chicago runaway case, were again in court yesterday. Mr. Dignen, for the prisoners, asked for a stay of ten days, as witnesses were to be brought from Chicago. A stay of proceedings was granted for a day. Heching and the private detectives were present, but Mrs. Heching was not. She called at the jail shortly after her lovers were removed to the cells and was allowed a conversation with them.

Mr. Laurier in Montreal.

MONTREAL, Nov. 14.—Mr. Laurier, the Liberal leader, had a conference last night with a number of his prominent supporters in the Montreal district with the object of arranging for the forthcoming campaign. A thorough re-organization of the party is to be made and an active campaign inaugurated. A series of meetings will be commenced shortly which will be addressed by Mr. Laurier and other prominent Liberals.

Anti-Toxine Serum for Toronto.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—Dr. Paul Gibier, director of the Pasteur Institute, has announced that the first shipment of anti-toxine serum for the cure of diphtheria manufactured in this country will be sent from the institute to the Board of Health in New Orleans, where diphtheria has been raging for nearly a month. The second shipment will be made to Toronto, Ont., to-morrow.

Grave Robbers Foiled.

KINGSTON, Nov. 14.—On Sunday night ghouls visited the burying ground at the village of Sydenham, about fifteen miles from here, and resurrected the body of Mrs. Shepherd, recently interred. They were leaving with the corpse when discovered by a watchman who fired at the party, and, it is said, wounded one of them. The robbers abandoned the body and made their escape.

Drowning at Liverpool, N.S.

LIVERPOOL, N.S., Nov. 14.—Frederick Quinlan was drowned off Western Head by upsetting of a boat. He leaves a wife and family. The other occupant of the boat was rescued with difficulty, and only with great care restored to consciousness.

No Hope for Truskey.

WINDSOR, Nov. 14.—R. F. Sutherland, Truskey's lawyer, has given up all hope of getting a new trial for the prisoner, and will tell him in a few days that there is no chance of him escaping his fate.

Honour Bright!

Honour bright, don't you think it would be better and wiser to take advantage of the Drop In Prices at Brady's Corner Grocery and Provision Store, when you go to buy your Fresh Fruits, Fresh Baking Powder, Fresh Extracts, Fresh Lard, Fresh Butter, Fresh Eggs, &c., than to keep on buying and paying the same old price all the time?

Honest Injun, we do. Especially when we tell you you can, at the same time, buy the most Sugar for a Dollar and the Best Family Flour in the market at this same Corner Store.

Our new Automatic Fruit Cleaner removes all stems and sand from your fruit, gives you full weight in sound, new fruit, and saves a lot of trouble in cleaning.

We had a little row the other day with a Soap man for sending us double what we ordered. The price was so low it wouldn't pay to freight it back. He asked us to keep it at half price, and we kept it. Our customers can have it at the same. We don't want it. Honour bright. Yours to please—

TURNBULL'S

MANTLES.

Our Mantle trade this season has so far exceeded our expectations that it has cleared out several lines and left room for new ones, which we have secured at from $3.00 to $3.50, less than original prices on the better lines. Our customers will reap the benefit of this reduction in the wholesale cost. A full range of all styles and prices now in stock at prices that are never undersold.

BLANKETS.

We have run across a line of All Wool Blankets, in large sizes, woven similar to a Sheeting but combed; they are very desirable and are selling at $3.00 a pair. We have also a splendid assortment of Light and Dark Gray Blankets in all sizes.

UNDERWEAR.

As the season advances we sometimes run across what dry goods men call snaps. We have secured one of these now in Men's All Wool Underclothing, in both natural and flesh colours, at $1.00 a suit. The best line ever offered for the money. Plenty of lower qualities always in stock.

SKIRTINGS.

We are introducing a line of heavy Blanket Skirtings, one of the most desirable materials we have found yet in Ladies' wear. They are 40 inches wide and only 35c a yard.

CAPS AND MUFFS.

Just received a splendid assortment of Astrachan and Gray Lamb Caps, in both wedge and band shapes. Also Sealette Caps and Muffs.

Our prices for Scotch Tweed Suits made to order are a surprise to everybody. We have just passed into stock several nobby lines in Serges and Suitings. A perfect fit guaranteed every time.

Our Motto is to Undersell and Never be Undersold, and to always keep Our Stock Well Assorted.

A TENNESSEE TRAGEDY

Judge Allison, of Davidson County, Shot by the Clerk of the Court.

ATTEMPTED TO KILL HIMSELF

The Assassin Fires Two Bullets Into His Own Breast and is Dying—The Loss of His Position Prompted the Clerk to Commit the Rash Deed.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 15.—A tragedy which has no equal in the records of this State occurred here yesterday, when Chancellor Andrew Allison, of the Davidson County Chancery Court, was shot and instantly killed in the court house by the clerk and master of the same court, Geo. K. Whitworth, who immediately after despatching Allison, turned his weapon upon himself and inflicted a fatal wound.

Whitworth had served one term as clerk and master, and was anxious to remain in position, which is worth $20,000 a year. Since his incumbency of the place he had lived luxuriously and was accounted wealthy. But his term expired two weeks ago, and as the appointment of his successor rested with the chancellor, the latter appointed his son, Granville Allison.

Whitworth has since spoken bitterly about Allison. They had not met since the appointment until yesterday, when Whitworth saw Chancellor Allison in a corridor outside the court room. Whitworth called Allison and when the latter turned around he found himself facing a double-barrelled shotgun in the hands of his late clerk and master, who pulled the trigger, emptying the contents of one barrel into his face and chest. Allison fell to the floor dead. Whitworth laid the gun inside the court room door, pulled a revolver from his pocket and fired two balls into himself, both in the breast. Until the new appointment great friendship had existed between the men. Whitworth was instrumental mainly in the election of Allison, who reciprocated by appointing Whitworth to the clerkship. Both men were members of leading families in this section.

After Chancellor Allison fell to the floor Whitworth set the gun against the wall and pulled a revolver from his pocket, and, placing it against his breast in the region of the heart, fired. By this time half a dozen men were in the hall, and Deputy Clerk West made a rush for Whitworth, who was making a desperate attempt to fire again. West grabbed the revolver, but too late to prevent it exploding. The ball entered the body and ranged downwards. The revolver was finally wrested from the would-be suicide and he walked in the clerk's office and lay down on a desk. Half a dozen doctors were soon on the scene to examine Whitworth. All the time he was cool. He asked the bystanders if Allison was dead, and upon being answered in the affirmative begged for a pistol that he might end his own life. Shortly afterwards he was removed to his home, where he is slowly dying.

Archbishop Corrigan's Denial.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—Archbishop Corrigan has made the following denial of the published statement that he directed the priests in this city to advise their parishioners to vote the Tammany ticket at the recent election: "Neither by word, letter, or in any way, directly or indirectly did I exhort, much less force, any priests of this diocese to offer any advice to their parishioners regarding the elections. I have not now and never have had any affiliation with Tammany Hall or any other political organization in this city."

Colored People for Liberia.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The steamer Adriatic took in her steerage yesterday a party of twenty colored people who are going to Liberia. This is the advanced column from the army of 4,000 negroes that is said to be gathered in Southern seaports awaiting means of transportation.

Mrs. Cleveland Criticized.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—A Pittsburg special says:—Pittsburg temperance women are severely criticising Mrs. Cleveland, wife of the president, for her action in using wine in christening the new ocean steamer St. Louis.

Made Homeless by Fire.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 15.—News has reached here of burning of four houses by forest fires near Millington and of the fatal burning of Fannie Woods and the child of a negro named Pitt Rhea. About fifty negroes in that vicinity are now homeless.

A Carleton Burglar Sentenced.

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—William Marshall, one of the Carleton burglars, has been sentenced to five years in Kingston Penitentiary. Marshall was also charged with shooting at Storekeeper Baines, but was acquitted by the jury.

An Extra Fishery Cruiser.

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 15.—To-morrow the tug, Ainslie, under command of Captain N. McGregor will leave as an extra fishery cruiser to patrol the waters of Georgian Bay and Lake Huron in connection with the cruiser, Petrel.

YAMAGATA'S ADVANCE

Marching to Meet the Chinese at Sui-Yen and Wo-Tin-Ting.

REBELLIOUS TONGHAKS ACTIVE

Armed Corean Soldiers Sent Against Them—Japanese Outlay for the War to Date—Li Hung Chang in Favor—The Pope's Interest in the War.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The Tokio correspondent of the Central News telegraphs: "Japan has not yet received any peace overtures from China. If Japan accepts America's offer of mediation she will do so only upon certain conditions concerning the question of indemnity. It is understood that Japan's actual outlay for the war up to the present has been about £30,000,000.

"Despatches from Field Marshal Yamagata say that he is continuing his advance in Manchuria. His left division is marching up on Sui-Yen, where a force of 20,000 Chinese under Gen. Ma is encamped. The right division recently routed a large force of Chinese cavalry on the road to Lin-San-Knan, which was occupied later without opposition from the Chinese. The division is now advancing upon Wo-Tin-Ting, where the Chinese under Gen. Tho have taken a position."

The Tien-Tsin correspondent of the Times says: "Prince Kung sent back to Port Arthur Gen. Shiu with 2,000 men. They made a vigorous defence eastward of Kinchow on the seventh and fought throughout the day. They checked the Japanese advance though unsupported by the other commanders. Another severe fight took place on the eighth when Gen. Shiu was overcome by the Japanese then occupying Kinchow. Some thousand of refugees fleeing from Kinchow towards the villages in the vicinity were mistaken for the enemy by the Japanese who fired on them from the defences killing hundreds."

The Times hears from Shanghai: "The relations of Li Hung Chang and the Imperial officials in Pekin are now close and apparently cordial."

From Chemulpo the Times has this despatch:—"The rebellious Tonghaks are very active. The Japanese armed 400 Corean soldiers and despatched them against the rebels whom the Coreans joined. The Tonghaks are issuing notices declaring that the king is a prisoner and must be delivered. They quote a secret message from the king appealing for help."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The Japanese Minister received the following cablegram from the Japanese Government:—

"Our army occupied Talien-Wan on the afternoon of the 8th instant. Our fleet, transports and torpedo boats are safely anchored in the bay. The torpedo station with igniting equipments, charts of submarine torpedoes, eighty cannons and the telephone lines were captured."

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The daily Chronicle's Rome despatch says:—"The Pope follows the war in the east with interest, hoping that the collapse of China will favor the Christian propaganda. He wishes after the war to establish a hierarchy in China and he will negotiate with Japan for diplomatic relations."

A Canadian Tunnel at the Falls.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Nov. 15.—Wm. B. Rankine, secretary of the Cataract Construction Company, who has been in the city for the past two days, has left for New York. During his stay here Mr. Rankine has been unusually busy, and among the matters requiring his attention were those on the Canadian side of the river. He made a trip to the other side of the river, and, of course, his movements, like all others that have any possible bearing on the situation, so far as work on the Canadian tunnel is concerned, are watched with eager interest. It is impossible at this time to obtain any accurate information regarding the company's plan respecting the Canadian tunnel beyond the facts that the work over there is to begin in a short time.

German Anti-Revolution Bill.

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—The anti-revolution bill was sent to the Bundesrath yesterday for the approval of that body. The bill is short and refers chiefly 130 and 131 of the common law which is extended. The bill contains the following passage: "It shall henceforth be punishable to incite any person in the military service to disobedience of law or orders, to glorify criminal acts by word or rioting or to threaten by force or by menacing letters. Any newspapers reporting or reprinting any such writings or letters will be summarily suppressed, pending the sentencing of the person guilty of such publications."

Coal Men at the Capital.

OTTAWA, Nov. 15.—F. Meyerheauser, of St. Paul, Messrs. Ingram and Coffin, of Eau Claire, Wis., and L. S. Tainter, of Menomine, Wis., are here attending the annual meeting of the Canadian Anthracite Coal Co. The meeting was held in Mr. McLeod Stewart's office yesterday. It was private. One of the directors told a reporter that there were between six and seven thousand tons of coal a month now being taken out, but that amount will be greatly increased next year. All these gentlemen are largely interested in lumber in Wisconsin and Minnesota.

Death of Admiral Symonds.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Admiral Symonds died in Torquay yesterday. Sir Thomas Matthew Charles Symonds, G. C. B., K. C. B., was the son of Rear Admiral Sir William Symonds. He was born in 1811. He was admiral superintendent of the Devonport dockyard from 1852 to 1856, commander-in-chief of the Channel squadron from 1863 to 1870, and was back in Devonport in 1875-1878. From 1879 he was admiral of the fleet.

West Algoma Election Trial.

TORONTO, Nov. 15.—The examinations in the West Algoma election case are again in progress at Osgoode Hall before Fulford Arnoldi. There are 120 charges against Mr. Savage, the member-elect, and the case will be one of the most expensive and bitterly fought in the whole province. Both James Conmee and Mr. Savage are in town in connection with the matter. The petitioner against Savage is Conmee's bookkeeper. The election trial has been fixed for December 17 at Port Arthur.

ENGLAND'S BIG STORMS

On the West and South Coasts it is Felt With Great Severity.

CHANNEL TRAFFIC SUSPENDED

Arriving Vessels Report Heavy Losses From the Effects of the Gale—Several Ships Report Loss of Life—The River Thames Risen Four Feet.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The storms which have been raging throughout England, the Channel and the North Sea since Monday, continue unabated and are particularly severe in the west and south of England. The Channel traffic from Folkestone has been entirely suspended. The promenade pier at Dover is wrecked and many of the piles have been carried away. A heavy landslide has completely blocked the railroad at Strous. The bark, Leif, belonging to Drammen, Norway, has been wrecked at Dover and three of her crew were drowned. Other cases of drowning are reported from different places. The Riverside Lawns at Kew and Richmond are flooded. The Thames has risen four feet at Richmond.

The vessels coming into port bring stories of trying experiences in the storm. The steamer Wanderer, from Liverpool, entered Falmouth harbor with her boats, funnel, bridge house and chart house missing. She also lost one seaman. The steamer Finsbury, which arrived at Falmouth a little later, had suffered almost as much damage in the storm. She had been thrown repeatedly on her beam ends, her cargo had shifted, and she had lost her boats, deck gear and a seaman. Every hour brings fresh reports of damage to sea walls, losses of coasting craft and crippling of the life boat service. Only isolated cases of death in the storm have been reported. The storm is now subsiding all along the coast.

The Royal Mail steamer Colon arrived at Plymouth from Colon. For the past four days her captain reports she experienced terrible weather. Her decks were washed repeatedly. On the 11th off the Azores she lost half her bridge, part of her upper deck, her steering gear and compass. An officer and two seamen were washed off the bridge and severely injured. The passengers suffered severely. The steamer lay to for four hours on the 11th and two hours on Monday.

The captain saw a two masted vessel on the rocks half a mile west of Guernsey. She had a distress flag up and the seas were breaking over her. There was a rain squall at the time. When it cleared the vessel was invisible. Nothing was heard of her crew.

DIPHTHERIA AND SMALLPOX.

Spreading in Montreal—Anti-Toxine Used With No Success.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—Montreal is threatened with another diphtheria and smallpox epidemic. Two months ago the Civic Smallpox hospital which had been opened for the reception of scarlatina patients was closed, it being supposed the disease was stamped out. Now it appears that both diseases are once more spreading. The Montreal Foundling hospital and the Protestant Infants' Home have several cases with some deaths.

The anti-toxine treatment has been tried without success, but this is said to be due to inefficient appliances.

A deputation of prominent doctors and citizens waited on the Mayor yesterday morning and obtained a promise to re-open the Civic hospital at once, also to send direct to New York for a supply of anti-toxine serum which will be used in cases not too far advanced.

Firebug and Forger.

MONTREAL, Nov. 15.—The little town of St. Blaise, St. John's county, was startled on October 22nd by the burning of two barns valued at $8,000, the property of Macellin Robert. An investigation led to the belief that arson had been committed, and suspicion pointed strongly to Joseph Daigneaut, of Sherrington, some thirteen miles distant. No further developments offered themselves until Daigneaut was arrested on a charge of forging a cheque for $250 in the name of his brother Louis. Daigneaut was locked up. During the week Detective Trempe, was informed of the supposed case of arson, and managed to discover three or four witnesses who deposed that they had seen Joseph Daigneaut going in the direction of Mr. Robert's barns on the date of the burning. Trempe at once set out for the jail and placed Daigneaut under arrest on the second charge of arson. The prisoner will answer both charges at the Criminal Assizes in March.

A Hamilton Bigamist.

HAMILTON, Nov. 15.—Lentzer, a tailor doing business on James St. north, left the city suddenly a couple of days ago, leaving his stock in the store and giving no clue as to where he was going. As his business was pretty successful and his creditors were not pushing him his sudden departure looked mysterious. It now turns out that Lentzer was a bigamist and had learned that wife No. 1 was on his track and during the absence of wife No. 2 who was visiting in the United States Lentzer took his departure for parts unknown. Mrs. Lentzer No. 2 has since arrived in Hamilton and would like to know the whereabouts of the missing tailor.

Overcoat Thieves Sentenced.

WINDSOR, Nov. 15.—George and William Hayes, two respectable-looking young men, who claim to hail from Buffalo, were placed in the dock at the Windsor police court to receive sentence for stealing overcoats from the Woodbine hotel. They were caught with the overcoats on while about to take a ferry boat for Detroit about a week ago and pleaded guilty to the charge. After giving them a severe lecture, Magistrate Bartlett sentenced them to six months each in the Central Prison at Toronto.

The Proposed Fast Line.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—In an address delivered at the Royal Colonial Institute Mr. F. Shaw, in speaking of colonial expansion, said that in urging the inception of a new steam and cable line, the Ottawa Conference postponed a definite initiation of a system which would make for the Empire's advantage. Mr. Haddart made a brief speech, but said nothing as to the fast Atlantic line. Lord Brassey was chairman of the meeting.

The Daily Examiner is delivered to any part of the Town for 10c. a week 35c. a month, $2.00 for six months.

Daily Examiner.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 15, 1894.

JUDGE MACDOUGAL is not satisfied with having one aldermanic scalp at his belt, but asks larger powers of investigation from the city council which have been granted, and His Honour has now leave to probe matters to the bottom. It is probable that there will been other wigs upon the green?

A sensible libel law has been introduced into the Vermont Legislature. It provides that if the article complained of was published in good faith or by mistake and retraction is made, only actual damages may be recovered, but this shall not apply to a libel upon a candidate for public office unless the retraction is made a certain time before election.

LAST year in Ontario we imported $153,650 worth of coal oil. On this we paid a duty of $148,852.08. Ninety-six per cent. But why should we squeal? Quebec paid a duty of over 100 per cent.; Nova Scotia over 125 per cent. "Let there be light" says Finance Minister Foster, but, remarks the Brantford Expositor, for every dollar's worth you burn you invest almost a dollar for the benefit of the Canadian oil refiners.

A writer in The Canada Farmers' Sun says:—"The net Dominion debt is now $250,000,000, and the net Provincial debts $20,000,000 - $270,000,000 in all. Assuming the population to be 5,000,000—it was only 4,830,000 in 1891—we owe on Dominion and Provincial account $54 per head. In the United States the net Federal debt in July 1893, on an estimated population of 66,800,000, was $12.55 per head. The net debts of the individual States amount to $3.50 per head. In other words, they owe $16 per head on Federal and State account against our $54."

THE constitutional amendments recently adopted in New York State contain a provision empowering the Legislature to do away with coroners, and pass an act assigning to medical officers the duty of determining the cause of death in suspicious cases, and to prosecuting officers the task of setting the machinery of the law in motion when a criminal prosecution is thought necessary. Judge McMahon said a few weeks ago that the coroner's jury system ought to be abolished for a simpler method, less liable to abuse, The county-crown attorney should have all the necessary powers for taking action in cases of death requiring the interference of the law. As matters now are, coroners' inquests almost invariably retard, rather than facilitate, the ends of justice.

ABOUT HOGS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—The decline in the prices of hogs the lost six weeks has made farmers begin to think that they have overstocked the hog market, and perhaps a few words from a Packer may throw some light on the subject.

The increase in the number of hogs raised in Ontario has certainly been very large, but I do not consider that there are too many hogs in this province if they were only marketed evenly through every month in the year, with slightly increased deliveries during June, July and August.

At the present time there is a large number of hogs offering, both alive and dressed, and prices have declined, but if the market reports are studied it will be found that the decline is general throughout the United States, Canada and England. The majority of farmers are still following the old plan of not fattening their hogs until the new crop of peas is ripened, and then they market them with a rush, as they are doing just now. If the farmers are going to make it pay them to raise and fatten hogs, they will require to study when will be the time to sell the hogs so as to bring the best prices, and from my experience in the business I am convinced that during the summer months is that time, and to enable the farmers to fatten their hogs for the summer market they must keep sufficient grain, peas, etc., over from the previous year to fatten them. I feel convinced that they will find that the months of June, July and August are the best months in the year to sell hogs and make money.

The only two classes of customers to whom the packers sell their meats are the Canadian and the English. Now, both of these demand new cured goods, and it is getting more difficult every year to sell winter cured meats in summer, as we used to a few years ago. There is a class of heavy bacon that will sell, but the finer class of sugar cured meats required by our customers in cities, town and villages must always be new cured, i.e., cured, smoked and sold in a few weeks after the hog is killed and not held in our cellars from November or December until the following July or August.

Then, for the English trade, the bacon must arrive in England just fresh cured, with scarcely enough salt to keep it, as the English people will not buy unless it is very mild cured, so mild indeed, that it has to be sold promptly on arrival and go into immediate consumption.

These are the reasons why we require a supply of hogs every week in the year, instead of in the winter season only, and I feel convinced that this has only to be understood by the farmers to be followed out to their profit.

In regard to the breeds of hogs that I wrote about last year, they are improving nicely, but they must still keep on on the same lines, as more improvement is necessary before we can place as fine an article of bacon on the English market as the Danes are sending there now.

Yours truly,
GEO. MATTHEWS.

Woman-hood

has its own special medicine in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. And every woman who is "run-down" or over-worked, every woman who suffers from any "female complaint" or weakness, needs just that remedy. With it, every disturbance, irregularity and derangement can be permanently cured.

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nervine, and the only medicine for women so safe and sure that it can be guaranteed. In periodical pains, displacements, weak back, bearing-down sensations, and every kindred ailment, if it fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. Is anything that isn't sold in this way likely to be "just as good?"

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation, liver-ills, indigestion, dyspepsia, piles and headaches.

Beyond Dispute.

There is no better, safer or more pleasant cough remedy made than Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam. It cures hoarseness, sore throat, coughs, colds, bronchitis and all throat and lung troubles.

HELD UP BY THE COOK GANG.

A Train Side Tracked and Robbed by the Notorious Bandits.

WAGONER, I. T., Nov. 15.—Notwithstanding the large force of the United States marshals and Indian police that have been surrounding the Cook gang of outlaws and pressing them hard, the gang broke through the circle and held up a Missouri, Kansas and Texas train at Wybank, 11 miles south of Wagoner. On the train being side-tracked, the engineer and fireman, seeing the bandits, stopped the train and took to the woods so that the robbers were unable to use them in forcing the messenger to open the express car. The gang proceeded to place dynamite on the trucks of the express and baggage cars. Five sticks of dynamite were exploded but only resulted in blowing holes in the bottoms of the cars.

One of the gang then entered the smoking car while three on each side of it kept up a fusilade of bullets through the car. The robber who entered levelled his gun on a young man from Indiana, seated near the front of the car, and ordered him to carry a sack, into which the other passengers were told to throw their valuables. The robber with his gun and the young hoosier in advance passed down the train, everybody but the women contributing liberally. The robber was not satisfied, however, shouting that not enough watches were coming in, and turned over the cushions of every seat, where he found many hidden watches. Having passed through all the cars, the sleeper included, with a farewell volley, the robbers left, taking the young hoosier with them. A few minutes later the passenger returned, stating that the robbers had taken him a quarter of a mile and then turned him loose.

It was a hard matter to find the engineer and firemen even after the robbers had gone as they were afraid of a sudden return of the gang. The train was delayed an hour. All the windows were shot out, and the sides of the cars were riddled with bullets. Seven men were engaged in the holdup, and they were undoubtedly led by Bill Cook, Cherokee Bill and "Dynamite" Dick. The robbers when leaving struck out for the bottoms between the Verdigris and Arkansas rivers. A posse from Muskogee and the surrounding country started in pursuit but no tidings have so far been received.

A Subpœna Issued for Col. Coit.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 14.—A subpœna for Col. Coit, who commanded the militia at Washington court house during the recent riot over the attempted lynching, has been issued. The subpœna cites that Col. Coit is wanted as a witness at the trial of the negro whom the mob attempted to lynch. His friends here have urged him not to accept service of the subpœna as they claim that it is merely a ruse on the part of the authorities of Washington court house to get him there and then place him in jail on the charge of murder. They state that the feeling against him is so intense at the latter place that his life will be in jeopardy. It is stated that Col. Coit has telegraphed Gov. McKinley asking what he shall do in the matter. The Governor is reported to have advised Col. Coit to go to Washington court house in response to the subpœna and that if he finds that matters there are of such a character that his life is in danger the governor will order out the militia to protect him and preserve order.

W. C. T. U. Convention.

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 15.—The annual convention of the W. C. T. U. opens in this city in Music Hall to-morrow, and indications point to the largest attendance and most enthusiastic meeting in the history of the union. President Francis Willard and many other women of national reputation in Christian temperance work have already arrived. Social purity will receive a large share of the attention of the convention. It is the intention to establish an equal standard of purity for men and women. Men known to be profligate are to be worked against if they seek public honors and will not be recognized in society. The drink habit is to be considered scientifically. Physical culture, narcotics and cigarettes will also be carefully considered.

America's Oldest Protestant Church.

NORFOLK, Va., Nov. 15.—A special from Smithfield, Va., says:—The oldest Protestant church in America, Old St. Luke's church, five miles from here, which has undergone recent repairs was re-dedicated yesterday. The church was erected in 1632, and was in constant use until 1776, and was not entirely abandoned until 1836. The work of restoration began five years ago. The inside has been renovated and magnificent memorial windows placed in memory of Pocahontas, Rolfe, Washington, Lee and several other colonial heroes and dignitaries.

Rosebery's Reply to Salisbury.

LONDON, Nov. 15.—Lord Rosebery said in a speech in Glasgow last evening that the first measure of the next session would be Welsh disestablishment. The Government intended also to bring forward a liquor veto bill. Lord Rosebery denied indignantly Lord Salisbury's accusation that he had spoken against the House of Lords "with his tongue in his cheek." Any prime minister who would be guilty of such duplicity, he said, would disgrace his high office.

Prominent Man Suspected of Murder.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 15.—A sensation has been created here by the announcement of Coroner Martin that a prominent business man is under strong suspicion of having strangled the three women who have met death by this method in this city during the past few weeks. The identity of the man suspected is withheld by the coroner. The Japanese arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the murder of the woman on Monday night has been released.

No Strength, No Ambition
Hood's Sarsaparilla Gave Perfect Health.

The following letter is from a well-known merchant tailor of St. George, N. B.:

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.:

"Gentlemen—I am glad to say that Hood's Sarsaparilla and Hood's Pills have done me a great deal of good. I had a severe attack of the grip in the winter, and after getting over the fever I did not seem to gather strength, and had no ambition. Hood's Sarsaparilla proved to be just what I needed. The results were very satisfactory, and I recommend this medicine to all who are afflicted with rheumatism or other

The Mother Heart Touched
"I Believe SOUTH AMERICAN NERVINE Saved the Lives of Two of My Children."—
Puny Children Grow Fat and Strong—
Tired and Ailing Women Take on the BLOOM of EARLIER YEARS.

What will touch the mother heart more deeply than the illness of her little ones? She may suffer much herself, and women are sorely afflicted with many ills, but she will endure all this, however often, without a murmur; but there can be no disguising her anxiety when the little ones of the home are stricken down with sickness. And how many puny children there are! We talk of the bloom of youth, but thousands of children know not of it. Others may romp, but they are weaklings.

Mothers, would you have your loved ones strong and healthy? Would you enjoy good health yourself? Then use South American Nervine Tonic; there is no doubting its efficacious properties. Investigate from a scientific or a common sense point of view and you will find that nearly all disease has its start in the nerve centres of the body.

The mission of South American Nervine is to at once reach the nerve centres, which are to the whole body what the mainspring of the watch is to every other part of the timepiece. Science has made perfectly clear that the troubles that affect the individual organs of the body, have their seat in these nerve centres, so, without any wasteful experimenting, South American Nervine reaches out to the seat of the difficulty, and straightening out what is wrong there heals the whole body. Listen to what Mrs. H. Russell, Wingate, writes on this point: "I have used several bottles of South American Nervine Tonic, and will say, I consider it the best medicine in the world. I believe it saved the lives of two of my children. They were down, and nothing appeared to do them any good until I procured this remedy. It was very surprising how rapidly both improved on its use. I don't allow myself to be without some of it in my house. I recommend the medicine to all my neighbors." It will certainly grant new life to all who are delicate, whether young, middle-aged, or old. Do not worry along with ill health, but dispel it, and brighten your lives by the immediate use of South American Nervine.

HAVELOCK.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Work on the new Presbyterian manse is being rapidly pushed forward. Contractor Pengelly is determined on making a fine job and we think he is going to succeed. The first coat of plaster is on, the work being done by Johnson & Sons of Peterborough. Phillips Bros. are doing the tin work. Fraser of Norwood has been awarded the tender for putting in the furnace at the low figure of $75. The furnace is a Copp, No. 44.

A poor old man, about 88 years old, was found dead on Friday night last on the C.P.R., two miles east of here. He was recognized as one Beasley from Oak Lake. He received a pension of $10 per quarter from the township council, and was on his way to get his instalment when struck down by a passing train. He was very deaf and no inquest was deemed necessary. He was buried on Monday by the township.

We understand a rare intellectual treat is in store for us next Sunday and the following days. Rev. Geo. Sexton, D.D. LL. D., is to pay this town a visit and will preach in the Presbyterian church both morning and evening, and lecture on some of his favorite topics the following evenings. Dr. Sexton is one of the greatest living scientific defenders of the matter of revealed Religion, and any who are infected or afflicted with scepticism, agosticism or infidelity in any form would do well to be present. Any champion of Bob Ingersoll's purelities will find such knocked into smithereens and sent higher than a cocked hat. We advise everyone hear this distinguished man. He will be the guest of Rev. D. McClelland during his stay.

Mr. Knlewasser has been re-engaged for another year as headmaster of the Public School.

A very pleasant parlour social was lately given at the residence of Mr. Durcat. Everything went merry as a marriage bell. The ladies looked charming. The candies and cakes were exquisite. The music was very entertaining, and the proceeds were the best of all, the nice little sum of $25 being netted, to be applied, we believe, as a nest-egg for a parsonage fund.

OMEMEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.

Beautiful wheeling.

Many drove to Peterborough last Saturday to market their hogs.

No less than three of the oldest families have moved to Peterborough, recently—Geo. Morrison, Esq., J. P., his son John and wife and daughter. They have closed their grain ware house and farms here, believing that Omemee and Peterborough will be united in the near future.

W. C. Tully and his wife are No. 2 family. W. C. is one of the most expert salesmen and Gough Bros. may be well pleased over securing such a man, who is so popular and besides has an extra good connection.

Samuel English, his wife and John are No. 3 removal. Mr. E. used to run the Windsor House. After being burnt out, he has been willing to work at anything. His son John will be greatly missed as tenor drummer in Omemee band. His place will not be easily filled.

The question is asked why so many are leaving our village? The prevalent opinion is that people want to be in a place where the political religious population dwell, there being more freedoom and enterprise and less jealousy and selfishness.

Mrs. A. English, one of our oldest and most respected lady citizens, died on Saturday night, at the advanced age of 83 years. The funeral was largely attended.

Fuchsias as Basket Plants.

The London Gardener says that although fuchsias are seldom found in lists of plants for suspended baskets, they readily adapt themselves for the purpose and are very beautiful when so employed. Those of a loose habit of growth should be selected. The basket should be thoroughly lined with broad flakes of moss or with tough fibrous turf. The soil should be a good fibrous loam, with admixture of decayed manure or leaf mold. Watering should be carefully attended to. Good varieties for the purpose are: Lustre, Mrs. Marshall, Mrs. Bright—white tube and sepals; Gen. Roberts, Lord Elcho, Monarch, Mrs. King—dark-colored flowers, single; Sir Garnet Wolseley, Beauty of Exeter, Phenomenal—double; Molerworth, Gustave Dore, Flocon de Neige—white corollas.

About Seed Selection.

If care is taken to select seed, and if it is so preserved that its vitality is not impaired, a marked increase in the yields of our crops can be obtained. Most of our seed dealers take special precautions to keep up their stocks by careful selection, but errors may creep in, and if care is given a farmer can often get better satisfaction if he saves his own seeds, but otherwise he will find it better and cheaper in the end if he buys his seeds from a reliable dealer.

THE MARKETS.

WHEAT MARKETS IN ENGLAND

London, Nov. 10.—The weather during the past week has been stiny. Farm work is well forward. The wheat market steadily hardens. English and foreign wheats are in good demand: millery stocks are low and there has been fair business passing at 6d to 13d advance. Parcels trade was fairly good and spot business was moderate. California cargo, August delivery, was quoted at 28s and red American on passage was quoted at 29s 10½d. Flour was firm and in good demand at 6d up. Maize was firm advancing. There was a moderate sale at 6d advance. In barley, there was the average demand, partly for the continent, at fully 6d higher. Oats were firm at 3d advance.

FEEDING WHEAT TO ANIMALS.

The Cincinnati Price Current says:

"If the wheat crop be recognized as approximately 500,000,000 bush, and the home requirements for bread and seed be estimated at 375,000,000, or 75 per cent. of the production, and 75,000,000 bush, or 15 per cent., be disposed of in feeding operations, there would remain but 50,000,000 bush, exclusive of the surplus of previous production, available for exportation. If the marketable portion of this surplus be accepted as 60,000,000, as previously suggested, the total exportable quantity on this basis would be 110,000,000 bush, of which one half, or 55,000,000, has already been exported. These conclusions are based on the presumption that the bread-consumption rate of former years is being maintained."

CHEESE MARKETS.

London, Nov. 10.—Seventeen factories boarded 7,420 boxes September and balance of season. Sales—1,950 boxes at 10½c, 865 at 10 3-16c, 440 at 10½c. Bidding 10c to 10½c.

Watertown, N.Y., Nov. 11.—At the cheese board Saturday there were sales of 3,000 boxes. Leading price 10½c; ruling price, 10c; all factories closed.

Utica, Nov. 12.—Cheese sales to-day:—328 boxes at 9c, 768 boxes at 9½c, 123 boxes at 9¾c, 2,816 boxes at 10c, 115 boxes at 10¼c, 870 boxes at 10½c, 394 boxes at 10 3-8c, 984 boxes at 10½c, 150 boxes at 10 5-8c, 3,298 boxes at 10¾c, 70 boxes at 10¾c; 63 packages of creamery butter at 22c to to 23½c.

Little Falls, Nov. 12—Cheese sales to-day: 634 boxes at 8c, 730 boxes at 8¼c, 434 boxes at 9 c, 100 boxes at 9½c, 310 boxes on commission, 150 boxes of dairy, at 8¾c to 9¼c; 47 packages of creamery butter at 23 to 24c, 22 packages of dairy butter at 21 to 22½c.

HONESTY IS THE BEST POLICY.

British importers of Canadian cheese complain that deception has been practiced in making cheese made in June and which was sent out as being fit to market in September. Two of the largest importers state that the deception has been worse during the past season than in former years. Importers propose to make it compulsory for shippers to mark the exact date of the month and year on all cheese imported.

LIVESTOCK MARKET.

Although it was most disagreeable out of doors to-day, yet the livestock market was quite lively. A number of good hogs were brought in and sold at four cents per pound, liveweight, which is quite a drop from last week, when four and a quarter and four and a half cents was easily obtained. Wood, grain and hay was also marketed in considerable quantities.

Toronto Hog Market.

Toronto, Nov. 14, 1894.

Offerings were fairly heavy to-day, but prices for the best bacon hogs were steady. Fed and watered chese brought from $4 to $4.10 per cwt; weighed off cars, $4.25 to $4.30. One or two choice lots went a slight fraction higher. Any other hogs are not wanted. Generally they fetch from 3¾c to 4c per lb for stores and thick fat hogs; stags are dull at 2c per lb. Sows for breeding purposes are steady at 4c to 4¼c per lb.

INTER-OCEANIC SMILES.

"How about the new cook? Does she make your favorite dishes now?" Mrs. Newed—No, but she breaks a lot of them.

"Miss Wayback carries her age wonderfully well, doesn't she?" She—Yes, considering the number of years in it.

"That horrid old Miss Blabton came of good family? I don't see why you think so." He—Well, don't good blood always tell? "Yes, indeed." "Well, I never knew her to keep anything she happened to hear."

"I never saw such impudence as that Mr. Puffup at the five-cent counter displays." "Well, what did he do?" "Really presumed to act as if we were acquaintances, when we were only engaged for a month at the seashore."

"Sneezer seemed to get acquainted with every one here the first day." "Yes, it was a pretty clever scheme he worked to bring it about." "What did he do?" "Took a violent cold and then everyone wanted an introduction so as to offer a remedy."

A Prominent Lawyer Says:

"I have eight children, every one in good health, not one of whom but has taken Scott's Emulsion, in which my wife has boundless confidence."

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times

Mrs. Mountford in Toronto.

On Sept. 30th last Mrs. Mountford returned to Toronto and her first lecture, the Mail says, was "attended by an immense audience," and that "before the song service began all the seats were taken and standing room only was the order." "In spite of the frequent downpour of rain," says the Empire, "the Pavilion was crowded in every part." The following testimonial is further evidence of the interesting and edifying character of her tableau lectures:

"Having heard and seen one or more of Mrs. Mountford's vivid presentations of Oriental scenes, manners and customs, we strongly recommend Sunday school teachers and all who are interested in Biblical literature by no means to lose the opportunity of attending her Oriental lectures. They throw a flood of light upon a multitude of Bible truths and Bible doings, and are intensely interesting both to young and old.

A PRETTY CHRYSANTHEMUM WEDDING.

The Hewson-Bradburn Nuptials Celebrated Last Night.

One of the prettiest wedding ceremonies which was ever witnessed in Peterborough took place last evening at "The Oaks," the home of Mr. T. Bradburn, London street, when his eldest daughter, Miss Maude Bradburn, was united in marriage to Mr. F. D. Hewson, of the Barrie branch of the Bank of Toronto.

The ceremony took place at about eight o'clock in the evening, at which hour Mr. Bradburn's elegant and capacious residence was CROWDED WITH GUESTS.

The entire house was decorated with white chrysanthemums, and the effect was charming. In every niche and corner was a profusion of these lovely flowers, while suspended from the ceiling at the far end of the large drawing room, hung a magnificent canopy composed of smilax and chrysanthemums.

The bride entered the room on the arm of her father and looked regally handsome, attired in a white satin gown trimmed with Irish point lace. She wore the conventional orange blossoms and veil and carried a magnificent shower boquet of roses.

The six bridesmaids had preceded her into the room and standing in two parallel lines formed an arch by elevating and crossing the long ribbon bedecked shepherd's crooks, with which they were provided. The scene was and will be long remembered by those privileged in witnessing it. The bridesmaids were Miss Dundas, Miss Kelso and Miss Helm, all of Toronto, and Miss Hall, Miss Aggie Hall and Miss Mabel Bradburn, sister of the bride, of Peterborough. All six bridesmaids were exquisitely attired in silk gowns—the first two in white and mauve, the second in white and pink and the third pair in white and yellow.

Misses Olive and Helen Bradburn, daughters of Mr. T. E. Bradburn, and neices of the bride, were maids-of-honour for the occasion and looked most pretty in their tasteful costumes of pink and blue shades of silk. The two handsome little pages were Masters Llewellyn Hall and Frank Bradburn.

Arrived at the end of the room, where Rev. W. R. Young was waiting to perform the ceremony, Mr. Bradburn relinquished his charge to the groom, and the young couple stepped forward under the while just in the rear were stationed the groomsmen, Mr. Will Bradburn, brother of the bride, and Mr. Moore, of Barrie, together with the bridesmaids. The Messrs. Hewson, of Toronto, brothers of the groom, were also present, and the ushers were Messrs. Moore, Ardagh and W. J. Montgomery. The wedding march was most brilliantly executed by Miss Kate Hurley on the piano.

Immediately after the conclusion of the ceremony a reception was held and the house was ablaze with light and resounding with laughter, merriment, compliments and good wishes until the bridal party drove to the C.P.R. station, at midnight, to leave on the train for a trip to New York and other points east.

Mr. Hewson was at one time, several years ago, located in the local branch of the Bank of Toronto, at which time he made the acquaintance of Miss Bradburn, one of the acknowledged belles of Peterborough.

An incident which caused a great deal of pleasant comment was the fact that the slippers which the bride wore during the ceremony were the identical ones that her mother had worn on the day of her wedding.

The floral decorations, which were so much admired came from the conservatories of Jords. Bros., and the elaborate wedding dejeuner was provided by Caterer Harry Long.

—An especially inviting programme has been prepared for the social held by the St. Andrew's Y.P.S.C.E. this evening.

—Street Inspector Pope had some of the corporation labourers out keeping the crossings free from mud last night. The streets are in bad condition and if frozen up now, wheeling would be very tough.

—A correction should be made in the report of Mr. Belcher's evidence before the arbitrator. He stated that he had seen the flow of the river ten miles an hour a short distance above the outfall and below the dam and that he did not know the rate of flow at the outfall. He also stated that he did not remember the river being so low within the last twenty years, the date of his residence in the country.

FOLEY WILL CASE COMES UP IN COURT.

A MATTER OF MOMENT TO TOWN AND COUNTY.

A Statement of the Case—The Conditions of the Bequests—Excerpts From that Instrument—Justice Meredith Reserves Judgment.

On Tuesday last, a motion was made at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, in the suit of Steele vs. Grover, in which all the people of this county have at least an indirect interest, inasmuch as, if the moneys given by the will to the poor are carefully husbanded, it will do considerable towards reducing such part of the taxes as arise from assistance given to the indigent and needy.

In 1877 the late Almina Grover Foley, who resided for several years in the town of Peterborough, made her will, and insofar as as it relates to charitable purposes, it was in the following words:

I have given to my husband's relatives all the uncultivated land he left me, besides other property of which, if good use be made, they will all have a competence, independent of their other property. I am grateful to God that he has kept me independent of them all. I am grateful too to them for it, because it has left me free to do as I choose with the means with which God has blessed me; to Him alone am I indebted for what I am, and after the legacies mentioned I give it all to His poor, the widows and orphans not otherwise provided for, and other virtuous but helpless people of the County of Peterborough.

Sixthly—I will and direct that any part of my estate not definitely disposed of shall be held in trust as part of my residuary estate by my executors for the benefit of the sober and industrious but destitute or needy widows and orphans of the county of Peterborough, who must have been bona fide residents of the said county before becoming destitute or needy.

Fifteenthly—And I hereby nominate, constitute and appoint the then presiding senior Judge, the Sheriff and the Registrar of the said county of Peterborough and other successors in office as executors and trustees for receiving all moneys due to my estate after the charges of the executors before mentioned, and for investing the same in government bonds and in unquestionable land security, the interest of which, together with the interest of all stocks owned by me, and all properties or moneys accruing from the whole, they shall use at their discretion for the benefit, comfort and support of sober, moral, industrious, but destitute or needy widows, and other helpless persons, bona fide residents of the said county of Peterborough, and for no other purpose whatever. Neither politics, creed or country shall be considered in cases of the needy; all are to be assisted alike. The interest alone is to be used. The principal must be kept intact, and be a fund forever, and if not immediately needed, let it accumulate for the benefit of future generations, and let the accumulated interest become capital or principal. In case of the decease or inability to act of either of my first-named executors viz., Clarke Steele, John Moore and John Thomas Butterfield, the survivors of these shall elect from among the last named, viz., the senior presiding judge, the sheriff and register are to act with the survivors and again in the case of the decease of a second another shall be elected from the remaining two above named and may the Lord reward them according as they act in this matter. The above named trustees shall each year render an account or statement of all that has been done in the matter to the Warden and County Council of the said County of Peterborough, at the first sitting of said council in each year, and any fraudulent or unjust appropriation of any part of this benefit shall disqualify the delinquent in further trust, and the council shall have the power to appoint honest men instead of such delinquent or delinquents the same power and responsibilities as those appointed by myself. The power shall be in the Warden and Council assembled and their successors forever.

PRIOR BEQUESTS.

Before giving her residuary estate for the above charitable purposes, she had bequeathed a number of annuities to various relatives and friends and as her estate amounts only to about $40,000 at present, it takes the whole of the income from this sum to pay the legacies. In the original will, Mrs. Foley directed that all the annuities were to commence immediately after decease and end with the life of each of the legatees and that at the expiration of each life, such legacy should become part of her residuary estate and should then become charitable funds.

A CODICIL AND LAW SUIT.

Subsequently she made a codicil to her will in the following words:—

In consequence of the fluctuation in the value of stocks and interest, the said estate may be more or less than expected by me, so in any case, I will and direct that each of the different legacies be increased and diminished per ratio that each may gain or lose in proportion to the amount bequeathed in said will.

THE LAW'S ACTIONS.

Immediately after the death of Mrs. Foley the executors instituted a suit for the construction of the will and for the formation of a scheme by the court for the distribution of the charitable fund.

THE LAW'S DELAYS.

This suit has been running ever since, and it is estimated that between fees to executors and fees to lawyers and expenses of one sort and another that at least ⅓ of the whole estate has been already consumed and it must be pleasurable to the public to know that before the whole estate vanishes some of our local people will have a chance to explain where part of the money went.

THE COUNTY'S CLAIM.

In the course of the law suit, the court sent a commission to Peterborough to formulate a scheme for the distribution of the charity, and at its first sitting some of the county officials raised the question whether Mrs. Foley actually intended that the poor of the town of Peterborough should share in the benefits under her will, and as there was on the face of the will considerable doubt in this respect, the question was referred back to the court to decide.

THE LEGATEES "CHIP IN."

About the same time some of the legatees raised the question that by virtue of the codicil which we have quoted above, there was no doubt but that Mrs. Foley intended that no part of her funds should go to charity until each and every one of her legatees should die, and that in the case of one legatee dying, his or her share would fall ratably to the survivors.

THE WHOLE MATTER DICUSSED.

Last Tuesday before Mr. Chief Justice Meredith Messrs. C. Robinson, Q.C. and Mr. W. A. Stratton, on behalf of the County of Peterborough, Messrs. Edgar & Malone, for the executors, Mr Cartwright for the Attorney General and Mr. E. B. Edwards for the Town of Peterborough discussed the whole matter.

THE COUNTY'S CONTENTIONS.

The county contended that the words County of Peterborough were in themselves ambiguous, that the County of Peterborough had one signification when it was referred to for municipal purposes, and another signification when it was referred to for judicial purposes, and a different meaning territorially. That in the will itself, Mrs. Foley had disclosed what she meant and intended by the words County of Peterborough when she limited and defined them by the words "Warden and County Council" of the said County of Peterborough, that she had clearly intended by the words "County of Peterborough" the county for municipal purposes, and that by statute the Town of Peterborough was no part of the County of Peterborough, and should be excluded from benefit under the will.

DR. SHAW'S AFFIDAVIT.

They also put in an affidavit of Dr. John M. Shaw, of Keene, Stating that he had conversed in 1892 with Mrs. Foley and that she had stated to him as Mrs. Nicholls had done well for the poor of the town, she was going to provide for the poor outside of the town. The county also urged that in the will Mrs. Foley always referred to the town of Peterborough as Peterborough, and when she used the words "County of Peterborough" there was a clear drawn distinction in her mind between "Peterborough" and the "County of Peterborough" and also that colloquially a person speaking of being a resident in the County of Peterborough or County of York would never be understood as speaking of being in the City of Toronto or Peterborough.

THE TOWN'S ARGUMENT WAS

that territorially Peterborough was part of and situate in the County; that the town was only separate from the County for limited purposes, and that no intention either from the circumstances of the testatrix as a widow residing in the town of Peterborough nor from the will itself were shown to exclude the town from benefit.

Judgment was reserved.

What is Good Storekeeping?

Without saying much about it, we are trying each day to show what we think a good store should be.

In a spacious building flooded with daylight with a stock of goods of undoubted quality in such a variety and volume for choice that to excel it is hardly possible; and to buy the goods so as to sell them at prices that cannot be UNDERSOLD is our idea of how to keep store.

The store keeper, who does this, best reaches the highest level, and is always so secure in his position of advantage that he is neither arrogant, self praiseful nor pretentious. He has no need to be, yet sometimes the telling of cold facts such as selling 36 Ladies' Jackets in one day, or selling many lines of goods at the price we sell them, may seem boastful to the uninformed.

You Should Know our Store

If you want to save your money, as things are changed very much since we adopted the "CASH SYSTEM."

This change had to come. It was a necessity of the period.

Each city of the world has one or more such examples, and Peterborough possesses in this store an instance second to none. It could easily be shown that this great change from doing business on long credit with necessarily long profit to spot cash, small profits and quick returns, has been a decided benefit to this community, more than any other store in the place. By going direct to the makers for goods we want, and paying cash for what we get, we have been able to reduce prices, which has been money saved to those who have patronized us.

Probably some competitors may say and do say that we are cutting prices. However that may be the result of our low prices has produced a very large increase in business, and we are encouraged to still further reduce profits in order to further increase trade.

A price that is cost to some or a price claimed to be even less than cost elsewhere is often a price at which we sell at a profit every day in the year. There is no mystery about it when you consider the value to manufacturers of so large an outlet as that of our syndicate. Our progress rests on principles. Our trade is sure to grow and everyone should see our goods before they buy.

Our Aim is to Serve the Public Well.

To this end all our energy, capital and organization are directed. Intelligent service is characteristic of our house, and while no service is absolute perfection we have faith enough in our system, and in our efforts to please, (judging from your appreciation)—to believe that we have measurably succeeded in attaining our object. The deep seated purpose to serve you well includes the duty of our providing you with the best goods in the market at prices as low or lower than those of any other orginization in Canada. That we can do this has been shown over and over again.

We are not handicapped with a credit system. Everything here is on a cash basis, and the buying and selling is done on a closer margin in consequence. Keep your eyes open and compare prices. You'll find ours by long odds the lowest.

THE LADIES WILL PRESENT A NEW STAND OF COLURS.

The Rangers Need New Colours and an Entertainment Will be Given to Raise a Fund.

Some time ago attention was drawn to the rather dilapidated and tattered appearance of the stand of colours belonging to the 57th Battalion, but it was the wrong time of the year just then for any movement to be taken with regard to the replacement of the colours by a newer set.

The Christmas holidays are now approaching, however, and in all probability the matter will be taken up for consideration immediately, in order that if it is decided to hold an entertainment for the purpose of raising the necessary amount to purchase the colours, the rehearsals for the same way begin at once.

Mr T. A. Hay has been inquiring in regard to the price of a stand of colours such as would make a suitable presentation to the Rangers, and he states that the flags could be purchased for $250. The silk used in the construction is very fine and manufactured expressly for the purpose. The embroidery is of such a nature that it can only be worked by the members of some four or five families in England. The lettering, coat of arms, etc., have to be embroidered in such a manner as to show perfectly on both sides of the colours. A large amount of gold lace and bullion is also used in the construction of the standard.

The ladies of the town, it is understood, are anxious to raise the money required, by their own unaided efforts, but if the modus operandi takes the form of an entertainment in the way of a Kirmesse or something of that sort, the gentlemen will be expected to place themselves at the disposal of the ladies, under whose control the entire management would be placed.

The physical drill class of the Rangers is rapidly approaching perfection and some of their brilliant bayonet exercises performed to music would be a most attractive feature in any entertainment.

A number of prominent ladies and gentlemen in town are already moving in the matter, and doubtless within a week preparations will be under way for the holding of some sort of novel entertainment between Christmas and New Years.

GAINED FORTY-FIVE POUNDS.

The Experience of a Sufferer from Stomach and Liver Troubles.

Mr. Geo. F. Pine is a well-known resident of Richibucto, N.B., who suffered so much from stomach and liver troubles that it was feared that recovery was not possible. Respecting the condition he was in and his present excellent health, Mr. Pine writes as follows: "I have been a sufferer for four or five years with was the doctors said was stomach and liver troubles. During nearly all that time I was taking doctors' medicine, but so far as I can see without the slightest benefit. I suffered greatly, and was so much debilitated that my weight was reduced from 133 to 93 pounds. I was very much discouraged, and felt as though there was no hope for me, when one day I read of a case similar to mine cured by the use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills. I determined to give the Pink Pills a trial, and I can honestly say that they have worked wonders in my case. My trouble is now all gone, and that Pink Pills have entirely restored my health is proven by the fact that I now weigh 130 pounds, a gain of 45 pounds since I commenced taking them. I believe Pink Pills to be the most valuable medicine in existence, and shall always recommend them to ailing friends." If the blood is impure or the liver inactive no remedy will so speedily correct these irregularities as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They positively cure when other medicines fail. Do not be persuaded to try anything else, and see that every box you buy bears the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" on the wrapper. Sold by dealers everywhere.

FRUIT GROWERS' ASSOCIATION.

The Annual Meeting at Orillia Dec. 4th, 5th and 6th.

The annual meeting of the Fruit Growers' Association of Ontario will be held at Orillia on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Dec. 4th, 5th and 6th. The importance of this Association as a factor in the promotion of the interests of fruit growing cannot be over estimated. Any town and district in which the annual meeting of the association is held is indeed fortunate. Those interested in fruit culture have an opportunity of personally meeting with the most advanced practical fruit growers on the continent, and of gathering from them the most valuable practical hints. The usual exhibits of fruits from all parts of the country is a valuable object lesson, illustrative of the particular fruits best adapted to certain sections. As a matter of fact, scores of fruit growers in and about Peterborough were very greatly benefitted by attendance at the sessions of the Association here last year. It is to be hoped that as many as possible from Peterborough and vicinity will make it their business to be present at the annual meeting in Orillia.

DOCTORS INTERESTED.

They Cannot but Accept the Testimony of Two of Their Professional Brethren.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—The letters of Dr. McCormack of Richmond, and of Dr. E. A. Rose of Portland, recently published over their own signatures and testifying to their complete cure from Bright's disease and diabetes, respectively, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, have established to the satisfaction of medical men generally, that the pills do all that is claimed for them by their manufacturers. Both physicians are known as men well up in their professions, whose word can be absolutely relied upon, and who rarely make mistakes. The result of these letters will be an enormous sale of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Montreal.

ACCIDENTALLY KILLED IN DENVER.

Death by Accident of Mr. Jacob M. Best.

Yesterday Mr. Valentine Best, town, received a despatch conveying the sad intelligence that his brother, Jacob M. Best, had been killed by accident at Denver, Colorado. No particulars are furnished. The deceased gentleman went to the west about twenty years ago, and about two years ago paid a visit to Peterborough, his old home. He leaves behind him a wife and two children.

THE ADJOURNMENT OF THE ARBITRATION.

TO BE CONTINUED ON THANKSGIVING DAY.

The Afternoon Session—The Reeve of Otonabee Examined and Also Dr. Boucher.

At the afternoon session of the arbitration, Mr. Edmison again applied for an adjournment, but Mr. Edwards objected strenuously to any such action being taken, as every delay, he stated, was an additional injury to the town and also to Contractor Grant.

Upon instructions by Judge Ketchum the arbitration was resumed and Reeve Anderson, of Otonabee, was the first witness called on behalf of the townships. His greatest objection to having the sewer empty into the river was caused by the fact that he was of the opinion the water to such an extent as to become unsanitary, and when the river rose and overflowed its banks at certain seasons of the year, he thought a deposit of sewage matter would be left upon the land, which would be most unhealthy. He admitted to Mr. Edwards, when being cross-examined, that this opinion was merely formed on his own judgment. He was not a sanitary expert. The river water, to his knowledge, was not used by any of the Otonabee farmers. They used the ice which they cut from the river to pack around butter when bringing it to the market. He knew of one family, who used ice from the Otonabee in drinking water.

BUT NO MORE,

Lumbermen, he stated, who were engaged on the river used the water from it for domestic purposes almost entirely. His two principal objections to the sewer emptying into the river were that it would be injurious to the health of parties living beside the Otonabee, and that it would tend to depreciate the value of property along the river. The depreciation he thought would be to the extent of about 10 per cent. The milk from the cows which drank the river water would, necessarily, be detrimental to healthfulness, he thought.

Dr. Boucher on being called, stated that he was not a sanitary expert, but he thought that he was perfectly safe in saying that the sewage would most certainly pollute the river, but whether or not it to the district in question would depend entirely on the distance between that point and the outlet of the sewer. There was a theory known to medical science which allowed that the evil effects of sewage being discharged into water could be neutralized, if the volume of water was sufficient. He was not prepared to give the figures regarding the proposition.

Mr. Edmison had no more witnesses to call and asked for an adjournment. He did not see the necessity of rushing the arbitration through, but asked that he be allowed time to bring his witnesses to town and arrange their evidence.

Mr. Edwards once more objected to an adjournment for any length of time, as the town and contractor.

Mr. Edmison didn't see how this affected him in any way, and thought that if Mr. Edwards had gotten his clients into an awkward position, he should bear the onus of it and not attempt to shuffle the arbitration through and make the other participants suffer for his faults. If he was compelled to go on now without being allowed more time, he warned Mr. Edwards that such a fact as pressing him too hard in this matter would be good grounds upon which to set aside the award of the arbitration.

Mr. Edwards has apparently written a

GREAT MANY NOTICES

to Mr. Edmison concerning the arbitration and these notices annoyed the township's solicitor not a little, so when Mr. Edwards stated to the Judge that he had notified Mr. Edmison of every step which had been taken in arranging the arbitration, Mr. Edmison rose and stated that these notices being showered in on him had hampered his movements not a little, and he considered ——

Mr. Edwards, interrupting—Well! what do you consider?"

Mr. Edmison—"I consider you most impertinent, sir!"

After some more wrangling the judge finally decided to continue the arbitration on Thanksgiving Day, and requested Mr. Edmison to have all his witnesses present both from the United States and from the townships. Mr. Edmison promised to do his utmost to have everything arranged by that time and the arbitration was then adjourned.

GENERALLY PRESCRIBED.

The Idea that Bright's Disease Cannot be Cured Proven to be a Fallacy.

Quebec, Nov. 5th.—Local physicians are much gratified over the letter to Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, this province, testifying to his cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since the introduction of the remedy in this city many physicians have not hesitated to prescribe the pills, and numerous cures have been the result. The latest testimony, coming from so well known a medical man, proves that the local men were right in changing the old-time remedies for Dodd's Kidney Pills. Hence their jubilation.

A "Cold" Day!

You caught a cold last week—one of those long, lingering sorts of colds that's sneezy thing to get. Everybody you knew, and some people whom you had never been introduced to, told you what to take, and the more you took the more cold you took. Finally you went to see a doctor. He felt your pulse, told you to hold out your tongue, which felt like an all wool blanket, and advised you to drink plenty of COLD WATER, take two grains of quinine every two hours—and wear a good warm Overcoat. "Two dollars, please," said the doctor, and as you paid him like a little man, you made up your mind that if you had bought an Overcoat when you should, you would have saved your two dollars, the quinine, and wouldn't have to drink so much COLD WATER.

THEIR START IN LIFE.

Martin Van Buren began life as an office boy for a lawyer, rising slowly to the position of a clerk, copyist and finally becoming a pleader in the courts of justices of the peace.

Bernadotte, one of Napoleon's marshals, who afterwards became king of Sweden, was educated in the office of a country notary, and spent his time in copying legal papers.

Southey, the poet, spent most of his boyhood in his father's linen shop. He wrote verses in the intervals of business and kept his papers hidden among the goods on the shelves.

West, the painter, showed his talent at a very early age. He made sketches in charcoal before he was ten, and some of his early work displays great ease in the use of the crayon.

John Howard showed in boyhood the philanthropic traits that afterwards made his name famous. He was continually on the outlook for some case of distress that he might relieve.

Wolsey's early life is said to have been passed mainly in the slaughter house of his father, who was a butcher. He was sometimes called by his enemies "The Butcher's Dog."

Pride o' Auld Scotia.

It is said that the Duke of Argyle, when his son, the Marquis of Lorne, was sent for by the Queen to betroth himself to the Princess Louise, said to the Minister's wife, Mrs. Donald Fraser: "This is one of those sacrifices which makes one feel the burden of rank." A feeling which was shared by his retainers, one of whom, after hiding a huge drink of whisky to the young couple's health, remarked: "This 'ull pe a proud day for Her Majesty."

The "Grapple" Plant.

The "grapple" plant, a botanical oddity which grows only along the edge of the Kalahart desert, has the general resemblance of an immense star fish. Each ray or arm of this vegetable curiosity is provided with natural "grab hooks," and if a sheep get too near it is likely to be caught by the wool and held till it dies.

"Backache means the kidneys are in trouble. Dodd's Kidney Pills give prompt relief."

"75 per cent. of disease is first caused by disordered kidneys."

"Might as well try to have a healthy city without sewerage, as good health when the kidneys are clogged, they are the scavengers of the system."

"Delay is dangerous. Neglected kidney troubles result in Bad Blood, Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, and the most dangerous of all, Bright's Disease, Diabetes and Dropsy."

"The above diseases cannot exist where Dodd's Kidney Pills are used."

MURDERED BY CANNIBALS.

Fate of European Settlers in Islands of the South Sea.

NEW YORK, Nov. 14.—A special from Vancouver, B.C., says: "According to latest advices from Australia by the steamer Miowera, word has been received at Sydney from the Bismarck Archipelago that a native uprising has taken place on all the islands near New Guinea, and that the European settlers have all been murdered by the Kanakas.

"The steamer Three Cheers, of Sydney, reports calling at Admiralty Island and New Ireland with supplies, and finding the trading posts there in ashes and white men nowhere to be found, while the trading schooner was also burned to the water's edge. On the approach of the vessel to Admiralty Island the natives fled to the hills until not a soul remained in the villages. They feared that the white men had come for vengeance.

"On landing the worst fears of the captain were realized. Traces of a cannibal feast of recent date were found. Without doubt all the inhabitants of the trading post had met with the most horrible of deaths, being tortured and afterwards devoured by the cannibals. Carlson and Miller, two of the victims, were prominent citizens of Sydney, and in that city a movement is on foot to ask the Government to allow a company of volunteers to visit Admiralty Island and avenge the death of their fellow-citizens. At New Ireland the Australian trading post was burned to the ground. A prominent white trader named Rotjohn was missing, while it is feared the entire white population have all met with a horrible death at the hands of the man-eating savages. Massacres are also reported on other inlands. It is thought that the natives stole liquor at the trading posts, and that the effect on their semi-civilized natures was to convert them again into the wild native state from which they had so recently emerged.

Confessed His Crime.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Frenchman "Eugene," who was a companion of the Argentine priest, Father Gabriel Segui, both on [illegible] at No. 49 Old Compton street, Soho, where the body of the priest was found about five weeks ago hanging from a bed post, has been arrested at Toulon. He was impersonating Father Gabriel Segui, and represented himself as a chaplain in the Argentine army on a furlough in France. When he was arrested he had £300 in his possession, the sum remaining from the amount of which he robbed the priest. He was examined by a magistrate and confessed that he had murdered and robbed Father Segui, and also admitted that his name was not Eugene, but Robello. His occupation, he said, was that of a cook. Measures for his extradition will be taken at once.

Result of Whiteway's Success.

ST. JOHNS, Nfld., Nov. 14.—The success of the Whiteway party in the elections will, according to the Government party, have a most damning effect upon Newfoundland's standing abroad and will probably result disastrously to the colony's finances. Messages from London announce a heavy drop in Newfoundland securities. It is reported here that leading London bankers have announced their determination to refuse any loans to Newfoundland if the Whitewayites are restored to power. Mr. Reid, a railway contractor engaged in building a railway through the island, has stopped work and discharged 1,200 men for the winter. There is a general belief that his resumption of operations is contingent upon the formation of a government able to command the confidence of financial circles abroad.

Serious Storms in the Old Country.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—The floods in various parts of England are still raging. In Buckingham the houses in the lower portions of the town are flooded and the roads are blocked. The Avon has overflowed its banks at Bath, and thousands of persons are consequently imprisoned in the upper stories of factories and dwellings. The storm was very violent in Paris. Much damage was done to chimneys, roofs and windows. Three persons were killed by falling chimneys and several more were injured.

London to Have a Lively Fight.

LONDON, Nov. 14.—Thos. S. Hobbs (Liberal) and Mayor E. T. Essery (Liberal Conservative) were nominated yesterday to contest the seat in the Legislative Assembly vacated by the elevation of Mr. W. R. Meredith to the bench. The proceedings were of a very lively character. Mr. Essery took the platform first and spoke for three hours. Mr. Hobbs delivered his speech in ten minutes. Every indication points to one of the liveliest campaigns yet found in this city.

Flax Growing for Seed.

The experiments of flax growing for seed and fiber in South Australia has proved eminently satisfactory, far exceeding expectations. It is expected that a much larger area will be devoted to flax culture, and possibly other fiber plants.

You Can't get too Much
Of a good thing. This is eminently the case with Polson's Nerviline, and great pain cure. It is an honest remedy, for it contains the most powerful, the purest, and most certain pain subduing remedies known to medical science. It is honest, for it does all it claims to do. It is honest, because it is the best in the world. It only costs 25 cents to try it, and you can buy a bottle at any drug store. Nerviline cures toothache, neuralgia, pain in the back and side. All pains are promptly relieved by Polson's Nerviline.

DANCING AND DANCERS.

Gallini, in his "Travels in Africa," declares that the people of the west coast are exceedingly fond of dancing. He once tried to tire them out, but as long as he could raise his hand to his violin they continued to dance, and he was forced to desist.

One of the most famous early ballet dancers was Mlle. Maze, who, being ruined by Law's financial schemes, dressed herself in her finest robes and committed suicide publicly by jumping off a Seine bridge at noon in the presence of thousands of people.

Maria Taglioni, the danseuse, was the daughter of an Italian ballet master. She was born in 1804, went on the stage in 1822 and continued her appearances in public until 1847, when she retired. Her greatest successes were in La Bayadere, La Sylphide and La Fille du Danube.

Heine's ballet, "Mephistopheles," displays "Faust" tempted by a female Mephistopheles, who exhibits to her victim the most celebrated female danseuses of antiquity, including "Salome," the daughter of "Herodias," while David is also represented as doing a pas seul before the ark.

The ballet d'action is said to have been revived from the ancient models by the famous Duchesse du Maine, who took a well-known play, had music written for it, and set the characters to act it through from beginning to end without speaking a word. It was extremely popular, and so established a fashion.

ACROSS THE SEAS.

The manuscript of Tannhauser has just been sold to a Leipsic amateur for 10,000 marks ($2,500.)

In the Marquesas group the recent absolute prohibition of the sale of opium has increased at once the demand for liquor.

The forest land owned by the state is in Germany 33 per cent. of all forests; in Scandinavia, 15 to 20; in France, 10; in Switzerland, 4, and in Italy, not 3.

The English postmaster-general has just announced that private cards with a half penny stamp affixed will be accepted for postage cards within the United Kingdom.

M. Schneider, the head of the great Creusot foundries, was married the other day in Paris. Creusot has grown in sixty years from a village of 500 inhabitants to a town of 30,000 people—larger than Krupp's town of Essen.

Russia proposes to connect the Baltic with the Black Sea, according to recent report. The rivers Dneiper and Dwina are to be joined by a canal; surveying has been begun at both ends of the route, and Cherson is spoken of as the harbor for the canal on the Black Sea.

Newspapers in Russia were forbidden some time ago to make any reference to the dresses worn by the empress on state occasions. This was done because one paper by mistake reported her as wearing a dress which at that time was completely out of fashion.

HORTICULTURAL GEMS.

The tallest tree on earth is a gum tree in Australia—four hundred and fifteen feet.

A curious growth is noted at Hartford, Conn. A cucumber vine has wound itself around the stalk of a large sunflower plant, and a cucumber has grown under the leaves of the sunflower.

India has perhaps a greater variety of plants than any other country in the world, having fifteen thousand native species, while the flora of the entire continent of Europe only embraces about ten thousand.

The gulf weed (fucus natans) which, with its little round "berries," is not unlike the mistletoe in form, but of a brownish yellow color, has been thought to have lost its property of rooting on rocks and to have acquired the power of living afloat.

The vine at Hampton Court is believed to be the largest in Europe, its branches extending over a space of two thousand three hundred feet. It was planted from a slip in the year 1768 and generally bears upward of two thousand bunches of grapes of the black Hambro' kind.

Water and Sediment.

It has been estimated by competent civil engineers that the Mississippi river annually discharges 19,500,000,000,000 cubic feet of water into the Gulf of Mexico. Of this prodigious quantity the 1-2900th part is sediment. Thus it will be seen that the Mississippi annually deposits enough mud in the gulf to cover a square mile of surface to a depth of 240 feet.

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING.

The rock of Gibraltar resembles in outline a lion in a resting position.

The mean annual temperature of the Arctic regions is below thirty degrees Fahrenheit.

A humming bird was said to have been stung to death by a bee at Columbia, Wis., recently.

The starfish has no nose, but the whole of its underside is endowed with the sense of smell.

Ringing Noises
In the ears, sometimes a roaring, buzzing sound, are caused by catarrh, that exceedingly disagreeable and very common disease. Loss of smell or hearing also result from catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great blood purifier, is a peculiarly successful remedy for this disease, which it cures by purifying the blood.

Hood's Pills are the best after dinner pills, assist digestion, prevent constipation.

A Terrible Experience:
Mr. Geo. Tribe, of Straffordville, Ont. a pretty village near the shores of Lake Erie, went through an experience lately that he will never forget. He tells it in his own words:
"For three years I suffered from skin disease in its worst form. I tried Kennedy's Medical Discovery and the Cuticura remedies, and doctored one year with the best physicians in the land, but got no benefit; they pronounced my disease a Scaly Eruption, but failed to remove it. It came on in red blotches and spread over my body; the skin became dry and formed hard, white scales; the itching was intolerable, but I am now completely cured by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. I can truly say I owe my good health to B. B. B.; and I advise all sufferers to use this splendid medicine.
GEO. TRIBE, Straffordville, Ont.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND CONFERENCE.

English Cathedral Services in Canadian Parish Churches—Church Union.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Nov. 15.—At yesterday's Church of England conference the first subject was a paper prepared by Rev. W. J. Armitage, of St. Catharines, Ont. Discussion followed its reading, by Rev. Foster Almon, Rev. Dyson Hague, Rev. A. F. Burt and Rev. J. Desoyres. The second paper was prepared by Rev. J. M. Snowden, rector of St. George's church, Ottawa, and was most instructive and interesting.

After dealing with history of music in Jewish and Christian worship, special reference being made to St. Ambrose, of Milan, and Gregory. The next subject was congregational, as opposed to choir singing, and was ably referred to. The difference was pointed out between the Cathedral service and that of the Parish church and the attempt to initiate English Cathedral services in Canadian parish churches was deprecated. The necessity for plain, hearty and inspiring tunes and chants was urged and a solemn protest was entered against the practice at such bright and joyous festivals as Easter and Christmas, when every Christian wants to lift up his voice in song, of making this impossible by the introduction of what is called "special music." The singing of the prayers such as the "general confession" was called an outrage on common sense. Several clergymen agreed with the paper, including Rev. Dyson Hague, who urged congregational singing and abolition of all objectionable choir monopolies.

Christian reunion occupied the afternoon session, the subject being introduced through a paper prepared by Principal Sheraton, of Wycliffe College, strongly favoring union of all Protestant denominations. Discussion followed by Rev. Dr. McRae, Presbyterian; Rev. C. H. Paisley, Methodist; Rev. A. M. Gordon, W. Baptist. Dr. McRae favored the union and thought concessions could be made on both side. Revs. Paisley and Gordon did not see how their respective churches could unite with the Church of England, as neither could accept the doctrines of that denomination. Rev. J. Desoyres, Episcopalian, expressed the belief that church union was surely coming, but it might be a century or two, perhaps much nearer. The Ritualists, he declared, would be found with the Catholics, while the other branches of the churches would be found working in harmony with all other Christian churches.

THAT GRAVEYARD ROBBERY.

Ghouls Caught in the Act of Taking a Body Away.

KINGSTON, Nov. 15.—A sensational case has just occurred in a graveyard at Sydenham, a village about 18 miles from this city. It appears that a month ago a woman named Mrs. Sheppard died at Raitton, and her remains were placed in the Sydenham vault. The body was interred on Friday last, and about midnight friends of the deceased visited the grave in the fear that grave robbers would raise the body. On arriving at the grave the friends found it had been tampered with, while not far away the clothes in which the body was buried were found. A search was at once commenced, and ere long the ghouls were met with near the confines of the cemetery, dragging the body towards a horse and rig which was tied up to the fence. The searchers fired at the wretches, who dropped the body and ran, making good their escape, not, however, before they were recognized. Those who know who they are will not mention the names of the would be robbers, whom, it is thought, intended selling the body for dissection.

WHITEWAYITES WIN.

Newfoundland's Government Beaten—Holding on to Office.

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Nov. 15.—The Whitewayites have won three legislative seats in Placentia, McGrath getting 1,158 votes, Tobin 1,103 and Dumphy 1,067. The Government nominees were Grieve, who got 1,042, Donelly 900 and Foran 913.

This gives the Whitewayites 21 and the Government 13 seats, with St. George's remaining to be contested. The seat for St. Barbe is before the courts.

The Government will retain office until the Legislature meets in March. Then they will appeal to the country and hold a general election.

Sidney Lobb Not Guilty.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B.C., Nov. 15.—In the case of Sidney W. Lobb, charged with shooting his wife, counsel for the defence brought forward witnesses to show that the two Nanaimo doctors who had given damaging evidence against the accused husband had shown an unfriendly feeling towards the prisoner. The contention was that they were inspired by personal enmity towards the accused, and that they had allowed this to bias their theories. The witnesses have all been examined. The judge charged the jury yesterday. His charge favored the accused and the jury was out about thirty minutes when they returned a verdict of not guilty.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 15, 1894.

Canadian barley in Oswego is quiet at 63c.

On the street here 150 bushels of wheat sold at 55 1-2c for white, 54c for red and 53c for goose. Barley - 2,000 bushels brought from 40 to 44c. Oats—600 bushels sold at 30 to 31 1-2c.

The Buffalo barley market ruled stronger. Several good sized lots were sold among them 35,000 bushels Canada at 64c and 65,000 bushels of Western at 55 to 58c. Sellers were asking higher prices, especially for Canada at the closing. Canada is quoted at 62 to 66c.

The Chicago wheat market favored the bulls again, cables being higher on Bradstreet's reporting a decrease in the visible supply. Corn was dull, advancing in sympathy with wheat. Oats gained 3-4c for May and 1-4c for cash on light trading.

Sheep and lambs at Buffalo closed steady for good grades, but dull and unchanged for others, with bulk of the offerings sold. Late sales of choice Canada lambs at $4.10 to $4.15.

The London markets were good except for American. Consols were at the highest point touched. The gold mentioned in Tuesday's cable despatches was received and more is coming.

The uncertain market gave little ground for expecting a general advance in stocks on Wall street. The flat and inert trading therefore which greeted the formal proposition for a new government bond issue was no great surprise to anybody. That neither outside investors, nor the important stock exchange concerns were participating in the recent advance of stocks is perfectly well known. When therefore after the issue of the secretary's circular neither the London brokers nor the large local commission houses gave active support to prices, the smaller speculators began to take their profits, and this made up the day's dull market.

Catarrh—Use Nasal Balm. Quick, positive cure. Soothing, cleansing, healing.

FOR SWEET CHARITY'S SAKE.

The Annual Charity Hop of the Ladies' Aid of St. Peter's.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Peter's Cathedral held an entertainment last evening in the Catholic Order of Foresters' hall on Hunter street, which was a great success, both from a financial standpoint and from the amount of enjoyment which was meted out to all present.

The entertainment took the form of a tea and hop, and the proceeds will be devoted to the augmentation of the poor fund of the parish.

Dancing began at about half past nine, and a most enjoyable evening was spent, about seventy-five couples being on the floor, while a large number of those not interested in the dancing amused themselves at the card tables in one of the ante-rooms.

The tables fairly creaked beneath the load of appetising vivands with which they were spread, and by the large number which refreshed themselves during the evening it was evident that a tidy sum was being realized for the praiseworthy object of the entertainment. The ladies under whose direction the affair was worked up to so successful an issue were: Mrs. (Dr.) O'Sullivan, Mrs. Archambault, Mrs. Dolan, Mrs. Thos. Dunn, Mrs. Harry LeBrun, Mrs. Martin McFadden, Mrs. Ball, Mrs. Dineen, Mrs. Thos. Cahill, Mrs. John C. Sullivan and Miss LeMay.

THE FORESTERS ANNUAL UNION CONCERT.

Thanksgiving Day Entertainment in the Evening.

"The powers of art are the wings of the soul," so be sure to secure your seats for the Foresters concert, Thanksgiving Day evening, and listen to some of the artists who have the power to almost to lift you out of and beyond this mundane sphere.

Of Miss Hext, who will take part in the concert, the Georgetown Herald says:—"Miss Hext gave some six selections, distinguishing herself particularly. * * * Where she delighted her audience most however, was in her posing in Greek costume, in which she very cleverly pictured some forty emotions, so truly that the audience was not only pleased but amazed."

Rev. C. H. Shortt, rector of St. Cyprian's church, Toronto, says of Mr. Perrin, who assists in the concert: "I have much pleasure in testifying to the ability of Mr. F. J. Perrin, in the rendering of his selections, the most pleasing point being the entire absence of the slightest vulgarity. His songs are always well received. He should rank high amongst our Toronto comic singers."

PUT HER HEAD THROUGH A GLASS DOOR.

Fell Down Stairs and Sustained Rather Severe Injuries.

Miss Friend, a graduate of the Nicholls' Hospital Training School for Nurses, and at present on the nursing staff of the Toronto General Hospital as assistant head-nurse, met with a most severe accident last night at the Nicholls' Hospital, where she is visiting.

It seems that Miss Friend was descending a flight of stairs, at the bottom of which is a glass door. She tripped when about half way down, and fell headlong to the bottom, her head crashing through the glass door. Such a fall, with the additional shock engendered by the fact that her head was most severely cut, almost produced unconsciousness.

The unfortunate girl was carried to her bedroom when the hair was cut away, and the wounds on the scalp dressed.

A GIRL FROM THE COUNTY GETS INTO TROUBLE.

She ran Away From Her Home in Keene.

The Toronto Telegram says:—"A seventeen-year-old girl named Agnes Kane, who came from the county of Peterborough, a few days ago, pleaded guilty to stealing some gloves, shoes and a brooch from Miss Minnie Raine, 254 Jarvis street. The girl was employed as a domestic, but had only been in the house four hours when she took the things. Her sister was in court to plead for the girl, and as she promised to go home at once his Worship remanded her for a week on her own bail. If she goes home, sentence will be suspended. The diamond brooch was worth about $60."

The girl is from Keene and is well known in town. She has a wealth of beautiful brown hair and is considered rather wayward.

Kerngood's Mysterious Disappearance.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Nov. 15.—The disappearance of Jacob S. Kerngood from St. Thomas, Ont., reported on Tuesday, is still a mystery. A brother of the man, who lives at East Saginaw, Mich., has started east, and will carefully follow the route taken by his brother from Detroit. Another brother living in Rochester has started west on a similar errand. Detectives have also been put upon the case. Kerngood had no domestic troubles, and was going home to celebrate his wife's birthday.

Both Jaws Fractured.

MEAFORD, Ont., Nov. 15.—A man named Alexander Douglas, who resides at Meaford, was brought to Toronto on the train yesterday afternoon suffering from a very serious injury. He was storing barrels of apples in his cellar, and while at the bottom one of the barrels fell upon his head, fracturing both the upper and lower jaws. The injured man was taken to the General Hospital.

Burned to Death.

SCHENECTADY, Nov. 15.—Yesterday morning the four-year-old son of William Mower amused himself by building a bonfire under his two-year-old sister while the parents were absent. The girl was burned to a crisp.

The K. of L. Convention.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 15.—The work of appointing committees consumed the greater part of the session of the General Assembly K. of L. yesterday. T. V. Powderly was expected to arrive in time for to-day's session. It is expected that the election of officers will take place to-day. It is thought that Sovereign will be re-elected.

A Brute Hanged.

FREDERICKSBURG, Va., Nov. 15.—Moses Christopher, the negro who committed rape on Moselle Carter, a seventh-year-old child, two months ago, in Carolina county and who was arrested, tried and convicted the same day of the commission of the crime, was hanged yesterday at Bowling Green.

Success of Anti-Toxine.

NEW YORK, Nov. 15.—The medical authorities of the Willard Packer hospital have reported to the Board of Health that since the adoption of the anti-toxine treatment for diphtheria on July 17 the death rate among children under five years had decreased from 40 per cent. to 6.3 per cent.

Oil Fire at Petrolea.

PETROLEA, Ont., Nov. 15.—Fire occurred yesterday at the premises of the Premier Oil Company's refinery, now owned by the Imperial Oil Company, burning the agitator building and a large quantity of benzine and oil. Loss about $1,000; insured.

LOCOMOTIVE PUFFS.

Great Britain's capital in United States railroads is said to amount to $500,000,000.

The French government is about to introduce a bill fining railway companies for late trains.

The first horse railroad was made in 1829. Now every country town has its street car line, and even Constantinople and Jerusalem have such facilities.

On some railroads the cars are provided by the Bible society and other religious organizations with Bibles that are kept in racks, and curiously enough the racks are systematically robbed.

The Central railroad of Brazil carried 10,684,135 passengers in 1893, against 9,394,069 in 1892. The freight traffic decreased from 607,800 tons to 591,700 tons. The number of locomotives has increased from 192 to 225.

Japan's railroads at present have a total locomotive equipment of two hundred and six engines, two hundred of which are of English, four of German and two of American make. The last are of the mogul type and were built at the Baldwin works. The German engines are rack-rail locomotives built on the Abt system.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The climate of the southern polar region is much more severe than that of corresponding regions in the north.

Medieval doctors considered chips from the gallows on which somebody had been hanged a good remedy for ague.

At the time of the Persian wars all Greek men wore long hair, tied on the top of the head in a knot and fastened with a hairpin.

Palindrones, words or sentences which spell or read the same backward as forward, in superstitious ages were supposed to possess magical virtues.

In some of the hotels of Lucknow and Cawnpore, much frequented by foreign travelers, there are signs which read thus: "Please Do Not Strike the Servants."

This year is 5654 of the Jewish era, 7402 in the Byzantine era; 2554 in the Japanese era; 1314 of the Mohammedan, and the 27th year of the Dominion of Canada.

The mariner's compass was used for centuries by the Chinese before it was brought to Europe. Its invention or introduction is credited to Flavio Gioja, in the fourteenth century.

Australian Federation in Sight.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Nov. 15.—The New South Wales Assembly has adopted a motion offered by Sir Henry Parkes, setting forth that it is desirable that negotiations looking to Australian federation shall be resumed.

A Labor Bureau for Belgium.

BRUSSELS, Nov. 15.—The cabinet has resolved to create a labor bureau at once. The socialists are elated. They say that this step is the first result of their success at the polls.

Honour Bright!

Honour bright, don't you think it would be better and wiser to take advantage of the Drop In Prices at Brady's Corner Grocery and Provision Store, when you go to buy your Fresh Fruits, Fresh Baking Powder, Fresh Extracts, Fresh Lard, Fresh Butter, Fresh Eggs, &c., than to keep on buying and paying the same old price all the time?

Honest Injun, we do. Especially when we tell you you can, at the same time, buy the most Sugar for a Dollar and the Best Family Flour in the market at this same Corner Store.

Our new Automatic Fruit Cleaner removes all stems and sand from your fruit, gives you full weight in sound, new fruit, and saves a lot of trouble in cleaning.

We had a little row the other day with a Soap man for sending us double what we ordered. The price was so low it wouldn't pay to freight it back. He asked us to keep it at half price, and we kept it. Our customers can have it at the same. We don't want it. Honour bright. Yours to please—

TURNBULL'S

MANTLES.
Our Mantle trade this season has so far exceeded our expectations that it has cleared out several lines and left room for new ones, which we have secured at from $3.00 to $3.50, less than original prices on the better lines. Our customers will reap the benefit of this reduction in the wholesale cost. A full range of all styles and prices now in stock at prices that are never undersold.

BLANKETS.
We have run across a line of All Wool Blankets, in large sizes, woven similar to a Sheeting but combed; they are very desirable and are selling at $3.00 a pair. We have also a splendid assortment of Light and Dark Gray Blankets in all sizes.

UNDERWEAR.
As the season advances we sometimes run across what dry goods men call snaps. We have secured one of these now in Men's All Wool Underclothing, in both natural and flesh colours, at $1.00 a suit. The best line ever offered for the money. Plenty of lower qualities always in stock.

SKIRTINGS.
We are introducing a line of heavy Blanket Skirtings, one of the most desirable materials we have found yet in Ladies' wear. They are 40 inches wide and only 35c a yard.

CAPS AND MUFFS.
Just received a splendid assortment of Astrachan and Gray Lamb Caps, in both wedge and band shapes. Also Sealette Caps and Muffs.

Our prices for Scotch Tweed Suits made to order are a surprise to everybody. We have just passed into stock several nobby lines in Serges and Suitings. A perfect fit guaranteed every time.

Our Motto is to Undersell and Never be Undersold, and to always keep Our Stock Well Assorted.

AUSTRIA IS ALARMED

She Views With Disfavor an Alliance Between England and Russia.

GERMANY AN ISOLATED POWER

The Ascension of the New Czar to the Throne of Russia May be the Means of Re-arranging the Relations of the Powers of Europe.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The Vienna correspondent of the Standard sent a long despatch last night concerning the position of Germany in Europe and the relations of the triple alliance to England, in the latter case basing his observations on Lord Rosebery's allusions to Russia in his Guildhall speech. The impression that England is tending towards a reapproachment with France and Russia and an estrangement from the triple alliance, he says, causes uneasiness and regret, which are reflected in the Vienna press. Commenting on this despatch the Standard says: "Is Germany taking the place so long occupied by France as the isolated power of Europe? The events of the last few weeks undoubtedly strengthen the impression that Emperor William's recent policy has not tended to increase the number of his friends or the sense of security felt by his allies. Austria recognizes the need of Enland's support, even to the maintenance of the triple alliance. She also perceives Emperor William's scarcely-veiled hostility to England in matters in which she and Germany are jointly interested."

The Standard discusses the overthrow of Bismarck and Caprivi, remarking that the latter's fall is still unexplained. "It is not unnatural," says the writer, "that some persons conclude that Caprivi's retirement was due to the waywardness of impatience of the Emperor. The people feel that the Crown itself is the centre and the cause of the changes to which Germany and her friends are subjected without adequate apparent reasons. Germany's foreign policy at this moment is quite as unaccountable as her domestic policy, the matter of far greater anxiety. When she knew her own mind a sense of security was the result. That is not so now."

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 16.—The Czar's constant and marked attentions to the Prince of Wales, here called Waleski, have been much noticed and are thought to prelude closer relations between England and Russia. The Prince of Wales and the Duke of York had a grand reception at the Anitchkoff Palace yesterday afternoon. All the generals and staff officers now in St. Petersburg went ablaze with their medals and orders. The gorgeousness of the scene was hardly dimmed by the signs of mourning. The Grand Dukes assisted at the reception and most of them signed the Prince of Wales' visiting book. Although not officially announced, the wedding of the Czar and the Princess Alix is quite likely to take place on November 23 or 24. The foreign princes are expected to remain for the celebration. This is said to have been Alexander III.'s dying wish, but some one of the frequent and sudden changes of court arrangements may prevent the execution of the plan. The date of the funeral is still unknown. It is as likely now to be the 17th as the 20th.

The Duke of York at St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 16.—The Czar, the Princess Alix of Hesse, the Grand Dukes, the Prince of Wales and the British and German Embassies were at the station yesterday to receive the Duke of York, the Duke of Saxe-Cobourg-Gotha and the Princess Irene, wife of Prince Henry of Prussia. The Czar received the Duke of York, who is an old friend, most cordially. Most of the court's time every day is occupied with the reception of royal visitors.

GOOD ADVICE TO THE RECRUITS.

Emperor William Delivers an Address to His Soldiers.

BERLIN, Nov. 16.—In the lust garten yesterday the Emperor administered the oath of allegiance to the new recruits added to the Berlin, Spandau and Charlotteenburg garrisons. The ceremony took place in front of the castle, where an altar had been erected similar to that used on the recent occasion of the consecration of the colors of the new battalions. The recruits were sworn in by the Kaiser himself.

After short sermons by both Protestant and Catholic clergymen, the Emperor addressed the recruits, saying: "After you have sworn allegiance to me I greet you as my soldiers. I hope you are all good Christians, for if you are to be good soldiers you must be good Christians. You will have to guard and fight for the welfare of the Fatherland, you soldiers—to be my guards—and will enjoy the advantage of serving under my own eyes. You will wear a handsome coat, and the moment you are dressed in this coat you will become something noble. Always remember that the colors before you must never be insulted. Obey the oath you have taken and be courageous, despising death. Not only must you defend the house of the Fatherland abroad and keep order at home but you must defend our holy religion, if necessary, with your lives."

ON A SERIOUS CHARGE

Two Well-Known Young Men of Strathroy Are Under Arrest.

ATTEMPTED TO WRECK A TRAIN

Coupling-Pins and Links Were Placed on the Track—The Young Men Admit Their Guilt—A Petition Will Be Circulated in Their Behalf.

STRATHROY, Ont., Nov. 16.—On Sunday evening two boys named Baker and Curtis were passing along the station platform towards their homes at the southern portion of the town, when they were accosted by two men who wanted to fight. The boys passed them without much interference, but before reaching the next street they came across a cedar post thrown across the track in the snow which was deep enough to hold the post in its position. They at once informed Night Operator Hodgins, who hastened to remove the obstruction.

While he was engaged in performing this task James Ballamy and Murray Brady, coming along Metcalf street, saw two men running behind the elevator building. When they first sighted them they were placing some car pins and links on the track. The boys at once examined the crossing and the switch, finding at the former place a car pin laid across one rail in such a position that a train coming along would force it against the planks over which teams pass. At the switch a coupling pin had been laid across two rails in close proximity to each other and to keep it securely in its place a pin was driven through it into the ground. An incoming train would not be able to pass such an obstruction without leaving the rails.

Ballantyne and Brady, supposing the desperadoes to be tramps, and knowing that the "flyer" was due in a short time, also hastened to inform the night operator and the chief of police, who thoroughly examined the tracks of the two men whom the boys had frightened off. On questioning the four boys who had discovered the obstructions the chief was informed that they could swear to the identity of the two persons with whom they had come in contact. Cautioning them to keep the matter a secret, he traced the suspects to their homes, and, learning that they were in bed, telegraphed G. T. R. Detective Logan. That officer arrived on Monday morning. Chief Dodds laid the matter before him and they decided to arrest the two young men who were suspected of being the guilty parties. The chief then came up street and requested Nathaniel Fyfe, the barber, to accompany him to the station. He then proceeded to Wilhelms' bake shop, in the rear of Front street, and took with him from there Percy Thompson, who delivers bread. These two were taken before Police Magistrate Noble, charged with the attempt at train wrecking, and remanded to London jail until they could receive a hearing.

The event has caused unusual commotion in Strathroy, as the two young men were well connected. How they could be guilty of a crime so awful is almost beyond comprehension. Had their deed not been discovered and the fast express been allowed to hurl itself upon the skilfully placed obstructions the carnage would have been terrible. The pleas of drunkenness will not excuse the perpetrators.

The Youths on Trial.

Constable Logan, brought the two prisoners to Strathroy yesterday, and they were brought before Police Magistrate Noble and elected to be tried before him. They pleaded guilty to the charge laid against them. On their behalf Lawyer John Cameron asked for a remand for a week to enable the prisoners to obtain a petition from the citizens of Strathroy which might influence the magistrate to some extent to mitigate their sentence. The request was granted, and the prisoners were taken back to London.

The Times on the Newfoundland Elections.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The Times says this morning in summing up the result of the Newfoundland elections. The governor's refusal to dissolve parliament has been fully justified. The result of the polling may be explained by the assumption that the electorate considered that an unfair advantage had been taken of technical points in the new act to secure the recent unseating of Whiteways. We feel that the Goodridge government, which is the embodiment of constitutional purity or nothing, ought to justify its own existence by the strictest regard of the constitutional requirements of the situation. Perhaps the simplest and best course would be to resign immediately.

The Montreal Man in Bow Street.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—For the second time James Mullin, the Montreal man, charged with embezzlement and captured some days ago here by Scotland Yard detectives, was arraigned before the Bow street police magistrates yesterday and remanded until the 28th. On the previous occasion a technical objection was supported by the bench, and the accused was discharged. He was re-arrested on leaving the court room. Mullin is charged with appropriating moneys realized from a sale of a shipment of horses belonging to James Darling, of Montreal.

Three Lives Were Lost.

QUEBEC, Nov. 16.—Captain Joncas, of the schooner Maria, which was wrecked at Trinity Bay on Sunday morning, arrived at Rimouski and gave a few details of the wreck. The schooner went ashore on the rocks and he had to find his way a quarter of a mile to the mainland. His arms and legs are all skinned and torn. Three men lost their lives.

A Maniac's Suicide.

HALIFAX, Nov. 16.—A patient at Mount Hope insane asylum named William Brissel was found dead, having hanged himself from a window by a towel, which he took from the bath room. At the inquest it was shown that deceased had intimated some time ago that he would end his life, and had attempted to suicide recently by swallowing glass.

COLORADO IN FLAMES

The Mining Town of Gold Hill in Danger of Destruction.

DESERTED BY THE SETTLERS

The Fire Spreading and Many Mining Camps Are in Danger—The Property Loss Over a Million Dollars—Denver Visited by a Severe Storm.

BOULDER, Col., Nov. 16.—A forest fire which was started from a camp fire has been raging north of the mining camp of Gold Hill, a town of 300 inhabitants, fifteen miles from here. Fifty people came into Boulder in wagons from Gold Hill. They reported that the business men and miners were carrying what goods and property they could into the mining tunnels, and had abandoned hope of saving their stores and dwellings. A courier arrived at Boulder reporting that all the buildings at Camp Talcott, a short distance from Gold Hill, were burned, except the stamp mill, and that the fire had reached the western portion of Gold Hill, burning the mill of the Prussian mine.

Several ranch houses were burned, two men named Eibler and Seaman being badly burned.

The fire is spreading toward the town of Copper Rock. It is believed that many small camps will be burned. The residents of Gold Hill who have not come to Boulder have assembled on the top of the Horse Felt mountain and are watching the progress of the flames in which they consume their former homes. The loss will amount to over $1,500,000. There will necessarily be great destitution.

DENVER, Col., Nov. 16.—A fierce wind and dust storm struck this city from the north. Many plate glass windows and awnings were destroyed. The temperature fell 20 degrees in 30 minutes. Before the storm broke dense clouds of smoke could be seen rolling up the mountains around Gold Hill, forty miles distant. At 6 p. m. a wet snow began falling, but it is probably too late to save Gold Hill from destruction.

BRAZIL'S NEW PRESIDENT.

Dr. Moraes Arrives at Rio Janiero—His Prudent Policy.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—A special from Rio Janeiro says: President-elect Moraes arrived yesterday from Parapolis. He was received by a large concourse of people. He says he intends to pursue a prudent policy, expects to prove to all parties that he is independent of all cliques and of personal domination, and will try to bring the revolutionists into harmony with his administration, having taken steps to notify their leaders of his good intentions.

He says he means to be president of all Brazil, and to pursue a patriotic course which will commend itself to impartial people. His cabinet will represent all sections of the republic. Peixoto has been badly represented to the outside world, Dr. Moraes thinks. His only ambition is to aid in restoring peace.

Dr. Moraes made an important declaration in favor of the freedom of the press.

He hopes all prisoners here will avail themselves of the decree of amnesty he will issue. Peixoto advised this decree in the interest of the restoration of good feeling.

The new president promised to foster trade, especially with the United States. He expects that all pending difficulties with European nations will be settled diplomatically. The army will not attempt to interfere with the civil administration he feels sure. Many rebels have assured him they will lay down their arms.

Carlisle's New Bond Issue.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Official copies of Secretary Carlisle's circulars, inviting proposals for the bonds, reached the subtreasury, and each bank and trust company received a copy at an early hour. Figuring on the premium which it will be necessary to pay to get the bonds on a 3 per cent. basis began at once and it was found that the price of the bonds on such basis would be 116.108. This is reckoning from November 1, which gives the bonds nine years and three months to run.

Colonel Colt Is Responsible.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 16.—Word was received here from Washington Court House yesterday that the coroner's jury had found Col. Colt responsible for the fatalities during the riot of October 17th. Col. Colt said: "I am here at my desk as usual and there will be no trouble about finding me if there is a warrant out for my arrest. I have no comment to make on the finding."

An Old U. S. General Dead.

MILFORD, Mass., Nov 16.—Gen. Orison Underwood, who was perhaps the oldest militia general in the United States, died yesterday, aged 90 years. He was commissioned brigadier-general of the Mass. militia in 1841, was a prominent shoe manufacturer and mason for years and held many political and other offices.

Erastus Wiman's Appeal.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The appeal of Erastus Wiman from the conviction and sentence in the Court of Oyer and Terminer to five years and six months in the State prison for forgery was on the calendar for argument in the general term of the Supreme Court yesterday. Presiding Justice Van Brunt announced that the case could not be reached and must therefore go over until the December term.

Gave Them His Sympathy.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Nov. 16.—The government has received a petition from 70 settlers in the New Austria colony in Paraguay to assist them to return to New South Wales, as they are destitute and prostrated with fever. The Premier said that the government sympathised with these people, but could not accede to their request.

South Wellington Liberals.

GUELPH, Nov. 16.—At the Liberal convention held here yesterday, Mr. James Innes, M.P., received the unanimous nomination of the convention for the south riding of Wellington.

Quebec West Election.

QUEBEC, Nov. 16.—The election for Quebec West will likely take place in a short time. Arrangements for special committees have been made.

Daily Examiner.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1894.

MR. MARTER'S ALLIANCE WITH TAMMANY.

At the second campaign meeting of Mr. Essery, the Opposition candidate in London, on Tuesday night, Mr. Marter delivered another address in which he declared in favour of the election of officials directly by the people, instead of by appointment by the Government. Without entering into the abstract merits of the question, we may quote what Dr. Bourinot, the great writer and authority on constitutional questions, said in his address at the Convocation of Trinity University. In the course of his remarks he is thus reported:

He deplored the fact that the students turned out in this country were so densely ignorant of the principles on which this country is governed. The Canadian public at large was equally ill-informed. This fact was forced on one by the knowledge that there was actually a commission in existence in this country to feel the public pulse on the subject of electing public officers. Our Government did not really know whether the people preferred English or American institutions, and had given serious consideration to the American elective system, which was the parent of Tammany Hall. He called on our educationists to heed the cry of the National Council of Women, and establish text books on government in the schools.

Here is the strongest possible condemnation from a very high authority, and from a fellow-Conservative, of Mr. Marter's revolutionary proposal. It is a little strange that Mr. Marter, the leader of a party that arrogates to itself a monopoly of loyalty to British institutions, should make a proposal diametrically opposite to the spirit of British practice and precedent. If Mr. Marter can induce his followers to adopt his revolutionary platform in the regard in question, how are the mighty fallen! Doubtless, Mr. Marter thinks he is adopting a popular platform, but if he begins his assaults on the stronghold of office, by enlisting as his allies the vicious elements of Tammany, he will find that thinking citizens will make short work of his anti-British step ladder for climbing into office.

"BARKIS IS WILLIN'."

The Farmer's Sun, the organ of the Patrons of Industry, editorially, in issue received to-day, says:—It is now proposed that Mr. Stratton, of Peterborough, shall become the speaker in the Ontario Legislature. He is well qualified to perform the duties, having already on several occasions occupied the chair very acceptably. There is probably no man in the Liberal ranks, who will be more friendly to Patronism than Mr. Balfour, whether he be in the speaker's chair or on the floor of the house, and in view of the possible advantage to Patronism of having so friendly a voice and hand in the caucus of the Liberals, Patrons may forgive Mr. Mowat if he should not make Mr. Balfour the speaker, provided a member so fairly disposed as Mr. Stratton is looked upon with favour. Mr. Stratton volunteered to stand aside in his constituency at the last election if the Patrons would put up a man in the field, but that action was not taken. The Patrons in his riding will, however, it is understood, have the right of way in the Dominion elections.

THE Empire still continues to demand a special session of the Legislature just to see how the parties stand. There seems to be no urgent necessity for a special session. There is nothing to indicate that the government is, as the Empire asserts, without a majority. The classification of the members of the house is quite unofficial. There is nothing to show that the government is unable, from lack of supporters, to carry on the government of the country. If the case were as urgent as the Empire affects to regard it, certainly the Lieutenant-Governor would not stand idly by and see the constitution violated, and the liberties of the country endangered.

NOTICES were filed with the Registrar of the Court of Appeal on Wednesday, of applications for leave to withdraw the Lincoln and Addington Provincial election petitions, respectively.

BONDS, Boodle and Baby-farming is the alliterative piccadillos that amply justify Evangelist Moody's present labours in Toronto.

MR. PRINGLE'S LETTER.

Mr. Allen Pringle, a prominent farmer of Lennox County, and a very clever and thoughtful writer or politico-economic questions, in a letter to the Farmers' Sun on the situation in South Oxford, says that no man in Canada has fought the battles of the farmers in Parliament and out as Sir Richard Cartwright has done for many years past; that the Patrons throughout the Province were astonished to learn that a candidate of the order was to be put up against him, and that Sir Richard's letter shows that he has not changed his policy, but it is in full accord with the Patron platform.

Mr. Pringle, therefore, believes that it would be unfair and unwise to run a Patron candidate against him. No Patron in Oxford or anywhere else, he says, could do half as much as Sir Richard towards carrying out the Patron platform. "In no constituency ought we to run a candidate where the present sitting member, whether Grit or Tory, is in full accord with our platform, and will pledge himself thereto, unless he can be successfully superseded by a Patron of more ability and reliability." Mr. Pringle is very well known to the farmers of Ontario as a staunch champion of their rights, and an able writer on subjects of special interest to them, and his words are weighty.

Woman-hood

has its own special medicine in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. And every woman who is "run-down" or over-worked, every woman who suffers from any "female complaint" or weakness, needs just that remedy. With it, every disturbance, irregularity and derangement can be permanently cured.

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nervine, and the only medicine for women so safe and sure that it can be guaranteed. In periodical pains, displacements, weak back, bearing-down sensations, and every kindred ailment, if it fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. Is anything that isn't sold in this way likely to be "just as good?"

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation, liver-ills, indigestion, dyspepsia, piles and headaches.

THE FIGHT WITH BRIGANDS.

Further Details of the Raid on a Sardinian Town.

ROME, Nov. 16.—Additional details of the raid on Tortorli, Sardinia, have been received. In the fight with the townsmen the brigands wounded thirty men. They held possession of the town for hours without encountering serious opposition, plundered shops and houses and maltreated several citizens. They did not leave the town until they had collected coins, gold and jewels valued at 200,000 lire. They fired six volleys as they marched away, probably to intimidate all who might think of pursuing them. They carried with them their five wounded, one of whom was dying. They started on the road to Nuro, but the commander of the troops summoned from Cagliari regarded this as a mere feint and sent his men out in all directions.

One party of soldiers found a headless body, evidently that of the brigand who was dying when the band left Tortorli. His head is supposed to have been taken to prevent identification. In Caglari it is said that the brigands were not professional marauders but were residents of the Tortorli district. Five men of Tortorli have been arrested on suspicion that they were in collusion with the band. The whole country around Tortorli is greatly excited, as more raids are feared. Troops have been ordered to Sardinia from Civita Vecchia and Leghorn.

The High Commissioner at Dundee.

DUNDEE, Nov. 16.—Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner, who is here with the intention of delivering a lecture on the subject of the resources and development of the Dominion of Canada, was waited upon by a deputation of farmers yesterday. In reply to their address, Sir Charles said it made no difference how clearly it might be proved that contagious pleuro-pneumonia did exist among cattle in Canada, it was a foregone conclusion that the British Government would exclude Canadian cattle. This prohibition, he said, was chiefly due to the [illegible] of Mr. Henry Chaplin, formerly president of the Board of Agricultural society. Resolutions were passed declaring that the agitation against the action of the Government in excluding Canadian cattle would continue unabated.

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 16, 1894.

The Oswego barley market is steady with Canadian at 63.

On the streets here 800 bushels of wheat brought 57 for white, 55 for red and 53 for goose. Some 2,500 of barley sold at 40 to 44 and 800 of oats at 30 to 31.

At Buffalo Canada barley from 60 to 62 is in demand; anything higher was not looked at. Western barley is too high, according to maltster's ideas. Canada is quoted at 60 to 66c.

Wheat was irregular in Chicago May closing 3-8 and half cent lower and cash half cent above. Corn and oats were firm.

At East Buffalo offerings for sheep and lambs were 51 cars and of this supply but 10 cars were from Canada. The market closed weak with about a dozen cars of natives unsold and with prospects of a big run. $4.10 was paid for best Canada lambs with poorer lots down to $3.75.

The London stock markets were good. Consols were at the highest point ever touched. Notwithstanding the efflux of gold, gilt-edged stocks were strong and next in favor were Brazils and other South Americans. American rails were still comparatively lifeless.

Neither buyers nor sellers were active on the New York stock market. Outside of a few securities, influenced by individual causes, there were no large speculative orders. On the last half hour there was rather general weakness, but during the most of the five hours' business prices in general hardly changed. The treasury's statement reported a considerable decrease on general balance but only an insignificant part of this was gold.

A baby carriage, designed especially for those who live in flats, which can be folded together, so that one person can handily carry it up and downstairs, is a New York invention.

The mixture of cotton and wool in the manufacture of cloth has been learned so thoroughly that feeling will not detect the presence of cotton. A piece of the goods boiled in a solution of caustic potash will leave only the cotton fiber intact.

Wood pulp has been put to many uses, but the most extraordinary is in adulterating woolen yarn. A way of spinning the pulp has been discovered, and the product can be combined with wool in making yarn, in the proportion of one part of wood to two parts of wool. Much of this composite yarn is said to have been made into hosiery, and few complaints as to wear have been received.

STARTING IN LIFE.

Diocletian, the Roman emperor, was born in slavery and obtained his freedom by service in the army.

Luther's father was a miner, and the future reformer often earned a supper by singing in the streets.

James Madison was very fond of his books, and at an early age acquired a high reputation for learning.

Horne Tooke was fond of staying in his father's poultry shop, and liked to be intrusted with the business.

Zachary Taylor was brought up on a farm. He was very thrifty, and soon had a stock of property in calves.

Chancer's boyhood was passed in a wine vault, where he was required to wash barrels and clean wine casks.

Liszt was driven to the piano every day. For over fifteen years his daily practice covered ten to twelve hours.

THE WORLD OF WOMEN.

How They Would Run a City—Practical Ideas About Purifying the Government.

The Woman's Club of Denver is at present agitating the subject of municipal reform, with practical ideas of purifying the city government. At their last regular meeting, held under the auspices of the reform department, the city charter was analyzed, discussed and compared with those of other cities. Mrs. Routt, who made the first address, recommended the charter as an interesting book for the members to read to get an insight into municipal affairs. In answer to the fact that there is great expense connected with the present charter, she said the expensiveness is not a fault, and advised increasing it if necessary to induce honorable capable business men to accept office. She commented sharply on the bare majority of votes required by the charter to permit the introduction of saloons in the suburban districts, and suggested that the number of years as taxpayer be increased from one to five before a man can be elected as a member of the City Council, and that no person who is directly or indirectly interested in any contract with the city, or who is indebted to the state, city or county for taxes, or who has been convicted for corrupt practices, shall be eligible for office.

"The amusing feature of our charter," said Mrs. Routt, "is that all officers except the Park Commissioner receive handsome salaries, while he receives no salary whatever, though the charter expressly states that these Park Commissioners must be men who shall be known for their business ability, probity, and public spirit. Just why this distinction should be made and for the first and only time the charter should call for men of business ability is difficult to understand."

Mrs. Routt brought her remarks to a close by saying: "Ladies, the whole matter lies in a nutshell. Christian men and women, moral men and women, and all decent right-minded men and women must attend the primaries, nominate and elect candidates for their fitness, not because of their partisanship, and good municipal government will be the result. If the human race is to endure and civilization is to advance, men and women must work together and mutually aid one another to gain those higher ideals."

Another woman who participated in the discussion approved of the plan requiring that two-thirds of the owners of real estate within the frontage of the block in which the business of liquor selling is to be carried on shall sign a petition for a saloon before it can be granted, and she further said:

"Without undervaluing in the least the position of our Public School teachers, it seems to me that the officials who administer our city government hold places quite as important, and that we are therefore entitled to equal guarantees of their ability; hence I would propose an amendment to our city charter which would provide that all candidates for municipal offices should pass a rigid examination on all the articles contained in the said charter, and receive at least a third-grade certificate before they became eligible to office, the possession and presentation of such certificate being necessary before any salary could be drawn."

Hereafter it is to be the duty of the women of Colorado to scrutinize closely the character of the candidate who presents himself for membership of the City Council.

METHODS OF EARNING A LIVING.

Entertainer of Young Persons—Shopping and Marketing For Society Women.

Women exhibit most admirable inventive powers when they are obliged to find a new way to earn a living and wish it to be one of refinement and pleasure as well as profit. The latest profession originated with a Miss Shippen of Philadelphia, who is an "entertainer of young persons and children" and a sort of conductor, as it were, of their parties. Her aim is to direct the amusements of the little ones according to their ages and tastes and to inform herself on the subject. She consults with the parents a few days before the party is to be given, and discusses all the details of menu, decorations and games. She arrives at the house a few hours before the time to see that everything is in readiness, and when they are all assembled she entertains them, interests them in games, both old and new, some of which she has invented, and through these teaches them a bit of German and French. While they are enjoying a game to the fullest she sits down to the piano and plays a waltz, and they all began to dance so they are sure not to tire of any one thing. The key to her method is to make each child as happy as possible

Another unique method for women of refinement, good taste, and judgment to earn a livelihood is to do shopping and marketing for society women who have not time or inclination to do it themselves and do not wish to keep a competent housekeeper. One woman has made a fairly good income from this source, and in addition to the other things she sees the small children safely in school every morning and takes them home again, goes with them to the dressmaker's, shoemaker's, and milliner's, and in short superintends their entire wardrobe. After the marketing is done she returns again to the house to see that her order is properly filled. Three or four families can be served in this way by one woman, and when she goes home at night her time is her own.

The moon (to the sun)—Can't you stay out with me for a while to-night? The sun—I'd like to very much, but really I must decline.—South Boston News.

Mrs. Placid—Where were you last night? Mr. P.—At a stag party, my dear. "I thought so when I heard you staggering upstairs." — Philadelphia Record.

"Does your wife wear a high hat when she goes to the play?" "I should say she does," replied the man who always looks weary. "It cost me $27."—Washington Star.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times

Game Law Violations.

Game Warden H. K. Smith has his hands full of cases under the game laws. Yesterday he was at Kingston, where the Deputy Warden had seized 287 muskrat skins that were in transit to the United States. The skins were sold and the offender was penalized. Mr. Smith is now in Bobcaygeon, where there are some cases for trial.

China Hall.

The stock of China Hall was sold yesterday, and it is understood that Mr. Macfarlane Wilson, who has for many years been engaged in business in Peterborough, will re-open in a few days, having secured the premises and stock. Mr. Wilson is making extensive purchases of the latest designs in chinaware, and the stock, when re-opened, will be one of the best in the Midland section. In all probability the store will be re-opened to-morrow.

CHINA HALL.

China Hall will be open for business from and after this date. Further announcements will be made next week. In the meantime intending purchasers should make a note of the fact that the greatest bargains ever offered in Peterborough in this line will be forthcoming.

Don't allow your valuable horses to go without a waterproof cover during the cold wet days of the fall. Be good to them, provide them with one of Kingscotte's strictly waterproof covers, costing only a dollar or two. If you are shipping and receiving goods that are liable to damage from wet, Kingscotte's black oiled canvas waterproof covers "fills the bill,"—nothing better or cheaper. They have no tar in their composition, being an OIL preparation, which keeps them soft and pliable. Awnings taken down and stored in a careful and agreeable manner. Halls decorated for assemblies, balls and meetings of all kinds. ALF. KINGSCOTTE, tent, sail and awning maker, 344 Water street.

Mr. A. Lancashire, of Peterborough, was in town on Tuesday.—Millbrook Reporter.

Miss Annie Vance is visiting Miss Mercer, Peterborough.—Millbrook Reporter.

Mr. R. R. Hall, of the legal firm of Stratton & Hall, is in Port Hope to-day on business.

D. A. Kidd, M.D., Attwood, formerly of French River, is visiting friends in this vicinity.

Mr. Robert Moore, of Peterborough, gave his Lindsay friends a call on Monday last.—Watchman.

Mr. George J. Horkins, district agent of the Manufacturers Life Insurance Co., is in the Coe Hill district for a few days.

Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., is in Toronto to-day attending a directors meeting of the Dominion Building and Loan Association.

Miss Mabel Roy, Stewart street, has returned to Peterborough, after spending a couple of weeks with relatives in Belleville.

Mr. W. Laishley, of Peterborough, has succeeded Mr. H. Buckel as the representative of the Singer Sewing Machine Company in Berlin.—Galt Reformer.

The Misses Cahill, daughters of Councillar Thos. Cahill, has just returned from Toronto, where they have been writing on the Civil Service examination. The results will be published between the first and tenth of January.

Mr. W. A. Hamilton, District Inspector of the Inland Revenue department of Belleville, paid an official visit to Mr. H. Calcutt's brewery, Ashburnham, as well as other places under his supervision, yesterday, and finds everything in A 1 shape.

Mr. N. St. C. Gurd, of Sarnia, has arrived in town, and will at once enter into partnership with Mr. A. P. Poussette, Q. C. Besides being an able man in his profession, Mr. Gurd is said to be a good platform speaker and also a remarkably straight bat at cricket.

Mr. J. J. Hanratty, inspector of agencies for the Peterborough district, of the Standard Life Assurance Co., is in town on official business. Alderman Allan, who passed through town yesterday was incorrectly referred to as inspector of agencies. He is inspector for the Kingston district only.

Mr. Jas. Snider, of the Customs Department, and Mr. Tom. Clitheroe, who have been trying the Civil Service exams., in Toronto, have returned to Peterborough. In the payment of fees one of the students passed off a bogus ten dollar bill. As the collector of the fees was Government Detective Wasson, the matter is looked upon as rather a joke on that astute individual. A strong effort is being made to locate the party who passed the bill.

Watch for It.

In the course of ten days the Peterborough Hardware Company will open out the largest and most beautiful stock of silver plated ware ever shown in Peterborough. Wait for it. Watch for it.

REMEMBER TO-NIGHT.

The High Tea and Concert in St. Paul's school room. Excellent refreshments — Splendid programme. Tickets 25 cents.

Found.

A red-leather pocket book containing a marriage license, procured at W. J. Green's, 145 Hunter street, also a receipt for a pair of Green's $3.00 pants. The pocket book also contained a considerable sum of money, representing the savings of the owner by purchasing his clothing at W. J. Green's, 145 Hunter street.

High Tea and Concert.

The high tea and concert in St. Paul's school room this evening will be an occasion of more than usual interest. The ladies of St. Paul's are in charge of the "high" tea, and their well know culinary skill will do ample justice to the title. Mr. Crane and the choir are in charge of the musical programme, and that is a guarantee that it will also be of a high order. He or she that stays away on this occasion will miss a rare opportunity of enjoyment.

CLEGG, 427 George street.

Much More than a Lecture.

One of the features of Mrs. Montford's Oriental entertainments is the richness and variety of the costumes, worn by this remarkable women herself and by her assistants. The Montreal Herald of Nov. 6th inst., says: "The entertainment could not be called a lecture; it was much more. It was a graphic realization of life in the East, with all its restless, ever-varying phases. It is safe to say that no one in the audience existed anywhere else than in Palestine while Mrs. Montford spoke." In the Opera House, Monday evening, "Homes and Haunts of Jesus;" Tuesday evening, "Life in Jerusalem." Admission, 25 and 35 cents. Reserved seats at the Peterborough Bookstore.

A Tough Clock.

Mr. D. Sullivan, of Rubidge street, is the possessor of a rather tough clock—tough both in staying qualities and in present appearance, as it is quite justified in being after its experience. It is an octagonal clock which Mr. Sullivan got nearly 20 years ago with a consignment of coffee. At the time of the fire at his shop two or three years ago, the clock passed through the flames. Its wooden case was charred and even the face burnt off. The timepiece was consigned to the lumber room, where it has remained till a day or two ago, when Mr. Sullivan was rumaging leisurely looking for nothing in particular. He came across the charred remains of the clock. The sight brought to his mind the 1,728,000 seconds ticked of by the clock and himself together in his snug little shop, and he lovingly took the clock down stairs, gave it a tender cleaning, lubricated its internal economy with coal oil, put on a paper dial, wound it up, and the tough old time-piece is now running merrily and keeping as good time as any clock in town. Mr. Sullivan is very proud of his resuscitated time piece, and the EXAMINER hopes that he will live many years to enjoy the tick of his faithful clock which it is to be hoped will not suggest "tick" on the part of his customers.

—Peterborough was never known to be so healthy. Only two infectious cases in the town.

—A meeting of the members of the Shamrock lacrosse club will be held this evening in the Oriental.

—At the meeting of the Sons of Canada the other evening one member was initiated and two names were proposed.

—There are two cases of scarlet fever now in town, as a card was hung out on a residence on Chamberlain street this morning.

—County Police Magistrate Edmison fined Charles Stephens five dollars and costs this morning for racing his horse on the highway.

—The steamer Daisy left this morning for Harwood, where she takes in tow a scow load of hogs for Messrs. G. Matthews & Sons, Peterborough.

—There will be a big fox hunt on Thanksgiving Day, under the direction of Messrs. Sam Ray and Tom Rutherford. Quite a crowd intend going out.

—The patrons of the cheese factories will soon be made happy by the receipt of their cheques for the season's supply of milk. We all hope to share in the proceeds.

—The large plate glass window in Dolan & Co's store on George and Hunter streets, which was broken several weeks ago, will be replaced within the next few days.

—Unwittingly the arbitration regarding the sewer was postponed until next Thursday—Thanksgiving Day. Judge Ketchum since altered the date to Friday, Nov. 23rd.

—The big clock in the Peterborough post office stopped last Friday. No wonder, that outfall sewer chestnut is enough to stop all the clocks in town.—Norwood Register.

—The Dixon Co's. saw mills, Peterborough and Ashburnham, have ceased cutting for the season. The mill hands are engaged in boarding up the windows, doors, etc.

—A burly looking fellow called at several houses in town, on Saturday, and asked for money to pay his way to Peterborough, where, he said, his wife was dead.—Norwood Register.

—A batch of youngsters were in the police court this morning, as witnesses in a window breaking case. The urchin charged with the awful crime was discharged with a warning.

—A drunken row took place in a hotel a few days ago and one of the participants was fined two dollars and costs in the police court this morning. The case of the other comes up to-morrow.

—The Charity Committee of the Town Council met Thursday and opened the tenders for wood. It was decided to take 50 cords from W. J. Hall at $2.25 per cord, and 25 cords from Thomas McWilliams at $2.15 per cord.

—The proposed Rugby football match between fifteen of the Harboard street Collegiate Institute, Toronto, and the Peserborough Collegiate Institute rather hangs fire for some reason. The Toronto boys would like to come down on Thanksgiving.

—It was announced some time ago, on the authority of the Chief of Police, that the police court session would be held hereafter at 10 a.m. instead of 9 a.m., but there evidently was a mistake somewhere, as cases were disposed of before ten o'clock this morning.

—Mr. E. Dickie, secretary of the Licensed Hotelkeepers' Protective Association, will summon the local hotelkeepers to meet for consultation on Wednesday, Nov. 21st. All license holders in the district are expected to be present at the meeting, and will be notified.

—Jordan Bros., florists, have opened out a down-town branch flower store on George street, opposite the Central Canada Savings Bank, near the corner of Brock street, where an assortment of plants and cut flowers, fresh from their greenhouses, will always be found.

—Jubilee Lodge, No. 7, 'Prentice Boys, are busily engaged in drafting out a programme for an "At Home," which will be held December 18th. They contemplate giving a unique entertainment, after which a supper will be served, finally winding up with a hop. The boys will spare no pains to make the evening a most sociable one.

—Arrangements are being made for a rally of all the Young People's Societies in connection with the Baptist churches of the Peterborough Association, on Dec. 11th, in the Murray street Baptist church, Peterborough. This embraces the territory from Belleville in the east, to Port Hope in the west, and as far north as there are any Baptist churches. Fuller announcements later on.

—The committee appointed by the Children's Protective Society to confer with the Finance Committee of the Town Council, will meet that body to-night. An endeavour will be made to formulate some scheme for the rescue of little ones from the perilous position in which they are placed by being compelled to associate with dissolute adults. At present there is no place to keep the children even should they be rescued.

—Complaints come from the neighbourhood of Lock street of the disturbance caused by crowds of boys who congregate on that street near the railway crossing. These young hoodlums make a practice of running over the verandahs, throwing stones and making unseemly noises around the houses in the vicinity. Doubtless a word to the police will be sufficient to have the nuisance abated.

—While out shooting yesterday Mr. M. A. Jamison, of the Little Windsor, sighted a bear with four cubs, in close proximity to where he was standing. Not thinking he let both barrels of his shot gun go at the same time, causing the shooting iron to burst. Strange to say he escaped uninjured, but the rebound of the butt struck him in the abdomen, knocking him off his feet. Bruin, nowing fight, "Matt" took to his heels. He was rescued from his perilous condition by other members of the party. After quite a skirmish they succeeded in making two of the cubs kiss the dust. They had a most successful outing. Mr. Jamison states that the swamp is alive with rabbits, squirrels and partridge. On opening up their game bags no less than fifteen rabbits, 17 squirrels and 11 partridge and two cubs were brought forth. Matt intends giving a few invited guests a treat in the "boullion" line this evening at the Windsor.

Look out for Him.

The police desire to warn the public against a Russian Jew named Semiskoff, who is going from house to house begging, and telling a stories of alleged desertion by his Hebrew brethren because of his conversion to Christianity. He is described as about 22 years of age, full brown beard, fairly well dressed, short in stature, and speaks broken English, and the police declare him to be a fraud.

A Deliberate Fraud.

The Louisiania State Lottery Company have sent by express from Kansas City to parties resident here a long type written circular, accompanied by a bundle of tickets, which the recipient is requested to sell at a liberal commission. The circular asserts that everthing is on the square, but the fact that a special ticket enclosed in an envelope—marked "prize ticket"—which differs in several respects from the others, is also sent, demonstrates the fraudulent nature of the concern.

Montreal Health Officers Take Action.

MONTREAL, Nov. 16.—The civic health committee at a meeting yesterday decided to take stringent measures to stamp out the diphtheria epidemic. The contagious hospital will be opened at once, and a strict system of isolation will be foll wed. Experiments will also be made with Dr. Roux's anti-toxine.

A Brakesman Killed.

CHATHAM, Nov. 16.—Yesterday James Brady, a brakesman on a C. P. R. freight train, fell between the cars near the station and was instantly killed by the wheels passing over his body. He was 35 years of age and unmarried.

For Nervous Headache.

A simple but often effective way of relieving nervous headache is to bathe the head freely in water as hot as can be borne. This should be applied not alone to the temples, but to the back of the ears and the back of the neck, where the nerves are very numerous. The effect is, in most cases, soothing and beneficial.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any substitute if offered.

NOTICE.

What is Good Storekeeping?

Without saying much about it, we are trying each day to show what we think a good store should be.

In a spacious building flooded with daylight with a stock of goods of undoubted quality in such a variety and volume for choice that to excel it is hardly possible; and to buy the goods so as to sell them at prices that cannot be UNDERSOLD is our idea of how to keep store.

The store keeper, who does this, best reaches the highest level, and is always so secure in his position of advantage that he is neither arrogant, self praiseful nor pretentious. He has no need to be, yet sometimes the telling of cold facts such as selling 36 Ladies' Jackets in one day, or selling many lines of goods at the price we sell them, may seem boastful to the uninformed.

You Should Know our Store

If you want to save your money, as things are changed very much since we adopted the "CASH SYSTEM."

This change had to come. It was a necessity of the period.

Each city of the world has one or more such examples, and Peterborough possesses in this store an instance second to none. It could easily be shown that this great change from doing business on long credit with necessarily long profit to spot cash, small profits and quick returns, has been a decided benefit to this community, more than any other store in the place. By going direct to the makers for goods we want, and paying cash for what we get, we have been able to reduce prices, which has been money saved to those who have patronized us.

Probably some competitors may say and do say that we are cutting prices. However that may be the result of our low prices has produced a very large increase in business, and we are encouraged to still further reduce profits in order to further increase trade.

A price that is cost to some or a price claimed to be even less than cost elsewhere is often a price at which we sell at a profit every day in the year. There is no mystery about it when you consider the value to manufacturers of so large an outlet as that of our syndicate. Our progress rests on principles. Our trade is sure to grow and everyone should see our goods before they buy.

Our Aim is to Serve the Public Well.

To this end all our energy, capital and organization are directed. Intelligent service is characteristic of our house, and while no service is absolute perfection we have faith enough in our system, and in our efforts to please, (judging from your appreciation)—to believe that we have measurably succeeded in attaining our object. The deep seated purpose to serve you well includes the duty of our providing you with the best goods in the market at prices as low or lower than those of any other orginization in Canada. That we can do this has been shown over and over again.

We are not handicapped with a credit system. Everything here is on a cash basis, and the buying and selling is done on a closer margin in consequence. Keep your eyes open and compare prices. You'll find ours by long odds the lowest.

AN EVENING OF SOCIABILITY AT ST. ANDREW'S.

A Novel Scheme Introduced to Bring the Young People Together.

The Young People's Society of St. Andrew's church held a social last evening, which was an entire success. A large number of invited guests were present and the evening was one of the most enjoyable of this character ever spent in the Sunday school rooms.

The chair was taken by Rev. Mr. MacWilliams, the pastor, and after he had warmly welcomed those present, the following inviting programme was rendered:

Hymn 140, "All Hail"
Prayer ..... the Pastor
Selections ..... Orchestra
Instrumental duett ... Miss Wrighton and Miss Hall
Vocal duett ... Mrs. Jones and Miss Coe
Cornet Solo ... Mr. Williamson
Selection, guitar, mouthorgan and whistle ... Messrs. Roberts
Vocal duett ... Messrs. Mulligan and Millar
Recitation
Orchestra
Instrumental Duett ... Misses Edmonson and Hart
Vocal duett ... Misses Belleghem
Cornet solo ... Mr. Miller
Quartette ... Misses Fowler and Hewbeck, and Messrs. Skotch and King
Instrumental duett ... Miss Fowler and Miss McFarlane

A great deal of sociability was engendered by the introduction of a rather novel scheme. Everyone present was given a pasteboard card of considerable size and the idea was to ascertain just how many names could be secured on one's card. Consequently everyone was constantly on the move and at every turn a card was presented and an interchange of pasteboards took place until the signature was obtained.

The scheme was a good one for making the young people acquainted with each other, as formal introductions were not necessary, the presentation of a card serving the same end to all interests and purposes.

Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

THANKSGIVING CONCERT.

The Foresters' Annual Entertainment.

The Seaforth Sun is evidently much taken with Miss Hext, who appears at the Foresters' concert Thanksgiving Day evening. It speaks of her as follows:

"Miss Effie Hext delighted the audience with her readings in Cardno's hall, Friday evening last. In point of genuine merit the entertainment will rank with any that Seaforth people have ever listened to. Miss Hext has a most pleasing appearance, and scarcely had she commenced her opening selection when there were pleasingly in evidence the distinguishing characteristics of a fine and finished elocutionist. Miss Hext infused fervid passion into the reading of her lines, and it was questionable to admire more the dramatic intensity with which she gave the heavy passages, or her graceful and natural rendering of the light descriptive parts. Her posing in Greek costume—something new to a Seaforth audience—were indeed interesting, and was another exhibition of the lady's wonderful ability."

Miss M. T. Stevenson also takes part in this entertainment. The Chatham Planet says of her:

"Of Miss M. T. Stevenson, the accomplished and charming Guelph vocalist, too much cannot be said in praise. Her contributions were an acquisition to the programme, which proved no less than a rich musical treat. The lady is a soprano with a puse flexible and well cultivated voice. She unites therewith a beautiful and expressive face and graceful form, rendering her presence captivating, and enhancing the charm of her sweet vocalism."

OBITUARY.

(Port Hope Guide.)

"Another of our old and most highly respected citizens has joined the great company that has passed on before. Col. Henry Adams was born in the city of Kingston, in 1806, (his father being tailor in the Limestone City, during the War of 1812.) He came to this part of the country in 1823 and worked in South Monaghan with Mr. Wm. Smithson, whose daughter he married. With his young wife and family he settled in the bush in the township of Hope, on the old York Road in 1836. Six sons and two daughters were born to them, all of whom are now living, but one son, James, who died several years ago; one daughter, Mrs. Hugh Ross, resides in Toronto; the other is the wife of Mr. Jas. Davidson, Principal of the Guelph Collegiate Institute. Of the sons, William and Henry reside in the town of Oshawa; Joshua in Guelph; Wellington in Whitby; Allan A. is the proprietor of the Queen's Hotel here. Mrs. Adams died some thirty years ago. He married as a second wife, Miss Maria Woods, sister of Mr. Wm. Woods, of Barrett's Terrace, who only lived a few years. He was married to his present bereaved widow, Mrs. J. B., widow of the late Sheriff Fortune, some twenty years ago. Mr. Adams took a prominent part during his life in municipal matters; was reeve and councillor, and in turn, collector of Hope for many years. President of Hope Agricultural Society and President of the Hope Gravel Road Co. He was appointed Col. of the militia in the forties, when the great day of the year, the "King's Birthday," June 4th, was training day. In politics, a Conservative, and for more than fifty years had been an active member of St. John's Episcopal church."

The deceased was an uncle of Mr. R. Nimmo, dentist, Peterborough.

DOCTORS INTERESTED.

They Cannot but Accept the Testimony of Two of Their Professional Brethren.

Montreal, Nov. 12.—The letters of Dr. McCormack of Richmond, and of Dr. E. A Rose of Portland, recently published over their own signatures and testifying to their complete cure from Bright's disease and diabetes, respectively, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, have established to the satisfaction of medical men generally, that the pills do all that is claimed for them by their manufacturers. Both physicians are known as men well up in their professions, whose word can be absolutely relied upon, and who rarely make mistakes. The result of these letters will be an enormous sale of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Montreal.

—Word has been received of the death, some time since, of Harold Jellet in British Columbia.—Belleville Intelligencer.

—This is the time of the year when the pet pig is offered up as a sacrifice to the appetite. All the farmers are hog killing.

—C. P. R. traffic receipts for the week ending Nov. 7th, were $494,000, an increase of $4,000 over the same month of last year.

—Pittsburg temperance women are severely criticising Mrs. Cleveland, wife of the president, for her action in using wine in christening the new steamer St. Louis.

Of all the months that come and go,
We should be most forgiving
To bleak November, since we know
She's bringing us Thanksgiving.

—The great chess tournament in New York came to an end last night. Steinitz took first prize, Albin second, with Holmes and Showalter (equal) next.

—A man named Brotherston, residing at Coldwater, Ont., while out scaling logs yesterday, was instantly killed by the accidental discharge of a rifle which he carried.

—The steamer Beaver ran her regular Wednesday market trip to town yesterday, quite a number of passengers as well as market produce being aboard. Capt. Harris says he will be up Saturday if the river keeps open.

—On Thursday, Rev. Rural Dean Jones, of Orillia, was entertained at a complimentary banquet and presented with a gold headed cane on the occasion of his departure for England, for which he will sail on Monday.

—The C. P. R. pile driver is at work putting in buffers at the ends of some of the sidings here. One of the brewery teams became frightened by the big machine yesterday and ran away, but no damage was done.

—A gun carried by a young man named Bell, while he was shooting at Matchedash, near Coldwater, was accidentally discharged. The shot lodged in Bell's face and neck. He was seriously injured and will be disfigured for life.

—Four hackmen were before the police magistrate yesterday morning, charged by Detective Ross, of the C.P.R., with soliciting passengers on the station platform. A fine of a dollar and costs was imposed in three of the cases and the other was discharged.

—The Lindsay Watchman says: "Messrs. Anderson, Nugent & Co., have this week purchased and set up a new steam boiler from the William Hamilton Company, Peterborough, for use in their furniture factory. They must run with a full head of steam these November days."

—The Oshawa town council have signed a contract with E. W. Rathbun of Deseronto, on behalf of a company of which he is the head, for the construction of an electric railway from the town to the harbor. The road is to cost $100,000 and will be completed by Sept. 30th next.

—A superstitious man, who found a spider on his paper, wants to know if it is a bad omen. Nothing of the kind. The spider was merely looking over the columns of the paper to see what merchant was not advertising, so that it could spin its web across his door and be free from disturbance.

—The two tramps, John Brown and John Ounick, who burglarized Jos. Bell's premises, just outside the town, last week, were sentenced to a month's imprisonment this morning by County Magistrate Edmison. The previous good record borne by the two lads was instrumental in securing them so light a sentence.

—Messrs. H. Nell, Jay Gould and Alex Patterson returned from Sugar Island, Rice Lake, yesterday. They bagged eleven brace of duck, and state that they only had a single noon's shooting, the balance of their stay being most stormy and the lake very treacherous. They were obliged to leave for home or else get "storm beaten."

—The public may not be generally aware that anyone allowing live stock to run at large within half a mile of a public railway crossing is liable to prosecution, but such is the case. The Grand Trunk Railway has issued notices that owing to recent disastrous accidents resulting from cattle getting on the tracks, all such cases will be prosecuted.

—A man from Pocatello, Idaho, recently sent to Salt Lake for some furniture. His local dealer, hearing of this, called on him and said: "I have those same goods. Why didn't you buy from me?" "What, did you have them?" was the surprised rejoinder. "I never thought so; but I saw an ad. of the things I wanted in the Salt Lake papers and sent for them." The moral is apparent.

—The farm building on lot 7, concession 14, township of Darlington, the property of Mr. Geo. A. Stephens, lumber dealer, were completely destroyed by fire Wednesday night, between 6 and 7 o'clock. The contents comprising grain, implements, harness and some valuable fodder, were also consumed. There is a small insurance. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

The annual fur-fair will be held at Haliburton on Wednesday, Nov. 21, when it is expected there will be a very large attendance. The accounts received from the hunters and trappers all agree that the catch has been larger than usual, and that the number of bear skins is extraordinarily large. All the large fur buyers for the Province will be in attendance, and the hunters and trappers throughout a territory extending for two hundred miles will bring in their packs. This fur-fair is the biggest thing of the kind in Ontario.

—A peculiarity of the blind is that there is seldom one of them who smokes. Soldiers and sailors who have been accustomed to smoking, but who have lost their sight in action, smoke only for a short time afterwards. They say it gives them no pleasure, because they cannot see the smoke. Another peculiarity of the blind is that while other storekeepers are asking a dollar for a blind with a lace fringe, stratton is selling them at sixty-nine cents each, with roller and fittings complete.

A "Cold" Day!

You caught a cold last week—one of those long, lingering sorts of colds that's sneezy thing to get. Everybody you knew, and some people whom you had never been introduced to, told you what to take, and the more you took the more cold you took. Finally you went to see a doctor. He felt your pulse, told you to hold out your tongue, which felt like an all wool blanket, and advised you to drink plenty of COLD WATER, take two grains of quinine every two hours—and wear a good warm Overcoat. "Two dollars, please," said the doctor, and as you paid him like a little man, you made up your mind that if you had bought an Overcoat when you should, you would have saved your two dollars, the quinine, and wouldn't have to drink so much COLD WATER.

We Will Back Our Overcoats
Against any Others in Canada

for saving doctors' bills, and you couldn't have better advice than to get into one of GOUGH'S tip-top Overcoats FORTHWITH.

Buy a $4.00 one if you can't afford a better one, as that may save a five dollar doctor's bill. Buy an All-Wool $10 one for $6.50 if you want a better one—or if you want a heap o style for your money, we've got the extreme styles at from $12 to $15.

People of GOOD COMMON SENSE usually appreciate a good article that is honestly made, well-finished and up to date. This explains the great success of

Granby Rubbers
They Wear Like Iron.

A RECORD of twenty-five years of cures is made by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. In all blood disorders, this remedy has numbered its cures by the thousands. Years of uninterrupted success long ago led the proprietors to sell this remedy as no other blood-purifier can be sold. They have so much confidence in the "Discovery" that they guarantee it in all diseases that come from a torpid liver or impure blood. As a blood-cleanser, flesh-builder, and strength-restorer, nothing like the "Discovery" is known to medical science. Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, and the most stubborn Skin, Scalp, or Scrofulous Affections, quickly yield to its purifying and cleansing properties.

If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

For every case of Catarrh which they cannot cure, the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy agree to pay $500 in cash. You're cured by its mild, soothing, cleansing, and healing properties, or you're paid.

THERE'S PROFIT IN MILK

DAIRY ANIMALS PROVIDE A HOME MARKET FOR FARM PRODUCTS.

Increasing the Daily Yield—There is Economy in Purchasing Good Stock and This is the Key to the Success of the Dairy.

The class of farmers who send milk to the city markets are among the most enterprising, and when the milk business is conducted intelligently there is almost always a sure profit. Considering the kind of stock used by a large number of farmers, and the low prices obtained for milk, it is surprising that farmers can afford to invest so much capital in buildings and stock as may be noticed on all large dairy farms, but the milk and butter business seems to have the preference in this section of the country, and the production is enormous. The herd that contains cows which yield two gallons of milk per day, from each cow, as an average during the 10 months in the year, is considered a good one, and if three cents per quart is obtained for all milk shipped it is considered a satisfactory price in some localities.

WHERE THE PROFITS ARE OBTAINED.

The profit is not entirely from the milk and butter sold. The farmer sells his own labor with the milk, and also charges for the use of his teams which haul the cans to the station. The manure also contains a large share of the profit and the natural increase of the stock is an item to be considered. It is in the increased fertility of the soil that the greatest gain to the farmer results. The keeping of dairy stock necessarily entails the use of more horses, and the raising of pigs is also a matter connected with the dairy, in order to save the refuse material. The animals thus provide a home market for the products of the farm, and enables the farmer to avoid hauling his crops to market in bulk, by feeding his grain and hay to the cows and shipping the milk. Then again, the receipts are frequent and cash coming in daily or weekly and at all seasons of the year.

DOUBLING THE PROFITS.

If the farmer can increase the daily yield of each cow but a single quart it amounts to 75 gallons during the 10 months allotted as the milking period of each cow. If he can double the yield to four gallons per day, or even more, the profits will be perhaps trebled or quadrupled because the first cause of shelter and room in the pasture will not be increased, while but a slight increase in the expenses for food will result. This can be accomplished by the use of improved stock. The labor and care will be the same as for the lesser quantity of milk, but the value of the herd will be greater and the outlay less in proportion to the increase in production. Much as has been written in favor of the pure breeds a large number of farmers still continue to use cattle that are far below what should be found on the farm, and mistaken views of economy have kept them struggling against the tide when they should be found on the farm, and mistaken views of economy have kept them struggling against the tide when they should be prosperous. Breed is the key to success, and the farmer who has overlooked that fact has deprived himself of his greatest advantage.

Jinks—Brobson seems to be just as hard up as ever, though he has married a rich wife. Filkins—Oh, well, that takes time, you know. He probably hasn't learned how to find her pocket yet.—Browning's monthly.

Mrs. Benedict—Now what would you do, Mr. De Batch, if you had a baby that cried for the moon? De Batch (grimly)—I'd do the next best thing for him, ma'am: I'd make him see stars.—Kate Field's Washington.

NOVEMBER ON THE FARM.

Pounded Bone as a Fertilizer—Shelter for Animals.

If bones cannot be reduced to a very fine condition pound them, or break them to pieces in some manner and place them around the grape vines, about six inches deep in the soil. They may also be used around trees. But little benefit will be derived from coarse pieces of bone for a year or two, but it is better to thus utilize them than to allow them to accumulate into unsightly heaps.

Shelter is the most important matter connected with farming. The capital invested in shelter enables the farmer to save food by keeping the animals warm. When the winter is severe the animals require more food than in summer in order to create sufficient warmth to protect the bodies from cold. The more an animal is exposed the more heat must be created and additional food will be necessary. Comfortable stock will increase more rapidly in weight than if given no shelter, and the gain to the farmer in the saving of food and the freedom from disease of the flock or herd will return a fair profit on the investment in shelter.

One of the difficulties encountered in keeping sheep is that they do not always thrive if the flocks are large. It is for that reason that merinos and southdowns have been more popular than some of the large breeds, as they are active foragers, and can be kept in larger numbers in one flock than the Oxford or Shropshire downs.

Clover that is seeded down in August, where the ground does not freeze in winter and throw the young plants out, will give a good crop the next year. Crimson clover makes such rapid growth in the fall, compared with the red variety, that it becomes firmly rooted before winter sets in and starts off early in growth in the spring.

Experiments made with eggs for hatching purposes demonstrate that those laved by pullets are unreliable, and fewer chicks are obtained than from eggs layed by old hens.

Excellence in a breed does not indicate that all animals of that breed are up to the highest standard. Individuals differ, and some will excel others of the same breed.

A BATTLE ROYAL.

Fierce Fight of the Big Birds on an Ostrich Farm.

There was a terribly earnest fight at the Coronado ostrich farm across the bay from San Diego, Cal., recently, between two of the largest and ugliest cock ostriches in the flock of 30 or 40 birds. The fighters weighed about 300 pounds each. They were evenly matched and very plucky, and did their best to kill each other.

There is novelty about an ostrich fight. The ponderous birds are quick as cats. They use their feet more dexterously than a pugilist uses his fist and with far more deadly effect. One of these birds can thrust his bony, pointed toe through an inch board with very slight effort. Such a blow is enough to kill an ox. With a single kick one of these ostriches would disembowel a man instantly.

The fight started over the division of cabbage leaves which Keeper Campbell had thrown to the hungry birds. Seldom have two bipeds fought with more desire to kill than did these ostriches. And a royal fight it was in the eyes of the keeper as he saw plumes worth $10 each, soar from the body of a bird in response to the kick of the enemy and fall crumpled and worthless into the dust.

Feathers don't count for much in the flashing eyes of the ostriches.

They wanted blood.

Nothing but pure gore would satisfy their sense of honor.

Blood they did get and enough to satisfy Gov. Waite ere the battle ceased. With a deep hiss and outstretched wings Ostrich Jim bore down on Colonel like a 40-footer in a gale, sheered to the right, and caught Colonel on the right thigh, ripping the thick hide off the bare leg and causing it to bleed freely. Colonel retaliated and almost crippled Jim's wing with a kick that nearly capsized him. They then sparred with feet and beaks, picking and kicking feathers from one another until Colonel dealt a terrific blow on Jim's stomach which seemed to literally lift him from the ground. Only the thick mass of feathers prevented the awful toe from penetrating Jim's abdomen.

Jim was game. Regaining his breath he knocked Colonel over with a side kick, breaking his wing. Colonel recovered his feet before the attack was renewed. Both birds had by this time lost their plumes, and looked as if they had been plucked. Both were tired and weak from loss of blood. Their attacks grew feebler, and finally as if by common consent, they ceased fighting and walked off among the bushes to recuperate.

The fight was a draw, and the anxious keeper felt relieved that the birds lived.

During the fight no man dared trust his life near the fighters. Experienced keepers seldom try to interfere. If they do the concentrated anger of both birds is likely to fall upon the luckless meddler and end in his death. An interfering keeper once had his spine shattered by a single kick from an ostrich.—Chicago Tribune.

The Yankee and the Scotchman.

In Edinburgh three students were sitting in a hotel discussing the beauties of Highland scenery, when an American from the State of Vermont broke in upon them with the remark: "That for real scenery one has to go to America; that when Christopher Columbus discovered America he discovered the finest scenery in the world."

One of the students asked the Yankee if he did not admit that Great Britain, considering her area, wielded a great influence in the world.

"Yes, but for real enterprise," replied the man from Vermont, "you have got to come to America. The country discovered by Christopher Columbus has become the most enterprising in the world."

"At least, Great Britain's navy stands ahead of the world,' smiled the student.

"She does, eh? Look here, we could send over a Mississippi gunboat that could take the whole British navy in tow and run it into New York harbor—yes, and it would never be noticed among our big boats."

An old Scotchman, who had been writing letters at a table near by, arose at this juncture, and, as he licked the stamps, remarked: "My friend, I will na say onything aboot yer scenery, for I ken naething aboot it; nor would I say onything aboot yer enterprise, for I ken naething aboot that; but as for the Mississippi gunboat, I will say, just try that on, and in sax months it'll take a dom sicht smarter mon than Columbus tae discover America."

Chicago's Pretty Women All Employed.

The wondrous advantage of beauty of face and form in women is again exemplified by the experience of the manager of a publishing house in Chicago who advertised for "a little beauty to work in a store window and display paper dress patterns." Eight women without a vestige of good looks or a trace of any they might have lost through age of illness—except in their own estimation—appeared on the scene. They were too old or too young, or lacked the air of refinement and grace required to fill the window with charm and the minds of the observers with a desire for the patterns. So the homely ones had no chance. Not one pretty one has been found since, and the manager declares that all the pretty woman of Chicago who want employment are provided for. It is said that Chicago heads all other cities in the number of women employed in business.

Common Sense

Should be used in attempting to cure that very disagreeable disease, catarrh. As catarrh originates in impurities in the blood, local applications can do no permanent good. The common sense method of treatment is to purify the blood, and for this purpose there is no preparation superior to Hood's Sarsaparilla.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and angering affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—bleed and in many form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly affected from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and spasms. These and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Gives Instant Relief.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause from Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

SCIENCE AND INDUSTRY.

Recent Discoveries and New Ideas in the World of Mechanics and Industry.

As the result of a most prolonged study of the essential principles involved in the most perfect road drainage practicable, Mr. Billingsley has published an elaborate paper on the subject, in which he enumerates several paramount features which, in combination, contribute to the desire result. Among these is a road embankment of sufficient height to be at least above overflow from extraordinary rainfalls and sufficiently crowning to shed the water readily, also wide enough to accommodate the travel, though not of greater width; the road should have open ditches on each side, of capacity equal to carrying all flood water from the roadway and from the lands adjoining into the nearest water course; also there should be such a perfect grade for the surface or open ditches that no water will find a lodgment along the line of the road on either side, two lines of tile drains to be placed parallel with the road, one on each side, at the base of the embankment. Further details mentioned by Mr. Billingsley are, briefly, that the under drains be laid at a depth of three or more feet, and have a uniform descent or grade to some natural outlet, where the water discharged will flow away freely and at no time back up in the drain. The crowning of the road, too, should be of such a character as will cause the water falling upon the surface of the road to flow readily to the side of the ditches.

Gas Motor Street Cars.

Considerable satisfaction appears to be felt by the citizens of Dresden at the success of their gas motor street cars, according to the Louhrig system, which has been made the subject of investigation by experts from many countries. The car in this case is built to accommodate sixteen passengers seated within, with standing room for five besides the motorman on the front platform, and six on the rear platform. Power is supplied by two double-cylinder gas engines of seven-horse power each, located on either side beneath the seat, and carefully enclosed in zinc sheathing which excludes gas and odors and protects the machinery from dust or contact. Under the framework of the car are located at each end four cylindrical reservoirs, the whole eight having an aggregate capacity of some three hundred and sixty cubic feet of gas, sufficient to run the car eleven miles over a road in which the grades do not exceed one foot in twenty. The car weighs, without passengers, seven and one-half tons. The cylinders are kept cool by water circulating through pipe leading from a cylindrical reservoir carried on the roof of the car, the heated water rising and the cold descending automatically, and with such satisfactory results that, after a run of several miles, the warmth of the cylinders may be easily endured by the naked hand. Gas is supplied from the ordinary street mains, and is compressed to eight atmospheres by a simple double-barreled force pump, worked by a stationary gas engine or other power, and at this pressure the reservoirs of a car may be filled through a flexible pipe in less than a minute. The car is managed by one motorman on the front platform, who, with throttle and governor regulates the speed from 150 to 240 engine revolutions per minute.

Origin of the Flood.

A very noteworthy contribution has lately been made by Prof. Prestwich, an English geologist, to the literature drawn forth by the long-mooted question as to a possible cause for the flood or its origin. Dr. Prestwich describes at much length the various phenomena which came under his observation during many years of geological research in Europe and the coasts of the Mediterranean, among these special reference being made to finding the flints of the drift to be of two classes, viz., one with bones of animals carved and interspersed with the remains of man, and the other, termed by him the "rubble-drift," containing bones of animals of all ages and kinds in vast heaps. Reference is likewise made to raised sea beaches, and the constant occurrence of "head," the large masses of transported rock, loam and loess, covering the high plains in Hungary and southern Russia, and the ossiferous breccias in various localities. From the circumstances attending these and their surroundings, Dr. Prestwich comes to the conclusion that such phenomena are only explicable upon the hypothesis of a widespread and short submergence of continental dimensions. The age of man he considers rightly divided into palæolithic and neolithic, and there thus seems cause for the origin of the account of a flood. Sir W. Dawson's opinion is equally emphatic, based on geological and palæontological grounds, of a physical break in the anthropic age, evidence of this being afforded by the cave remains, etc.

Carrots, turnips and beets, if fed raw to cattle, should always be sliced and not cut up into irregular pieces. Cattle are much more liable to being easily choked than any other class of stock.

Grub up the sassafras growing in the fields and keep the young bushes down until the fields are cleared of them.

When bran and middlings are brought and fed to the stock it is equivalent to buying manure at the same time, as all food brought on the farm add to the plant food of the soil when the manure is spread.

THE TURF.

The fastest trotting miles made this year are as follows: Alix, bay mare, by Patronage, dam Atalanta, by Attorney, in 2.03¾; the four-year-old filly Fantasy, by Chimes, dam Honora, by Almonarch, in 2.08. Ralph Wilkes, the handsome New England stallion, comes next with a mark of 2.06¼, while the gelding, Ryland T., comes next with 2.07¾. These are all record breakers in their respective classes.

The fastest pacing records this season are: Robert J., 2.01½; John R. Gentry, 2.03¾; Joe Patchen, 2.04; the two-year-old colt, Directly, 2.07¾, and Flying Jib, with a running mate, in 1.58¾.

The coach stallion Ludwig, exhibited by Geo. Cockburn, of Baltimore, Ont., won first prize—$200—at the New York horse show. Eleven horses were shown in the class.

BILLIARDS.

The billiard match between Ives and Schaefer was continued last night, and resulted in the score of 600 to 250 in favour of Ives. The score for the three nights' play is: Ives, 1,800; Schaefer, 1,082. The highest run made last night by Ives, was 157, and by Schaefer, 61. Ives' average last night was 54 6-11, and for the three nights 50, while Schaefer's average last night was 25, and for the three night, 30 1-18.

FOOTBALL.

The member of the town Rugby club have decided to hold a smoking concert next Monday evening in order to augment the funds in the club's treasury. The affair promises to be one of the jolliest of the jolliest of entertainments and will doubtless be liberally patronized. All the best local talent will assist in the programme, which will be a brilliant one.

The Rugby football match for the championship of the Dominion will be played to-morrow between representative teams from Ottawa College and from Queen's University, Kingston. The match takes place in Toronto.

PETERBOROUGH WILL EXPERIMENT WITH ANTI-TOXINE.

Local Practitioners Will Have the Opportunity of Observing its Effects.

Dr. Clark, Medical Health Officer, has just written to Dr. Cassidy, chairman of the Provincial Board of Health asking him to forward to Peterborough some of the anti-toxine, (for diphtheria) which he recently received from Europe.

This shipment of the anti-toxine is only the second which has ever been received in America, and the Peterborough practitioners will thus be able to observe the results of the new diphthertic treatment as soon as their city brethren.

A supply will be kept on hand by the medical health officer, as well as by the Nicholls Hospital. It was at the suggestion of Mr. Richard Hall that the request was forwarded to Dr. Cassidy.

The experiments with the new treatment have proven that, while the administration of anti-toxine is not necessarily a sure cure, still by its use the mortality n diphtheritic cases has been largely reduced. At present there is only diphtheria case in town, and as the patient is convalescent, the new remedy cannot be used until there is a fresh outbreak.

YOUNG WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

The attendance at the class in physical culture last evening was encouraging. Sergt.-Major Rundle varies the exercises in such an interesting manner (Miss Sanderson accompanying on the piano) that the evening is spent enjoyably as well as profitably to all.

Through some misunderstanding in the past, it may be stated once again that this class is strictly under the auspices of the Young Women's Christian Assocation. Non-members must first become members of the Association before entering this class.

Owing to the social which has been arranged for Thanksgiving evening, the class will meet in the afternoon at two o'clock next week. Those who cannot make this hour convenient, will meet on the following Tuesday evening.

A cutting and fitting class will be opened this evening at 8 o'clock Mrs. Meek will be instructor. Terms are reasonable. This class is also for the benefit of members of the Association only.

GENERALLY PRESCRIBED.

The Idea that Bright's Disease Cannot be Cured Proven to be a Fallacy.

Quebec, Nov. 5th.—Local physicians are much gratified over the letter to Dr. A. G. McCormick, of Richmond, this province, testifying to his cure of Bright's Disease, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Since the introduction of the remedy in this city many physicians have not hesitated to prescribe the pills, and numerous cures have been the result. The latest testimony, coming from so well known a medical man, proves that the local men were right in changing the old-time remedies for Dodd's Kidney Pills. Hence their jubilation.

ZION.

The Methodist church, at this place, has been thoroughly renovated, internally as well as externally, by Mr. Thos. Clithroe, of Ashburnham. The ceilings are paneled in gilt and side walls covered with paper and engraved, while the exterior is painted ivory white. Mr. Clithroe is highly complimented on his undertaking, which reflects much credit upon his abilities as a decorator.

One Reason.

The virtue of broken stone in macadamized roads lies not so much in the support it offers to vehicles as it does in the protection it affords to the natural soil by shielding it from the effects of moisture. The weight must really be borne by the natural soil which does, in fact, carry the stone road itself, as well as the carriage.

They Are Winter Bloomers.

The carnation takes a front seat among winter-blooming plants. The flowers are adapted to a great many uses on account of being borne at the extremities of long stems, and they are of handsome form, of grand and beautiful colors, and with a fragrance both delicate and delightful. Plants that were potted in the fall should begin to blossom about the holidays and should give a goodly supply of flowers for three months.—Ohio Farmer.

TALIEN WAN RECAPTURED.

The Japanese Repulsed—A Chinese General Beheaded.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Central News says that the Emperor of China received the foreign ministers yesterday within the precincts of the Pekin palace.

Li Hung Chang's vicissitudes have had a noteworthy effect upon his hold on the popular mind. A caricature published in Tien-Tsin and pasted on the walls represents him on the back of a tortoise with a cannon under his right arm sinking a Japanese cruiser. Another shows him as a fish on the point of being hooked. In one placard Li Hung Chang is called Wongpa, the lowest name of derision.

The Daily Graphic has this despatch from Tien-Tsin: "Chinese reports emanating from Port Arthur are to the effect that the Chinese still hold two forts at Talien Wan and have repulsed the Japanese after desperate fighting. The Japanese are said to be closing gradually round the Chinese position. At Port Arthur every preparation has been made for the Japanese attack and the garrison is resolved to offer vigorous resistance. Part of Gen Sung's army has retaken Kinchow and Mo-Tien-Ling. The Japanese were routed and pursued for miles."

The Central News has this despatch from its Shanghai correspondent: "Gen. Wei has been beheaded in consequence of the defeat of the Chinese army under him at Ping-Yang."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16.—There seems to be a hitch in the proposed United States mediation in the Chinese-Japanese war. State Department officials remain mute on the matter and similar silence appears to have been imposed on the legations of the contending powers in the city. Nevertheless it is understood that no notification has yet been received from Japan of the acceptance of the United States offer of mediation though that proposition was cabled to Minister Dun to be presented to the Government at Tokio nine days ago.

China to whom through Minister Denby the same proposition was made on the same day is said to have given a reluctant assent hampered by conditions which do not seem to have been complied with. There is an impression prevailing in diplomatic circles that the offer of mediation on the part of the United States may fail of its object.

A Valuable Navigating Instrument.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—The solarometer, a navigating instrument invented by Lieut. W. H. Beehler, United States navy, excites much attention at the maritime exchange, where it is being exhibited. The use of the sextant is done away with by the solarometer, which is so constructed that when adjusted for observations taken in the heavens results are determined at a glance which are otherwise obtainable only by long figuring. The instrument determines a ship's latitude, longitude and compass errors by observations of the sun and stars at all hours of the day and night, without reference to the sea horizon. One instrument has been placed on a North-German Lloyd steamer, one is to be placed on the Cunarder Lucania for trial and one is being placed on the United States cruiser San Francisco. The government has contracted for others for naval vessels.

Spying on the French Government.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—Inquiry into the case of Captain Albert Dreyfus, who is now confined in the military prison on a charge of high treason in having sold information concerning the frontier forts to the Italian government and otherwise betrayed the military secrets of the government, has disclosed the existence of a widespread system of spying with which Captain Dreyfus was connected. Three more arrests have been made as the result of the inquiry, the persons arrested being two Germans named von Cassel and Schoenback and a Frenchman whose name the authorities have not given. Gen. Mercier, Minister of War, ordered a search of their apartments, with the result of the finding of incriminating documents, revealing a plot of wide ramifications, and it is expected that a number of arrests in connection therewith will soon be made.

Reward for Benevolence.

BUFFALO, Nov. 16.—E. W. Holmes, the foreman of the grand jury now in session, will think twice before he tries again to reform a criminal. He became interested in 15-year-old Michael Ryan, brought before the jury on a charge of burglary. Ryan had a face that was the personification of innocence, and promised, after acknowledging his crime, to reform if given another chance. Holmes adopted the boy, and last Sunday went to church, leaving young Ryan in charge of the house. When Mr. Holmes returned he could not find Ryan or his cash box, which contained $110. Mr. Holmes reported the matter to the police, but they have been unable to find Ryan, and the indications are that he has skipped to Toronto.

After the Cook Gang.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Nov. 16.—A courier has just arrived from the Arkansas bottoms and reported that he by chance ran into the Cook gang in their quarters. They received him without fear of their whereabouts being reported to the officers. A number of farmers who live near the rendezvous of the gang have reported the situation to United States Attorney Jackson and asked that they be commissioned to lead twenty deputy marshals against the outlaws. The posse was given full authority and started for the gang's quarters. As the farmers are familiar with the country in which the bandits are hidden the report of a battle is expected soon unless news of the plan is carried to the gang.

The Western Passenger Association.

CHICAGO, Nov. 16.—At a meeting of the Western Passenger Association yesterday a resolution was adopted providing that all of the 350 pounds of baggage per whole ticket on first class trans-Pacific business would be applied from association territory as well as from other territory. The question of land seekers' tickets was discussed at length, the prevailing sentiment being in favor of checking the abuses now practised, but no final action was taken. The chairman was authorized to send circulars to the various government authorities, informing them that in the future when they wish to issue transportation to employes of the government they must exchange all transportation orders for tickets before attempting to use them.

Hard Bicycle Riding.

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Nov. 16.—The bicycle race to break the 24-hour record has been declared off. Late at night Shoemacher became ill. He took a short rest and attempted to ride again, but at midnight gave up after covering 139 miles. Scott covered 154 miles and then dropped in a dead faint from his wheel at 2 o'clock in the morning.

Look and you will see just what a perfect fit we can give you. Grafton & Co.

C. P. R. FREIGHT RATES.

The Investigation Commission Ready for Work—A Surveyor's Report.

OTTAWA, Nov. 16.—The commission appointed to enquire into the freight rates on the Canadian railway is to start work today. P. S. Archibald, chief engineer of the Intercolonial railway, and H. W. Schaefer, also of the Intercolonial, two of the commissioners, arrived here from Moncton, N.B., yesterday. They proceeded to the Railway Department, where they got their instructions and left by the afternoon train for Winnipeg. There they will meet the other two commissioners, Messrs. Pearce and Allison, of the Interior Department. It is likely that the first meeting of the commission for organization will be held on Monday or Tuesday next in Winnipeg. The chances are that Mr. Archibald will be appointed chairman and probably Mr. Schaefer will act as secretary.

Mr. Jas. McEvey, of the geological survey, who has just returned from this summer's field work in the Kamloops district, British Columbia, tells a very alarming story of the destruction of the valuable timber resources of that province. He states that the forest fires this year were more destructive than ever. For weeks this summer fires were so numerous in the Kamloops district that they were unable to see more than forty feet ahead. The Indians are responsible for this great destruction of valuable timber. They do not set out the fires carelessly, but purposely, with the view of making hunting easier and better. After strips of forests are burned down the burned country in a year or two becomes covered with a growth of grass and the large game leave the thick forests and congregate about the grass meadows where a greater quantity of food can be obtained. During the last three weeks of Mr. McEvey's stay on the slope, he was obliged to camp in snow from six inches to a foot deep.

N. C. Bell, secretary of the Winnipeg board of trade and commerce exchange, Winnipeg, had a long interview with Messrs. Daly and Wood, in regard to the mixing of wheat, a largely discussed question at present.

Sir John Pender and the Cable.

LONDON, Nov. 16.—Sir John Pender, of the Eastern Cable Company, was interviewed regarding the declaration of the Marquis of Ripon, Secretary of State for the Colonies, that he contemplated convening another conference with reference to the proposed Pacific cable. Sir John said that, looking at the matter from the standpoint of an investor, he would say that the necessity for caution was strikingly illustrated in the condition of affairs in the existing Atlantic cables, which were not making anything like an adequate return for the amount expended on their construction.

Seven Men Severely Burned.

MUNCIE, Ind., Nov. 16.—An accident occurred in this city in which seven men were seriously scalded. The men were employes of the Muncie Muck Bar mill. In the mill are five large boilers and under these is a mud drum 25 feet long and three feet square. Last evening an end of the drum cracked and burst. A stream of hot mud, boiling water and steam was thrown the length of the mill and the men who were standing in the line of the stream were horribly burned.

The Knights at New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 16.—The Knights of Labor met again yesterday. The time of the convention was taken up in listening to an address by Vice-President George Howard, of the American Railway Union, in which Mr. Howard discussed the principles of the union and urged amalgamation of all the great labor organizations of the country into one association and under one management, were applauded. Grand Master Workman Sovereign replied, expressing his approval of the plan advocated by Mr. Howard, and said he trusted means would be found whereby the plan could be carried out.

Attempted Lynching in France.

PARIS, Nov. 16.—A mob near Herzeele, in the Nord, tried to lynch several men who had been arrested for the brutal murder of a local innkeeper. Twenty policemen were required to beat the mob back and protect the prisoners. Several men on each side were wounded.

Waziris Threaten the British.

CALCUTTA, Nov. 16.—More than 6,000 Waziris have gathered on the frontier of Wiziristan at Janikhel and are threatening the British party sent out to fix the boundary. An attack is expected by the British.

Three Children Cremated.

OAKLAND, Tenn., Nov. 16.—While Jeff Raynor and his wife, who live near Oakland, were picking cotton, their home caught fire from burning grass and burned to the ground. Their three children perished in the flames.

Honour Bright!

Honour bright, don't you think it would be better and wiser to take advantage of the Drop In Prices at Brady's Corner Grocery and Provision Store, when you go to buy your Fresh Fruits, Fresh Baking Powder, Fresh Extracts, Fresh Lard, Fresh Butter, Fresh Eggs, &c., than to keep on buying and paying the same old price all the time?

Honest Injun, we do. Especially when we tell you you can, at the same time, buy the most Sugar for a Dollar and the Best Family Flour in the market at this same Corner Store.

Our new Automatic Fruit Cleaner removes all stems and sand from your fruit, gives you full weight in sound, new fruit, and saves a lot of trouble in cleaning.

We had a little row the other day with a Soap man for sending us double what we ordered. The price was so low it wouldn't pay to freight it back. He asked us to keep it at half price, and we kept it. Our customers can have it at the same. We don't want it. Honour bright! Yours to please—

MANTLES.

Our Mantle trade this season has so far exceeded our expectations that it has cleared out several lines and left room for new ones, which we have secured at from $3.00 to $3.50, less than original prices on the better lines. Our customers will reap the benefit of this reduction in the wholesale cost. A full range of all styles and prices now in stock at prices that are never undersold.

BLANKETS.

We have run across a line of All Wool Blankets, in large sizes, woven similar to a Sheeting but combed; they are very desirable and are selling at $3.00 a pair. We have also a splendid assortment of Light and Dark Gray Blankets in all sizes.

UNDERWEAR.

As the season advances we sometimes run across what dry goods men call snaps. We have secured one of these now in Men's All Wool Underclothing, in both natural and flesh colours, at $1.00 a suit. The best line ever offered for the money. Plenty of lower qualities always in stock.

SKIRTINGS.

We are introducing a line of heavy Blanket Skirtings, one of the most desirable materials we have found yet in Ladies' wear. They are 40 inches wide and only 35c a yard.

CAPS AND MUFFS.

Just received a splendid assortment of Astrachan and Gray Lamb Caps, in both wedge and band shapes. Also Sealette Caps and Muffs.

Our prices for Scotch Tweed Suits made to order are a surprise to everybody. We have just passed into stock several nobby lines in Serges and Suitings. A perfect fit guaranteed every time.

CARNIVAL OF CARNAGE

Details of the Horrible Massacre of Armenian Christians.

SLAUGHTERED BY THOUSANDS

Helpless Women Outraged and Hacked to Pieces by the Turkish Soldiery—Revolting Scene in a Church—Nearly 10,000 Armenians Killed.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 17.—The Porte has issued an account of the last Armenian troubles in the Sassun district. The responsibility is laid upon Kurdish brigands who murdered a Mussulman and committed many other excesses. The Turkish troops called to Sassun are said to have restored order and protecting all law abiding persons.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The Standard's despatch from Varna describes the recent massacre of Armenian Christians as of equal importance with the Bulgarian butcheries which led to the Russo-Turkish war. He says: "The trouble began with the refusal of the Armenians to pay taxes on the ground that the Kurdish raids had so impoverished them as to render it impossible. This probably was true. Troops were sent to enforce the payments but were beaten off. The governor of Bitlis then arrived with an imposing force of regulars. The people seeing that the struggle was hopeless yielded, but the governor resolved to make an example of them. He ordered the troops to fire on the defenceless people and they obeyed with alacrity. They only ceased when the residents of twenty-five villages, numbering some thousands, had been killed. Some reports say 6,000 were slain.

Great Britain send her consul in Varna, Mr. Hallward, to report on the slaughter. The British ambassador in Constantinople upon receiving the report communicated it to the Porte. The sultan was horrified and he ordered the local military comuander Zeki Pacha to make his report on the matter at once. Zeki had been originally instructed to proceed to the scene after the repulse of the troops, but the Governor of Bitlis arrived there ahead of him. It seems that Zeki's report confirmed Mr. Hallward's, whereupon the governor formulated the grave charge that the latter was inciting the Armenians to revolt, thus causing the whole original disturbance. This was submitted to Sir Philip Currie who has sent out British officials to make inquiries.

Mr. Hagopian, chairman of the Armenian Patriotic Association in London, has sent Lord Kimberley, Foreign Secretary, a letter sent from Bitlis on October 9. Mr. Hagopian, after declaring his belief in the reports of the massacre, submits that in view of the horrible tortures and persecutions of the Armenians, the time has come to abolish the administration of the Porte and substitute a regime approved by the signatories of the Berlin treaty.

The letter from Bitlis gives details of the origin of the disturbances. There was a Kurdish raid on Armenian cattle, resulting in a fight, in which two Kurds were killed. The friends of the Kurds took the corpses to Moush and declared that the Armenians had overrun the land and were killing and plundering right and left. This furnished the pretext for the massing of the troops. The letter then describes the horrors of the massacre. It says that on the admission of the Turkish soldiers, some of whom tearfully protested that they merely obeyed orders, it is asserted that no compassion was shown to age or sex. In one place 300 or 400 women, after having been forced repeatedly to submit to the soldiery, were hacked to pieces with swords and bayonets. In another place 200 weeping women begged at the commander's feet for mercy. The commander, after ordering that they be outraged, had them all despatched with the sword. Similar scenes were enacted in other places.

In one case sixty young brides and maidens were driven into a church and were violated and butchered until their blood flowed from the doors. A large company headed by a priest knelt near the church begging for compassion, avering that they had nothing to do with the culprits who killed the Kurds. It was in vain; all were killed. Several attractive women were told they might live if they would recant their faith. They replied "Why should we deny Christ? We have no more reason to do so than had these," pointing to the mangled bodies of their husbands and brothers, "kill us too." This was done.

The last letter says that between 8,000 and 10,000 were killed. Babes were impaled on the same weapon with their mothers. Several soldiers admitted that they had disposed of 100 victims each. Nearly thirty villages were destroyed. Some families were burned with kerosene in their houses."

Wash your blankets with "Wide Awake" Soap, and you will find them cleaner and softer than they ever were before.

AROUND PORT ARTHUR

A Desperate Conflict of the Opposing Forces Impending.

REBELLION IN SOUTH COREA

Japanese Put Down the Uprising of the Tong-Haks After Desperate Fighting—Chinese Generals Disgraced for the Defeat at Ping-Yang.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A despatch from Tokio to the Central News says: Advices from Fusan, Corea, under date of November 16, state that a battle has been fought between Japanese troops and rebellious Tong-Haks, in which the former were victorious. According to the advices Capt. Suzuki with a detachment of Japanese troops was sent to Chin Shin, in South Corea, to quell the disturbances in that region growing out of the resumption of hostilities on the part of the Tong-Haks. Suzuki's command met the rebels in large force on November 11, and after some desperate fighting completely routed them. The Tong-Haks lost 186 killed. The number of their wounded could not be learned, but it is very large. The Japanese also captured a large quantity of ammunition, etc. The Japanese loss was three wounded. A despatch from Hiroshima says: It is expected at headquarters that the attack upon Port Arthur will begin on November 16.

A despatch to the Pall Mall Gazette says that 16,000 Chinese troops are defending Port Arthur.

The Morning Post has this despatch from Shanghai: "The viceroy of the province of Sechuen has been arrested on the charge of murdering a Tartar general in command of the provincial troops. His object was to hide his peculations. Generals Yeh and Nieh have been stripped of their titles, rank and decorations in consequence of their discreditable failure in the battle of Ping Yang."

That Proposed Cable.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Sir John Pender, of the Eastern Cable Company, said yesterday that he had no personal knowledge of Lord Ripon's intention to summon another conference concerning the proposed Pacific cable. Sir John said that he had gathered from a speech delivered by Canada's acting premier that another conference would be held. Sir John was unopposed to his cable scheme, but he doubted that the colonies, in their present state of depression, would be disposed to commit themselves to the additional outlay when they are at the present moment possessed of all the advantages which a submarine cable could give them. There seemed to be a sort of craze at present for a Pacific cable at any cost. The shrewd wise men at the head of the respective governments would seriously consider the cost before they would commit themselves to expending a large amount of money. If the governments were determined to have a cable Sir John's company was in a position to undertake the work on better terms than any other.

Alleged Frauds in Marking Cheese.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 17.—A meeting of the British commission merchants who import Canadian cheese has been called for an early date to protect against the alleged frauds said to be prepetrated on the trade by some of the largest Canadian shippers. These people, it is said, are sending out summer-made cheese labelled as "September" made and thereby secure much higher prices for a much inferior article. Such action on the part of Canadian shippers, are, it is represented, sure to imperil Canada's cheese trade with the British Islands as well as other European countries. A deputation is to wait on Sir Charles Tupper, Canada's High Commissioner, and request that the Dominion Government legislate forthwith, to ensure that each cheese, instead of each box, be branded with the date of making. A London dealer yesterday purchased 12,000 cheeses of the Martime Provinces make.

Heavy Fire in Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 17.—Winnipeg had a serious visitation, no less than five alarms having been turned in for different fires. The Western Canada block on the corner of Main street and Portage avenue, was completely gutted, and the stores underneath, occupied by Wright Brothers, & Mitchell, druggists, were burned out. Loss $85,000. The Grand Union hotel on Princess street was swept out of existence in addition to several stores and a house adjoining. The fire crossed the street and burned up the large warehouse of Merrick, Anderson & Co., filled with a valuable stock. The total loss in this connection will exceed $125,000. This fire is supposed to have been started by an incendiary as it occurred in a mysterious way while the other was raging and the division of the fire brigade enabled the flames to do their work.

Seriously Injured in a Planing Mill.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—Craig's planing mill, on Dundas street, just west of the railway bridges, was the scene of a bad accident yesterday, in which Charles W. Brown, of No. 10 Bank street, was the unfortunate victim. Brown was employed in the mill at the work of running a circular saw, and about 8.30 o'clock he attempted to throw a belt off the pulley while the machinery was in operation. In doing so he was violently knocked to one side, and when picked up by fellow employes it was found that his left arm and right leg were fractured, and, in addition, that his right foot was badly lacerated. The injured man was treated by Dr. McConnell, and after having his wounds dressed and the fractures reduced he was conveyed to his home.

Convicts Make Their Escape.

DORCHESTER, N. B., Nov. 17.—Three convicts made their escape from penetentiary yesterday. They have been working on a farm about a mile away in charge of Officer Legese and were on their way to prison in a cart, then they jumped and ran. Legese fired three shots out of a revolver at them but failed to bring them back. Guards are out searching for them.

A DOMESTIC TRAGEDY

An Elmira Husband Shoots His Wife and Her Sister.

SHOT HIMSELF IN THE HEART

The Wife Refused to Make Up With Her Husband, From Whom She Had Separated, Which Drove the Man to Commit the Desperate Deed.

ELMIRA, Nov. 17.—This city was startled yesterday about four o'clock over the report that a triple murder had been committed on Hudson street. The facts briefly are these:

M. V. Straight, who conducts a flour and feed store, and his wife have not lived together for the past few weeks on account of domestic difficulties. Yesterday Mr. Straight sent a note to his wife asking forgiveness and requesting her to take him back again. She failed to reply. This angered the husband and he purchased a 38-calibre Smith & Wesson revolver of five chambers, although he already had another revolver of like pattern. He saw his wife and her sister, Mrs. Mary Whitford, in the business part of the city and dogged their movements until they were within 100 feet of their home, when he ran up behind them to within ten feet and emptied the contents of one revolver at them both. He then deliberately drew forth his other weapon and fired again at Mrs. Whitford.

After firing the last shot he remarked: "I guess I've fixed both of you," and sitting down on a horse block emptied the other four chambers into his body near the heart.

Meanwhile a crowd gathered in the vicinity of the tragedy, but no one dared go near him. Straight realized that they were afraid of him and shouted that he would not hurt any one, as he had killed those he was after. Neighbors then removed all parties to the house.

Mrs. Straight was shot three times in the back, the balls lodging in the abdominal cavity and base of the lungs. She died at 7 o'clock in the evening. Mrs. Whitford was shot twice, one ball piercing the arm and lodging in the posterior side of the thorax, the other shattering the spinal column near its base. She is still alive but sinking rapidly.

The murderer was removed to the Arnot-Ogden hospital and retained consciousness for several hours. He graphically described the murder to the district attorney. He is now unconscious, and death is but a question of a few hours. The parties are all well-known, respectable citizens of Elmira and the tragedy has created great excitement.

A Slanderer's Revenge.

DUBLIN, Ga., Nov. 17.—Five men are in jail here charged with the murder of Capt. David Williamson, one of the most prominent planters of this State. Capt. Williamson had a beautiful wife. He heard that a neighbor named Jackson had made disparaging remarks about her to a number of persons, offering himself as a witness of the truth of what he said. Capt. Williamson called upon the offender and challenged him as to the truth of his statements. The man broke down under the challenge, whereupon at the muzzle of a shotgun Capt. Williamson marched the slanderer to the presence of the woman whose good name he had impugned and compelled him to humbly acknowledge his slander. The captain then tied Jackson to a tree, bared his back and give him 50 lashes in the most vigorous manner, after which he turned him loose. Several days later the dead body of Capt. Williamson was found on the public road. His body was riddled with bullets. One of the men under arrest acknowledged that the murder of Williamson was planned by Jackson, who paid them for disposing of his enemy.

Strikers Indicted.

MASSILLON, O., Nov. 17.—The Carroll county grand jury turned indictments against a dozen ringleaders against whom the proofs are strong that they planned and executed the destruction of Wheeling & Lake Erie Railway bridges at Sherrocksville during the June strike. It will be further [illegible] is said, that the whole [illegible] was arranged at a largely attended [illegible] the Knights of Labor lodge [illegible]

W. C. T. U. Convention.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17.—The first session of the W. C. T. U. convention opened in Music Hall yesterday with the largest attendance in the history of the union. The session was devoted to the annual address of President Frances Willard and the reports of committees.

Bob Fitzsimmons' Fatal Blow.

SYRACUSE, Nov. 17.—While Bob Fitzsimmons and Con Riordan, his sparring partner, were boxing at H. R. Jacobs' opera house in this city last night Fitzsimmons caught Riordon with a blow on the point of the jaw. The blow was a light one, but Riordon did not recover consciousness despite the efforts of two physicians. Fitzsimmons was arrested at 2 o'clock and is now confined in the Syracuse police station. Bail was refused. The doctors have decided that Riordan is suffering from cerebral hemorrhage and that he is likely to die.

Will Leave the Tariff Alone.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—A Recorder special from North Andover, Mass., says: Congressman Wilson of West Virginia and Congressman O'Neil and Stevens of this state met at the home of the last named in this town and held a conference the subject of which was national legislation when Congress next assembles. It was agreed among them that the tariff should not be touched in any way, shape or manner during the session that opens in December, and that no "popgun" bills should be sprung to any end.

A Disastrous Explosion.

MADRID, Nov. 17.—A quantity of paraffine among the village stores of the town of Velez de Benaudalla exploded setting fire to the buildings. The storekeeper, who, with his family, lived in the upper part of the building, was blinded by the explosion and his six children who were in bed were killed. The keeper's wife was not injured, but upon seeing her dead children she became a hopeless maniac. The fire was soon extinguished.

THE Mowat Government has always shown great and practical interest in the advancement of the industries that concern the great producing classes. It has wisely and liberally assisted agriculture, and by its liberal encouragement very largely contributed to making the cheese and dairying industry what it is. It has also performed another commendaction in establishing experimental fruit stations in various parts of Ontario. These stations will be the means of showing the kind of fruit which the several sections of the Province are best able to produce. And by a judicious arrangement with the owners of existing fruit farms in regard to the same, the cost of each will not exceed $200 a year.

Mr. MARTER has declared war on the Separate Schools. Mr. Marter is "playing to the grand stand." He has no more power to abolish Separate Schools, which are a part of the federal pact, than he has to settle the Japanese-Chinese war. If he would turn over the job to Sir John Thompson, who is in a position to initiate proceedings looking to an Imperial amendment of the British North America Act, he would not be talking the buncombe he does talk when he proclaims his intentions in reference to Separate Schools.

THE main point in Mr. Marter's second London speech was the reference to the Separate School question. That reference the Empire dwarfs into ten lines while giving two columns to the other features of the leader's address. The Empire, says the Toronto News, is not ony more of a newspaper to-day than it was seven years ago.

RHEUMATISM CONQUERED.

The Experience of One who Suffered the Agonies of this Trouble for Three Years.

Among the many ills that afflict mankind there is probably none that causes more excruciating agony than rheumatism, and frequently the sufferers are doomed to years of what is little better than a living death. Since the discovery of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills all that is changed, and those that will give that remedy a faithful trial are soon released from the terrors of this disease. Mr. Wm. Fletcher, the popular postmaster of Shannon Hall, Ont., writes: "Words fail me to express the gratitude I feel for what your Pink Pills have done for me. For three years I suffered the most excruciating pains in the hips, shoulders, elbows and finger joints from chronic rheumatism. The pains were especially bad in the morning, and it was perfect agony for me to rise and dress, in fact sometimes I was forced to remain in bed. During this time I tried a number of remedies, said to be cures for rheumatism, but without the least benefit. I also tried medical advice and prescriptions with no better results. Finally I was induced to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, with the result that by their use, under the blessing of heaven, I am again a sound man, entirely free from ache or pain. I have since recommended Pink Pills to a number of my friends with the most beneficial results, and I shall continue to recommend them to all who are in ill health." If you are suffering from rheumatism or sciatica give Pink Pills a fair trial and you will soon be released from pain as was Mr. Fletcher. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers or will be sent by mail post paid, at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y. Refuse all substitutes and imitations.

Trade in the Dominion.

MONTREAL, Nov. 17.—General trade reports throughout the Dominion do not indicate a marked improvement in any line, except that prices for staples tend to advance in Quebec, though largely on account of higher railrates due to approaching close of navigation. Unfavorable weather in Ontario has checked trade, but in Nova Scotia cold weather has stimulated trade and collections. Bank clearings at Hamilton, Toronto, Montreal and Halifax aggregate $21,135,000 this week against $22,544,000 last week, and as compared with $19,846,000 for the week one year ago. There are 33 business failures reported from Canada provinces this week against 46 last week, 35 in the week a year ago and 41 two years ago.

Woman-hood

has its own special medicine in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. And every woman who is "run-down" or over-worked, every woman who suffers from any "female complaint" or weakness, needs just that remedy. With it, every disturbance, irregularity and derangement can be permanently cured.

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nervine, and the only medicine for women so safe and sure that it can be guaranteed. In periodical pains, displacements, weak back, bearing-down sensations, and every kindred ailment, if it fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. Is anything that isn't sold in this way likely to be "just as good?"

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation, liver-ills, indigestion, dyspepsia, piles and headaches.

"DESTROY US."

Some time since the EXAMINER published a request for information, from the Normal and Institute Association of a township of Otonabee Sabbath School, as to what is meant by the words "destroy us" in the 24th verse, S. S. Lesson, Oct. 21st, recorded in Mark 1st, 21, 34. Two or three answers have been printed and below another is offered in reply to the question and last one published:

DESTROY US.

For spirits when they please.
Can either sex assume, or both, so soft
And uncompounded is their essence pure;
Not tied or manacled with joint or limb,
Nor founded on the brittle strength of bones,
Like cumbrous flesh, but in what shape they choose,
Dilated or condensed, bright or obscure,
Can execute their airy purposes
And works of love or enmity fulfil.
—Milton.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you allow me space in your valuable paper to take some notice of the letter that appeared on the 5th of the present month. When I read it I thought it would not be left to pass in silence by those better able than myself or those set as watchmen on the walls of Zion, and to give the alarm in danger. I am well aware of the importance of writing on Divine matters and especially in what is more properly a secular paper.

From what I remember of the answer first given to the enquiry, I thought it all that was needed. When I saw the importation from Toronto my expectations were rather high, coming from such an establishment with such credentials. I had not read it through before I found it still true that "the gold is not the guinea stamp for a' that." The writer before taking the question and giving the answers, introduces some peculiar ideas or "prevailing thought of our Bible class."

It cannot be supposed that your readers will have retained much of the letter on their memory, or have a copy for reference, so I make a few extracts. "Before going to the wilderness after His baptism by John, following this His baptism of the Holy Ghost (divine understanding)". Now in this revised version, I read it thus, "after His baptism of Divine understanding by John." Being one of those "that's most despised of all, what folks in general Baptist call," I object to what appears to me to be a denial of water baptism, but more especially to that of the personality of the Holy Ghost, as the third person in the Trinity of God Head. Then the writer goes on after relating what followed, the calling of the disciples—"Now it appears to be right after this that Jesus is led to the wilderness, where He remains forty days." I do not know where this information is obtained; not from the Scriptures, is plain enough. Mark says immediately after the baptism, the Spirit driveth Him into the wilderness, after John saw the Spirit rest on Him in the appearance of a dove and testifying to His being the Son of God, nor do the other evangelist differ on this. This may appear to many of little import, but to my mind it is worth observation, At one time He "must need go through Samaria," so now before He enters on His ministerial work. He knew the work the Father had given Him to do, the mortal combat in which He would be engaged in with the devil, being about thirty years of age. Before He called His disciples He was led into the wilderness among wild beasts, and was there tempted of Satan, that angel who was cast out of Heaven with all the others for their disobedience. This was good training for the work he was to engage in, before He attempts to cast Satan out from the bodies of men and women. He proves His mastery over him and His power to overcome him in all his followers, for having been tempted He is able to succor them that are tempted. Would that all professing to be ministers of the same Lord, knew something of this training. Luther was wont to say "that a minister was made good through trials." Am I to believe that the writer wants to show that there is no real living personal spirits, or souls, to whom personal qualities can be applied. I read again "from there He goes to Nazareth and preaches in the synagogue the "error" becomes so stirred at what He says." What "error!" Surely not the preaching of the Lord Jesus Christ. I read that He told the people of Naaman, the Syrian, being cleansed of His leprosy when there were many in Israel that were not; also of many widows in Israel in the days of Elijah, but that He was sent to none but the widow of Zarephath. This so enraged them that they would have thrown Him over the brow of the hill on which the city was built, but He escaped them and so passed by. This is so plain that to any ordinary reader there can be no difficulty in understanding. I know there is much in the Scriptures hard to be understood, and a great mystery, but I can take my Bible and with the sweet singer of Israel say

When quiet in my house I sit,
Thy word be my companion still.

Still I am pleased to have an opportunity of knowing what those who have the ability, time and means, of giving knowlege, and who have a good repute, have to say. No one, I think, can appreciate good education more than those whose lot it is not to have it. Our good old English Bible, the authorized version, is certainly within the reach of any common reader, and those professing to be wise should be careful not to darken counsel with words. If I believed there were no personal spirits or devils, I would say so in plain language, so that I might be understood. I cannot see how these personal properties ascribed to devils, unclean spirits, can with propriety be ascribed to anything but the person; to apply them to an error, a quality, an accident, a name or a nonentity, must be absurd to the last degree. Such properties as will power, judgment, knowledge, grief, vexation, are often ascribed to those evil spirits or devils cast out from men by the Lord Jesus Christ and His disciples, and sometimes those exorcised were permitted to have this power, but it was not at their command — they often failed. No wonder then that they were astonished at the power and authority with which He commanded the unclean spirits to come out, and they obeyed.

I fear I have already gone beyond the limits of a letter and so must make no more extracts. If men were allowed to take the same liberties with the evidences of purchase, a man's will and testament, that some take with the word of God, there are lawyers and counsellors wise enough to dispute every landholder in the Dominion of all that he hath, and even out of his own personality and existence too.

Thanking you for this favour,
Yours, etc.,
J. B.

SOUND AN ALARM!

Warn Old and Young of Approaching Danger.

When Energy of Body and Mind are at a Low Ebb, Use Paine's Celery Compound.

JOHN IRELAND.

"I felt something daily giving away, first a loss of appetite, and, as a consequence, a loss of energy of body and mind became alarmingly noticeable."

This statement of Mr. John Ireland, of Fergus, Ont., will remind a multitude of men and women living to-day, that they have the same unhappy and alarming experience.

It is our duty to sound an alarm; to warn old and young of approaching dangers. When energy of body and mind fails, breakers are ahead, and wrecks on the sea of life must follow.

It should be borne in mind that all individuals who are dyspeptic, nervous, sleepless, despondent, melancholic, that all victims of rheumatism, neuralgia, kidney and liver complaints, soon lose energy of body and mind; we find every nerve in the body affected and the brain is heavy and dull.

In order to meet such dangers effectually, there is only one sure and sensible mode of treatment—that followed Mr. Ireland, which gave such grand results—the use of Paine's Celery Compound.

Mr. Ireland, whose reputation is vouched for by a Presbyterian minister, also by a justice of of the peace, both of the town of Fergus, writes as follows:—

"For the past year the thought, at times occurred to me that I should, for the benefit of others, acknowledge the good your Paine's Celery Compound has done for my wife and myself. I am 70 years of age, and have lived temperately, never having used ardent spirits as a beverage, nor tobacco, yet I felt something daily giving way; first a los. of appetite, and, as a consequence, a loss of energy of body and mind became alarmingly noticeable.

"I cannot tell how the Compound fell under my notice; but I bought a bottle which we thought relieved. After some months I bought two more, as we were relapsing; these removed all doubt about its efficacy."

Rev. R. M. Craig, says:—"Mr. John Ireland has been a resident of the County of Wellington about 25 years—that he taught school in the province for 30 years, that he is well known and respected, of good character, and worthy of the confidence of any with whom he may come in contact."

Mr. George Beatty, of Beatty Bros., says: "I have been acquainted with Mr. John Ireland for years, and know him to be a good citizen and of more than ordinary ability and intelligence. His reputation is that of a truthful and reliable man."

FROM THE CAPITAL.

The Alleged Boodling at Hull—Manitoba Bills.

OTTAWA, Nov. 17.—The time for disallowing any of the bills passed at the last session of the Manitoba Local Legislature has expired. The Department of Justice has advised the Greenway Government that all their bills, 48 in number, have been allowed to become law.

The report was current here that Mayor Aubrey and Alderman Boult, of Hull, were to be arrested for boodling. It is understood that writs are in course of being prepared, but so far no arrests have been made. The charges are in connection with the building of the court house and other public works. The court house and jail building cost $75,000. On account of extras the contractor received $7,000, and the accusation charges that out of the latter sum one of the parties received $1,000 and the other $700. In connection with the Gatineau bridge contract the two members of the council are to be charged with having received $500 and $300 respectively. It is charged that for their influence in securing to the promoter of the electric light and railway scheme the franchises recently granted by the Hull city council, one—the member accused of having received the largest of the foregoing sums—was paid $3,000.

Mayor Aubrey, when seen by a reporter, said he knew nothing whatever of the charges. As far as he was concerned he had never received a cent for any purpose since he had been in the council. He said people were too fond of shouting "boodling" without knowing what they were talking about. He added that those who were attempting to blacken his character might pay dear for it. Ald. Boult, also seen, said he had never received a cent for influence or services. Mr. Kau, of the Hull electric railway, also seen as to stories relating to the bribery of members of the council, said he knew nothing of anything of the sort being done or of any undue influence being used in his favor.

The Citizen says that Sir John Thompson will visit Manitoba and the Northwest after the next session of parliament.

You Can't get too Much

Of a good thing. This is eminently the case with Polson's Nerviline, and great pain cure. It is an honest remedy, for it contains the most powerful, the purest, and most certain pain subduing remedies known to medical science. It is honest, for it does all it claims to do. It is honest, because it is the best in the world. It only costs 25 cents to try it, and you can buy a bottle at any drug store. Nerviline cures toothache, neuralgia, pain in the back and side. All pains are promptly relieved by Polson's Nerviline.

A Toronto Female Bigamist.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—A rather unprepossessing woman, Agnes Gosney, was in the Police Court yesterday charged with bigamy. She is alleged to have married Samuel Rowatt, rear 23 Clyde street, on the 8th January last, while being the wife of George Gosney, of Toronto Junction. Her defence is that her marriage to Gosney was unlawful because he had a wife living in England. Both alleged husbands were in court, but did not seem to relish the suggestion of the magistrate that they may go the woman's bail, so she was allowed out on her own bail. The trial will take place on Tuesday.

Land Companies Amalgamate.

MONTREAL, Nov. 17. — An important meeting was held yesterday between the directors of the Montreal Freehold Company and the representatives of the Consolidated Land Company of Toronto to consider a proposal of amalgamation between the two Companies. Mr. Robert Jaffray, of Toronto, President of the Consolidated Land Company, represented that company. The two companies control real estate estimated in value at over a million and a half dollars. A basis of amalgamation was proposed which it is expected will considerably lessen the cost of management.

Death of a Well-Known Walkertonian.

WALKERTON, Nov. 17.—Mr. William Gunn, deputy clerk of the crown, surrogate clerk and clerk of the county court, died here suddenly and was buried yesterday in the presence of a large concourse of friends and neighbors. The venerable gentleman was in his seventy-nineth year, and held his present offices since the separate formation of the county of Bruce in 1866. He was a Highland Scotchman by birth, and was well known as a life-long friend of the late Sir John A. Macdonald.

A Brute Sentenced.

TORONTO, Nov. 17.—John Bradley, the man who lured a four-year-old girl into a shed on Thursday and attempted to criminally assault her, was up in the police court yesterday. He said he hailed from Stratford and was under the influence of liquor and did not know what he was doing. The magistrate sentenced him to two years in the Central prison and to receive forty-five lashes.

Opium Smugglers at Port Huron.

PORT HURON, Nov. 17.—Henry Cumphrey and Charles King, the two alleged opium smugglers, are held in default of $4,000 bail. Joseph Kerwin, of Sarnia, supposed to be a leader of the gang, has also been arrested.

KNIGHTS IN CONVENTION.

Mr. Powderly in the Field for His Old Position.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 17.—The Knights of Labor convention met yesterday as usual. The reports of the finance committee of the executive board and of the recording and financial secretary were read and referred. There was also presented the report of the special committee, with Grand Master Sovereign at its head, which called the convention of national labor leaders at St. Louis on June 13. That report was also referred.

At the afternoon session the Grand Treasurer presented his report showing cash on hand amounting to $9,000 and other property owned by the order valued at $65,000. The committee on law made their report. A few minor changes were made in the preamble of the order but the motion to elect grand officers for two years was defeated by a large majority.

Interest is now centring in the election of officers which will not take place until the latter part of the session.

Past Grandmaster Workman T. V. Powderly is now in the field and has a strong following against the present incumbent. Mr. Powderly declines to be interviewed.

"Mr. Manton" Dead.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—Caroline Agnes Beresford, Dowager Duchess of Mountrose, known in the racing world as "Mr. Manton," and also as the "Red Duchess," is dead. The Dowager Duchess of Montrose was a daughter of the second Baron Decies. She was born in '818 and was married three times, first in 1836 to the fourth Duke of Montrose, who died in 1874; secondly in 1876 to William Stuart Stirling-Crawford, who died in 1883, and thirdly in 1888 to Marcus Henry Milner. She was a remarkable character; she maintained a splendid stable and raced horses under the name and colors of "Mr. Manton." Owing to her favorite costumes being of fiery colors, she became known as the "Red Duchess."

THE RULING MARKETS.

TORONTO, Nov. 17, 1894.

In Oswego Canadian barley is quoted at 63c.

Exports of wheat from the United States and Canada, both coasts, flour included as wheat, amount to 2,909,000 bushels, as compared with 2,689,000 the week before.

On the street here 100 bushels of white wheat sold at 58c. At outside railway points white and red wheat were quoted at 55c. Some 1,500 bushels of barley sold at 42 to 44c; 100 of peas at 55 1-2 to 56 1-2c and 600 oats at 30 1-2 to 31c.

At Buffalo some efforts have been made of late to boost prices of Canada barley by giving fictitious sales. This failed to work as sellers were found anxious to take 63c for the best barley here. Maltsters are not in market above 61 or 63c for No. 1, although sellers claim they are limited to higher figures.

At East Buffalo there were 110 cars of sheep and lambs on sale when all were yarded. Market closed weaker with 60 cars not sold. Late sales of Canada's were $3.15 to $3.90, with one load of extra up to $4. Market demoralized.

Wheat was dull yesterday, closing unchanged for May and 1-2c lower for cash. Corn declined 1-2 to 5-8 on heavy receipts. Oats were easy and 1-8 to 1-4 lower.

A factor somewhat unusual in the New York money market is introduced by the shipment of $1,000,000 gold from London to New York. The transaction, doubtless a forerunner of others similar in character, is unusual, because sterling exchange rates rule, even on a purely commercial basis, nearer the gold exporting point than to the specie import level. The real significance of such transactions as that of the British Bank of North America lies in their plain reflection of confidence in the value of the new securities. The fact that banks in this city are already receiving bids at 117 3-4 flat for the unissued bonds shows safely enough the local sentiment. This incident in the money market had apparently no influence on stocks.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similiar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times

The Archbishop's Return.

The Kingston News says:—"The Archbishop of Ontario, who had his passage taken to sail for Canada by the Mongolian, on the first of this month, has been telegraphed by the Archbishop of Canterbury to remain in England for some time longer, as the gentleman at Cambridge, who had been appointed to the Provostship of Trinity University, Toronto, has found it necessary for family reasons to decline the appointment. Another person will have to be sought to fill the position. His Grace, the Archbishop of Ontario, will sail for Canada, the last week in the month.'

Children's Aid Society and the Council.

The deputation representing the Children's Aid Society, which visited the council, last week, were asked to confer with the Finance Committee, to which the matter had been referred of providing a temporary shelter for children in the custody of the society, pending the selection of foster homes. This conference took place last night and the matter was thoroughly discussed by the members of the committee and the deputation and at the request of the Finance Committee, the society will do what it can in making suggestions, looking to the effective co-operation of these two bodies in the carrying out of the requirements of the Children's Act.

A Fine Painting.

While viewing the decorations in St. Paul's school room last night during the progress of the banquet, an EXAMINER representative noticed among the numerous pictures that adorned the room a beautiful painting in oil by Mr. D. A. Shaw. The grouping of the figures is artistic and effective. There is a fine touch of the pathetic in the retreating figures in the middle distance, the bent figure of the aged woman with staff in hand, suggesting the close of the day of life. The farm dimly seen in the distance, surrounded with tall trees touched with the ruddy gold of the setting sun, is very realistic. The peasant girls in the foreground make the picture. One sitting at rest after the toil of gleaning, is conversing with her companion, a tall maiden, whose graceful though wearied looking figure stands out in bold relief against the warm glow of the evening sky. In pose and colour these two figures are very fine, and altogether the picture in drawing, grouping, colouring and general effectiveness is a clever specimen of artistic work.

Telfordian Temperature Topics.

Saturday, Nov. 17th.—The early winter, as some had thought, has stript the fence, leaving everything in its natural colour. At this morning's observation, the self-registering thermometer indicated 30 degrees above, with a pleasant day and lower temperature at night.—THOMAS TELFORD.

Found.

A red leather pocket book containing a marriage license, procured at W. J. Green's, 145 Hunter street, also a receipt for a pair of Green's $3.00 pants. The pocket book also contained a considerable sum of money, representing the savings of the owner by purchasing his clothing at W. J. Green's, 145 Hunter street.

St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham.

The quarterly meeting of the Deanery of Northumberland, will be held next week at St. Luke's church. The proceedings will commence with evening prayer in the church at 8.00 p.m. on Monday. The sermon will be preached by Rev. A. G. E. Westmacott, rector of Brighton. The public is cordially invited to attend this service.

Death of Mr. Coty.

Mr. William Rudkins received word this morning of the death of his wife's brother, Mr. Coty, of Oakville, who never recovered from a severe cold which he caught last winter in the Seminary at Montreal. Mr. Coaty was a brother of Rev. Father Coty, who was formerly stationed here. He also visited Peterborough himself on several occasions and had many friends in town who will sincerely regret to hear of his decease.

"Faith Healing."

This morning the EXAMINER received a letter from a correspondent drawing attention to the inconsistency of a prominent "apostle of faith healing" calling in a medical man to administer chloroform for a minor surgical operation upon a patient of the "faith healers," instead of relying, for relief, upon faith. The letter cannot be inserted at the risk of provoking a newspaper controversy that would convince nobody and accomplish no good.

Trent Valley Canal.

Since the call for tenders has been out, a large number of contractors have been over the route between Peterborough and Lakefield, about twenty-five of them altogether. It is said a large number of tenders have been sent in. The last day for tenders to be sent in is Saturday, Nov. 17th. The affair is causing considerable talk, as is usual when any great work is about to go on, and quite a number yet seem to favour the opinion that the canal will not come to anything, it being only an election dodge, as it is said that the elections will soon be on.—Lakefield News.

A Large Order.

On Friday afternoon Mr. W. H. Meldrum, of the Auburn Flouring Mills, received a telegraphic order for a shipment of 1,600 barrels of Mikado flour, to be consigned to Halifax. In itself this emphatic appreciation of the high quality of Mr. Meldrum's Mikado brand, which like the Japanese potentate of that title, is decidedly taking the lead, is satisfactory to Mr. Meldrum; but it is also a satisfaction to others to know that the price offered was 35 cents per barrel in advance of last quotations, an indication of the stiffening of the wheat market.

At A. Clegg's.

New bedroom furniture. Our stock includes over thirty designs ranging from $12.00 up. We have the best bedroom suite for $12 ever offered in Peterborough, well made, well finished and a good polished mirror. New side-boards, at all prices; see our side-board for $9.00, and our polished oak boards at $16.00, and especially our polished oak board of which we have the exclusive sale, at $21.00. Dining tables and centre tables, a great variety, Copier seat diners, fancy rockers and arm chairs. A new lot just arriving; every one of our last shipment was sold in a few days. A. CLEGG, 427 George street.

A Delightful Entertainment.

Of Mrs. Mountford, who gives two of her Oriental entertainments in the Opera House on Monday and Tuesday evenings the Montreal Witness says: "The scenes described were ever present—voice, language, gesture, dress, mise en scene, were represented with a force and truth that left nothing to be desired. It would be safe to say that no more delightful entertainment was ever given in Montreal. At the conclusion were heard on all sides the words 'beautiful,' 'charming,' 'splendid,' and of such expressions the entertainment was eminently worthy. Mrs. Mountford is an ideal lecturer upon her subject. Her voice and presence are very pleasing, and she is untiringly energetic in her fatiguing role of practical exposition." Admission, 25 cents; reserved seats, 35 cents. Reserved seats at the Peterborough Bookstore.

A Benefit Entertainment.

Sergeant-Major Rundle, who has so willingly given his services in aiding the presentation of attractive programmes at numerous church concerts for years past, is about to be accorded a benefit. The entertainment will consist of exercises, by his senior classes and as special preparation has been indulged in a most inviting programme will be presented. Besides the attractive performances of the young ladies a number of excellent vocal and instrumental renditions will be given by local talent. The entertainment will take place in the opera house on Nov. 30th, and it cannot be too strongly impressed upon the public the necessity of turning out in large numbers to re-pay the Sergt.-Major for his many courtesies.

A Very Pleasant Gathering.

The residence of Mr. James Robb, South Dummer, was the scene of a very pleasant gathering, last Wednesday evening, when his daughter, Aggie, was married to A. McCullough, of Seymour. Promptly at 3.45 p. m., the bridal party took their places and the marriage ceremony was read by the Rev. R. Hyde, of Warsaw. The bride was prettily costumed in a gown of fawn cashmere, trimmed with festoons of lace and bows of ribbon. She was attended by her sister, Kate, who wore gray, trimmed with silver gray satin, while the groom was assisted by his brother. After the ceremony, the guests did full justice to the bountiful wedding lunch provided. A number of beautiful wedding presents testified to the popularity of the bride, who will be much missed in this vicinity.

—Mayor Kennedy, of Toronto, owes Harry Lindley, comedian, a debt of gratitude. In worrying over the wording of his telegram of condolence to the Russian Czar, his Nibs of Toronto forgot to wire congratulations to the Prince of Wales on his birthday. The genial Harry, who is now playing Halifax, was not so remiss—he was born on the same day as Albert Edward, and promptly cabled his congratulations.

—The Lindsay Post says that "George Matthews & Co., pork packers, are about to remove from Peterborough to Hull, where an immense factory is being erected at a cost of $100,000." Just where the Lindsay Post acquired this information it would be hard to say. One building has been erected in Hull at a cost of $30,000 and a similar one will be built alongside it, but there is no truth in the statement that the Peterborough buildings will be abandoned.

—A peculiarity of the blind is that there is seldom one of them who smokes. Soldiers and sailors who have been accustomed to smoking, but who have lost their sight in action, smoke only for a short time afterwards. They say it gives them no pleasure, because they cannot see the smoke. Another peculiarity of the blind is that while other storekeepers are asking a dollar for a blind with a lace fringe, stratton is selling them at sixty-nine cents each, with roller and fittings complete.

—Query: Why will farmers persist in bringing to market dressed pork unsuited to the requirements of the trade and then find fault with the dealers? At the Wednesday market could be seen fine little pigs weighing less than 100 lbs., which will not do to make bacon suitable for exportation, and as a consequence the packers would not buy them. It has been repeatedly published in this paper that no pork should be killed weighing less than 130 lbs. Better to be from 150 to 200 lbs. Heavier than 200 pounds is not wanted.

—On Wednesday and Thursday of this week Mr. H. Spence, of Norwood, agent for Mr. Warrington, the well-known Belleville cheese buyer, shipped from this point some 900 boxes of cheese, being part of Mr. Warrington's last purchase on the Peterborough Board, which amounted in all to over $50,000 worth. The factories interested were Star and Dunsford, Downeyville, Mariposa, Cambray, Cameron, Fenelon Falls, North Verulam, Lorneville and Derryville. The value of the shipment was about $6,500.—Lindsay Post.

Thanksgiving Market.

The market, to-day, was a large one, the farmers' waggons being lined up on both sides of the sidewalk enclosing the market square, while the quadrangle itself was also well filled. Every variety of farm produce was marketed in great quantities and the prices were about the same as on Wednesday last, with the exception of wheat, which jumped from 56 to 58 cents a bushel. More dressed hogs were brought in than ever before this year. Mr. Carton purchased extensively.

The Bank of Commerce Building.

Yesterday Mr. J. J. Hartley, contractor, finished the brick work of the Bank of Commerce building, corner of Hunter and Water streets, and the range of shop structures on Water street. These buildings contain over half a million of brick, and the fast that they were laid; and in first rate style too, in less than two months, is a tribute to Mr. Hartley's experienced energy in pushing building operations. The workmen—a large staff—are now busy putting on the roof, which will be completed in a few days. A considerable number of workmen will be furnished with employment on the work of the interior during the winter.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Lounder, of Gaspe, are visiting friends in town.

Mr. A. R. Edmonds, Detroit, Mich., is the guest of Mr. Wm. Cowie, 319 Simcoe street.

Mr. W. R. Greatrix, formerly of Peterborough, is back in town on a business trip.

Mr. Geo. Birnie, formerly clerk at the Grand Central, but now of Lindsay, is in town.

Mrs. Geo. Edmison has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Brod'a, at Hespler.

Miss Minaker is the guest of Miss Mulholland, Peterborough, for a few days.—Cobourg Post.

No hopes are entertained of the recovery of Mr. G. A. Mitchell, who has been ill for some time past.

Samuel English was in town, Wednesday, on business. He is getting nicely settled in his new home in Peterborough, and we bespeak for him success.—Omemee Mirror.

Mr. Richard Payne, of Peterborough, who is a member of the Northwest Mounted Police force, has been suffering from an attack of typhoid fever, for the past six weeks. He is now convalescent and writes to his mother, who lives on George street, that he may possibly be home for the winter.

Mrs. Wm. Caldwell and son, Robert, spent Monday in Peterborough. This is Mrs. Caldwell's first visit to our sister town, since she removed from that place to Omemee, over a year ago and a half ago, and in that time, sees several new buildings and many changes in that industrious town.—Omemee Mirror.

Among those who attended the funeral of the late Mrs. M. English, on Monday, the following were noticed, all related to the deceased, and were from our two neighbouring towns:—Mrs. J. Lillico, Mrs. J. Irwin, Mrs. Smithson, and Messrs. John Armstrong and James Armstrong, Peterborough.—Omemee Mirror.

The Galt Reformer says:—"Mr. Fred. Clarke, late of Peterborough, but now of the Bank of Commerce, Ayr was in town, on Sunday, and played two splendid voluntaries on the organ in Trinity church—one during the offertory and the closing voluntary. Mr. Clarke is an expert musician and his long experience in connection with pipe organ playing was ably evidenced on Sunday evening."

THE LEASE OF THE DICKSON MILLS.

Negotiations Being Made to That End by P. G. McCargar.

The Lakefield News says: "Mr. P. G. McCargar has leased the Dickson flour mills in Peterborough, formerly run by Messrs. Meldrum & Davidson, and will take possession. Mr. J. H. Dickson of this place has secured a situation in the mill. Mr. McCargar has the best wishes for his success there by his large number of friends."

In making this assertion the News is taking time by the forelock indeed, as although negotiations are in progress concerning the lease of the mill in question, yet no definite action has been taken nor any lease signed.

What is Good Storekeeping?

Without saying much about it, we are trying each day to show what we think a good store should be.

In a spacious building flooded with daylight with a stock of goods of undoubted quality in such a variety and volume for choice that to excel it is hardly possible; and to buy the goods so as to sell them at prices that cannot be UNDERSOLD is our idea of how to keep store.

The store keeper, who does this, best reaches the highest level, and is always so secure in his position of advantage that he is neither arrogant, self praiseful nor pretentious. He has no need to be, yet sometimes the telling of cold facts such as selling 36 Ladies' Jackets in one day, or selling many lines of goods at the price we sell them, may seem boastful to the uninformed.

You Should Know our Store

If you want to save your money, as things are changed very much since we adopted the "CASH SYSTEM."

This change had to come. It was a necessity of the period.

Each city of the world has one or more such examples, and Peterborough possesses in this store an instance second to none. It could easily be shown that this great change from doing business on long credit with necessarily long profit to spot cash, small profits and quick returns, has been a decided benefit to this community, more than any other store in the place. By going direct to the makers for goods we want, and paying cash for what we get, we have been able to reduce prices, which has been money saved to those who have patronized us.

Probably some competitors may say and do say that we are cutting prices. However that may be the result of our low prices has produced a very large increase in business, and we are encouraged to still further reduce profits in order to further increase trade.

A price that is cost to some or a price claimed to be even less than cost elsewhere is often a price at which we sell at a profit every day in the year. There is no mystery about it when you consider the value to manufacturers of so large an outlet as that of our syndicate. Our progress rests on principles. Our trade is sure to grow and everyone should see our goods before they buy.

Our Aim is to Serve the Public Well.

To this end all our energy, capital and organization are directed. Intelligent service is characteristic of our house, and while no service is absolute perfection we have faith enough in our system, and in our efforts to please, (judging from your appreciation)—to believe that we have measurably succeeded in attaining our object. The deep seated purpose to serve you well includes the duty of our providing you with the best goods in the market at prices as low or lower than those of any other orginization in Canada. That we can do this has been shown over and over again.

We are not handicapped with a credit system. Everything here is on a cash basis, and the buying and selling is done on a closer margin in consequence. Keep your eyes open and compare prices. You'll find ours by long odds the lowest.

DEATH OF MRS. DENNISTOUN.

It Occurs in Baltimore, Md., Where she had Repaired for Her Health.

The sad intelligence has reached town of the sudden death, at nine o'clock, last night, of Mrs. Dennistoun, wife of Robert Dennistoun, Q. C., late county Judge of Peterborough. Mrs. Dennistoun, accompanied by her daughter, left for the Southern States, a fortnight ago, and had arrived at Baltimore, Md., where she proposed to remain about six weeks, while undergoing a course of special treatment for neuralgia, to which she been a victim for twenty years. An operation, the exact nature of which is not at present known, was performed upon her face with apparent success, but immediately afterwards symptoms of pneumonia appeared, which, after two days' duration, proved fatal. The above particulars are gathered from fragmentary telegrams, as yet the only communications which have been received.

Mrs. Dennistoun was a daughter of Major Robert Hamilton, of the 79th Regiment, and was born in Ireland, on Dec. 16th, 1821. She was married in 1839, and has shared fifty-five long years of married life, with him who is now left to mourn her sudden decease. For many years admired and beloved by all who knew her, she presided over her home, in this town, "Inverlea," which was vacated a few years ago, when Judge Dennistoun removed to the city of Toronto. Of six children, only two are now alive, but a large number of grandchildren and great grandchildren are left to cherish her memory.

Judge Dennistoun and his family will have the sympathy of all classes of the community in this time of bereavement.

The funeral will take place from the station, on Monday, on the arrival of the C. P. R. 11:25 a. m. train from Toronto.

A TREAT FOR THANKSGIVING DAY.

The Foresters Grand Union Concert in the Evening.

The Deer Park Recorder speaks as follows of Mr. Fred J. Perrin, who takes part in the Foresters concert here on Thanksgiving: "A concert was held at Fairbank last evening. Mr. Fred J. Perrin, who is rapidly becoming one of the most popular comic singers of Toronto, was down twice on the programme, and each time he was enthusiastically encored. His songs were intensely humorous, without being vulgar, and his costumes were very good."

Of Miss Hext, who will also take part in the concert, the Union Standard says: "The Effie Elaine Hext Recital given in the Town Hall last night, under the auspices of the Methodist church, was a pronounced success, both financially and as a high class entertainment. Miss Hext was a favourite from the start. Her rendering of the "Kitchen Clock," "Ol' Pickett's Nell,' and the "Chariot Race," was excellent and elicited hearty encores. Miss Hext is a handsome looking woman and her statuesque posing pleased the audience wonderfully."

ITS HEART TORN TO PIECES BY A BULLET.

A Most Peculiar Incident—A Death Leap of Twenty-Five Feet.

Many curious tales have been related by hunters with reference to the wonderful vitality exhibited occasionally by a deer after receiving its death wound. Instances have been known where a deer ran a mile or more after being shot through the upper or lower portion of the heart, but a proof of their peculiar endurance was gained during the recent hunt of the Simpson-Grantham party on Long Lake, Galway. One afternoon while watching on Black Duck Lake, Dr. Simpson of Lindsay fired several times at a fine young buck on shore, and though positive that his bullets had hit the mark he was mortified to see the animal turn tail, bound up the hill, and become lost to view over a ridge. Paddling hastily to the spot, the doctor found his marksmanship attested by liberal and thus encouraged he decided to follow the trail. He did so, but after proceding about 40 or 50 yards the signs ceased. Puzzled to account for the sudden stoppage of blood, the doctor looked about him, and espied his game lying about 25 feet to one side of the trail, having evidently made one tremendous leap in his death struggle. When the animal was "dissected" at camp it was found that a bullet from the doctor's trusty Marlin had perforated the animal's heart clean in the centre, tearing the lower half into two portions. It was admitted by the old hunters present that the incident was one of the most peculiar in their varied experience.

STILL MORE WONDERFUL

SPRINKLINGS OF BLOOD,

FOOTBALL.

The smoking concert on Monday night given by the town Rugby club promises to be a great success.

All arrangements have now been completed whereby the Lornes Rugby Football team of Toronto will come down and give the Peterborough boys a game on Thanksgiving Day. The public will thus be afforded an opportunity of seeing a first rate game in which it is more than probable that the home team will come out victorious.

QUITE UP TO CONCERT PITCH.

The Delightful Choir Concert at St. Paul's—The High Tea Was a High Success—A Large Gathering—An Excellent Programme—The Splendid Singing of the Choir.

Quite up to concert pitch, describes the character of the high tea and concert given at St. Paul's last night. It was successful in every respect. The excellent choir of St. Paul's have done faithful and satisfactory work under the leadership of Mr. John Crane, and last night's demonstration of appreciation was most gratifying, and no doubt the ladies of the congregation especially were surprised at their own success. The gastronomic department under their special care was most elaborately equipped. Refreshments of a substantial character, prepared in a most excellent manner, were provided for two hundred and fifty persons, but fully five hundred presented tickets entitling them to an appreciative test of the edibles so temptingly disposed and served by brisk, comely maidens, jauntily bedecked as to their pretty heads with saucy little mob caps, assisted by a white jacketed corps of servitors of the male sex.

Instead of there being twelve baskets of fragments remaining, there was a large number of baskets lacking, and breathless couriers were despatched down town for the large additional supplies demanded.

THE CONCERT.

The tea, or more properly, dinner, was served in the lecture room below, while the Sunday school room above was prepared for the concert. It was most beautifully decorated for the occasion. The pianoforte platform was brightened with pots of blooming chrysanthemums and palms. The southern wall was covered with tapestry, surmounted with a bordering of cretonne, while here and there an opening hung with chenille curtains, was filled with pictures. The alcove arches were hung with chenille curtains, and framed pictures were liberally disposed in various parts of the room; among them was a very pretty painting in oil by Mr. D. A. Shaw. The decorations, which were in excellent taste and quite different from the bizarre, gipsy-like style of decoration so common, were in charge of Mr. D. A. Shaw, whose fine taste was reflected in the quietly artistic effect produced.

The concert hall was crowded in every part almost to discomfort, but all were good humoured and orderly. Rev. Dr. Torrance presided, and introduced the several numbers of the short but excellent programme, which opened with a pianoforte duet, brilliantly presented by Miss Fairweather and Mrs. Perks. This was followed with a well sung duet by Miss Clarke (soprano), and Master Maitland Boswell (contralto.) Mr. W. J. Drope gave in good voice a bass solo. Mr. W. D. Parker gave a humorous reading which was so well received that he was compelled to make a second appearance. A well sung quartette was given by members of St. Andrew's choir—Mrs. Jones, Miss Fowler, and Messrs. King and Turner. Miss Faweett's pathetically sung vocal solo "Daddy," was received with well deserved applause. The Misses Belleghem sang a vocal duet with much sweetness and taste, and Mrs. W. A. Sanderson gave a fine rendering of a vocal solo, "Love Thoughts," with flute obligato by Mr. Butcher. Mention of the singing of St. Paul's church choir is reserved to the last, as it is deserving of special notice. The first selection, Bishop's sparkling glee, "Hail Smiling Morn" received a splendid rendering. In fact it is within the mark to say that it has never been better performed in Peterborough. Mr. Crane has his choir in excellent balance and all the details of the work were admirable. The attack was as sharp and prompt as a rifle shot, the shading was judiciously delicate and the general effect was genuinely satisfactory. It is no wonder that St. Paul's congregation is proud of its choir, and of its painstaking leader, Mr. Crane. The second number was "O Who Will O'er the Downs," but, unfortunately, it was impossible to hear it from the point the writer occupied owing to the noise and confusion created by several persons moving chairs in the act of donning wraps and in moving out of the hall in the attempt to gain a little time on the way home, but it was also well done as stated by the few who were able to hear it. "God Save the Queen" brought a splendidly enjoyable concert and a most successful occasion to a close. It is difficult to decide whether the congregation or choir of St. Paul's have more reason to be proud of last night's signal success.

The proceeds of the concert are to be applied to the choir fund, which needs to be in good shape, as the purchase of first class music, which only is used by St. Paul's choir, involves no small expenditure.

A HANDSOME SHOW WINDOW.

The Interior Fitted up With Plate Glass Mirrors and Quartered Oak.

Mr. W. A. Sanderson, jeweller, George street, can now boast of having one of the prettiest of the many handsome show windows in Peterborough.

The sides and top of the window have been removed and a new lining introduced. The ceiling is of panelled quartered oak and the sides of bevelled British mirror plate glass arranged in such a manner as to set off to the best possible advantage the contents of the window. A cabinet, also composed of bevelled British plate mirror glass, has been inserted in the rear and projects to almost the middle of the window. The cabinet is finished off in quartered oak and is a most handsome fixture.

The work was done by Mr. D. Belleghem, and credit is reflected on the enterprise of Mr. Sanderson in improving his window to such a great extent. All day long little groups of people assembld in front of the store to admire the pretty arrangements.

HOW STEALING IS VIEWED.

Steal a chicken, says a contemporary, and you are a thief; steal $1,000 from your employer, and you are an embezzler; steal $5,000 from the Government, and you are a defaulter; rob your competitor on the stock exchange of $10,000, and you are a financier; rob him of $100,000 to $500,000, and you are a Napoleon of finance; wreck a railway and gather it in, and you are a 'magnate'; wreck a great railway system, and you are a 'railway king'; conduct a negotiation by which a strong nation plunders a weak nation of thousands upon thousands of square miles of territory and makes the weak nation pay millions of money indemnity for the wrong it has suffered, and you are a diplomat. WHO IS YUNCK, THE VIOLINIST?

Herr William Yunck was born in Cassel, Germany, in 1852, his father being a colonel in the German army, and the author of several well known military works. Early in his youth the son was sent to Vienna to begin his musical education, the father furnishing every advantage available. As a reward for the parental generosity, the son graduated from the Vienna Conservatory (where Durah and Hellmesberger were his tutors) at the head of his class and winner of the first prize. For eight years Herr Yunck was the solo violinist of the Vienna Court Orchestra, during which time he made many tours through Germany, Denmark and Sweeden, becoming widely known as an artist. Later he studied with Joachim in Berlin. He next accepted an engagement in the Court Opera at Berlin, which he filled successfully. The enviable reputation which he won in Germany he has admirably sustained elsewhere, and since Herr Yunck's arrival on this continent he has performed with great success in all the principal towns and cities of the United States. He will appear in Bradburns Opera House on the evening of December 5th. Among living violinists he has few equals and far fewer superiors.

A "Cold" Day!

You caught a cold last week—one of those long, lingering sorts of colds that's sneezy thing to get. Everybody you knew, and some people whom you had never been introduced to, told you what to take, and the more you took the more cold you took. Finally you went to see a doctor. He felt your pulse, told you to hold out your tongue, which felt like an all wool blanket, and advised you to drink plenty of COLD WATER, take two grains of quinine every two hours—and wear a good warm Overcoat. "Two dollars, please," said the doctor, and as you paid him like a little man, you made up your mind that if you had bought an Overcoat when you should, you would have saved your two dollars, the quinine, and wouldn't have to drink so much COLD WATER.

We Will Back Our Overcoats

CAST OUT the disorders diseases, and weaknesses peculiar to women — by the prompt action of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. A woman's beauty depends on her health — beauty in this case can be purchased. A bad complexion, a muddy skin, a wrinkled face and sunken eyes, follow the disorders of the womanly functions. Cupid is in demand for healthy woman—not for sick and ailing ones.

The "Favorite Prescription" is a powerful, invigorating tonic, and a strengthening nervine to be used in all those distressing troubles which make woman's life miserable. You'll find relief from sleeplessness, backache and bearing-down sensations. It's a medicine prescribed by an eminent physician for those nervous conditions brought on by functional disorders—such as Nervous Prostration, Excitability, Fainting Spells, Dizziness, and St. Vitus's Dance. In every case of "female complaint" if it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

Jockey Griffin.

A small boy, with no particular education, who can increase his income by $12,000 in a single year may claim to be an exception to the general run of small boys. This is what Jockey Griffin has done this year, and apparently, he has not placed his services above their market value. He was something in the nature of a "find" last year, when Mr. Gideon engaged him at a salary of $4.000 for a year's riding. During the season Griffin proved that Mr. Gideon's judgment was correct, for he gained remarkable prominence among the jockeys. When it came time to talk about the season's work it was found that Griffin had been approached by a number of owners, and that Mr. Lorillard had offered him $15,000 to ride for his stable next year. He was re-engaged by Gideon & Daly for $16,000 for the coming season, an increase of exactly $12,000 over his salary for the past season. It is not to be understood that this figure represents the entire income of the jockey, for under the rules he is permitted to ride for other owners, when his services are not demanded by the man to whom he is under contract. The perquisites of a good jockey are more than the salary of a capable cashier or bookkeeper. Griffin, for instance received $2,500 by way of a present, outside of his salary, for winning the Futurity. He is a sober, well-mannered lad, and still very young, but he takes a great pride in his family, and is educating his sisters and brothers out of his earnings.—New Yoak Sun.

MCKINLES INAUGURATED.

Brazil's New President Assumes Charge of His Office.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The Herald's Buenos Ayres special says: Dr. Prudente Jose De Moraes, the first president of Brazil to be elected by the people was inaugurated at Rio de Janeiro yesterday. The oath of office was administered by the president of the Chamber of Commerce. Ex-President Floriano Peixoto was not present at the ceremonies, which were largely attended. The city enjoyed its usual quiet, no disturbance taking place. In his inaugural address the president said he deplored the troubles of the republic, and would do all in his power to bring about a united Brazil and to eradicate the sectional differences which exist. He declared that every law-abiding citizen will in the future enjoy the fullest liberty, that he means to make his administration one of economy, that he will reduce the public debt, restore the currency and diminish the standing army and navy.

The members of the cabinet, with the exception of the minister of finance, Dodreguez Alves, are all ex-members of a former cabinet of President Peixoto, and they are numbered among his friends. The citizens of Rio Janeiro regard the selections made by the new president with great favor, as the new ministers are men of modern ideas, who left the ex-president's cabinet because of the extreme measures which the latter employed during the revolutions.

Admiral Abrev declined the navy portfolio and Admiral Elisario Barbosa has been appointed in his stead. The cabinet, as at present constituted, is as follows: Minister of finance, Dodriguez Alves; minister of foreign affairs, Carlos Carvalho; minister of industry and public works, Antonio Olynthio; minister of the navy, Admiral Elisario Barbosa; minister of the interior, Goncalves Ferriera, and minister of war, Gen. Benjamin Vasquez.

Great satisfaction is expressed at the removal of Costattat from office because of his abuse of power.

The Browne Alimony Case.

MONTREAL, Nov. 17.—Mr. Peers Davidson moved in the practice court yesterday, on behalf of Mrs. Andrew White Browne, for provisional alimony of $150 per month, pending the decision in her suit for alimentary allowance against her husband, A. W. Browne, and his father, Lyman Browne. Mr. Davidson produced affidavits to prove that Lyman Browne owned property in Montreal, and was a man of considerable means; that the son, who is now of age and whose marriage during his minority had in any case emancipated him, had been domiciled in Montreal at the time the present proceedings had been instituted, having engaged rooms at the Windsor hotel at $60 a month, which, according to Mr. Denning, manager of the hotel, was an exceptionally low rate, and one accorded only on the understanding that the party would reside permanently at the hotel.

A French Protectorate in Madagascar.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—The prrliamentary appropriation, of which M. Ribot has been made president, yesterday asked M. Hanotaux, Minister of Foreign Affairs, to explain the scope of the contemplated action in Madagascar. M. Hanotaux replied that the government proposed to confine itself to exercising a protectorate and securing the liberty of the natives. The establishment of a French administration was possible.

Ex-President of Princeton Dead.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 17.—Ex-President McCosh of Princeton college died last night at 10 o'clock.

I AM DYFING.

I'am dyeing, Edith, dyeing,
Tints of crimson, bright and fast;
Shades, too, dark as Pluto's regions,
And they cannot help but last.
Let me tell you how I do it,
Let me whisper in your ear,
Diamond Dyes is all my secret:
You can do the same, my dear.

Though my clothes get worn and dingy
And with stains are spotted o'er,
Though they look as fit for nothing,
I can make them good once more.
Though I have not many dollars
To expend on garments new,
I can dress as well as any,
And I know that you can, too,

Let not fashion's servile minions
Scorn the garments thus made o'er;
'Twas no dyer's hand that made them,
I have done the same before.
I, who took my last year's dresses,
Washed and dyed, and pressed and turned,
Made them o'er for this year's wearing—
Gowns for which the heart has yearned.

Yes, I'm dyeing, Edith, dyeing;
No, you do not need to go;
You've not hindered me a moment;
'Tis not hard to do, you know.
Now, no more one needs to wonder
How to make their dresses do;
When with such a little trouble,
"Diamond" makes them good as new.

A SUFFOLK STREET HALLOWEEN.

Civilizing people in poor and bad quarters of great cities, through the medium of gentle and agreeable surroundings, is one of the specialties of Theosophy. Suffolk street did not exactly resent civilization, but it took coldly at first to the reading room and boarding house for working girls Theosophy set before it. Such things, being good, they might stand, with its silent decree; and then it went on calmly reading its Russian and Polish, and Italian and Hebrew, and all the other languages necessary to its multicolored taste and requirements. It was entirely owing to the witcheries of the Hallowe'en and the inconsistencies of a trifling little god called Cupid that Theosophy got its first boom on Suffolk street.

That morning the young lady of the new reading room had said to Anita, the fruit seller, that she would give a little Halloween entertainment in the evening if she were only certain of a few guests from the neighborhood. This Anita told to honest Wong Lee the laundryman, who in turn told it to all his customers, and toward night it bore fruit.

The boarding house and reading room, no more than the boxed off floor of a huge warehouse, were up a high flight of steps like a ladder. The young lady in charge of them both, the reading room girl, got them in beautiful order, and when at 5 o'clock somebody knocked at the door, she said, "Come in," quite gleefully. A tall, slim girl in a plain brown dress and with a shawl over her head, responded. She had a skin like the heart of a jessamine flower and the sublime brow of the Sistine Madonna. But when she spoke, though low and gentle, her voice was a musical suggestion of only East New York. Her name was Emily Anderson. "Emily," she said, and she was a paper box maker, living just around the corner with her widowed mother, and she had heard all about the Halloween entertainment, and she wanted to know if anybody could come who was respectable and knew how to behave.

"Yes; won't you come?" said the reading room girl.

"Well, I guess I will," said Emily, after a moment. "And maybe I'll get some other girls to come and a young feller or two; but you needn't be afraid of any scrappin' going on. I can keep them as good as gold! You see!"

The reading room girl said she knew she could. Then they both began talking as if they were old friends, and Emily told the secret that was weighing on her mind.

She had broken with her sweetheart, who though not exactly "tough," had a quick temper, and was given to occasional "sprees." "To tell the truth," admitted the lovely madonna, frankly, "that's just why I want to come here to-night.

"There's going to be a dance round to the Sullivans—pretty bad egg, Joe Sullivan, just loves whisky—and if I go, Dave'll be sure to be there—his name is David Finn, and he's a plumber, and dead sure he'd pick a row with anybody just to make me speak to him. But I ain't ever agoin' to do it. I'm just dead sick of rowdies, and I'll never marry none on earth. I've just broke with him for good, I have, and I'd go to the ends of creation to jump the sight of him!"

Then Emily hoped that if any of the "boys" should come that night the young lady wouldn't make them "mad" by talking religion.

Then she went down the steps sniffing suspiciously.

It was quite plain to see that though the hot tempered and spree-loving Dave had lost the madonna's respect, he had still a warm place in her woman's heart.

At 8.30 in the evening, true to her word, Emily went back to her boarding house, but with a big, brown, good looking young man alone. Who, but Mr. David Finn, the plumber himself. The rowdy, broken with, discarded sweetheart!

She presented him coolly, and without other comment than that "the rest of them" would go to the Sullivan dance, she fell into silence.

The reading room girl and a tall young lady in a fashionable pink dress, who had come in to help with the Halloween festivities, tried to draw her out in vain. She would say "Yes" and "No," and then go back to her thinking, looking all the while like some beautiful holy picture.

The disgraced Dave, on the contrary, proved a genial guest, and with a surprising talent for roasting chestnuts and apples just to the point. He was a winning rascal, too, on his own account, with a curly, brown head and a big boy guffaw that would have touched a heart of stone. Yet at 10 o'clock Emily was still strangely silent.

She did not even smile, not until the second masculine guest of the evening arranged a long row of twelve candles in little tin props on the floor, and lit them.

This gentleman had come all the way from Harlem to keep the peace on Suffolk street, if it should be necessary; and he now informed the ladies that they were to try their fates by jumping over the candles. These represented in rotation all the months of the year, and the candle extinguished by the jumping would be the month of matrimony. If they put out none at all, that would be a sign they were to be old maids.

The reading room girl jumped first and was at once laid on the shelf of single blessedness. The young lady in pink knocked over two candles, which proved she was to be married twice.

And then came Emily's turn.

Emily had been holding back, looking on with the ghost of a laugh about the corners of her divine mouth; and now, without a bend she stood up and gathered together the simple folds of her brown dress. Poor Dave, love sick to the ears, flamed red as a peony. "One, two, three," counted somebody, and with a running jump, the Madonna whisked over the month of March.

"Oh, Miss Anderson," said the girl in pink, as the smoking candle lay on the floor, "you will be married in five months.

The reading room girl kissed her without a word, and Dave again changed color, but this time from red to white. Then somebody else declared that the claret mulling in the kitchen would be ruined, and after they had all run out to see, Emily said quite simply to Dave: "That's all right, Dave."

"You see," she explained afterward to the reading room girl, her fast friend by now, "it was like this. I knew there'd be ducking for apples at Sullivan's and going down the steps backward, and all the things to put men in temper when they've took on too much beer, and I just made up my mind Dave shouldn't go, and maybe get in a shindy and be showing up at Essex Market Sunday along with fan-tan Chinamen and Dagoes. Any woman can keep a man straight if she wants, and there ain't many in the world as good as Dave. So, when I seen him in the street that night I just calls out: 'Hello, Dave! You wanter go to a Halloween entertainment?' 'Don't I?' he says. And then I wouldn't speak another word but just to come along; and I don't think I'd have married him on earth if I hadn't come here and knocked over the March candle."

And so, though the whole of Suffolk street has not yet been tamed, two loving and divided hearts are made one, and Halloween and Theosophy are without doubt good things.

Tom, Dick and Harry.

This is the expression by which we commonly designate people in general of no very elevated description. In one well-known illustrated book, Brown, Jones and Robinson is more or less thus used. Similar expressions in other languages may, perhaps, be interesting.

In French I seem to have seen Jean, Pierre et Paul, but a French lady tells me she has never seen or heard it, though Pierre, Paul et Jacques is not uncommon, and Pierre et Paul alone is still more frequently heard.

In German, I have commonly met with Hitz und (or oder) Kunz, but Heinz and Kunz, Hans und Kunz, Hans oder Kunz (which Flugel translates Smith or Jones), Hans oder Benz, Heinz oder Benz (and perhaps und may be substituted for oder in these last two), and Kunz und Peter are also used. Butz und Benz is also met with, especially in Switzerland.

The German also use Hack and Mack and Hack and Pack of "a motley crowd, tag, rag and bobtail," (Flugel), but these do not seem to be Christian names. And, curiously enough, they use two Biblical Hebrew words, "Kred(h)i und Plethi" also written "Kredi und Pledi."

In Italian, I find in "Mariette" (by I. L, Vigo, S. Pier d'Arena, 1884, p. 275), a religious novel, valuable as explaining all the important doctrines of the Roman Catholic Church in a readable form "Vi sono tanti Antonii e Franceschi e Bartomei," but a Tuscan lady tells me that this is not known in her part of the country though they do use there Cecco, Baco ed Antonio.—Notes and Queries.

After a Bird in the Hand.

"Timmins' father says he is going to cut him off with a shilling."

"What did Timmins say?"

"He asked if he couldn't arrange to leave him out of the will entirely and give him the shilling now."—Washington Star.

A Prominent Lawyer Says:

"I have eight children, every one in good health, not one of whom but has taken Scott's Emulsion, in which my wife has boundless confidence."

A Terrible Experience:

Mr. Geo. Tribe, of Straffordville, Ont., a pretty village near the shores of Lake Erie, went through an experience lately that he will never forget. He tells it in his own words:

"For three years I suffered from skin disease in its worst form. I tried Kennedy's Medical Discovery and the Cuticura remedies, and doctored one year with the best physicians in the land, but got no benefit; they pronounced my disease a Scaly Eruption, but failed to remove it. It came on in red blotches and spread over my body; the skin became dry and formed hard, white scales; the itching was intolerable, but I am now completely cured by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. I can truly say I owe my good health to B. B. B., and I advise all sufferers to use this splendid medicine.

SCRATCHED 28 YEARS

A Scaly, Itching, Skin Disease with Endless Suffering Cured by Cuticura Remedies.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty-eight years ago, it would have saved me $200 00 and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (psoriasis) commenced on my head in a spot not larger than a cent. It spread rapidly all over my body, and got under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless, and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease over again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring-worm, psoriasis, etc. I cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much. They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them was $5 worth. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200.00, you would have had the money. I looked like the picture (No. 2, page 47) in your book, "How to Cure Skin Diseases," but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and limbs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a kind of second nature to me.

A HUNT IN THE JUNGLES OF OTONABEE.

Some American Gentlemen and Townsmen Have Rare Sport.

Captain M. A. Jamison and his band of dead game sports were out on the warpath again yesterday with blood in their eyes after Mrs. Bruin and her two remaining cubs which they did not manage to shoot last time they were out. They carried Smith & Wesson and Winchester repeating rifles. The party was composed of the following notable shots—Lieut.-Col. Chris. Skinner, of Montreal; Colour-Serg't. Billy Gear, of Troy, N.Y.; Mr. Ab. Manning, of the 57th ambulance corps, and a pack of several hounds. After a drive of some miles in Otonabee township their destination was reached, when the skirmish was commenced, the party laying low any and everything they laid their eyes on.

Capt. Jamison was the first to draw a bead, spilling the blood of a skunk. Proceeding a little further and coming in contact with the dead skunk's mate he laid him low also. During this time Col. Chris. Skinner and Billy Gear wear practicing on what they thought to be a huge wild cat up a tree. After several shots were fired, the monster was brought to the ground, to their astonishment it turned out to be a a bronze turkey belonging to the owner of the swamp. It weighed, undressed, thirty-eight pounds.

They captured three prairie chickens, which are considered a rarity in this section of the country, eleven black squirrels and seven spruce patridge also. The largest of the black squirrels weighed no less than 5 lbs. 7 oz. It was shot by the colonel.

Mr. Ab. Manning who had charge of the ambulance, deemed it necessary to leave the skunks behind on account of the prevailing odor. As it was, it kept him busy engaged in picking up the dead, dying and wounded.

The party arrived home at dusk, highly delighted with their day's outing.

To-day there is a Skinner and Ricketts shooting match on. Col. Skinner is a crack shot, while Mr. Ricketts, of the lock works is considered "no slouch." No doubt they will give a good account of themselves on their return.

THE COUNTY AND TOWN CONFER.

Many Recommendations and Suggestions Made—The County Convention Goes to Havelock.

The town and county Sunday School Association conferred this morning in the Y.M.C.A. rooms. There was a large attendance. Rev. A. MacWilliams took the chair, while Dr. Harrison, of Keene, acted as secretary.

A recommendation was passed that the county convention meet in March.

Mr. J. W. Garvin and Dr. Harrison were appointed to draft a programme of work for the township associations to follow.

It was also recommended that the townships adopt the Normal Institute work wherever practicable, and that a Normal Superintendent and a Superintendent of Primary Classes be appointed for the county.

Home class work was recommended for all the schools of the county.

The secretary of the Executive Committee was recommended to accept the invitation of Havelock to hold the next county convention in that place.

A long discussion followed on the finances and the advisability of the establishment of a paper by the Provincial Association as an official organ.

At the close of the conference the Executive Committee held a session, and acting on the suggestion of the conference appointed Dr. Harrison, of Keene, superintendent for the county, and Miss Kennedy, of Otonabee, superintendent of the primary work.

DOCTORS INTERESTED.

They Cannot but Accept the Testimony of Two of Their Professional Brethren.

Montreal, Nov. 17.—The letters of Dr. McCormack of Richmond, and of Dr. E. A Rose of Portland, recently published over their own signatures and testifying to their complete cure from Bright's disease and diabetes, respectively, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, have established to the satisfaction of medical men generally, that the pills do all that is claimed for them by their manufacturers. Both physicians are known as men well up in their professions, whose word can be absolutely relied upon, and who rarely make mistakes. The result of these letters will be an enormous sale of Dodd's Kidney Pills in Montreal.

Y. M. C. A NOTES.

A MISSISSIPPI MURDER.

The Mayor of the Town and a Prominent Citizen Assassinated.

LULA, Miss., Nov. 17.—Jacob W. Harman, mayor of this town, and Henry Lawrence, a leading jeweller, were assassinated on the street yesterday by John W. Boyd, overseer of the Van Eaton plantation and his younger brother Bob.

A year ago Mayor Harman and the elder Boyd had a dispute and several shots were fired, since which time bad blood had existed between them. On Thursday Mayor Harman met John W. Boyd on the street, drew his pistol and beat him over the head with it. Yesterday the Boyd brothers came into town, armed with rifles. As Harman and Lawrence walked up the street to dinner, the Boyds confronted them and opened fire. Harman drew his revolver and fired a couple of shots without effect. Both he and Lawrence were killed on the spot. The elder Boyd escaped on horseback and the younger on foot. They sent word they would surrender to the sheriff, but to no one else. The two men killed were 35 years old. The elder Boyd is 25 and the younger 18.

Honour Bright!

Honour bright, don't you think it would be better and wiser to take advantage of the Drop In Prices at Brady's Corner Grocery and Provision Store, when you go to buy your Fresh Fruits, Fresh Baking Powder, Fresh Extracts, Fresh Lard, Fresh Butter, Fresh Eggs, &c., than to keep on buying and paying the same old price all the time?

Honest Injun, we do. Especially when we tell you you can, at the same time, buy the most Sugar for a Dollar and the Best Family Flour in the market at the same Corner Store.

Our new Automatic Fruit Cleaner removes all stems and sand from your fruit, gives you ful weight in sound, new fruit, and saves a lot of trouble in cleaning.

We had a little row the other day with a Soap man for sending us double what we ordered. The price was so low it wouldn't pay to freight it back. He asked us to keep it at half price, and we kept it. Our customers can have it at the same. We don't want it. Honour bright Yours to please—

THOS. BRADY,

MANTLES.

Our Mantle trade this season has so far exceeded our expectations that it has cleared out several lines and left room for new ones, which we have secured at from $3.00 to $3.50, less than original prices on the better lines. Our customers will reap the benefit of this reduction in the wholesale cost. A full range of all styles and prices now in stock at prices that are never undersold.

BLANKETS.

We have run across a line of All Wool Blankets, in large sizes, woven similar to a Sheeting but combed; they are very desirable and are selling at $3.00 a pair. We have also a splendid assortment of Light and Dark Gray Blankets in all sizes.

UNDERWEAR.

As the season advances we sometimes run across what dry goods men call snaps. We have secured one of these now in Men's All Wool Underclothing, in both natural and flesh colours, at $1.00 a suit. The best line ever offered for the money. Plenty of lower qualities always in stock.

SKIRTINGS.

We are introducing a line of heavy Blanket Skirtings, one of the most desirable materials we have found yet in Ladies' wear. They are 40 inches wide and only 35c a yard.

CAPS AND MUFFS.

Just received a splendid assortment of Astrachan and Gray Lamb Caps, in both edge and band shapes. Also Sealette Caps and Muffs.

Our prices for Scotch Tweed Suits made to order are a surprise to everybody. We have just passed into stock several nobby lines in Serges and Suitings. A perfect fit guaranteed every time.

TIME TO TAKE ACTION

The Wrongs of the Armenians Call for Interference of the Powers.

THEY LOOK TO GREAT BRITAIN

If She Will Not Help Them They Prefer Russian to Turkish Rule—The Charges Against Mr. Hallward Withdrawn—Sultan to Investigate.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—A despatch to the Times from Vienna says that a letter has been received there from Smyrna, reporting that Zeki Pasha, a Turkish marshal, with a detachment of Mizams and a field battery, massacred 2,000 Armenians at Sassoun. The bodies of the dead were left unburied and their presence has caused an outbreak of cholera. Many Christians are reported to have fled by secret paths across the Russian frontier.

"So far," adds the Times, "there has been no official confirmation of this news, but if it is true it is time the powers share the responsibility of their failure to enforce Article 61 of the Berlin Treaty, which imposes on them the duty of seeing that the Porte takes measures to protect the Armenians. The latter declare that they hope for nothing from Europe, but that they still have confidence in Great Britain. Numerous appeals have been made by the Armenians to the British Foreign Office. The last appeal received says the Armenians do not wish to see more of their territory annexed by Russia, but if Great Britain is unable to help them they will be compelled to look to Russia, under whose yoke they would be better off than under the yoke of Turkey."

A despatch from Constantinople to the Standard says that in response to the protest made by Sir Philip Currie, British ambassador to Turkey, the Porte has unreservedly withdrawn the charge against Mr. Hallward, British consul at Varna, of inciting the Armenians at Sassoun and elsewhere to revolt. The charge grew out of the investigation by Mr. Hallward into the Armenian massacres and his report to the British ambassador. The governor of Bitlis, who is seriously involved in the outrage, made the charge, it is said, for the purpose of revenge. The Sultan has decided to send a commission composed of three members of his military household and one civilian to Sassoun for the purpose of making an impartial inquiry into the outrages on Armenians. The latest news is to the effect that many of the Armenians who were supposed to have been killed fled from the soldiery and are now returning.

New York Armenians Indignant.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The Armenians of this city and vicinity held an indignation meeting on Sunday night. The meeting was addressed by speakers who laid the responsibility for the recent butchery of Armenians in Kurdistan at the door of England. They also declared the eastern question could no longer remain unsettled and that war was inevitable unless further carnage was prevented.

TAMMANY APPEARS AT HULL.

Writs Issued for the Mayor and an Alderman—Ottawa Notes.

OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—Writs have been issued against Mayor Aubrey, of Hull, and Alderman Boult for having obtained certain sums of money corruptly for their influence in connection with city works. The Mayor is charged with having received $4,500 and Ald. Boult $600.

The Railway Committee of the Privy Council has decided not to refer a case to the Supreme Court to define whether they possess power to adjudicate on claims. The committee holds that it has full power in that respect.

Parliament has been further prorogued pro forma until 31st of December. Next time the proclamation will appear it will be for the despatch of business, that is if a session is to be held before a general election.

Rev. Dr. Armstrong made another allusion to the winter carnival at the revival services in the first Baptist church during his evangelical address. He was speaking on Christians being true to their profession when he said: "I heard that a certain gentleman in this city had stated that he will increase his subscription to the winter carnival fifty dollars, just because I denounced the carnival. Now, I think a great deal of that man. I wish he is a sincere man, one that is true to his colors." Continuing, the preacher said he doubted if a movement was made to bring Evangelist Moody to Ottawa that any Christian man in this city would double his subscription towards the expenses of these meetings.

Missouri Flouring Mills Close Down.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 19.—Five of the largest flouring mills in this vicinity closed down indefinitely last night and another will close to-day. This action of the St. Louis millers is entirely independent of the action of the Northwest millers held at Chicago Saturday whereby a shut down of six weeks during the three months, beginning December 10th, was decided upon. The action of the St Louis millers is said to be purely individual and is taken because their orders are practically filled and there is no chance of further sale.

BURIED BY THE QUAKE

Terrible Destruction Wrought by the Earthquake in Italy.

A WHOLE VILLAGE WIPED OUT

Procopio, With 1,200 Inhabitants, Has Disappeared—Reports of Loss of Life in the Southern Provinces—Relief for the Suffering.

ROME, Nov. 19.—Reggio and the whole Province of Calabria were shaken violently by an earthquake on Friday. Much damage was done and many persons were killed, although nothing definite is yet known as to the amount or number. The troops have been called out to help the families driven from their homes. In San Procopio several houses fell, burying their occupants. In Messina, where the shocks were almost as violent as across the strait, the convicts in the penitentiary were panic-stricken. Two hundred mutinied and tried to escape by overpowering the guards, but they were overpowered. In Calabria the train service ceased running on account of the landslides. Slight shocks were felt in Rome.

The earthquakes were felt in Southern Italy and Sicily throughout Friday night. The first shock in Messina was the most violent. It lasted twelve seconds and was accompanied with rumblings. The inhabitants fled shrieking with from their houses and filled the streets with their clamor. The hospital, although but slightly damaged, was shaken so violently that many patients became hysterical and had to be removed. The panic abated somewhat about midnight and a few persons returned to their homes. Most of the inhabitants, however, decided to pass the night in the streets and open squares. After two hours the rumblings began and the former scenes of panic were redacted. Men and women ran aimlessly all directions. Hundreds dropped to their knees and prayed aloud for deliverance.

On Saturday morning another shock came. Many streets are entirely deserted. Dozens of persons have taken refuge on ships in the harbor. There have been six shocks in all.

In Reggio many houses are cracked and threaten to fall at any moment. The panic-stricken inhabitants are camping in shelters erected by soldiers. Patrols distributed food and other necessaries. It is known that six persons were killed and several injured in Bagnara, but details are wanting owing to the demoralization of railway and telegraph services.

Signor Tachni, chief of the Rome observatory, believes that the shocks were confined to the Lipari Islands and the provinces of Messina and Reggio and were connected with volcanic activity in Mount Etna. Director Rico, of the observatory of Catania, thinks that the disturbance has ceased for the present.

Premier Crispi has sent funds to the prefects of the provinces to supply the most urgent needs of the distressed inhabitants.

Reports of disasters caused by the earthquakes are still meagre but they suffice to show that there has been great loss of life. Procopio, a village of 1,200 inhabitants in Reggio di Calabria, has been obliterated. Virtually all the buildings were thrown into ruins. The number of deaths is not known but in one church 47 persons were buried alive under fallen walls. The last authoritive report was that the list of dead was above 90. In another village of the same province eight persons were killed by falling buildings. The damage to property has been enormous. Troops and officials are going to the help of the suffering districts. King Humbert has sent several donations from his private purse.

The province of Reggio di Calabria has suffered most from the earthquakes, although several towns in the adjacent province of Catanizaro di Calabria were shaken severely. In Triparni twenty buildings were laid in ruins and several persons were killed. In Mileto, also in Catanzaro many were injured. A school house was shaken to the ground, but the teachers and pupils had escaped a few minutes before it fell.

Reports of deaths, injuries and the demolition of buildings had been received from seventeen communes. In Bagnara seven persons were killed outright, in Oppido Mamartina four, in Sana Euphemia eight. Scores of others were injured in these towns. Many provisions have been sent to the south of Italy to-day and the relief work is organizing rapidly. Premier Crispi has sent the prefect of Bagnara and the head men of several smaller towns large gifts of money.

In Sicily telegraphic communication has been restored. The people of Messina still fear to return to their houses, and the majority of them are encamped in open spaces, railway carriages and vessels in the harbor. Electric lights have been set to replace the lighthouse which was destroyed and a torpedo boat patrols the channel. In Milazzo near Messina a sharp shock was felt yesterday. Many walls were cracked but nobody was killed.

A Toronto Burglar in the Toils.

TORONTO, Nov. 19.—A man named Henry Harvey is in the cells here with a charge of burglary registered against him. Harvey is the man who was arrested six months ago for highway robbery on Richmond street but let off with a lenient sentence. He may not be so fortunate this time. Detective Duncan has "wanted" this man for some time and found him masquerading as a plumber in a house on Sherbourne street. When searched scraps of a receipt for goods stored at 360 Spadina avenue was found on him and on a visit to this house the detectives found a large quantity of stolen goods, valued at between $800 and $1,000. Harvey will appear before the magistrate to-day.

Stole Cattle from a Pound.

LONDON, Nov. 19. — Henry Early, a young man, was brought before Judge Elliott on Saturday on a charge of breaking into the Oneida pound near Melbourne and stealing therefrom eight head of cattle. It is alleged that the prisoner who is claimed to be a tramp was offered $4 if he would rescue the cattle for their owner, Alex. Irwin, a farmer residing near Middlemiss. One dollar was paid and the other three dollars were to be paid when he brought the cattle back.

LONDON CABLE LETTER

The Veteran Statesman's Hand Still Guides Public Affairs.

SALISBURY'S PLAN OF ACTION

An Attempt to be Made to Force Dissolution Early in the Session—Baron Tweedmouth's Offer—London School Board Election—The Queen's Health.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—That the influence of Mr. Gladstone, despite his retirement from the Liberal leadership is still paramount in the guidance of the affairs of that party is plainly visible in Lord Rosebery's latest proposal touching the House of Lords. A division of opinion among the members of the Cabinet as to what form the resolution for the abolition of the veto power of the House of Lords should take and regarding the most suitable time for the introduction of the question in the House of Commons led Lord Rosebery's visit to Hawarden. Acting under the inspiration there obtained the Premier foreshadowed in his speech at Glasgow the scheme for a second chamber with a system of conference in disputed matters between delegates from the two houses, in which the delegates from the lower house would largely overbalance those from the Lords. Obviously the ministers have under consideration some plan which is still too shadowy to permit of its being disclosed. Sir William Harcourt, Chancellor of the Exchequer, and Mr. Henry Campbell-Bannerman, Secretary of State for War, opposed Lord Rosebery's desire to introduce the question of reform of the House of Lords early in the coming session of Parliament. They urge that the best course to adopt will be to hold the resolution in reserve until the ministry shall be ready for a dissolution.

It is improbable that the Conservative leaders will be willing to wait the convenience of the Government. Lord Salisbury, it is known, is determined to force their hand by passing in the House of Lords immediately the session shall be open a motion affirming the possession by that body of executive privileges. This will necessitate the introduction in the House of Commons early in the session of a counter resolution and will cause a crisis which will make a dissolution imperative.

Mr. Henry Labouchere voiced the unanimous conviction of the Radicals and an important section of the Liberal party when he declared that the coming elections would be lost unless the resolution on the House of Lords question should be a stalwart one and distinct from the hotch-potch scheme of mixing hereditary and elected peers like a rotten omelette. The second chamber, Mr. Labouchere declared, must be entirely chosen by a free and unrestricted vote of the electorate.

The statement made by Hon. Edward Blake, M.P. for the South Division of Longford, during his recent visit to America that Baron Tweedmouth has offered the McCarthyite section of the Irish parliamentary party £8,000 will be taken notice of by Parliament as an attempt at corruption in the purchase of votes. The members of the Liberal party hold that the sum was offered as a legitimate contribution to the parliamentary fund. The McCarthyites, however, are able to show clean hands, having rejected the offer, and will not afford their enemies any ground for scandal, but Mr. Blake's reputation for prudence and reticence has suffered severely.

A fierce campaign is going on in the London school board elections, which involves issues which the religious press speaks of as among the greatest in the history of the metropolis and the country. The vote which will be taken on Thursday will decide whether education shall be controlled by non-sectarians or by clericals. Since 1871, under a compromise between the parties, non-dogmatic Bible teachings has prevailed, but gradually through the laxity of the non-sectarians the clerical element on the boards have acquired increased influence until now they feel strong enough to strike for supremacy. The English high church and the Catholic clergy are united in their work among the electorate and denounce their progressive opponents though the latter are led by Nonconformist ministers and a section of the English church clergy as enemies of religion in their intent to secularize the schools. As the result will have a very great effect upon the whole national system public interest in the matter is keen.

T. P. O'Connor's advocacy of the cause of the progressives is based upon the fact that all the Liberals had been led by the underhand efforts of the Liverpool priests to oust him from his seat in the House of Commons. If the Liverpool Irish suffer themselves to be made the catspaw of the Catholic Tories the rejection of Mr. O'Connor at the next election is certain. The coalition of the English and Roman clergy in the struggle over the educational question has disclosed such a close general rapprochement, and so much sympathy as to justify the expectation that the attempts to unite a section of the Anglican Church and the Church of Rome will soon be renewed. The Tablet says the religious condition of England is receiving at present the special attention of the Curia Romono. It is reported that the Pope is preparing an appeal to the people of England inviting the Anglican Church to assist in the establishment of an entente with the mother church.

Queen Victoria is said to be getting increasingly feeble in her powers of locomotion and has to be carried up steps or the smallest rise of ground. But whatever may be her physical condition her mental powers are absolutely unimpaired and her capacity for work is undiminished.

French Attacked by African Natives.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—A despatch from Grand Bassam, Western Africa, dated November 12, says that a French force under Commander Pineau recently had a six hours' fight with the natives at Akaplem. On the French side a sergeant was killed and two officers and several riflemen were wounded. The natives lost heavily.

Paid to Poison King Alexander.

VIENNA, Nov. 19.—The Tagebiatt's Belgrade correspondent says that a brigand now in prison there has confessed that he was paid by the Radical agitator Dragovic to poison young King Alexander of Servia with drugged wine. Dragovic was implicated some time ago in a trial for treason.

PROTECTION.

France's protectionist policy, after a trial of two years, has resulted in reducing her exports between forty and fifty millions of dollars. She made the mistake of supposing that she could curtail her imports without producing reflex action on her exports. She failed to see that while the imports employed directly in their production foreign labour, they indirectly employed home labour to produce for the purpose of exchange what the foreign labour required to supply their wants; she failed to recognize that in order to stimulate exports she must herself import liberally. She now finds by experience that when she puts obstacles, in the form of excessive duties, in the way of imports, she not the less diminishes her own exports, which was her object to increase. But that she will profit by the lesson does not at all follow. She may attribute the decline in her exports to anything rather than the true cause; be convinced against her will, she is not unlikey to remain of the same opinion still. The result is, however, not one of chance; it was forseen by keen-sighted economists and predicted just as it happened. The pervision gives certitude to the correctness of the laws and the method by which it was attained.—Exchange.

THE STATE OF TRADE.

The most satisfactory circumstances in connection with trade this week is the sharp advance in the price of Ontario and Manitoba wheat. The continued advance of wheat in the British and foreign markets has advanced prices in Ontario from two to three cents a bushel, and in the opinion of many the long delayed turning point in the market has come at last. The Cincinnati Price Current estimated the amount of wheat used as animal food in the United States so far this season at 75,000,000 bushels. If this is a correct approximate, then the effect must soon be felt in the receipts, for it follows that if the farmers have fed such a large percentage of the crop to animals as these figures indicate they will have less to market, and if the receipts in the Northwest should soon begin to show a serious falling off, then another factor of strength will be developed, and must add further strength to the situation. Grain men, however, are not at all unanimous as to the future of the market. Some believe that the present spurt in prices will be only temporary and that the markets will sag back again under the weight of the large surpluses that wheat-producing countries will have for export this year. If the advance is maintained for any length of time the demand will improve, buyers who are now holding off will come in, and general business will soon feel the good effects of the advance.

ADVANCE IN FLOUR.

There has been an avance in the price of Ontario and Manitoba flour in Toronto of 25 cents, and Ontario millers are now asking $2.75 for straight roller. The demand, however, is slow at the advance, and buyers are holding off to see if the higher prices for wheat will hold. In Montreal the advance in the price of flour has brought in a large number of orders. A Montreal exchange says: Heavy orders were received from England on Friday at an advance of 6d to 1s, not one half of which could be executed. One miller here has placed within the past three or four days no less than 20,000 sacks for English account at a good advance, and could have placed double that quantity. Another has sold so largely ahead for export that he has none to offer, so that between the export and the home trade buyers are all crying and gaping for stuff like a lot of unfledged birds that cannot be satisfied. At first the local men wanted the flour at old prices; but when the found the sellers obdurate they had to pay the price as they had been sailing so close to the wind that they had no reserves. A sale of ten cars of strong bakers was reported for Quebec at $3.50, the full advance.

CANADIAN ENTERPRISE.

Canadian enterprise is referred to in the following terms by the New York Tribune: "North-West Canada is developing a system of irrigation, and has already thirty ditches fertilizing over 25,000 acres of land, with more in progress, and any amount of water and territory only waiting to be brought together to make the desert blossom as the rose. All this is the work of three years, indicating a spirit of enterprise not generally looked for in Canada, except, perhaps, in its colony of exiled convicts, where considerable energy is displayed from time to time, more, however, in the direction of personal than of territorial irrigation. Canada is really entitled to great credit for her enterprise, and when she appears in moccasins and snow-shoes at Uncle Sam's front door, knocking for admittance, she will be entitled to be let in at once, with a holiday welcome, and made free of the entire establishment." By our "colony of exiled convicts" the Tribune doubtless means the sinners who found things too warm for comfort in the great Republic, but the extradition treaty now compels them to find an asylum elsewhere. Canada is, however, not ready to take advantage of the offer of a holiday welcome.

Woman-hood

has its own special medicine in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. And every woman who is "run-down" or over-worked, every woman who suffers from any "female complaint" or weakness, needs just that remedy. With it, every disturbance, irregularity and derangement can be permanently cured.

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nervine, and the only medicine for women so safe and sure that it can be guaranteed. In periodical pains, displacements, weak back, bearing-down sensations, and every kindred ailment, if it fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. Is anything that isn't sold in this way likely to be "just as good?"

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation, liver-ills, indigestion, dyspepsia, piles and headaches.

A Terrible Experience:

Mr. Geo. Tribe, of Straffordville, Ont. a pretty village near the shores of Lake Erie, went through an experience lately that he will never forget. He tells it in his own words:

"For three years I suffered from skin disease in its worst form. I tried Kennedy's Medical Discovery and the Cuticura remedies, and doctored one year with the best physicians in the land, but got no benefit; they pronounced my disease a Scaly Eruption, but failed to remove it. It came on in red blotches and spread over my body; the skin became dry and formed hard, white scales; the itching was intolerable, but I am now completely cured by the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. I can truly say I owe my good health to B. B. B., and I advise all sufferers to use this splendid medicine.

HORRIBLY CRUSHED BY A FALLING TREE.

William Coulter of Galway meets an Instant and Terrible Death—Literally Crushed.

The Bobcaygeon Independent contains the following particulars of an accident which was chronicled in the EXAMINER a few days ago. The family have the sympathy of the community in their sad bereavement:—

The sudden and horrible death of Wm. Coulter, of Galway, son of Andrew Coulter, on Monday afternoon, was one of the worst accidents for a considerable period. The young fellow was 18 years of age and well known to the neighbourhood, having carried the Silver Lake mail for some time. On Monday afternoon he and John Lambert, son of Thos. Lambert, went out to the bush to cut fire wood. They were falling a large maple that was partly dead at the butt. The tree was near upon falling, and Lambert told Coulter to take the saw and get out of the way. Coulter walked off as is customary at right angles with the cut, but on the lower side, that is, under the lean of the tree instead of the upper side. Lambert was giving the finishing stroke with the axe, and the tree began to crack and stagger. He shouted to Coulter to look out, and he turning around answered back, "You had better look out for yourself," for it was a difficult tree to judge. Just then the tree cracked like the report of a gun, and broke off straight across the cut. There was no time to shout, the tree made a sudden lurch and swept through the air with terrific force, falling straight on to Coulter. Lambert was horror stricken, and on going to his companion was appalled at the terrible sight. The poor boy was literally smashed to pieces. His skull was broken, a piece of it cut away; the neck dislocated; arms and legs broken in several places; ribs broken and one hip protruded through the flesh. Help was quickly obtained, and the remains were carried to the house. The funeral took place on Thursday and was largely attended.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Now Asked For by Every Sufferer From Bright's Disease

QUEBEC, Nov. 19.—Contemporaneous with the publication of the letter of Dr. A. G. McCormack, of Richmond, with respect to his permanent cure from Bright's disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills, every druggist in this city ordered a generous supply of the pills, but so great has been the demand as the result of this testimonial from so eminent an authority, that the run has been in excess of the supply. All other proprietary medicines have been relegated to the shelves and it would appear from the demands made upon the druggists as if every sufferer from kidney disease in the city was bound to try the remedy recommended by Dr. McCormick.

As Well as Ever

After Taking Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cured of a Serious Disease.

"I was suffering from what is known as Bright's disease for five years, and for days at a time I have been unable to straighten myself up. I was in bed for three weeks; during that time I had leeches applied and derived no benefit. Seeing Hood's Sarsaparilla advertised in the papers I decided to try a bottle. I found relief before I had finished taking half of a bottle. I got so much help from taking the first bottle that I decided to try another, and since taking the second bottle I feel as well as ever I did in my life." GEO. MERRETT, Toronto, Ont.

BIG ROBBERY IN MONTREAL.

Thieves Make a Big Haul From the Theatre Royal.

MONTREAL, Nov. 19.—When the employes of the Theatre Royal went to work on Saturday morning they were surprised to find that one of the windows on the south side of the building was opened. Upon examination it was ascertained that both the outside and inside screen windows had been forcibly removed. They at once proceeded to examination and found the door of the safe in the office open, the desk of the manager tampered with and the rear door of the stage opening into the lane also open. Mr. Lew Rhodt, the treasurer, was soon on the spot and a thorough investigation was made.

The safe had been drilled in two places, on top and underneath the combination handle in the front. There were no traces of dynamite, but there was some plaster of paris on the safe. The bit had been broken on the top and the remaining portion of it was found on the floor. It is yet unknown how the safe was opened.

"The combination works well," said Mr. Rhodt, "and I am unable to explain how they managed The burglars were evidently experts. There was some railway stock in the safe, but as Mr. Sparrow is absent I cannot say how much of it there was or what companies it was. Both bonds and stocks have been taken together with some hundreds of dollars made up of yesterday's receipts. A lot of other papers were not touched nor were a number of opera glasses in the drawers in the safe which were found open."

The burglars, as soon as they had entered the theatre proper, went to the office adjoining where they did their work undisturbed. After their operations they left by the door of the stage which they forced open. It is thought the amount of the bonds will reach $30,000.

No clue has yet been obtained as to the identity of the burglars. The work is believed to be the work of experienced American sharpers. A gang of American burglars and pickpockets are known to be conducting operations in the city at present and a number of recent burglaries are believed to have been their work. The detectives are working on the case.

A Murderous Burglar Near Belleville

BELLEVILLE, Nov. 19.—On Saturday Mrs. Adam Saunders, a widow, who lives on the front of Sydney, about three miles from the city, was awakened by a noise in her bedroom. Sitting up in bed she saw a masked man who carried a lantern. He at once drew a small revolver and fired at her. The bullet struck her in the left nostril, taking an upward direction. The burglar then demanded money, when she replied that he had got all she had, namely $15 in a purse. The ruffian fired again, the bullet penetrating her left ear. He then left the house after making threats of further violence. The wounded woman then escaped to a neighbor's across the road and had her injuries attended to. The wounds are not likely to prove dangerous, as the pistol was of 22-calibre and used only the short cartridges. No clue has been found as to the identity of the burglar.

Three Fishermen Lost.

CANSO, N. S., Nov. 19.—On Friday afternoon, while a strong breeze was blowing, John Hughes, Walter Hadley and Charles Spanks went out in a small boat to haul up their net mooring off Fox Island. They were observed from the shore at work on one mooring, but their boat disappeared before reaching the next. Search parties were out all Friday night, and it was not until some buoys which had been in the boats were picked up late yesterday that hope was finally abandoned. It is supposed that the boat must have filled and gone down with its occupants between the first and second moorings. Hughes leaves a widow and three children. The others were unmarried.

Escaped From Penetanguishene.

HAMILTON, Nov. 19.—Albert Rabitoy, a colored boy with a bad record, who was sentenced from Hamilton to the Penetanguishene reformatory, escaped from that institution the other day and made his way to Hamilton on foot. He arrived in Hamilton at daybreak on Saturday with nothing on him but a shirt and pair of drawers, having discarded the striped clothing for fear of detection. He got some clothing from friends here and left the city again before the authorities could find him.

A Dorchester Convict Captured.

DORCHESTER, N. B., Nov. 19.—One of three convicts that escaped Friday was captured at Beech Hill, 20 miles from here. Horne, the one captured, had left his two companions hiding in the woods while he went to a house to procure food. While Horne was in the house the men on hunt happened along; and after a hard tussle overpowered the man and brought him back to penitentiary. The others have been located, and guards were sent to the place. Their capture is only a question of a few hours.

The Contest in London.

LONDON, Ont., Nov. 19.—The contending political parties held their final mass meeting on Saturday night. Municipal interests are playing a considerable part in the campaign, and feeling generally runs high. While Mr. Meredith held the seat the Liberals were a little indifferent in regard to legislature questions, but now everything has changed and a bitter fight is in progress in which both parties are doing their very utmost to win, believing that it will influence the Dominion election in this city.

The Cattle Embargo Question.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Sir Charles Tupper received several deputations from Scotland in reference to the schedule of Canadian cattle. The deputations consulted with the Canadian High Commissioner as to further steps to be taken for the embargo. The conclusion of the meetings will doubtless be laid before the British Board of Agriculture.

China Purchases a C. P. R. Boat.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Nov. 19.—The last issue of Fair Play, the noted English shipping authority, states that the steamer Prince Rupert recently built at Dumbartons, by Denny & Company for the Canadian Pacific Railway to ply between this port and Victoria, has been sold to the Chinese government to act as a transport ship.

NO HOPE OF MEDIATION.

Japan Asks for Too Much—The Chinese Fleet at Wei-Hai-Wei.

LONDON, Nov. 19—The Central News correspondent in Tien-Tsin says: "The Chinese fleet is at Wei-Hai-Wei. It includes five ironclads which are preparing for battle.

"Col von Henneken, the commander-in-chief of the Chinese army, is organizing Manchuria. Several forces of Chinese guerillas have already begun to harass the Japanese and to threaten their line of communication. If the Chinese defence of Port Arthur is successful the entire Japanese army may winter on the Yalu."

SHANGHAI, Nov. 19. — In diplomatic circles here the success of mediation between China and Japan is regarded as hopeless. It is rumored that Japan's minimum demands are the surrendering of the Chinese fleet and the payment of an indemnity of $125,000,000, Japan to occupy Port Arthur, Wei-Hai-Wei and the Formosan ports until the indemnity has been paid. There is no prospect of China's assenting to such terms.

Should the Japanese succeed in taking Port Arthur, there can be no doubt that Li Hung Chang will answer for it with his life.

The Viceroy's forces at Tien Tsin are being overawed by an army of Hunan Tartars and Kiangnan troops. The general commanding these soldiers has denounced the Viceroy for defalcations which he is alleged to have committed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 19.—The Novosti approves Great Britain's endeavor to restore peace in the East and blames Germany for placing obstacles in the way.

Fitzsimmons Out on Bail.

SYRACUSE, Nov. 19.—Con Riordan, whom Bob Fitzsimmons knocked out in this city and who died four hours after the blow was given, was buried in this city today. Fitzsimmons, who was placed under arrest as soon as the seriousness of Riordan's injuries were made known, was released on $10,000 bail to await the next action of the grand jury, which will convene in January. The autopsy developed the fact that while Riordan was under the effect of alcoholic stimulants during the progress of the bout, death resulted from the blow delivered by Fitzsimmons. Fitzsimmons left Syracuse for Boston to-day. He did not spar at either performance at the Grand opera house on Saturday. He announced from the stage that out of respect to the memory of his dead friend he would give no exhibition.

Poisoned by Gas at Church.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Nov. 19.—Half a dozen members of the congregation of the Second Methodist Episcopal Church are in a serious condition as the result of the partial asphyxiation from escaping gas inhaled during the morning services yesterday. Last week plumbers were at work in the church and left a defective fitting in the natural gas pipes. Toward the close of the service several persons became sick and left the church. No one knew the cause, as the gas is odorless. The pastor, Rev. R. F. Sears, fell in attempting to step from the pulpit. Mrs. Randall and two daughters fell in the aisle and several others were prostrated and fell at the church door. Rev. Mr. Sears, Mrs. Randall and her daughters are not yet out of danger.

Two Boys Shot by Duck Hunters.

BUFFALO, Nov. 19.—On Saturday on the upper Suspension bridge at Niagara Falls two lads crossing into Canada were shot at and painfully wounded by two duck hunters in the river underneath. The "sportsmen" claimed that the boys had thrown a stick at them. Thos. McDonald, 23 years old, a Michigan Central brakesman, wanted for rape at Niagara Falls, Ont., escaped from the officers and ran across the Cantilever bridge only to fall into the hands of the American officers who were chasing the duck hunters. Chief of Police Young, of the Ontario police, later secured McDonald and returned him to Niagara Falls, Ont.

ITCHING AND PIN WORMS. PILES

No More Misery.

ITCHING PILES is an exceedingly painful and annoying affliction, found alike in the rich and poor, male and female. The principal symptoms are a severe itching, which is worst at night when the sufferer becomes warm in bed. So terrible is the itching that frequently it is impossible to procure sleep. Often the sufferer unconsciously during sleep scratches the parts until they are sore—ulcers and tumors form, excessive moisture is exuded. Females are peculiarly affected from this disease, causing unbearable irritation and torture. Chase and every other symptom of Itching Piles or irritation in any part of the body are immediately allayed and quickly cured by Chase's Ointment. It will instantly stop itching, heal the sores and ulcers, dry up the moisture.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

Gives Instant Relief.

PIN WORMS is an ailment entirely different as to cause from Itching Piles, yet its effects and symptoms are exactly the same. The same intolerable itching; the same creeping, crawling, stinging sensation characterizes both diseases. Chase's Ointment acts like magic. It will at once afford relief from this torment.

FRATERNAL ASSESSMENT LIABILITY.

"Can't I get out when I please, have no liability?"

Most people expect "yes" for an answer to this question, when they say they are members of an assessment insurance society, and begin to think of their responsibilities as such. It is important for them to know that they cannot escape liability; because every member, no matter when he drops out, is liable for any deficiencies that may arise in future, if they were developed during his membership. Here is an instance:

The United Masonic Benefit Association of Missouri was some years ago an active and apparently prosperous assessment concern. It provided no reserve, but offered low rates, cheap insurance, and seemingly hoped that new blood would make up for increasing mortality resulting from increasing age. By and bye its forces began to fall off, not enough "new blood" came in, and the cost of membership ran up in a very uncomfortable way. Presently the healthier lives began to feel their burden pressing heavily and steadily left the ranks, until so few were left in the association that the assessments amounted to $140—one hundred and forty dollars—on each certificate. The remaining members refused to pay such a sum, and the concern failed. But there were unpaid death claims for a large amount due, and the State Superintendent of Insurance thought they ought to be paid. So he began suits at law against individual members to enforce payment of the assessments against them; the court has decided that they must pay. The feelings of those who are thus compelled to pay what they never expected have undergone a change with respect to assessment insurance.

Replying to some enquiries which had been made upon this point of liability, and citing this case illustration of what may be expected in any similar case which might be pressed to suit, the Insurance Monitor says: "The decision referred to answers our question which has been debated whether the member's liability is limited to sums which he may choose to pay; in, other words, whether he can get out when he pleases without further harm. This he cannot do. Every member, no matter when he may drop out, is liable for any deficiencies which may crop up in future, resulting during his membership. The only safe course for parties that apprehend breakers ahead is to drop their membership before the breakers are reached; and the misfortune of this course is that the faster they drop, the faster the association drives towards the breakers."

There seems to be only one course open for the prudent man who may be determined to avoid possible liability; that is to keep out of such associations entirely and buy his insurance of the regular companies.—Monetary Times

—A druken and disorderly case was discharged at the police court this morning.

—Mr. Alfred Mercer, signalman at the Ashburnham diamond, died early this morning.

—A couple of weddings will take place this week and another comes off the week following.

—A most interesting account of a game supper is unavoidably held over until to-morrow's issue.

—By the programme submitted, it is evident that the Rugby Football Club Smoking Concert to-night will enable all attending to put in one of the jolliest of evenings.

—The cold snap has suddenly reminded the householder of the necessity of putting up the double windows.

—The Street and Bridge Committee meets in session this evening, and opens the tenders for snow ploughing.

—It's December 4th that the great Yunck concert takes place in the Opera House and not Dec. 5th, as incorrectly announced in Saturday's issue.

—The Globe asks: How would it do to make every tramp register and wear a badge, with number, nationality and special qualities engraved on it?

—The London election comes off to-morrow for the Local House. The Liberals held a big rally on Saturday night night are confident of electing their man.

—The Young People's Association of St. John's church will hold a meeting open to all members of the congregation to-night. A most excellent programme has been prepared.

—The general superintendent of the C. O.R. has issued an order that all employees of the road whose wages have been garnished for a just debt, will be dismissed from the service.

—The Bobcaygeon Independent says:—"The goose bone is said to be nearly all white this fall, which indicates a long continuous winter of snow and hard weather. The muskrat houses are quite on the summer cottage plan, which indicates a mild and pleasant winter. To definitely decide you toss up—heads for a hard time, tails for pleasure."

—The Lindsay Post is enlarged. The Post ranks among the very first of Canadian weeklies. It was a power in its district under Mr. Barr's alert and capable management, and his successors have not allowed it to retrograde in any respect. It gives a first rate news service, its opinions are always fearlessly and clearly uttered, and it thoroughly deserves the generous support of its constituency.—Toronto Globe.

—Buffalo police made a raid on the dives of that city, last Friday midnight, and gathered in about 500 loose women. It is a pity the local police do not make descent on a certain establishment of this nature, in the north-east portion of the town. On Saturday night, the profanity which was used around the house in question was heard for blocks away, Several black eyes are worn to-day, as the result of the spree, which lasted until Sunday morning.

—"See here, now, you fellows who have pretty and comely cooks. A citizen of Peterborough has been fined $100 for hugging and kissing a cook. She didn't so much object to the hugging and kissing but the silly duffer mussed up her back hair, and no cook with self respect would stand that. All the same you want to paste it in your memory that the fine is $100. Elderly housekeepers are said to come a little lower." — Bobcaygeon Independent.

—The Child's Own Magazine, issued by the Sunday School Union, London, Eng., and crowded full of the most interesting and instructive little stories for the wee tots has just been received at the Peterborough bookstore, and a more appropriate present for the youngsters would be hard to find. Another book which is always looked for eagerly by children of more advanced age is "Young Canada," an illustrated annual containing stories of adventure and travel by authors whose works are considered to be instructive as well as amusing. It is brim full of stories of life in the public schools of old England, such as boys love, and is essentially a book for boys, and every boy should have it on his own particular book shelf. CHURCH CHIMES.

The Young People's Association of St. John's hold an open meeting to-night.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of St. John's is meeting this afternoon at the residence of Mrs. Pope.

At the evening service in the Mark street church yesterday Mr. H. S. Armstrong contributed a solo with pleasing effect.

The anthem "Lift up your heads" was very effectively rendered at the morning service in the Murray street Baptist church, yesterday.

There will be no Wednesday evening services in St. John's, but a service will be held at 11 o'clock Thanksgiving morning. The collection will go to the Diocesan Fund.

Rev. Mr. Mellick, Superintendant of the Baptist Manitoba Missions, who is out on a trip through Ontario for the purpose of giving information concerning the work in the orthwest, delivered a sermon on the subject in the Murray street Baptist church last night to an intensely interested congregation.

Rev. Mr. Craig delivered two excellent sermons in Charlotte street Methodist church, yesterday. In the morning, the choir sang the anthem "Come Holy Spirit," in which Miss Annie Fawcett and Mr. A.L. Davis took the solo parts in good voice. In the evening, Miss Flossie Hall took the solo part in the anthem, in a manner which bespeaks volumes of what her voice will be in the course of time.

Mr. E. P. Churchill, of McMaster University, Toronto, delivered both the morning and evening discourses in the Park street Baptist Mission yesterday. In the evening he took as his theme "The Name of Jesus," and delivered an interesting sermon to an unusually large congregation. The anthem, "Yet What Dost Thou Lack," was particularly well rendered by the choir. Miss Smart and Miss Dicks took the duet most acceptably.

ST. JOHN'S.

The morning service in St. John's church was conducted by Rev. Mr. Hartely, an Anglican Missionary, who has opened up a new field in the Northern wilds of the country. Instead of a sermon Mr. Hartely told the story of his life in the northern settlements. Some years ago, he went back as a missionary and found three confirmed Church of England communicants. With these three he held service at intervals and around the nucleus a congregation gradually drew together until there were sixty regular attendants and thirty-one communicants. While gathering this little flock in the fold, the Missionary had been industriously gathering funds for the purpose of erecting a church. Failing, however, to secure the desired sum, he sold his furniture and books and even pledged his stipend to secure the desired end. By thus entirely stripping himself of worldly substance, Mr. Hartley was able to have the church erected, but in the meantime he had deprived himself of the means of subsistence and his health falling under the strain, he has had to retire to the home of a friend in Lakefield. There is still a sum of three hundred dollars owing on the church and Mr. Hartely is now endeavouring to collect that amount. Special collections were taken up in his behalf and the handsome sum of $84 in collections and personal gifts was obtained, in addition to the $35 contributed by the parish last year. These sums are devoted to the building fund of the church at Haultain, which the settlers could not have been able to erect themselves.

ST. JOHN'S MISSION.

Arrangements are in progress for the appointment of a successor to Rev. E. W. Pickford, of St. John's South Ward Mission. A proposition has been made to Rev. Basil Claude Andrews, a son of the Vicar of Kentish Town, London, Eng., and a relative of the Bishop of Toronto. The bishop has strongly recommended Rev. Mr. Andrews to accept the post, and if his kind wish is met the parish, especially the southern portion, will be singularly fortunate. Mr. Andrews expects to sail from England at the end of this month.

THE ORANGE HALL FIRE AT YOUNG'S POINT.

Mr. Joseph Walsh Honourably Acquitted of the Charge of Arson.

Mr. Joseph Walsh, of Young's Point, was up before County Magistrate Edmison this morning with the grave charge of arson preferred against him.

He elected to be tried summarily by the magistrate. Mr. John Burnham, Q. C., appeared for the defendant, and Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, for the prosecution.

The evidence offered by the prosecution was most meagre and hardly of a nature to warrant an arrest on a charge so serious. A little boy heard Mr. Geo. Chalmers say to Walsh, jokingly, "How much did you get for burning the Orange Hall?"

Walsh laughingly answered: "O, ten dollars."

In his evidence Mr. Chalmers swore that the matter was only and stated furthermore that he himself had been asked the same question several times by others.

A young lad named Hockaday, stated that on the night of the Orange Hall fire he had heard his father and brother get up and go out to see the fire. He also had gone out and fancied that when outside he had heard a laugh, which sounded to him like Walsh's. His father and brother, however, had no recollection whatever of the noise to which he referred.

The parents of Walsh were positive that on the night in question he had retired between nine and ten o'clock and had not been out of the house. The magistrate the evidence for the defense at all, but gave Mr. Walsh an honourable acquittal at once, being fully satisfied of his innocence.

All the residents in the vicinity speak highly of Mr. Walsh as a most estimable young man, possessing an unimpeachable character.

Silicided With Carbolic Acid.

NORTH BAY, Nov. 19.—J. McMillian, late car checker here, took carbolic acid at Chalk River and died ten minutes after. He had been out of employment for some time, and it is thought this was the cause of the rash act.

Sudden Death in Barrie.

BARRIE, Nov. 19.—Peter Dayman, miller, of this town, dropped dead while at work in his mill on Saturday about 4 p.m. Cause of death was heart disease.

Suffocated in a Tunnel.

BLACK HAWK, Col., Nov. 19.—A workman dropped a lighted candle in a keg of powder at the Perigo mine tunnel yesterday. The powder did not explode but a fire started, the smoke and flames from which suffocated to death four workmen in the tunnel.

A Clergyman Suicides.

PORT HURON, Mich., Nov. 19,—Rev. Albert Klein hanged himself to his bedroom door by a curtain cord. Insanity induced by nervous prostration was the cause. He was pastor of St. John's Evangelical church.

Y. W. C. A.

Enforced absence on business in Toronto prevented Rev. J. C. Davidson from addressing, as he had arranged to do, the meeting of the Young Woman's Association on Saturday evening.

This is what we are doing, giving away Overcoats and Suits, at close wholesale prices, Grafton & Co.

PERSONAL.

Mr. G. J. Harkins is down in Warkworth to-day on business.

Mr. Dickson Davidson has returned from a visit in the vicinity of Hiawatha.

Messrs. W. H. Early and D. D. Fletcher, of Lindsay, spent Sunday in Peterborough.

Mr. E. E. Howard, Dr. Harrison and Miss Harrison, all of Keene, were in town Saturday.

Miss Smith, who has been visiting friends in East Toronto, has returned to Peterborough.

Miss Bertha Brundrette, of Midland City, is spending a few weeks in town with her sister, Mrs. Huntley Elliott, Bethune street.

Mr. Ozias Leplante, town, was in Toronto on Saturday witnessing the struggle for the Rugby football championship of the Dominion.

Dr. Vernon Halliday's many friends in town will regret to hear that he is seriously ill in New York as the result of an attack of diphtheria.

Rev. J. C. Davidson reached home this morning after some days spent in Toronto, where he yesterday morning preached at St. Albans Cathedral.

Dr. Ferris, son of the late J. M. Ferris, of Campbellford, has accepted the appointment of surgeon on the C. P. R. Pacific steamship, Empress of India. He leaves to go aboard on the 21st.

Mr. J. Bedard, of Peterborough, is spending a few days in town. He has been working there for the past three years, and intends locating elsewhere when he leaves here.—Gananoque Journal.

Mrs. Fairbain is lying seriously ill, with pneumonia, at "Cordach," the residence of her brother, Mr. G. M. Roger. Mrs. Fairbain, for some time past, has not been in robust health. Last Tuesday, she attended the "Woman's Day" meeting in St. John's and was to have delivered an address, but did not feel well enough. Shortly after her return home, she was attacked with pneumonia. The latest reports indicate no change in her condition for either better or worse.

Notices of Marriages, Births and Death s will be inserted at the following rates: Marriages 50c., Births and Deaths 25c.

KNOWLEDGE

Brings comfort and improvement and tends to personal enjoyment when rightly used. The many, who live better than others and enjoy life more, with less expenditure, by more promptly adapting the world's best products to the needs of physical being, will attest the value to health of the pure liquid laxative principles embraced in the remedy, Syrup of Figs.

Its excellence is due to its presenting in the form most acceptable and pleasant to the taste, the refreshing and truly beneficial properties of a perfect laxative; effectually cleansing the system, dispelling colds, headaches and fevers and permanently curing constipation. It has given satisfaction to millions and met with the approval of the medical profession, because it acts on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels without weakening them and it is perfectly free from every objectionable substance.

Syrup of Figs is for sale by all druggists in 75c. bottles, but it is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, whose name is printed on every package, also the name, Syrup of Figs, and being well informed, you will not accept any subatitute if offered.

What is Good Storekeeping?

Without saying much about it, we are trying each day to show what we think a good store should be.

In a spacious building flooded with daylight with a stock of goods of undoubted quality in such a variety and volume for choice that to excel it is hardly possible; and to buy the goods so as to sell them at prices that cannot be UNDERSOLD is our idea of how to keep store.

The store keeper, who does this, best reaches the highest level, and is always so secure in his position of advantage that he is neither arrogant, self praiseful nor pretentious. He has no need to be, yet sometimes the telling of cold facts such as selling 36 Ladies' Jackets in one day, or selling many lines of goods at the price we sell them, may seem boastful to the uninformed.

You Should Know our Store

If you want to save your money, as things are changed very much since we adopted the "CASH SYSTEM."

This change had to come. It was a necessity of the period.

Each city of the world has one or more such examples, and Peterborough possesses in this store an instance second to none. It could easily be shown that this great change from doing business on long credit with necessarily long profit to spot cash, small profits and quick returns, has been a decided benefit to this community, more than any other store in the place. By going direct to the makers for goods we want, and paying cash for what we get, we have been able to reduce prices, which has been money saved to those who have patronized us.

Probably some competitors may say and do say that we are cutting prices. However that may be the result of our low prices has produced a very large increase in business, and we are encouraged to still further reduce profits in order to further increase trade.

A price that is cost to some or a price claimed to be even less than cost elsewhere is often a price at which we sell at a profit every day in the year. There is no mystery about it when you consider the value to manufacturers of so large an outlet as that of our syndicate. Our progress rests on principles. Our trade is sure to grow and everyone should see our goods before they buy.

Our Aim is to Serve the Public Well.

To this end all our energy, capital and organization are directed. Intelligent service is characteristic of our house, and while no service is absolute perfection we have faith enough in our system, and in our efforts to please, (judging from your appreciation)—to believe that we have measurably succeeded in attaining our object. The deep seated purpose to serve you well includes the duty of our providing you with the best goods in the market at prices as low or lower than those of any other orginization in Canada. That we can do this has been shown over and over again.

We are not handicapped with a credit system. Everything here is on a cash basis, and the buying and selling is done on a closer margin in consequence. Keep your eyes open and compare prices. You'll find ours by long odds the lowest.

MARRIAGE OF A YOUNG ENGLISHMAN, WELL KNOWN HERE.

Charlie Forbes Takes Unto Himself a Wife and Joins the Ranks of the Benedicts.

When the Grand Trunk offices were located here there was a young Engligman employed in Mr. Macklin's office known as "Charlie" Forbes. He resided in Peterborough for several years and became most popular, being "hail fellow well met" with everyone. He was moved from here to Montreal by the G.T.R. authorities and afterwards left for parts unknown. Nothing further has been heard from him by his numerous friends in Peterborough until the following glowing appeared in the last issue of the Ladies Pictorial, an English magazine :—

ACCOUNT OF HIS WEDDING

"On the 25th ult., at the church of St. Cuthbert, Philbeach-gardens, S. W., by the Rev. E. G. Harker, (brother of the bride) assisted by Rev. Stuart Berkeley, (brother-in-law of the bride) Mr. Charles Wallis-Forbes, son of Captain Forbes, R. N., of Southsea, to Miss Lilian Harker, youngest daughter of the late Geo. Harker, Esq., of Quickenham."

"The bride, who was given away by her brother, George Harker, Esq., was attired in a rich gown of white faille francaise, the bodice trimmed with lace and orange blossoms. She wore a wreath of the same flowers, her tulle veil being fastened with a diamond, and carried a bouquet of choice white exotics, (the gift of the bridegroom). She was attended by her little niece, Miss Winifred Berkeley and by Master Leslie Crispe. The former wore a Liberty frock of white surah silk, trimmed with swandown, and a white felt picture hat with white feathers. She held a basket of marguerites, the gift of the bridegroom, who also presented her with a gold watch with black enamel back. The little boy wore a white silk smocked shirt and black velvet knee breeches with steel buckles, his present from the bridegroom being a silver mounted walking stick.

"The best man was Lieut. Petch, R.N.

"A reception was held immediately after the ceremony by Mrs. Harker, at 92 Philbeach-Gardens, kindly lent for the occasion by Mrs. Charles Harker (aunt of the bride), and later in the afternoon the happy pair left for Falkestone, en route for Paris and Brussels.

"The bride's travelling costume consisted of a bright brown and blue tweed, relieved with blue velvet; brown felt hat with shaded feathers. She also wore a sable tail, and carried a fawn cloak lined and trimmed with fur. The wedding presents were numerous and valuable.

"The refreshments were supplied by Messrs. W. and G. Busyard, of Oxford street, W."

IT WAS A LIBEL ON CANADIAN CHEESE SHIPPERS.

The Trade Does Not Believe that any Branded Cheese was Ever Sent to England.

Montreal, Nov. 18.—The cheese exporters of this city, and in fact the whole fraternity, appear to be filled with righteous indignation over what they contend to be a gross libel on their honour as business men. The cable despatch to the Star from London alleging that Canadian shippers are sending summer cheese to England labelled September make, is, in a word, the cause of all this trouble, and a correspondent after visiting the leading men in the trade here, is convinced that a great mistake has been made on the other side The Butter and Cheese Association consider the charge a very serious one, and as an evidence of their desire to probe the matter to the bottom and to ascertain the grounds upon which so important a branch of the Canadian export trade has been maligned, the president has called a meeting of the association for Tuesday afternoon, with the view of talking over the matter and, if deemed necessary, to communicate at once with Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissianer in London. Mr. John McKergow, of the firm of A. A. Ayer & Co., McGill street, says: "As far as we are concerned the charge is ridiculous as it appeared in the cable. We never marked 'September' at all, no matter when the cheese is made. Any one who knows the first thing of the trade can readily perceive that June cheese could be passed off for the September article, and the charge bears its own refutation on the very face. It is possible," continued Mr. Kergow, "that some novice in the trade might have done that which is alleged, but for any man to hold the trade of Canada responsible for the alleged fraud is simply absurd."

Mr. A. W. Grant was also interviewed regarding the charges and he replied as follows :

"I am more surprised than indignant at the wholesale absurdity of the accusation. I am not prepared to deny or confirm the statement, but I can speak for myself quite freely. I have shipped cheese for 15 years and I have never branded either on the box or on the cheese September or any other month's make, nor have I ever been asked to do so. I have shipped, this season, 155,000 boxes, and if this alleged fraud were as universal as we are led to believe, I certainly would have known something about it. I think Sir Charles Tupper, our High Commissioner in England, will be doing Canada a valuable service if he institutes a searching enquiry into the facts of the case. I hear the Montreal Butter and Cheese Association will take the matter up at once, but I cannot see where they can lay their hand on any offender in Canada."

Mr. William Nivin, the president of the association, above named, was also seen and he spoke quite as emphatically as the rest. The trade, he said, had been libelled and the matter would have to be attended to at once. He intended calling a meeting of the association, the first of the week, and the charge would be dealt with then and there. It might be, continued the dealer, that a cheese made in August has been labelled September, yet I do not admit this by any means, but it is quite absurd to suppose that any Canadian exporter has been guilty of labelling cheese made in June or July as September make.

SHE CONTINUES IMPROVING.

(Monetary Times.)

Peterborough continues its improvements and also adds to its industries. A substantial block of new buildings is now erected and nearing completion on Hunter and Water streets. The block consists of six stores on Water and one on Hunter streets, and the new building, which is on the corner of both streets, is to be occupied by the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and will be finished about the 1st of March next. The block and bank building are erected by Mr. Geo. A. Cox, now of Toronto, president of the bank, and one of the city's longest residents and best friends. A new industry, the manufacture of curling stones, has also been introduced. It is a branch, we understand, of one of the well-known makers, the Kays of Haugh, Mauchlin, Scotland. They occupy for the present the Blyth building, situated in the northern part of Peterborough. Mr. W. J. Wyllie is the Canadian manager.

THE FORESTERS' THANKSGIVING DAY CONCERT.

A Programme Prepared Which is Replete With Interesting Numbers.

Rev. John A. Henderson, pastor of the United Presbyterian church, Omaha, Nebraska, writes in the following complimentary terms of Miss Effie Elaine Hext, who takes part in the Foresters' concert here on Thanksgiving :—

"One of the finest entertainments of the kind ever afforded the people of any community was given last night at the Park Avenue United Presbyterian Church. The chief feature of the evening was the brilliant rendering of well selected pieces by Miss Effie Elaine Hext, elocutionist. It was her first appearance in Omaha, and she convinced her audience that she is an artist of high order. Miss Hext's posings in Greek costume were an exhibition of the highest art."

"I take pleasure in bearing testimony to the worthiness of Miss Effie Elaine Hext as an elocutionist. She is an all-round success in her line. Nature has done great things for her. Art has done much. These benefactors are combined harmoniously in the wealth of her professional equipments. Nature cannot be offended; her art is so beautifully artless. She is pleasing in direct address, powerful in impersonation, and in attitudes surpassingly eloquent."

Mr. Perrin, the refined humorous vocalist, who is also down on the programme for a number of selections, is spoken of by the Canadian Englishman as follows :

"Mr. Fred J. Perrin, in several comic songs, proved himself an artist in this line of considerable merit, his renditions being forcible and characteristic."

THE "MAGISTRATE'S PROTEGE."

Young Raymer Again Allowed to go Free—A Prolific Little Liar.

Christopher Raymer, probably better known in Peterborough as "The "Magistrate's Protege," was up before His Worship again this morning charged with the theft of a fur cap.

The lad is a prolific little liar and a worthless young scamp all around. Since the day the magistrate left him working in his garden after giving him a couple of good meals, he has been lying around one of the livery stables, after skipping out as soon as the magistrate turned his back.

This morning, he stated that he knew nothing whatever of the mitsing cap and was just about to leave town for Montreal with some horse buyers. He was discharged, but warned by the magistrate never to show his face in court again if he valued his liberty.

When Raymer "quit" work in the magistrate's garden he shortly afterwards ran into a policemen who interrogated as to where he was off to. The lad stated on this occasion that Father Scollard had secured him a situation with a farmer in Ennismore, whereas Father Scollard had not even seen the boy. It is a question as to whether such a lad should be allowed his liberty, as with morals so corrupt as to be able to frame such a neat lie on the spur of the moment, it will probably be only a matter of time before he victimizes someone else.

The Inevitable.

He advertised persistently for years
And built a business wonderfully great,
Outliving all contemporary sneers
Of his competitors, their scorn and hate.
Both far and wide his business fame had spread,
His trade was most extensive, and his ads
In every local paper could be read,
And told of fashions' variable fads.

His store was crowded to the doors each day,
An eager throng of shoppers filled the place,
Drawn there by bargains in an ad display,
Which filled a pretty big newspaper space.
But suddenly the advertising stopped—
The merchant to himself had softly said,
"My trade is built, expenses can be dropped,
No further ads I need. I'll save instead!"

One month he "saved," but ere the month was o'er
"A change came o'er the spirit of his dream."
He daily saw an almost empty store,
And didn't have much faith left in his scheme!
For, whereas, other stores did all the trade,
Our merchant could not all his losses tell,
But afterwards this apt remark he made,
"When advertising stops, trade stops as well."
"Man wants but little here below,"
His modesty's surprising,
And every want is filled you know,
By shrewdly advertising.

A "Cold" Day!

You caught a cold last week—one of those long, lingering sorts of colds that's sneezy thing to get. Everybody you knew, and some people whom you had never been introduced to, told you what to take, and the more you took the more cold you took. Finally you went to see a doctor. He felt your pulse, told you to hold out your tongue, which felt like an all wool blanket, and advised you to drink plenty of COLD WATER, take two grains of quinine every two hours—and wear a good warm Overcoat. "Two dollars, please," said the doctor, and as you paid him like a little man, you made up your mind that if you had bought an Overcoat when you should, you would have saved your two dollars, the quinine, and wouldn't have to drink so much COLD WATER.

We Will Back Our Overcoats

IT TAKES YOUR MONEY

—only 25 cents to buy a glass vial of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets — but then you get a lasting benefit and a permanent cure of your Bilious or Sick Headache, Constipation or Indigestion, loss of appetite, and all those troubles which follow a disordered liver.

The time to treat an inactive liver is before it becomes a disease. If these tiny Pellets were in every day use people would be germ-proof. The germs of disease make their entrance to the system through the liver—your health and well-being depends on the liver.

If you suffer from wind and pain in the stomach, giddiness, costiveness, disturbed sleep, you get immediate relief from the use of "Pleasant Pellets."

They're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or money returned.

A "COLD IN THE HEAD" is quickly cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. So is Catarrhal Headache, and every trouble that is caused by Catarrh. So is Catarrh itself. The proprietors offer $500 in cash for any case which they cannot cure. Sold by all dealers in medicines.

The bridal veil is said to have originated with the Anglo-Saxon custom of performing the ceremony under a square piece of cloth, held at each corner by a tall man over the bride and groom in such a way as would conceal the blushes of the bride. When, however, the bride was a widow, the veil was dispensed with.

One of the curiosities of Brazil is a tree whose wood and bark contain so much silica that they are used by potters. Both wood and bark are burned in equal proportions with clay, producing a very superior ware. The tree grows to a heighth of 100 feet, but does not exceed a foot in diameter. The fresh bark cuts like sandstone, and when dried is brittle and hard.

A French statistician says that the number of men and women in France is more nearly equal than in any other country of the world, there being only 1,007 women to 1,000 men. In Switzerland there are 1,064 men to 1,000 women, and in Greece only 933. The conditions in Hong Kong, according to this authority, are "appalling," there being only 356 women to 1,000 men.

There is now in course of erection at the Altoona, Pa., shops a new passenger locomotive which is expected to cover 100 miles an hour without any trouble. The wheels are larger in diameter than the ordinary engine, and will be equipped with ball bearings like a bicycle. It will also have a steam pressure of but ninety pounds, against 180 pounds pressure in the locomotive now in use.

One of the most curious customs of Siam is that each year is named after an animal, and only certain animals are allowed to intermarry. A person born in the year of the elephant, for instance, cannot marry a person born in the year of the tiger; neither may the lion mast with the lamb. The law imposes dire penalties upon all who give false ages, or who represent that they are gay gazelles when, in fact, they are mischievous monkeys, and therefore it is a law which would not be welcome in western lands.

Coal is made up of the remains of trees and plants which grew on the earth before man or any other mammal had appeared. Changed by pressure, heat and dampness, this mass of vegetable matter has become a kind of carbon, mixed with bitumen, or the tarry substances which are always made by slow decay of such matter. Anthracite or stone coal, sometimes called glance coal on account of its shine, has the least bitumen in it: bituminous coal has in it much more bitumen than anthracite, and cannel coal contains more bitumen than either of these.

An old German, who recently came to this country from the fatherland, has begun a novel industry in a little shanty in Pegg street, Philadelphia. This is nothing more nor less than the manufacture of "chestnut flour." The flour manufactured from dried chestnuts has for many years been in great demand in Germany. A delicious sort of sweet bread is made from it by those who are familiar with the old-fashioned method of preparing the dough. The product of the old German's establishment is very much sought after by the Germans in the neighborhood, and the supply is far below the demand.

At birth a negro child is of a reddish nut-brown color, which turns to a slaty gray in the first week of the child's existence. The black color is not fully developed for a period varying from one to three years, according to the nature of the locality and the influences of climate. Darwin says that the children of Australians, immediately after birth, are yellowish brown, and become dark at a later age. Those of the Guaranys of Paraguay are whitish yellow, but they acquire in the course of a few weeks the yellowish-brown tint of their parents. It is curious to notice that the eyes of a negro child are blue at birth, and his hair of a dark chestnut color, being only curled at the ends.

The desire for stimulants of some kind and a knowledge of their beneficial action when used in moderation seem to be instinctive in all but the very lowest races of mankind. At first sight it would seem that the Moslem races would form an exception to this rule, but that is not the case. As a matter of religous discipline they refrain from alcohol, but in coffee and opium they have stimulants better suited to inhabitants of hot countries than alcohol. The same may be said of the Hindoos and the large numbers of Mongols who take no alcohol. These races are in about the third rank of civilization. In the first two ranks not only is there no race which uses no stimulants, but it is a fact that the complexity and variety of stimulants used increase directly with the development of civilization.

At birth no infant can see. Professor Preyer, who has worked on a single subject (a boy of his own), considers that although sensibility to light exists from the moment of birth, yet this sensibility is more alive to the sense of feeling than to that of sight. The infant from the first closed its eyes when exposed to a strong light. With regard to actual sight, as denoted by the fixing of the eyes on objects, Preyer says that up to the tenth day he noticed no movements indicating that the child fixed its eyes on an object. He seemed only to look at objects before him up to that time. Other authorities assert that in this latter respect infants differ greatly. This much, however, is clear, that it usually requires between two and three weeks for the sense of sight to come into full operation.

Mike Sheehan tossed, awake in the moonlight, The gulls were quiet, and there was no noise in the night save that sound that had rocked his cradle—the Atlantic foaming up the narrow ravine before his door and withdrawing itself with a loud sucking noise. The cabin was perched on a bleached hillside. A stony, narrow path went by the door climbed the ravine to the world; a bed of slaty rock slanted sheer below it to the white tossing water.

Mike, with his six feet of manhood, was well in request at the country gatherings. But of late, said the folk, the man had turned queer; in that melancholy, stately county by the sea, madness—especially of the melancholic kind—is a thing very common. A year ago a wrestling match between him and Jack Tierney had gathered two counties to see it. No man could say which was the champion. Now one was the victor, again the other. They kept steady pace in their victories. Jack, too, was captain of the Kislallagh team of hurlers. Mike of the Clonegalla. That would be a great day for the men and women of his following, when either champion should decisively lead.

The country people scarcely guessed at the time their two champions became enemies. Indeed, it was a secret locked in their own breasts, scarcely acknowledged even when in his most hidden moments each man looked at the desires of his heart. It only showed itself in a new fierceness and determination in their encounters. Each had sworn to himself to conquer the other. The soreness between them came about when by some sad mischance they fell in love with the same girl. Worse luck, she wanted neither of them, for she was vowed to the convent. In the long run one or the other might have tempted her to an earthly bridal, but she made no choice between them, and each man's chance seemed about equal when she slipped from them both into Kilbride churchyard. When she lay there neither men could say she had distinguished him by special kindness from the other. And their rivalry waxed more furious with the woman in her grave.

But six months later, and their battles still undecided, Jack Tierney fell sick and followed Ellen to Kilbride Then Mike Sheehan was without an equal for many miles. But little comfort it was to him, with the girl of his heart dead, and the one man he had desired to overthrow dead and unconquered. He secluded himself from the sports and pastimes, and lived lonely in his cabin among the gulls, eating out his unsatisfied heart. None other would satisfy him to wrestle with but his dead rival, and indeed he, in common with the country people, thought that no other might be found fit for him to meet.

Kilbride Churchyard is high on the mainland and lies dark within its four stone walls. The road to it is by a tunnel of trees that make a shade velvety black even when the moon is turning all the sea silver. The churchyard is very old and has no monuments of importance, only green headstones bent sideways and sank to their neck and shoulders in the earth. A postern gate, with a flight of stone steps, opens from Kilbride lane. Here every night you may see the ghost of Tobin, the murderer, climbing those steps with a rigid burden hanging from his shoulder.

But as Mike Sheehan ascended the steps out of the midnight darkness he felt no fear. He clanged the gate of the sacred, quiet place in a way that set the silence echoing. Some mad passion was on Mike Sheehan surely, or he would not have so desecrated the quiet resting place of the dead. There, by the ruined gable of the old abbey, was a fresh mound unusually large in size. Mike Sheehan paused by it. "Jack!" he cried in a thunderous voice, hoarse with its passion. "Come! let us once for all see which is the better man. Come and fight me, Jack, and if you throw me let Ellen be yours now and forever."

The blood was in his eyes and the sea mist curling in from sea. His challenge spoken, he swayed dizzily for a moment. Then his eyes saw. The place seemed full of the sea mist, silvered through with the moon. As he looked to right and left substantial things had vanished, but he saw on either hand long rows of shadowy faces watching him. Many of them he knew. They were the boys and girls, the men and women, of his own village who had died in many years. Others were strange, but he guessed them ghosts from Kilsallagh, beyond Boscarbery, the village where Jack used to live. He looked eagerly among the folk he remembered for Ellen's face. There was one who might be she, the ghost of a woman veiled in her shadowy hair, whose eyes he could not see. And then Jack was upon him.

That was a great wrestling in Kilbride churchyard. The dead man wound about the living with his clay cold limbs, caught him in icy grips that froze the terrified blood from his heart, and breathed upon him soundlessly a chill breath of the grave that seemed to wither him. Yet Mike fought furiously, as one who fights not only to satisfy a hate, but as one who fights to win a bride. He had a dim knowledge of the fight he was making, a dim premonition that the dead man was more than his match. The ghostly spectators pressed forward more eagerly, their shadowy faces peered, their shadowy forms swayed in the mist. The ghost had Mike Sheehan in a death grip. His arms were imprisoned, his breath failed, his flesh crept and his hair stood up. He felt himself dying of the horror of this unnatural combat, then there was a whisper at his ear.

Dimly he seemed to hear Ellens' voice; dimly turning his failing eyes, he seemed to recognise her eyes under the veil of ashen fair hair. "Draw him to the left on the grass," said the voice, "and trip him." His old love and his old jealously seemed to serge up in Mike Sheehan. With a tremendous effort he threw off those paralyzing arms. Forgetting his horror he furiously embraced the dead, drew him to the left on the grass, slippery as glass after the summer heats, for a second or two swayed with him two and fro; then the two went down together with great violence, but Mike Sheehan was uppermost, his knee on the dead man's breast.

When he came to himself in the moonlight all was calm and peaceful. It was close upon dawn, and the moon was very low. He looked about him at the quietness. Another man might have thought he had but dreamed it; not so Mike Sheehan. He remembered with a fierce joy how he had flung the ghost and how Ellen had been on his side. "You're mine, now, Asthoreen," he said, in a passionate apostrophe to her, "and 'tis I could find it in my heart to pity him that's lying there and has lost you. He was the fair fighter ever and always, and now he'll acknowledge me for the better man." And then he added, as if to himself, "Poor Jack! I wish I'd flung him on the broken ground, and not on the slippery grass. 'Tis then I'd feel myself that I was the better man." —Pall Mall Budget.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS

THREE RUNNING SORES
PHYSICIANS FAILED
BUT B.B.B. CURED

DEAR SIRS—After having used Burdock Blood Bitters for Scrofula in the blood, I feel it my duty to make known the results. I was treated by a skilled physician but he failed to cure me. My neck which could not be healed until I tried B.B.B., which healed them completely leaving the skin and flesh sound and whole. As long as I live I shall speak of the virtues of B.B.B., and I feel grateful to Providence that such a medicine is provided for sufferers.
MRS. W. BENNETT, Acton P. O. Ont.

A SCALY ERUPTION
UNENDURABLE ITCHING
Suffered Three Years—Now Perfectly Cured by B.B.B.

GENTLEMEN—I have used Burdock Blood Bitters for Skin Diseases, from which I have been a sufferer for three years. I have used six bottles and am now entirely cured. I tried other remedies, such as Donald Kennedy's Medical Discovery and the Cuticura Remedies, but all to no good. I doctored one year with the best physicians in the land; they pronounced my disease a Scaly Eruption, but could not remove it. It came on in red blotches and spread over my body; the skin became dry and formed hard dry scales. The itching was intolerable, but I am now completely cured, and I owe it all to B. B. B.

GIRL FOOTBALL PLAYERS.

Two Teams in Denver That Are Having Lots of Fun.

Young girls in Denver are developing a taste and physical capability for football which is surprising, and two clubs, called respectively "The Denver" and the "All America," are already formed, with good men for coachers. The average weight of the All America team is 131 pounds, while the other is 138 pounds. The girls wear the regulation football costume, padded trousers, jackets, Tam o'Shanters, and all, and the only variation in the uniforms of the two clubs is in the color of the caps and stockings. Their game is not so rough as that played by the men, so they do not disfigure their faces with nose protectors and envelop their graceful ankles in "shin guards." Each team has a girl for captain who has had experience in the Rugby and association games, and all skylarking is promptly regulated. The Denver captain has played in the East at seminaries where the football eleven exists in secret only, and she thoroughly understands the game. To avoid the crowd of spectators that would be inevitable, they play in a large hall, with all the disadvantages of a hardwood floor. They show wonderful pluck and nerve, and refuse assistance when they are thrown with all the determination of their brothers. It is said by their coachers that they play an excellent game, not forgetting themselves or getting a bit rattled. They line up very quickly after they are down, and go into the game as if they enjoyed it. One peculiarity of their play is that, with one or two exceptions, they have never seen a game played by men, and they play with a snap which never could be acquired by seeing men play. They appreciate the necessity of rest, and whenever there is a chance they drop flat on the floor. There is real genuine rivalry between the teams, and there is to be a prize of $50 given to the winning team at the next game. The contract provides that every girl shall receive her salary an hour before the game.

Corn Sowing

Is a process conducted by the agency of tight boots all the year round. Corn reaping is best conducted through the agency of Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor, the only safe and sure-pop corn cure. Putnam's Extractor is now widely imitated. Beware of all poisonous and sore producing substitutes; they are dangerous to use and are sold simply because they afford the dealer larger profit.

THE GLORY AND USEFULNESS OF TRADE.

REV. DR. TORRANCE'S VIEWS ON THE SUBJECT.

A Sermon Full of Power and Originality—England Owes Her Position More to Her Trade Relations Than to Her Army and Navy.

Rev. Dr. E. F. Torrance delivered a powerful, earnest and eloquent sermon yesterday morning relative to the commercial life of the world. His discourse was listened to with the greatest interest by the large congregation, and during the day frequent comment upon it was heard.

He took as his text the verse, Matthew, xxv. 16: "Then he that had received the five talents went and traded with the same, and made them other five talents," and spoke as follows:—

Trade is an important factor in national greatness. The influence of trade upon a nation's development and growth is far more powerful and enduring than the influence of war. It was once contemptuously affirmed of the British nation that it was a nation of shop keepers; and no Englishman has ever felt that it would be worth his while to deny the charge. The British nation owes the position which it now occupies not so much to its armies and navy as to its commerce. It is with Great Britain as it was with Tyre of old, of whom Isaiah said, "Who hath taken this counsel against Tyre, the crowning city, where merchants are princes, where traffickers are the honorable of the earth." It is important that all of us should form a correct idea of the glory and usefulness of trade, and all the more so if we undertake to criticize the abuses connected with the commercial spirit. There are some who seem to think that the evils connected with trade are so great that no one can be a trader and be a true Christian. But surely such a view is supported neither by experience nor by Scripture. In that wonderful chapter in his prophecies in which Isaiah predicts its destruction, he waxes eloquent in his description of Tyre's commercial greatness. In the parable before us, while our Lord does not express formal approbation of trade, He speaks as though trade were a legitimate and useful employment. Let us consider to-day some of the temptations to which those in trade are especially exposed; and then how these temptations may be successfully resisted.

THE TEMPTATIONS OF TRADE:

(1.) Some of the temptations to which those in trade are specially exposed.

Those in trade are under no instinctive obligation to seek any higher ends than that of their own financial profit. This may be true to a certain extent in the case of those engaged in other callings; but not to anything like the same extent as in the case of those engaged in trade. The physician, the lawyer, the minister, have other things before their minds beside the matter of financial profit, and these things ought to so absorb them that the matter of financial profit will be an entirely secondary consideration. In these different professions men of the right stamp are thinking not of what they can get out of those whom they serve, but of what they can do for them. Those who achieve success in these different professions are not necessarily the ones who amass the most money; but the ones who secure the best results for those whom they serve. They have given, so to speak, hostages to heaven, ideals of beauty, of accurate scholarship, or of moral influence, which they dare not risk by abandoning themselves to the love of gain." It is different, however, with those who are in trade. Here the question of financial profit is uppermost. In his business transactions the trader is not thinking of the interests of others, nor of his own moral and intellectual development, but only of his own financial profit. When he is buying and selling his goods, the question before his mind is how he can make the most money. For this very reason, he is exposed to great temptation. One who is constantly looking at money is liable to become excessively fond of it. One who is concentrating all his efforts upon the attainment of money is liable to form an unduly high estimate of its value.

The poet Milton refers to this:

Mammon led them on.
Mammon the least erected spirit that fell
From Heaven, for even in Heaven his looks and thoughts
Were always downward bent, admiring more
The riches of Heaven's pavement, trodden gold
Than aught, divine or holy, else enjoyed
In vision beatified.

Those in trade are only liable to employ unfair means to secure their financial profit.

QUESTIONABLE METHODS.

Much that takes place on the Stock Exchange is a very questionable character. Buying stock upon margin is surely a species of gambling. It is an attempt to get money, not as the result of service done to the public, but as the result of one's own sharpness. We have known of men who have acquired a competency by dint of hard labour, losing it in a single day by these speculations in stocks.

Akin to those speculations in stocks are such land speculations as men went into some years ago in Winnipeg and still more lately in Toronto. How many people have been ruined by such speculations as these. Those who seem to be men of sober judgment, are completely carried away when a boom occurs. The wise man says: "He that hasteth to be rich hath an evil eye and considereth not that poverty shall come upon him."

Then in business, competition is so keen that men do strange things in order to get advantage over their neighbours. Stronger houses do their utmost to crush out those weaker than themselves. All kinds of expedients are resorted to in order to attract custom. Goods are represented as being sold at a tremendous sacrifice, when there is nobody sacrificed but the customer. At different times and to different people the price of goods is not the same. Customers best entitled to favour and protection are fleeced and the general score of the profits made up at their cost.

MONOPOLIES FOSTERED BY PROTECTION.

There are these monopolies, which are fostered by a system of protection. They exist to some extent in Canada, to a vastly greater extent in the United States. There the oil business of the country is practically in the hands of one man who, as the result of this, has become one of the richest men in the world. Then the President was unable lately to carry out his pledges of tariff reform, because the Democratic Senators were unwilling to sacrifice the interests of the sugar trust. Those in other professions are not so liable to employ unfair means. To secure their financial profit, physicians, lawyers and ministers cannot compete with the members of their own profession in a dishonourable way. They must win the confidence of others by their proficiency in their callings, not by advertising themselves in the newspapers or speaking disparagingly of their rivals.

2. The means by which these temptations may be successfully resisted.

Great as are the temptations to which those in trade are exposed, trade furbishes us with examples of many Christians of the highest and noblest type. Some of you may have read the biography of Budgett, the successful merchant. He is an example of a man of great capacity for business, who achieved wonderful success and who was, at the same time, an earnest and devoted man of God. It was charged against him that he was eager and sharp, carrying his points of mercantile justice with unnecessary hardness. But there was no force in the charge. He never veered from integrity in any business transaction, but carried on his trade as trade under the law of trade, reserving his charities for a separate chapter of life. He was one of the most tender hearted and simple minded of men and one of the most generous of givers. It is no credit to a man to be easy going in his business transactions. If one is careless in having others meet their obligations to him, he is likely to be careless in meeting his obligations to others.

HELP TO RESIST TEMPTATION.

(1) It will help those who are in trade to resist the temptations to which they are exposed to realize that they are there in order that they may glorify God. There is no doubt something special about the divine call to the ministry; but there is a sense in which there is a divine call to men to engage in trade. God has a plan for the life of every man and the man who is in his right place is carrying out the divine plan concerning him. If one in business is in the place in which God would have him be, surely, then, he may glorify God.

Those who are in trade are there primarily in order that they may glorify God. The great consideration with them should be not how to make the most money, but how best to glorify God. Let them ask themselves with regard to every transaction in which they engage. "Is this something by which I can glorify God." The apostle says, "Whether therefore ye eat or drink or whatsoever ye do, do it all to the glory of God.

(2) It will help those who are in trade to resist the temptations to which they are exposed, to realize that they are continually under God's all seeing eye. If we knew that there was ever watching us, an earthly friend whose approbation we desired, we would be very careful not to act in such a way as to bring upon us his displeasure. We are continually under the all-seeing eye of God. Nothing that we do escapes His notice. This observation reaches not only to the outward act but to the thoughts of the heart as well. And yet how many are there, who shut out God from their minds and act as though God did not exist, "The fool hath said in his heart there is no God." The wish in his case is the father to the thought. Men wish that there were no God and persuade themselves that there is none. When the ostrich perceives that its pursuer is gaining upon it it stops running and hides its head in the sand. Foolish bird, to suppose that shutting the pursuer out of view will stop the pursuit. There are those who act in this way with regard to God. They shut out God from their view, and they seem to think that by so doing they shut themselves out from God's view. What a blessing it would be to men in business if they always acted as under their great Taskmaster's eye! How it would ennoble business life, transforming it from the secular to the sacred, and having inscribed on every transaction in which they engage, "Holiness unto the Lord."

DIVINE HELP TO BE SOUGHT.

(3.) It will help those who are in trade to resist the temptations which they are exposed to seek for divine help in the prosecution of their work.

We are too much inclined to suppose that Divine help is to be expected only in matters, which are purely spiritual. And so we seek for such in following after holiness and in conquering our easily besetting sin. But divine help is to be expected in temporal matters as well as in those which are purely spiritual. God inspired Bezaleel the artificer in brass and Aliolial, the carpenter, filling them with the spirit of God in wisdom and in understanding, to devise cunning works in all manner of workmanship. God indorsed the patriotic prayers of Nehemiah and sent him back with money and much timber to rebuild the city. The Lord said to His people of old: "But thou shall remember the Lord thy God, for He it is that giveth thee power to get wealth that He may establish His covenant which He sware unto thy fathers as it is this day."

The merchant cannot expect Divine help in his ventures if he is yielding to the temptations connected with his business. In that case he is regarding iniquity in his heart, and that is sufficient to prevent his prayers being heard by the Lord. If in his business transactions he has regard only to his own financial profit; if he acts unfairly towards his neighbours, whom he seeks to undermine; if he is too severe on those whom he employs—he cannot expect the Divine blessing upon his business.

3. It will help those who are in trade, to resist the temptations to which they are exposed, to remember that they are God's stewards, and that they shall have to render an account to Him. How difficult it is for us to realize the solemn fact of our stewardship! The things which we have been accustomed to look upon as our own have been entrusted to us by God to be used for his glory. We fail to realize this, for we are as a steward whose Master has been a long time absent, and who has come to regard his Master's goods as belonging to himself. Our natural powers are not our own; our outward possessions are not our own—we are merely the stewards of these things, and for them we shall have to give an account. Every man is sooner or later discharged from his stewardship. The discharge takes place at death, and death is the irrestible destiny of mankind.

Charged With a Serious Crime.

BUFFALO, Nov. 16.—William Cunningham, blacksmith, aged 31, who said he came from Toronto, Canada, was arrested here, charged with assault on little Mary Roland. The offence was committed on the railroad track at the foot of Fitzgerald street. Cunningham waived examination in the police court and was committed for trial at the Court of Quarter Sessions.

An Editor's Strange Suicide.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 19.—After the suicide of Editor James Liddell at Lyons, Ia., on Saturday it was discovered that he had written a description of his throwing himself in front of a railroad train, stating that he had contemplated it for a year. He even added a display heading. The press of the Times was stopped and the article inserted.

The Supplementary Tariff Bills.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Senator Harris states that he intends to push the supplemental tariff bills for action as soon as Congress convenes. This is in accord with the statements he made on the floor of the Senate at the time these so called "popgun" bills were referred to the Finance Committee.

Editor of Figaro Dead.

PARIS, Nov. 19.—Francis Magnard, editor of the Figaro, died yesterday.

Lake Erie Fishermen Have a Complaint.

SANDUSKY, O., Nov. 19.—Lake Erie fishermen are much agitated at the conduct of Canadian officials. The Canadian cutter Petrel is stationed a few miles northeast of Kelly's Island taking out gill nets. American fishermen claim these nets are in American waters, and have appealed to the collector of customs here who has taken steps to have the U. S. steamer Fessenden sent to the fishing grounds.

Death of Princess Claudine of Teck.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Princess Claudine of Teck, sister of the Duke of Teck and aunt of the Duchess of York, died suddenly yesterday at Gratz, Austria. The Duke of Teck has gone to Gratz to attend the funeral. Princess Claudine was born February 11, 1836.

Honour Bright!

Honour bright, don't you think it would be better and wiser to take advantage of the Drop In Prices at Brady's Corner Grocery and Provision Store, when you go to buy your Fresh Fruits, Fresh Baking Powder, Fresh Extracts, Fresh Lard, Fresh Butter, Fresh Eggs, &c., than to keep on buying and paying the same old price all the time?

Honest Injun, we do. Especially when we tell you you can, at the same time, buy the most Sugar for a Dollar and the Best Family Flour in the market at this same Corner Store.

Our new Automatic Fruit Cleaner removes all stems and sand from your fruit, gives you full weight in sound, new fruit, and saves a lot of trouble in cleaning.

We had a little row the other day with a Soap man for sending us double what we ordered. The price was so low it wouldn't pay to freight it back. He asked us to keep it at half price, and we kept it. Our customers can have it at the same. We don't want it. Honour bright Yours to please—

The Use of Glasses.

Speaking from over twenty years' experience, I can sum up in a few words some of the results of indiscriminate use of glasses. In the case of odd eyes—gradual weakening of the good eye and making it much more susceptible to disease, such as glaucoma, iritis, etc. In cases of astigmatism unsuitable glasses will cause neuralgic pains in the eyes, frontal headache, nausea, paralysis of the accommodation, resulting in permanently impaired vision which no skill can restore. The time will come, and I hope soon, when sight-testing opticians will be placed on the same footing as dentists and chemists, and have to pass an examination before being allowed to practice. Very truly,

TURNBULL'S

MANTLES.

Our Mantle trade this season has so far exceeded our expectations that it has cleared out several lines and left room for new ones, which we have secured at from $3.00 to $3.50, less than original prices on the better lines. Our customers will reap the benefit of this reduction in the wholesale cost. A full range of all styles and prices now in stock at prices that are never undersold.

BLANKETS.

We have run across a line of All Wool Blankets, in large sizes, woven similar to a Sheeting but combed; they are very desirable and are selling at $3.00 a pair. We have also a splendid assortment of Light and Dark Gray Blankets in all sizes.

UNDERWEAR.

As the season advances we sometimes run across what dry goods men call snaps. We have secured one of these now in Men's All Wool Underclothing, in both natural and flesh colours, at $1.00 a suit. The best line ever offered for the money. Plenty of lower qualities always in stock.

SKIRTINGS.

We are introducing a line of heavy Blanket Skirtings, one of the most desirable materials we have found yet in Ladies' wear. They are 40 inches wide and only 35c a yard.

CAPS AND MUFFS.

Just received a splendid assortment of Astrachan and Gray Lamb Caps, in both wedge and band shapes. Also Sealette Caps and Muffs.

Our prices for Scotch Tweed Suits made to order are a surprise to everybody. We have just passed into stock several nobby lines in Serges and Suitings. A perfect fit guaranteed every time.

ALEXANDER III. BURIED

The Late Ruler of Russia Gathered to His Fathers.

SERVICES MOST MAGNIFICENT

The Ceremonies Attending the Funeral Exceed Anything in Modern Times —Interesting Description of the Scene and Account of the Services.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 20.—The body of the late Czar Alexander III. was placed in the tomb of his fathers beneath the fortress cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul yesterday, seventeen days after his death. The funeral services were the most elaborate of any similar services that have ever taken place in Russia and the last rites were performed in the presence of an assemblage of royalty and representatives of royalty such as has seldom or never congregated in similar circumstances, the roof of a sacred edifice. More then thirty members of European royal families were in attendance and with their suites and the representatives of sovereigns who were unable to be present in person, the monarchial representatives numbering several hundreds.

The ceremonies were conducted with all the pomp of which the ritual of the Greek church is capable, and with all the display that the Russian court could command. The streets were thronged with people throughout the day, and the utmost good order prevailed. No accidents were reported despite the constantly surging crowd, and the troops charged with the duty of preserving order had nothing to do but to put themselves upon exhibition and endure the exactions of the cold, damp and altogether disagreeable weather until the funeral was over.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 20.— The morning opened cold and foggy with no rain, but a thick mist. People were astir before daylight and the thoroughfares were lined with infantry. From eight o'clock there was a continuous flow of state carriages toward the fortress cathedral of St. Peter and St. Paul where the ceremonies were to take place.

The religious service over the body of the dead emperor was probably the most magnificent funeral ceremony of modern times, in its external aspects far exceeding in beauty and grandeur the memorable burial service of Alexander II. The music was divine, and the performance of the Liturgy sublime in the extreme. The surroundings were subdued in color, but they were of a quiet character, which greatly enhanced the splendor of the whole scene. The cream of the royalty and nobility of the empire assisted at the service, and princes of the blood, prelates of the orthodox church, noblemen, representatives of foreign sovereigns and princes, foreign diplomatic and other distinguished personages joined in the devotion and pleadings to heaven for the repose of the soul of the dead.

Prominent among the assembled thousands were the splendidly robed members of the holy synod, the Metropolitan of St. Petersburg and Novgorod, the Czar's confessor, the clergy of St. Petersburg and vicinity and the court dignitaries, among whom were the ladies of honor, the ladies of the bed chamber and ladies in waiting, all robed in deep black, which, in some instances, was partially relieved by white scarfs, collars or drapery. Besides these there were serried masses of officials, ministers, field marshals, generals, admirals, secretaries of state, etc., all in full uniform and displaying many decorations; the Czarina's suite, the members of the state council, the members of the senate, all of the foreign ambassadors.

The signal for the services to begin was the firing of three guns from the fortress. Just as the third gun was fired Emperor Nicholas II. and the Imperial family appeared at the west door of the cathedral, and, preceded by the Metropolitan of St. Petersburg and the members of the holy synod, all of them magnificently robed in vestments of black and silver, passed through the body of the edifice towards the catafalque. The Metropolitan of St. Petersburg carried the great crucifix as the chief of the holy synod, and, as the procession passed towards the catafalque sprinkled holy water upon those about, at the same time audibly repeating a prayer.

After the Czar and the Imperial family and the holy synod had taken their places, the metropolitan and the clergy standing in a semi-circle around the head of the coffin, the metropolitan began the mortuary mass, which, with the exception of the elaborate music and the general splendor of the occasion, was the same as the service for the dead which is said for any other faithful member of the orthodox church.

The wreaths sent by the various rulers throughout Europe were placed about the dias. That sent by President Casimir Perier of France was in the shape of a shield, fifteen feet high and draped in the style of the French empire. Within the shield was a large silver wreath crossed with gold. Upon it was woven a palm branch and on the top were the French and Russian colors blended with flags upon the sides. The whole presented a most artistic effect. The most artistic wreath, however, was that of the Russian army, which occupied a prominent place upon the dias. It was a massive silver wreath with silver and gold flags and pennons. In the centre was a golden palm which crossed the whole piece. The effect was beautiful.

At nine o'clock Holy John, of Cronstadt, attended by a priest entered the Cathedral and was engaged in prayer for some time. The attendants of the Cathedral were in the meantime as busy as bees in putting up fresh candles and giving finishing touched to the draperies, wreaths and decorations.

Prayers were constantly being said by priests upon the altar and at the head of the coffin where the heavily draped imperial standard hung in silken folks. The white silk window curtains had been drawn and the windows were framed in black, through which a feeble light struggled. A silver wreath on a black cushion stood in the centre of the edifice fronting the altar. It was the wreath of Queen Victoria.

At 9.40 the candles upon the altar and around the bier were lighted and the guard of generals assumed their places upon the dais near the foot of the coffin. At this hour the cathedral was half filled and by ten o'clock, within half an hour of the time fixed for the beginning of the mortuary services, the edifice was packed. At 10 o'clock the large choir, which during service are sometimes grouped on either side of the altar, or at other times retiring behind the Ikonostas into the sanctuary, suddenly burst into an anthem. Such glorious music, no instrumental music accompanying it, has never been heard in a Greek church. The anthem, swelling, echoing and diminishing until it was almost silent; then, faintly at first, growing in volume, filled the grand edifice and silenced the subdued buzz of conversation which it had interrupted. A chant followed the anthem and the buzz of conversation was resumed until the intonations of the priests at the bier again drowned it. For some time the chanting was the only sound heard, when prayers and responses again alternated until half-past ten.

When the ceremony of absolution was reached the Metropolitan of St. Petersburg walked to the dais and bowed a number of times. The Emperor Nicholas stood upon the pavement and the Metropolitan, making the sign of the triplet cross and bearing that emblem, pronounced the formula of absolution as follows:

"The Lord Jesus Christ, our God, who gave divine commandments unto his holy Disciples and Apostles to bind and loose the sins of the fallen, and from whom we have again received authority to do the like, forgive thee, O spiritual child, whatever thou hast done in the life that now is, voluntarily or involuntarily, now and ever, and to ages of ages, Amen."

After this ceremony the Metropolitan performed the same office with the censor, and later threw clouds of incense among the multitude. Holy John of Cronstadt then intonated a prayer, after which the consecration of the sacrament took place. Only the Czar and members of imperial family partook of the sacrament. After the sacrament followed the most beautiful music conceivable. It resembled a Gregorian chant, yet it was in few respects Gregorian. It filled the edifice with almost heavenly strains and brought tears to the eyes of most of the assemblage by the intensity of its pathos.

At noon the air inside the church was heavy with incense and the dim light within was starred with thousands of tapers, each mourner and visitor holding one. The first taper was lighted by the Czar. As his majesty lighted the taper he held it aloft and from it slowly spread a stream of light. When the other tapers were lighted the scene was one of rarest beauty, the sanctuary and the body of the edifice sparkling as though jeweled with emeralds, sapphires, opals, etc. All present were standing, the Czar with the imperial family and the visiting royalties on the right side of the coffin. The Czarina, pale and fragile, and looking much affected, stood by the side of the Czar. With these were the Princess of Wales, the Duchess of Cobourg, King Christian of Denmark, the Prince of Wales, in the blue, orange and gold uniform of the new Russian dragoons; the Duke of York, the Duke of Coburg, a number of naval officers and the ambassadors, with their suites. On the left of the coffin were a number of clergymen, and in front a number of military and other dignitaries. Behind the altar all the available space was crowded, two persons being jammed into the space that should be occupied by one. The harmony of the choir, which sang without instrumental accompaniment, was perfect.

At noon the guards around the bier were changed and the priests were grouped around the head of the coffin at which the tapers were lighted. The scene was one of solemn magnificence, seldom or never witnessed in a Christian church.

At 12.30 p.m. the massive jewelled Bible was brought to the altar and the Metropolitan proceeded with the mass, which was concluded at 12.50 p.m. After the special service and the ceremony of bidding farewell to the dead the coffin was borne to the grave by twelve high dignitaries, the Emperor, the Prince of Wales and the other members and kinsmen of the Imperial family following.

The ceremony of casting earth upon the coffin as it was lowered into the vault was observed by the Prince of Wales and others of the Imperial party as well as by the Czar. As the Czar left the grave the guns of the fortress boomed, the infantry fired volleys of musketry, the bands played lively airs and marches and the troops shouted "Long health to the Emperor."

Died Under Peculiar Circumstances.

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—At the adjourned inquest last night in the case of Nora Smith, the Balmoral hotel housekeeper, who died about a month ago under mysterious circumstances, it was shown that the woman had died from mercury poison and some sensational developments are expected.

VICTIMS OF A MANIAC

Three Members of a Family Horribly Murdered.

THEIR BODIES MUTILATED

In An Insane Frenzy a Missouri Youth Commits a Terrible Crime—His Sister the Only One of the Family Left Alive.

WELLSVILLE, Mo., Nov. 20.—This village was the scene of a triple murder and suicide yesterday which wiped out all but one member of a family. Thomas Porterchek with his mother, two sisters and a brother occupied a small house half a mile from the business portion of the village. They were in humble circumstances.

On Sunday Thomas acted strangely and gave indications that his mind was deranged. He labored under the hallucination that his neck was broken and insisted that a physician be summoned. His relatives endeavored to convince him of his error and tried to get him to go to bed. He insisted on sitting up all night. Late at night the family retired leaving Thomas in a rocking chair. At 3 o'clock in the morning his sister Mary was awakened by a scream from her mother. She found her mother lying on the floor, while Thomas stood above her brandishing an axe.

The floor was covered with blood and from an adjoining room her other brother James could be heard moaning. The girl ran through the house, and, finding all the doors locked, opened a window and jumped to the ground. She remained under the window and, as her maniac brother made no attempt to follow her, she watched him at his murderous work.

The murderer seized a can of coal oil, and after pouring it over the floor and furniture, set it on fire. He then drew a butcher knife across his throat and fell by the side of his dead mother. The girl attempted to extinguish the flames, but they spread so quickly that in less than ten minutes the house was completely enveloped.

The screams of the girl awakened the neighbors and they rushed to the scene, but the flames had finished the work which the maniac had commenced. When the blazing wood had cooled sufficiently to allow a search of the ruined home the charred bodies of Mrs. Porterchek, her youngest daughter and son James, which had been horribly mutilated, were found.

CANADA OFFERED AID.

The Royal Canadian Infantry at the Disposal of the Imperial Government.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—Sir Charles Tupper, Canadian High Commissioner, who is at present in Scotland, in addressing a meeting a few days ago, said that when the anxiety was occasioned recently by the hurried assembly of the British Cabinet council in London to consider the alarming condition of affairs in the East, the Canadian cabinet was also assembled and authorized Chief Justice Sir Samuel Henry Strong, acting Governor-General, to send a cablegram to Lord Ripon, Secretary of State for the Colonies, stating that the Dominion of Canada was prepared to put the Royal Canadian regiment of infantry at the service of the British Government and maintain that force in the common interest of the empire. This statement of Sir Charles evoked the warmest applause.

Explosion in Powder Works.

FARMINGDALE, N.J., Nov. 20.—An explosion that shook every house in the neighborhood was felt here yesterday. One of the large outhouses of the Phœnix powder works, in which was stored nearly a ton of rifle powder, was blown high in the air and the two men working in the building were killed. They were Edward W. Sharp and George Disbrow. Warren Snyder, who is employed in the packing house, was cut on the head by flying glass. Although badly injured he will probably recover. Thomas White and Daniel Voorhees, who were in the glazing house, were knocked down and received painful injuries.

The Curran Bridge Enquete.

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—After several adjournments the enquete in the case of the Queen v. St. Louis, the Curran bridge contractor, was continued yesterday in the grand jury room of the court house. The evidence was mostly of a formal nature, having for its object the identification of documents. Mr. McCulloch, of the Bank of Montreal, was called to prove the signatures to seven cheques passed through the Bank of Montreal. Louis A. Odette, clerk of the exchequer court, testified to certain documents relating to wages from Parent and Kennedy to St. Louis, especially to two copies dated December 20, 1893. The originals of these were lost, and Mr. MacMaster objected to the production of the copies. Mr. McLeod, chairman of the commission appointed to investigate certain irregularities in the management of the Wellington bridge works in the summer of 1895, was called to prove that the originals had been in the hands of the commissioners. Mr. Odette refused to produce the books unless ordered by the exchequer court.

Seizure of American Nets.

CHATHAM, Nov. 20.—The cruiser, Petrel, with H. Linley, of Cedar Springs, government fishery inspector, on board, steamed into port at Rondeau having on board 110 American gill nets and about ten ton of fish. The seizure was made near Pelee Island and the nets belong to parties living in Sandusky, Ohio. They are valued at $4,000. The Petrel after unloading her cargo at the Eau left for the fishing grounds. A despatch from Sandusky that increases the interest in this affair says that American fishermen claim these nets are in American waters and have appealed to the collector of customs there who has taken steps to have the United States steamer, Fessenden, sent to the fishing grounds. Serious complications it is thought will arise when these cruisers come togther as the crews are known to entertain no love for each other.

THE YOUNG LIBERAL CONVENTION.

Apart from the general election, which from the signs of activity at Ottawa may be expected immediately after the completion of the voters lists, one of the most important events of 1895, politically, will be the convention of Young Liberals, to be held in Toronto in the latter part of January. Heretofore, general party conventions have been held at irregular intervals, and, as in the case of the great Ottawa convention of 1893, at the call of the party leaders, who have been required to assume altogether too much responsibility in connection with the management of the forces fighting under their leadership. The intention of the promoters of the present convention is that it shall be made the means of forming a permanent organization, operating upon the principle of the National Liberal Federation of Great Britain, and like it holding annual conferences for the discussion of the position of public business, and the relation of the party thereto. The conventions of the National Liberal Federation are held in various cities, where the presence of a large number of leaders of political thought is calculated to, and often does promote a sort of political revival. The discussions at these conventions are regarded as the best evidence to be had of the popular feeling, not in a few centres of population only, but all over the country. The Federation represents the people holding Liberal principles, and expresses officially the views that afterwards are expressed at the polls.

That it is a federation fashioned on this principle the young men expect to organize, is shewn by the call sent out by the Young Liberal Clubs of Toronto, to Clubs throughout the country. The object of the meeting is set forth in the following words:—"We believe that the annual conferences of such a federation as that proposed would do much to quicken the interest of young men in public affairs, and that by a full and free discussion of the questions of the day, the delegates would aid the leaders of the party and public men generally in ascertaining the wishes of the people.

The best interests of our country would be served by enlisting the young men on the side of good government and in support of a policy determined upon in open convention, and based on the experience of the delegates in regard to the sentiments of the people of their own districts."

As a central organizing body, a medium for the diffusion of political literature, and a headquarters for Liberal speakers during a campaign, the proposed federation would be extremely valuable. Its operations could be carried on by the contribution of a small fee of probably not more than ten cents yearly per capita of the membership reported by affiliated clubs. We believe the idea is one that will result in advantage not only to the Liberal party, but to the people at large, because it will place the control of party politics in the hands of the many, instead of the few as it is too often the case at present. We trust that the Liberals of this county will be represented at the convention, and in the coming Young Liberal Federation.

THE body of Commodore Vanderbilt, which is interred at New Dorp, has been removed to a new resting place, which has been prepared for it. The top of the new tomb is a granite block weighing eleven tons. It may take eleven tons to keep down the body of so great a man, but it is to be hoped that there is not so great a weight upon his soul.

A Hunter Accidentally Killed.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Nov. 19.—Henry Miller, a hardware dealer of Conklin, was accidentally killed while hunting in the swamp just north of the village of Conklin. It is supposed he caught the hammer of the gun on a log he was crossing. The entire charge of shot was received in the breast in the region of the heart. Mr. Miller was one of the early settlers of Chester township, Ottawa county. He was 56 years old and leaves a widow and five children.

Guatemala Preparing for War.

CITY OF MEXICO, Nov. 19.—A person who stands high in the government here said in an interview that Mexico will firmly insist upon her indisputable rights on the Guatemalan frontier. The statement of President Barrios, recently published in a New York paper, has caused great surprise in official circles here. Telegrams say that Guatemala is actively preparing for war.

Brutally Murdered His Mistress.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Richard Leach, 31 years old, a florist, who lived with his reputed wife, a young woman named Mary Hope Newkirk, at 413 West 49th street, killed her yesterday, cutting her throat, and then tried to end his life in the same manner, using a small penknife. The woman died almost instantly. Leach, however, was taken to Bellevue hospital, where it is thought he has a chance of recovery.

Woman-hood

has its own special medicine in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. And every woman who is "run-down" or over-worked, every woman who suffers from any "female complaint" or weakness, needs just that remedy. With it, every disturbance, irregularity and derangement can be permanently cured.

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nervine, and the only medicine for women so safe and sure that it can be guaranteed. In periodical pains, displacements, weak back, bearing-down sensations, and every kindred ailment, if it fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. Is anything that isn't sold in this way likely to be "just as good?"

Dr. Pierce's Pellets cure constipation, liver-ills, indigestion, dyspepsia, piles and headaches.

For Healthy Lungs.

Flames at Markdale.

MARKDALE, Ont., Nov. 20.—Bull's cooper shop, a frame building, was discovered in flames. Seven thousand dozen eggs belonging to R. Currie, were stored in it. The building and contents were totally destroyed. Contents insured in the Economical. Shortly afterwards the large brick school house was found to be in flames and all efforts to save it were without avail, and this fine building, which was put up three years ago at a cost of $7,000, is a total ruin. Insured for $5,000. Cause of fires unknown.

Alderman Stewart Resigns.

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—At yesterday's meeting of the City Council Ald. Stewart handed his resignation. He says that owing to the finding of Judge McDougall he does not feel justified in retaining his seat. Nevertheless he still adheres to the position that he is not guilty of any wrongdoing. A local paper publishes a story to the effect that certain aldermen were guilty of corruption in recent negotiations between the Council and the Toronto Telephone Company.

Smallpox in Strathroy.

TORONTO, Nov. 20.—Dr. Bryce returned from Strathroy Saturday, where he went to investigate smallpox. He says that the two cases reported are doing well, but that he fears that the whole town is infected with the disease. A man was taken down with what he believed to be prairie itch. He made no attempt at isolation. His son contracted the disease and after exposing himself for a few days his case was diagnosed and found to be smallpox.

China's Fleet Strengthened.

LONDON, Nov. 20.—The Morning Post publishes the following advices from Tien-Tsin: "The Viceroy has ordered that troops be posted north and south of the foreign quarters of the city to protect them against inroads of disorderly soldiers from the neighboring camps. The Chinese fleet which remains at Wei-Hai Wei has been greatly strengthened with additional quick firing guns and men."

Electric Postal Service for Canada.

MONTREAL, Nov. 20.—Sir Adolphe Caron, Postmaster General of the Dominion, was in the city last night, having just returned from a trip to New York. He made a careful inspection of the electric postal service in the big American city and was much struck with the facilities it afforded. It is probable that the system will be introduced in the larger Canadian cities.

AN INFANT RESCUED.

The Parents are Thankful and Delighted.

The wife of a well-known Ontario clergyman writes as follows:—

"Our baby was very sickly last July, and we were considerably alarmed about its condition. About the first of August it was a mere skeleton, and refused nourishment of every kind. We could see that the end was rapidly approaching, and concluded that nothing could save the life of our dear one. While in a state of intense anxiety, we thought of your Lactated Food, and as a last hope we decided to give it a trial. Small quantities were given at regular intervals, and in a few days we could see a change for the better. After using the Lactated Food for two weeks, baby commenced to get stronger and brighter looking. We have kept on with the food every day, and at this date (Sept. 13th) our little one is quite well and getting fat and strong. Your Lactated Food is a precious boon for every family where there is a delicate baby."
